THE DONORS' LIBRARY

The library, the gift of the friends, graduates and students of the college, was begun April, 1903 and completed in February, 1907. It is built of gray stone in the Jacobean Gothic style of architecture of the period of 1630 and forms three sides of a closed quadrangle. The main building, devoted to the library proper, faces east and is opposite and parallel to Taylor Hall at a distance of about fifty yards; the principal entrances of the two buildings face each other and are connected by a broad cement path. The east front is one hundred and seventy-four feet long and contains a three-story stack with accommodation for eighty-eight thousand volumes and above this a large reading-room with desks for one hundred and thirty-six readers, each screened to a height of two feet, as in the British Museum reading-room, to secure privacy to the reader. No books of reference are kept in the main reading-room. Beyond the reading-room on the south side are the offices of the Department of Social Economy. On the north side is the art seminary, containing collections of photographs, vases and coins. The main building contains the Stack, the Reference Book Room, the Reserved Book Room, the New Book Room, the Carola Woerishoffer Memorial Room, the Newspaper and Magazine Room, three professors' offices, one lecture room and three cloak rooms. The wings of the building, running symmetrically about two hundred feet in length from the north and south ends of the main building, contain fourteen seminary rooms and thirty-two professors' offices. The books needed for graduate study and research are kept in the seminary rooms and graduate lectures are held in them. The seminaries are arranged as follows: Art and Archaeology, Greek, Latin, English, Education, German, French and Italian and Spanish, Semitic Languages and Philosophy in the north wing; Mathematics, History, Economics, Carola Woerishoffer Department of Social Economy and the Psychology seminary in the south wing where are also the offices of the librarians and cataloguers. The total book capacity of the library is 135,000 volumes. The building is absolutely fire-proof. Professors' offices for the two senior professors in each department adjoin the seminary rooms. There is also one general lecture room accommodating forty-two students.

On the first floor of the south wing the Department of Experimental Psychology has two large laboratories, one for general work and one for research. The basement of the north wing contains an experimental laboratory of the Department of Education, a room for the Monograph Committee of the Faculty, two professors' offices and fire-proof safe rooms for the records and archives of the college. The quadrangular court enclosed by the building is surrounded by cloisters and in the centre of the grass enclosure is a fountain, the gift of the class of 1901.

The library is open on week-days from 8 a.m. till 10 p.m. and on Sundays from 9 a.m. till 10 p.m.
HALLS OF RESIDENCE

Merion Hall, Denbigh Hall, Pembroke Hall East, Pembroke Hall West and Rockefeller Hall are the five undergraduate halls of residence and provide accommodation for 345 students. Each of these halls is under the charge of a resident warden who is usually a graduate of Bryn Mawr College. The management and table are as far as possible the same. The buildings are built of stone and contain single rooms, suites of three rooms to be occupied by two students and suites of two rooms to be occupied by one student. Every student has a separate bedroom.

In addition, Wyndham, purchased by the Trustees of Bryn Mawr College in 1926 and situated directly opposite Pembroke West, is being used for the present as a dormitory for seventeen students. It is under the charge of a resident Warden, who is a graduate of Radcliffe College. As many of the bedrooms are very large, in some cases two students share a room. There are both single and double rooms, some with dressing rooms and one single room with a private bath.

Radnor Hall is the graduate hall of residence and provides accommodations for 59 graduate students. It is under the charge of the Dean of the Graduate School.

Students are expected to provide their own rugs, towels and curtains but in every other respect the rooms are completely furnished. There is provided for each student, in addition to the usual bedroom furniture, a bookcase, a study table, an arm-chair and an electric reading lamp. In Rockefeller Hall there are stationary washstands with hot and cold water in every bedroom. There are open fire-places in most of the studies and in many single rooms, but the rooms are sufficiently heated by currents of air passing over steam-heated pipes. The air is changed every ten minutes and the temperature is regulated by an electric thermostat in each room. Electric light is available in every room.

The charge for board is $400 a year. The charge for rooms is $100 a year for graduate students and $100 a year and upwards for undergraduate students.

These charges for board and residence do not include the fee for tuition, which is $500 a year for undergraduate and $250 a year for graduate students.

The entire cost of tuition, board and residence in any hall, is therefore $1000 a year and upwards for undergraduate students according to the room occupied and $750 a year for graduate students. This payment includes all expenses of furnishing, service, light and heating, except open fires. No part whatever need be taken by the students in the care of their own rooms. The students' personal washing will be done by any laundry approved by the college, for one dollar a dozen or about $16.00 a half-year for one dozen pieces weekly. Accommodation is provided for students wishing to remain in residence during the Christmas and Easter vacations.

The room-rent and the fee for tuition must be paid in advance at the beginning of each academic year. Half the charge for board must be paid in advance at the beginning of each semester. No reduction of the charges for tuition and room-rent can be made on account of absence, illness, or dismissal during the currency of a semester, term, or year or for any other reason whatsoever and no refunding will be made on account of any of said causes in case of a payment in advance. In case of prolonged illness and absence from the college extending over six weeks or more, there will be a proportionate reduction in the charge for board.

The health of the students is under the care of Dr. Thomas F. Branson of Rosemont, Pennsylvania, Physician-in-Chief of the College and Dr. Marjorie Jefferies Wagoner, College Physician, who resides near the Infirmary and may be consulted by the students free of charge.

The infirmary fee of $20.00 paid by each resident undergraduate and each resident graduate student entitles each student to be cared for in the infirmary for four days (not necessarily consecutive) during the year and to attendance by the college physicians during this time and to nursing, provided her illness is not infectious. It also entitles her to the services of the nurses employed by the college during other temporary illness, provided one of the regular nurses is free at the time. In the case of an illness of longer duration and also in the case of all diseases of an infectious character the student must meet, or in case of two or more students with the same infectious disease, must share the expense of the special nurse, the infirmary fees which are $6.00 a day and also hospital or sanitarium charges should she be removed from the college by order of the Physician-in-Chief. All further fees must be paid by the student.
When a student requires a special nurse, the cost is approximately $14.30 per day or $100.10 per week, which includes nurse's fee, board and laundry and student's infirmary fee. In contagious cases, the cost is approximately $15.30 per day, or $107.10 per week, which includes special nurse's fee, board and laundry and student's infirmary fee. The infirmary fee for the student is $6.00 per day. When a student has not an infectious disease, the infirmary fee of $6.00 per day will include the nurse's fee provided it is possible for one of the college nurses to care for the student. The fees of the consulting physicians and surgeons and other specialists recommended by the college will be for the student. The fees of the consulting physicians and surgeons and other specialists recommended by the college will be for the student.

All communications concerning the health of the students from parents and guardians, outside physicians and others should be addressed to the Dean of the College, who will excuse students for absence before and after vacations on account of serious illness and from attendance on academic work during the time that they are in the infirmary or seriously ill at home. Any student who becomes ill when away from the college is asked to send word immediately to the Dean of the College.

As the demand for rooms is very great, application should be made as long as possible in advance. In case the candidate for admission is uncertain in which year she may wish to enter, she may apply for two consecutive years. Plans of the buildings with prices of rooms may be found under the description of each hall.

Every application for a room or suite of rooms to be reserved, whether made by a student already in residence or by a candidate for admission to the college, must be accompanied by a deposit of fifteen dollars, otherwise the application is not registered. The amount of this deposit will be deducted from the rent if the room or suite of rooms assigned is occupied by the applicant. The amount of this deposit will be refunded only in the following cases; in all other cases the deposit will be forfeited to the college:

(a) If an applicant who is a student of the college gives formal notice to the Secretary and Registrar of the College before the first of May preceding the academic year for which the application is made that she wishes to withdraw her application.

(b) If a candidate who has applied for admission to the college in October gives formal notice to the Secretary and Registrar of the College before the first of August preceding the academic year for which the application is made that she wishes to withdraw her application.

(c) If a former student who has applied for re-admission to the college in February gives formal notice to the Secretary and Registrar of the College before the first of January preceding the semester for which the application is made that she wishes to withdraw her application.

Every applicant who reserves a room after the first of September or who fails to withdraw her application by that date and either does not occupy the room at all or vacates it during the college year prevents some other student from obtaining accommodation and consequently admission to the college. Therefore, unless formal notice of withdrawal of application for the ensuing academic year is received by the Secretary and Registrar of the College by the first of September (or in the case of an application for the second semester only by the first of January) the applicant is responsible for the rent for the whole year of the room or suite of rooms assigned to her or for a minimum rent of two hundred dollars (for graduate students one hundred dollars) in case a definite assignment has not been made. The charges for room-rent are not subject to remission or deduction unless the College is able to re-let the room. The applicant is not entitled to dispose of the rooms thus left vacant.

The College reserves the right to exclude at any time students whose conduct or academic standing it regards as undesirable and in such cases the fees due or which may have been paid in advance to the college will not be refunded or remitted in whole or in part. In case of emergency the College reserves the right to assume all responsibility.

The Business Administration of the College is carried on through the Business office in the basement of Rockefeller Hall.

In the music wing of Goodhart Hall are music-rooms with sound-proof walls and ceilings. A charge of fourteen dollars a year is made for the use of a piano for an hour a day throughout the college year.

In all the halls there are tea pantries fitted with gas stoves where the students may make tea and cook in chafing dishes.

In Goodhart Hall there is a club-room for non-resident students.

The Bell Telephone Company maintains telephone pay stations in each of the halls of residence, the library, the infirmary and the gymnasium, by means of which the students may be communicated with at any time. Near the college are a Western Union Telegraph and Cable Company office (service 6 a.m. to midnight), an American Railway Express office, a United States post office and two banks.

ROCKEFELLER HALL

Rockefeller Hall, the gift of Mr. John D. Rockefeller, opened in April, 1904, is the sixth in order of opening of the halls of residence of Bryn Mawr College; it is built of gray stone and is of fire-proof construction. It adjoins Pembroke Hall West and its central tower, known as the Owl Gate, forms the main footpath entrance to the college. It provides accommodation for eighty-one students and is under the charge of a resident Warden, a graduate of Bryn Mawr College, Miss Alice Beardwood.

THE ROCKEFELLER POWER HOUSE

A central power-house, which was erected in 1903 as part of the gift of Mr. John D. Rockefeller and which during the summer of 1926 was entirely refitted with new equipment at a cost of $150,000 furnishes heat, electric light and hot water for all the college buildings. Steam is conducted through tunnels underground to coils in the basements of each building. Air brought in from the outside is blown through the heaters by powerful fans and distributed to the various rooms and the system is so adjusted as to change the air completely in every room once in every ten minutes throughout the day and night. The temperature is regulated by thermostats in the heating coils as well as in the individual rooms. The electric lights, including electric reading-lamps for each student, are installed in the most approved manner and the voltage is kept constant so that there is no fluctuation. A constant and abundant supply of hot water is laid on and maintained at a temperature of 180 degrees during the twenty-four hours of the day and night in all the bathrooms, stationary washstands and tea pantries.
