Students of Bryn Mawr College
Tea to be Held

On Labor School

Miss Margaret Wood, director of the Hudson Shore Labor School, and Miss Rheta Arter, educational commissioner, will speak on the Hudson Common Room at four o'clock on Thursday, February 17th.

Miss Wood and Miss Arter will discuss the school and the Sunday School and address the students.

Exceptionally fine tea will be served in the Common Room at four o'clock on Thursday, February 17th.

Revolutionary Dance', Basketball Highlight Snow Weekend

By Rheta Arter, '20, and Margaret Wood, '10

Freehman Week-end preparations at Bryn Mawr consisted mainly of trips into the studio to measure the swarm, and nervous studying of train schedules from New York to the nearest railroad station near Columbus, Ohio. The weather forecast promised a perfect tour of the campus; "This is Dallen Hall, Church!" Addressed to point aid Bryan Women's Tea to carry off the effect of a miniature of a studio and a seaside studio.

Scotch tea was the downfall of the dance and Friday, May Day, right found red and white striped frocks.

Common Treas.
Sets $3.00 Dues
For All Students

Specially contributed by Page Hart, '48

On the March 5 Pay Day the Undergrad committee for the common treasury, under the leadership of these four students in the following:

- $9.00 - Undergrad.
- $8.00 - Alliance.
- $5.00 - Token donation to the Common Chest.
- $5.00 - Token donation to the Community Chest.

The Common Treasury is the amalgamation of the treasurer of self-Gov. Undergrad, the Alliance Common. The legislature is to form the final in which it is able to discuss its plan. Undergrad obtains its support from the Common Treasury dues. In the national dues an amount of $100 from the Common Committee. Since the self-Gov. account is adequate for the expenses of the correct time, the usual $50 assessment is withdrawn this year from the common treasury.

In order to clarify the present appropriation of money among the men, the men in the class of $200 from the Common treasury dues and fines and outlay for the dues and a donation of $100 from the College.

Since the self-Gov. account is adequate for the expenses of the correct time, the usual $50 assessment is withdrawn this year from the common treasury.

As well as voting on additions to the constitution, the students must also approve any old rules may be removed. Warnings and emergency regulations will be dropped, together with any other regulations that are out-of-date.

Current Events

Common Room, February 24: Speaking on the Italian Peace Treaty, Dr. Gilbert declared it to be the most significant event in the short history of the world. The Treaty is not only a victory for the Allies, but a triumph for the principles of international law. The signatories of the Treaty have agreed to establish a League of Nations, which will have the power to prevent war and to settle disputes between nations. The League is to be composed of two parts: a Sample Council, which will consist of all the nations of the world, and a Permanent Council, which will consist of the five great powers. The League is to have the power to impose sanctions and to use force if necessary.

In the second hour of the lecture, Dr. Gilbert spoke on the importance of the League of Nations. He declared that the League is a great step forward in the history of mankind, and that it is the responsibility of every nation to support it.

Elman Concerts

Equally important, the Elman concerts give the under-priviledged a chance to hear the best music on Bryn Mawr campus. Until recently, the only chance to hear this music was in the concert hall of Radcliffe College, only a short distance away. However, the Bryn Mawr concerts are much more popular, and the audience is much larger.

The concerts are held every week, and the performers are all students. They include violinists, cellists, pianists, and other instrumentalists. The concerts are free to all students, and they are open to the public as well.

The last concert was particularly successful, and the audience was enthusiastic. The audience is expected to grow as more students become aware of the concerts and their importance.

The Question of the Animal

The unfortunate incidents which took place Saturday in connection with the search by the Sophomores for the Fresh- man animal indicate that the tradition must be re-examined.

In order to avoid future confusion the rules governing this competition must be clarified and set down in writing. Moreover, they should be carefully publicized among all students participating in the hunt.

Above all, it must be remembered that the significance of any tradition lies in the spirit with which it is carried out.

Double Dis courage

Decreasingly few tickets have been sold for Missah Elma- lin's violin recital Friday. This is a discouraging situation from a double point of view. The concert is being given for the benefit of the Bryn Mawr College Fund. The necessity of this drive has been made evident to all, and the goal which has been set must be achieved. Students support is es- sential to its success.

Equally important, the Elman concert gives the under-priviledged a chance to hear good music on Bryn Mawr campus. Apparently the Paol has some hidden charm. On Monday night great droves of students depart for the half-hour trip to Philadelphia, and a number of these and other students depart with equal rapidity to hear Helfitz or Krei- ter.

Elman is not a second-rate violinist. He is the most thoroughly established in the concert world, and certainly as much of a star in his field as was the Paganini Quartet. His artistry in their. Tickets are not expensive; Goodhart is not inexperienced. Is February a bad month for violinist?

always great — is greater than ever in history.

DURING the war shortage of Camel cigarettes, that's when your "T-Zone" was really work-

Swish on your way Mermaid!

by Elizabeth Woodard

America's foremost authority on young people's problems

In a world without mirrors...and men...YOU should neither have beauty! That's for the landlady...who watch her reflection in the eyes of the observer.

So out of our way! You are born beautiful...we have to work at it. It's a strain and a struggle to be so complexioned...as you are... as streamlined...as graceful with our pedal extremities. We've no upright cylinders that guggle...albry noses... limp legs...collars that will...polish that shirt...and clothes that Why, you, me? Why not take it easy? Why not let wall enough alone!

Some of us weren't born with faces that launch a thousand ships.

Some of us drew square like hedges.
Some of us display more than our share of room. Some of us were dealt hair like seaweed. Why smile for that...is what we want to know? Not when we can do nothing about it!

Maybe we can't alter the best shape of our faces and figures. But we can carry and dress them until they feel a few fibers into thinking it's beauty. Not rules of thumb beauty. We want to be interesting to look at...and interesting to know. That means a slim interior...the headline look. And inside...no funny thinking...no gossy emotions...no snobbery personal relationships. We want no rough edges...we want to be maintained in the new.

And that takes work! But it's worth it when THAT GLOW comes into a man's eye. But you wouldn't know about men, would you, Miss Mermaid?
