ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

Alumnae Association

OF

Ellsworth, Me.
Hancock County Publishing Co., Printers
The custom of sending out cyclostyled reports of each alumnae meeting, while it served its purpose for a time, proved this year a useless burden. The expense entailed was large, and resulted at last in emptying the treasury. A replenishing of the treasury for such a purpose did not seem to be justified by the interest that the absent alumnae took in these reports. Therefore in March it was decided that in the future, except for special purposes, no cyclostyled reports should be sent out, but that a general report should be printed annually, and a copy sent to each alumna. This report will be written by the secretary, and will embody the record of all business worthy of preservation; the reports of the standing committees; and the report of the treasurer. Perhaps in time other matters of interest may be added. The secretary will submit the report for approval to the executive committee, and also to the Association at the June meeting. This year the Association has permitted her to publish it, with the aid of the executive committee, without submitting it at that meeting.

It is earnestly hoped by the executive committee that all members of the Association will read the annual report, for it will give them accurate information every year in regard to the Association and in regard to the college at large.
I. GENERAL REPORT.

During the academic year 1892–1893 important innovations have been made in the organization of the Association, innovations which will in time reach beyond the mere organization, and increase the usefulness and influence of the Association at large.

The chief innovation has been the formation of a committee to confer with the President and Dean on all matters of interest connected with the college. This committee, known as "The Academic Committee of the Alumnae Association of Bryn Mawr College," was accepted by the Association on January 6, as the official means of communication, for the present, between the college authorities and the Alumnae Association; but it was mutually understood that when it should become more practicable to change the charter of the college, an effort should be made to secure alumnae representation on the board of trustees.

Resolutions were made as follows:

"That said committee petition the President and Dean: (1) To recognize it as the official means of communication with the Association; (2) to appoint stated times for conference; (3) to grant to it power to call special meetings for any important business.

"That said committee consist of seven members and the president of the Association ex officio, any regular member not officially connected with the college being eligible for nomination, and the Association deeming it advisable that several members be chosen from among those living at a distance from Bryn Mawr.

"That said committee be elected by ballot of the whole Association, written nominations being made at any meeting of the Association."
"That the term of office be four years, except for those elected at the first election, for which election provision shall be made by special motion."

This provision was that those elected at the first election should serve one, two, three, or four years according to the number of votes they received.

By the end of January a committee was elected, which petitioned the President and Dean according to the instructions it had received from the Association. The President and Dean granted the petition, and, in accordance with the special request of the committee, appointed as stated times for conference the Wednesday before Thanksgiving Day, or a day near that date, to be named at the discretion of the committee, and the day after the conferring of degrees, or a day near that date, to be named at the discretion of the committee.

Upon the basis of this petition and answer a document was drawn up in May, called "An Agreement Concerning the Academic Committee of the Alumnae Association of Bryn Mawr College". The document, of which the college and the Alumnae Association each possesses a copy, is engrossed, sealed, and signed, on behalf of the college, by the President and Dean, and, on behalf of the Alumnae Association, by the academic committee.

Another important change has been that effected in the conference committee. The executive committee, perceiving the need of a closer union between the alumnae and the undergraduates, suggested, in December, that the Alumnae Association should invite the undergraduate association to appoint a standing committee to confer at stated intervals with its conference committee on any matters that would be of interest to both associations, and could be advantageously discussed by them. The executive committee urged that such conferences should not be confined to the discussion of questions which might need the vote and action of both associations, but should also include the discussion of questions of general interest, and an interchange of information about the two associations. Through full reports brought in by these committees, the executive committee hoped that the associations would be kept in touch with each other, and would thus learn to give each other mutual aid.

The Alumnae Association adopted the suggestion of the executive committee in March. An invitation to appoint a committee was sent to the Undergraduate Association, and a very cordial acceptance was received. The undergraduates have provided that the president of their association and a member of the executive board of the Self-government Association shall always be members of their committee.

Still another important change has been the admission of Bryn Mawr doctors of philosophy to membership in the Association. This change was proposed in November, and, after an investigation into the action of other colleges and full discussion, was adopted in June.

Amendments have been made to the constitution to admit of the introduction of the above-mentioned changes in the organization of the Association.

In January the Association authorized the chair to appoint a committee to draw up a plan for collecting statistics regarding the occupations, health, etc., of the alumnae. The chair asked the executive committee to serve in this capacity. The following paragraphs are taken from the report of the executive committee presented by the president on June 1:

"The committee has carefully reviewed the two reports, one by the Association of Collegiate Alumnae, entitled 'Health Statistics of Women College Graduates,' the other by Mrs. Henry Sidgwick, entitled 'Health Statistics of Women Students of Cambridge' and Oxford,' and has looked over the lists of questions that are answered by the entering students of Bryn Mawr, Smith, Vassar and Wellesley colleges. At the fall meeting the committee will submit a proposed schedule of questions to be sent to every Bryn Mawr alumna. The object of these questions is, of course, to obtain data from which, at some future time, to make out statistical tables that shall give accurate information as to the advantages and disadvantages of college life at Bryn Mawr, especially in reference to health. These tables may be compared with those of other women's colleges.

"The committee would suggest that all the data referring to childhood, parentage, etc., and to life during the college course be obtained from the college record. The committee would further suggest that next year a secretary from each class be appointed to collect each year the addresses of the alumnae and items of personal interest for publication in the annual report."

In April the Undergraduate Association brought the matter of a college pin before the Alumnae Association through the conference committees. The point at issue, which the alumnae were asked to decide, was whether there should be one general college pin, or separate pins for the undergraduates and the alumnae. The executive committee was obliged to assume the responsibility of the decision. The following paragraph is quoted from its report:

"The members of the committee decided that there should be a college pin that could be worn by alumnae, and by any student of Bryn Mawr college, graduate or undergraduate; and they appointed the following committee to meet the committee of the undergraduates to decide upon the design of the pin: Marian Wright, Mathilde Weil, Sophia Weygandt. This committee met a committee of six of the undergraduates, and after a thorough discussion of six or eight designs, decided upon a compromise. The price of the pins is to be $3.50 each, and they may be obtained after June 9, 1893, from the president, Marian Wright, on receipt of this sum."

In June the alumnae who are members of the biological department of the college urged that as much of the alumnae fund as there was on hand should be appropriated for the building of a biological greenhouse, contributions to which had already been made from other sources. The Association voted the appropriation, amounting to $120.89.

In connection with the matter of the alumnae fund, the executive committee was empowered to appoint annually collectors for the fund from each class.

In June, 1892, the Association appointed a committee to ascertain what action had been taken by the alumnae in regard to the College Settlements Association. The following November the committee reported that they had decided that the business of the college settlement did not belong to the Alumnae Association as a whole, but only to those alumnae who were members of the general College Settlements Association.

In June, 1893, a Bryn Mawr alumnae chapter of this general association was formed.

Miss Helena Dudley resigned the office of alumnae elector, and Miss Susan G. Walker was elected as her successor. Alumnae desiring any further information may apply to Miss Walker.*

REPORTS OF STANDING COMMITTEES.

REPORT OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.*

The first business that occupied the executive committee was in reference to Dalton hall, for the President and Dean had asked that a committee of the alumnae should assist them in making the arrangements for its formal opening. This opening was postponed from January 20 to February 17, and then to March 4, on which date it finally took place.

The executive committee held three meetings; the first one in December, when it was planned that Mr. McVeagh and Dr. E. B. Wilson should be the speakers; the second in January, to select other speakers, for letters of sincere regret had been received from Dr. Wilson, and the death of Mr. McVeagh's son had also prevented his accepting. It was decided at this meeting that Dr. Charles O. Whitman, professor of biology in the University of Chicago, should be invited to give an address in Taylor hall, and that Dr. Keiser, as senior member of the scientific faculty, should be invited to give a shorter address on behalf of the scientific department; after these addresses, that trustees, faculty, alumnae and students should march over to Dalton hall, where the guests, following the procession, should be received and shown over the building.

The third meeting (in February) was held in conjunction with the Dean and the heads of the scientific departments, for the purpose of making the final and detailed arrangements. The list of guests was looked over and decided upon, provision was made for the invitations, for a reception committee of the alumnae, and for guides among the undergraduates.

In accordance with the motion of March 11, the president renewed the invitation of the Bryn Mawr Alumnae Association to the Philadelphia branch of the Association of Collegiate Alumnae to hold one of its meetings at Bryn Mawr college. Accordingly the branch held its next meeting, a purely social one, at Merion hall on the afternoon of April 29.

The officers of the Undergraduate Association, the officers and executive board of the Self-government Association, the officers of the Athletic Association, the editors of The Lantern, the chairman of the undergraduate conference committee, and the two senior members of the Bird club very kindly consented to help the alumnae to receive and entertain their guests. Dr. Rhoads, the women and wives of the faculty, the European fellow of '93, the fellows, Miss Kirk and Miss Florence Baldwin were invited to meet the guests.

The Philadelphia alumnae were introduced to Dr. Rhoads, the Dean, Miss Scott, and the president of the Bryn Mawr Alumnae Association, and after a little refreshment they were conducted in groups over the halls and grounds of the college. A letter of thanks has been received from Miss Tappan, secretary of the Philadelphia branch.

REPORT OF THE ACADEMIC COMMITTEE.

The academic committee have no report to present this year, as their first regular conference with the President and Dean took place after the close of the academic year 1892-93.

EMILY JAMES SMITH,
Chairman.

REPORT OF THE CONFERENCE COMMITTEE.*

Our meeting with the undergraduate conference committee was held on April 14, and proved a most delightful one. We talked for two hours in a simple, friendly manner, preserving only enough formality to ensure both committees receiving full and accurate answers to their questions.

In the first place, the undergraduates brought forward the matter of a college pin. This matter, with the action taken upon it, has already been reported by the executive committee.

We then, according to the authority we had received from our associations, arranged the stated times for conferences. We decided that there should be two conferences each year, one to be held at any time between the Thanksgiving and Christmas vacations, and the other to be held at any time during the last fortnight of April.

After this discussion our committee asked the undergraduates to tell us "all about the college." They answered that they would like to "clear the ground" at the first conference, and bring to the notice of the alumnae all possible matters in the life of the college; matters which very likely would not need to be discussed at every conference.

*An incomplete report was submitted to the Association on June 1, and was accepted with the understanding that it should be elaborated before published. Several matters discussed in this report were reported more fully and interestingly in the "Collegiana" of The Lantern for 1893. I should have contented myself with a reference to the "Collegiana" if I had not learned from the business manager, that "very, very few" of the alumnae subscribe for the magazine.—A. C. E.
First they spoke of the two main organizations, the Self-government Association, and the Undergraduate Association. They said that the former had this year concerned itself chiefly with the "practical working" of self-government. Last year the principle of self-government had been inculcated, and the association firmly established; this year they had organized their system of government more carefully and effectively, and especially had devoted themselves to the problem of enforcing their most important resolutions—those, namely, concerning quiet in the lecture and residence halls.

They pointed out that the matter of noise was a more serious one than it had ever been before. Perhaps the alumni, not understanding the new difficulties consequent upon the greater number and more varied classes of students, disapproved of their methods, but they had been earnestly and carefully considering these questions for a long time, and were convinced that the needs of latter years could be met only by the means that they were employing. We talked generally about the matter of noise in the halls, and other similar problems of self-government, but we tried to avoid any discussion on points that could be of real interest and value only to actual members of the association, for our committee realized that, after learning of the aims, general problems and results of self-government, to press further questions would be mere idle curiosity or interference, and totally alien to the purposes of our conferences.

Perhaps all that it is practicable for us to report is that the members of the Self-government Association maintain that its aims are to raise the standard of the social life of the college, and to effect the best good of Bryn Mawr as a whole and of the students as individuals; and that its results, both through the direct means of its wise and efficient government, and also through the indirect means of its influence on character and intellect, are steadily tending toward the accomplishment of those aims.

The undergraduates said they had spoken of the Self-government Association first in order to show us its true relation to the Undergraduate Association. When the former was established the importance that it assumed in every one's mind, and the time and strength that its organization and management required, naturally combined to make the latter sink into comparative insignificance. But as the Self-government Association has become firmly established, and as its functions and limitations, dealing as it can only with questions of conduct, have become clearly defined and understood, the Undergraduate Association has once more assumed its proper place. Neither association in the least degree interferes with or encroaches on the other. Both play an indispensable part in the life of the college.

The undergraduates pointed out that the importance of their association might best be understood by remembering the organizations that it controls—the Athletic Association, the college magazine, and the De Rebus club (that is, the old reform club); and also the organization which was formed under its auspices—the college settlement chapter—and the various matters which belong to its province alone, such as petitions concerning examinations, etc.

As for athletics, the undergraduates told us that the last year or two had seen a great increase of enthusiasm in that direction, owing to the organization of an athletic association under efficient management, and to the institution of more systematic and emulative work in the gymnasium. We quote two paragraphs from a report of the association, given in the last Lantern:

"The formation of an intercollegiate athletic league, in which Bryn Mawr has been especially interested for more than a year, is still unaccomplished; but the prospects for the future are much brighter than were thought possible a year ago. Finding it impossible to get the co-operation of the undergraduate associations of the other colleges, it was decided to give at Bryn Mawr an invitation tennis tournament, to which the best players of Smith and the Annex should be asked as individuals. This tournament was held at Bryn Mawr during the latter part of October, 1892, the colleges represented being the Harvard Annex, Girton, England, and Bryn Mawr."

"Finding this tournament a success in every respect, the Bryn Mawr athletic association has been more eager than ever to form the league, or if this proves impossible, at least to continue these invitation tournaments at the different women's colleges. Some objections have been urged by the various colleges against the formation of such a league, but to us they seem invalid, and we feel that the benefits and advantages to be derived are enough to justify us in continuing our work in this direction."

The De Rebus club was reported to be in a more prosperous condition than for some years past, having procured larger audiences and a more general interest for the addresses given under its auspices. The new name (to quote again from The Lantern) is considered "at once more comprehensive and lighter," and "is designed to indicate more exactly the object of the club".

In connection with our talk about this club, our committee asked if it would be possible to have the alumnae who live near Bryn Mawr notified of addresses and similar events taking place at the college. The undergraduates accepted the suggestion cordially, and it was arranged that hereafter those in charge of such matters shall inform the secretary of the Alumnae Association of their occurrence, and that she shall send word to the alumnae.

The interest in the college settlement work, according to the undergraduates, has also increased, judging both from membership and from general enthusiasm. The Philadelphia settlement has, of course, given a great impetus to the work.

The undergraduates then told us of the religious organizations of the college. The general interest and eagerness among the students seem to have displayed themselves in this as in all other directions. There is the "Sunday evening meeting," which, in its perfect simplicity, unites the students as scarcely anything else does. The attendance is always large. There is also a smaller and less general Sunday morning meeting. Then there are Bible classes embracing widely different kinds of students, formed originally under the management of one committee, but left entirely free and independent after their establishment. There is also a small "church club". The missionary society is still in existence, and seems to be doing about the same work that it always did. As for chapel services, the attendance both in the morning and on Wednesday evening is very good. The students usually sing one hymn at the evening service.

After this satisfactory report of college affairs, we asked the undergraduates about the "general atmosphere" of the college. It was an indefinite but an interesting question. They said that they thought that the "atmosphere" had changed materially within the last two years, and certainly we alumnae, whenever we come into contact with the present life of the college, feel that it has. Perhaps a few bald facts, which were practically all that we could touch up-on in our official discussion with the undergraduates, may suggest the deeper influences at work in Bryn Mawr, and the effect that they will have on woman's education as far as it is represented by Bryn Mawr.

The most apparent change has been in the number of the students. This last year there have been two hundred students, and the number will be increased next year. Now life among two hundred students cannot be the same thing as life among forty or eighty students. There cannot be the same "family feeling," the same friendly intimacy and the same easy, happy-go-lucky way of managing things. Formality and rigidity are absolutely necessary in many matters. The changes made by the faculty in academic matters show this. There are strict regulations about courses, about examinations, which were never thought of in the earlier years of the college. The same spirit is shown by the students in their affairs. Firm organization, wisely and carefully planned, and efficiently conducted, has proved the only way of preserving the noblest social tone in the college, the greatest interest in athletics, and even the best helpfulness in religious things. It would be utterly wrong to suppose that there is not as much "fun," as much light-heartedness and geniality in Bryn Mawr as there ever was; but fun must not be allowed to encroach on business. If two hundred students, who cannot, in the nature of things, all know each other intimately, should attempt to solve the serious problems or meet the serious needs that arise from their very numbers by haphazard and informal methods, the result would be disastrous.

All the formality, however, does not kill the spirit of unity and enthusiasm. The family feeling has gone, but a no less real and earnest feeling of deep-seated unity, in spite of wide differences, has taken its place. Perhaps the increasing prominence of class feeling may seem inconsistent with such an unity. This class feeling has been especially marked during the last two years. Classes, as well as everything else, are organized; questions concerning self-government and other questions are sometimes discussed by classes, and an united action taken in regard to them; class meetings on mysterious matters are constantly being held; class suppers are no longer confined to the seniors. But, after all, class individuality does not hurt college unity. A warm class feeling often arouses a warmer college feeling, and the classes try to make their closer union a means of greater service for the college. Along these same lines is a more marked difference between the younger and the older students. In spite of countless teas given to the freshmen in the fall, and a very cordial effort to welcome them to Bryn Mawr, there cannot be the same intercourse between them and the upper classmen, the same means of personal contact and influence that there used to be; although, perhaps, the larger, broader means of influence are increased.

This is, in substance, what the undergraduates told us. Of course, we alumnae were inclined to think that it all meant the destruction of Bryn Mawr because nothing of the sort existed when we were undergraduates. But the undergraduates maintained (and we think that the alumnae at large will, after all, agree with them) that what is good for one age may be bad for another, that true progress lies in change, that while nothing can be gained without some loss, the gain may far outweigh the loss.

As for the standard of scholarship in the college, the undergraduates told us that, to their minds, it had not been lowered. Of course as the number of students increases the class that cares more for frivolity than for study increases, but, nevertheless, there is a large proportion that do as good intellectual work as was ever done. The nervous strain among the students has certainly not increased. Indeed, the extension of the mid-year examination week to two weeks has had a beneficial effect in that direction.

After the undergraduates had told us all that we could wish to know we told them everything that we thought would interest them in regard to our association; as, for example, the changes made in its organization, the reasons for such changes, and the results that we hoped would come from them. They seemed very glad to learn about the alumnae and their work for the college.

Chairman.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON LOAN FUND.

The committee met on November 4. Miss McMurtrie was appointed chairman, Miss Mason secretary and treasurer. The committee decided to obtain a charter and incorporate itself under the name of the "Students' Loan Fund". The money and also the interest accruing from it are to be given into its exclusive charge. It will lend the capital on direct application.

The loan is to be paid within five years after leaving college, except when special permission for a longer time is granted. The rate of interest is to be two per cent. Students will not begin to pay this interest until they leave college. Two loans, one of $100 and one of $200, have already been made by the committee.

“If we drop our tears,
Who loved him as few men were ever loved,
We mourn no blighted hope nor broken plan,
With him whose life stands rounded and approved
In the full growth and stature of a man.”

On the second of January, 1895, the plan of Dr. Rhoads’ earthly career was fulfilled and suddenly “he was not; for God took him.”

James E. Rhoads was born in Marple township, Delaware county, Pennsylvania, in January, 1828. Here he spent his childhood and youth, surrounded by the love and care of his saintly parents. The effect of their lives on his was to make him realize the beauty and force of the great commandment to love one’s neighbor as one’s self and to inspire him with a desire to give expression to the spirit of the command in his life. The practice of medicine seemed to him to offer an opportunity for the service he desired. He therefore studied at the Medical School of the University of Pennsylvania, where he was graduated in 1851. In a short time he had gained a large practice in Germantown, but his sympathies went out so strongly to the suffering with which he came in contact, that his strength was taxed beyond endurance and he was forced to give up the work so dear to him. Relieved of his professional duties and still possessed with a zeal to be of use to his fellow-man, he turned his attention to the cause of the down trodden Freedman and Indian. In this field he labored actively for ten years, and to the close of his life he was most closely identified with this work.

But it is in Dr. Rhoads’ career in connection with the building up of Bryn Mawr College that we have known him best. As a personal friend of Dr. Taylor he was associated with the work from the beginning. In 1883 he was made chairman of the Building and Executive Committees of the Board of Trustees; in 1884 he was appointed President of the College, from which time until his death, more than a decade, he labored for its highest good and best interests. 'Nothing was too small or insignificant for his attention. The College was a trust bequeathed to him and he thought it his mission to carry out the wishes of its founder.

Bryn Mawr opened in September, 1885, with forty-four students. Those present at the inauguration will never forget Dr. Rhoads' warm welcome nor his delight at the realization of his hopes.

For eight years he discharged most nobly the duties of President, giving to his work the full rich power of a matured life. Declining health, however, made it advisable for him to resign the position and he tendered his resignation, which was to take effect on September 1st, 1893. The Trustees, knowing what Dr. Rhoads meant to Bryn Mawr, begged for a reconsideration of his decision and he consented to hold the presidency for one year more. The feeling of the Trustees on this subject is embodied in the memorial address of a member of that body: "With profound reluctance the Trustees accepted his resignation. His language was so simple and so gentle, when he told them that his health demanded it, that they did not realize to the full extent what he probably knew too well, that further effort of so exacting a nature might prove a fatal strain. After Francis T. King's death he was entrusted with the Presidency of the Board of Trustees, as well as of the College, and thus in a measure could have controlled his own position. But he was to be trusted in this. He never sought his own advancement; he was the first to recognize his own deficiencies, he would not even accept honors for a member of his family while he was President. His tone was too high for that. He asked for no furlough; he asked nothing for himself but release. Modest almost to a fault, he claimed no merit for the exceptional success of his College, and yet he had developed conspicuous executive ability and unrivalled gifts for the high office he held. Most of you well know with what a fine combination of qualities he successfully executed this great trust. Combining strength with gentleness, and justice with kindness, that fair and clear character triumphed over all obstacles, met every emergency, and won the admiration which he did not seek.'

Although no longer to be identified with the Faculty as its President, he was still to retain his position on it as Professor of Christian Ethics.

Successful as Dr. Rhoads was as President, it was not his official position that gave him the influence that was felt by all: it was the force of his gentle personality, the strength of his noble character, and the realization of that highest expression of human life, that for him to live was Christ. It was these qualities that gave him his breadth of sympathy with and his loving interest in each student individually.

It was not only in the intellectual life of Bryn Mawr that Dr. Rhoads took so deep an interest; he had a great yearning for its spiritual welfare. He desired earnestly that the tone of the college should be one of a true and living religion, and he longed that each student should try to attain to a higher life. As one sat in chapel day after day and listened to his words, Whittier's lines seemed as true of Dr. Rhoads as of Agassiz—

"Even the careless heart was moved,
And the doubting gave assent,
With a gesture reverent,
To the Master well-beloved,
As thin mists are glorified
By the light they cannot hide,
All who gazed upon him saw,
Through its veil of tender awe,
How his face was still uplit
By the old sweet look of it,
Hopeful, trustful, full of cheer,
And the love that casts out fear."

Dr. Rhoads was a minister of the Society of Friends and was one of its most able speakers. He was probably more widely known and loved as a Friend than any other man in the country.

It is almost impossible to describe Dr. Rhoads' personality. In him was set forth the combination of those qualities so seldom united, gentleness and strength. He was a typical Christian gentleman, amiable, unassuming, full of courtesy and sympathy.

To us is left the loving memory of a noble life, a memory which will always inspire us to strive after what is best in life.
GENERAL REPORT.

The Alumnae Association held five meetings during the year 1894-1895, the regular meetings in October and June, one informal meeting in January, and two special meetings in April.

The informal meeting in January was called to act upon the following resolutions which were prepared by the Executive Committee on the death of Dr. Rhoads:

Whereas, We, the Alumnæ of Bryn Mawr College, have heard with the deepest sorrow of the death of Dr. Rhoads, the first President of the College.

Resolved, That we do hereby express our appreciation of his unceasing efforts to promote the highest interests of the College, our reverence for his noble Christian character; and our gratitude for the help that we, as students and Alumnae, have received from his personal friendship.

Resolved, That we convey to those most closely related to him our heartfelt sympathy in their great sorrow.

At this same meeting the President brought forward a suggestion made by several of the alumnae that a tablet or some other memorial to Dr. Rhoads be placed in Taylor Hall. A committee was appointed to look into the subject of memorial tablets and report to the Executive Committee or to a meeting of the whole Association. The special meeting of April 6th was called to consider the question of this memorial. It will be remembered that at the June meeting in 1894 it was decided to raise a fund, to be known as the "Dr. James E. Rhoads Endowment Fund," the interest of which was to be used as a scholarship or loan fund. About five thousand of the eight thousand dollars necessary had been contributed or promised, and it was the feeling of some of the Alumnae that this work should be completed before any memorial were erected. A circular was sent out in order to obtain the feeling of each member of the Association on this point, and the subject was once more considered in the meeting of April 27th. It was then the feeling of the Association that since Dr. Rhoads knew of the Fund before his death, and since it is for an object completely in accord with his spirit and will in itself be a most beautiful memorial of him and the spirit for which he stood in the college, that we first fulfil our pledge toward this fund and then erect a tablet which shall stand as an expression of our own feelings about Dr. Rhoads, a mark which says in words more clearly than the fund that he was dear to us and his memory is dear to us still. The Association accordingly announced to the trustees their desire to erect a tablet to the memory of Dr. Rhoads as soon as the Endowment Fund is completed.

The work of the Association during the past year has centered chiefly around the Endowment Fund. Collectors were appointed in July and these reported for their classes at the Fall Meeting. It was decided at this meeting to postpone the consideration of the disposition of the fund as to whether it should be a scholarship or loan fund until the meeting in June 1895. Circulars with the address of the Treasurer have been printed and sent to the collectors for distribution among the Alumnae. A committee has been appointed to draw up a list of the names of the persons to whom these circulars have been sent by the Alumnae in order to avoid making two requests to the same person. A committee was appointed later to look into the methods of awarding scholarships in other colleges, and also into the advantages of loan funds as compared with scholarships. This committee reported to the Executive Committee, which drew up a recommendation which was presented to the Alumnae at the June meeting. This proposition was acted upon clause by clause, and in its amended form stands as follows:—

(a.) That the interest of the Dr. James E. Rhoads Endowment Fund be used, at the discretion of the committee, as one undergraduate scholarship of the value of four hundred dollars, or as two undergraduate scholarships of the value of two hundred dollars each.

(b.) That the student or students to whom such scholarship be awarded shall have completed at least her Freshman year at Bryn Mawr.

(c.) That the question of need be considered with that of merit.

(d.) That the scholarship or scholarships be awarded through an investigating committee, consisting of the President of the Alumnae Association and three other Alumnae appointed by the Executive Committee, the President of the College and two other members of the Academic Council, appointed by the Academic Council of the Faculty.

(e.) That the College be requested to give to the name of the successful candidate or candidates honorable mention in the program, together with the holders of the Bryn Mawr and Garrett fellowships and scholarships.

The collectors of the Alumnae Fund were appointed collectors of the Endowment Fund in order to avoid the confusion arising from two sets of collectors. It was recommended by the Executive Committee and adopted by the Association that no further requests for contributions to the Alumnae Fund be made until the Endowment Fund is completed.

At the October meeting the question of an amendment to Article vi of the Constitution was considered. It was not deemed advisable to raise the dues to one dollar a year, but that any deficit in the treasury should be met by an assessment, any Alumna who is unable to pay such an assessment being excused.

In the fall Emma S. Wines and Henrietta R. Palmer resigned their positions as Corresponding and Recording Secretaries. The Executive Committee with regret accepted their resignations, since both found that they were unable to devote the time that was required to the work of the Association. Martha G. Thomas and Leah Goff were elected to those positions.

Two new committees have been formed during the year, a "Lantern Committee," whose work it is to take charge of contributions for the "Lantern," and to arouse interest in the magazine among the Alumnae, and an Auditing Committee, whose business it shall be to audit the accounts of the Treasurer. The work of the Nominating Committee was extended in order to include the nomination, not only of the officers of the Association, but also of the Chairman of the Conference Committee, since this position is one of such importance, determining as it does in great measure our relation to the Undergraduate and Graduate Associations.

In June, 1892, the Trustees "authorized the formation of a committee of seven to manage the 'Students' Educational Fund,' to consist of five Alumnae to be appointed by the Association, of the President of the Undergraduate Association of Bryn Mawr College and of the President and Dean of the Faculty." It has been found that in the minutes of the Trustees of the College no mention is made in the list of the members of the committee on the Students' Loan Fund of the President of the Undergraduate Association. The Loan Fund Committee in a meeting in April, 1895, recommended that the President of the Undergraduate Association be no longer a member of this committee. This recommendation was ratified by the Association. It was also deemed advisable that there should be an amendment of the original motion, firstly, with regard to the fact that the office of Dean has been abolished, secondly, that the name of the Fund should be changed from the "Students' Educational Fund," to the "Students' Loan Fund." The motion in its amended form stands as follows:—

"There shall be a committee of six to manage the Students' Loan Fund, to consist of five Alumnae to be appointed by the Alumnae Association, and of the President of the College."

A permanent committee on health statistics has been elected by the Executive Committee in consultation with President Thomas. This committee consists of Jane L. Brownell, Chairman; Lilian V. Sampson and Annie C. Emery, who succeeded Susan G. Walker, both as Secretary to the President and member of this committee. The plan of appointing one of the college officers on this committee was found convenient, since the college has agreed to bear all the responsibility and expense of getting out the forms.

The Class Records which appear for the first time in this Annual Report were authorized by the Association, and in connection with the form which each Alumna received, explain themselves.

It is with sorrow that we record the death of two of our number during the past year. In November, 1894, Mary Grafton Patterson, the first graduate of Bryn Mawr College, and Anna Powers, of the Class of '90, were taken from among us. Miss Ethel Powers has offered to the college a scholarship to be known as the "Anna Powers Memorial Scholarship," in memory of her sister. As Alumnae we appreciate this most fitting memorial of one whose interest in Bryn Mawr was ever most active and sincere.

LEAH GOFF, Secretary.
REPORTS OF STANDING COMMITTEES.

REPORT OF THE ACADEMIC COMMITTEE.

This year's report of the Academic Committee falls into two divisions, a report of its endeavors to make its work more effective and systematic, and a report of its regular conferences with the authorities of the College. The Committee had begun to feel that it was greatly limited in its usefulness by the fact that its members lived at a distance from one another, and therefore could not prepare themselves for the conferences in any but a hasty and superficial manner. Accordingly, this year an effort was made to obviate such difficulties, and a system of circular correspondence was inaugurated by which discussion might be carried on throughout the year by the members of the Committee. Topics for the conferences, of broad and educational interest, were suggested, and plans were made to investigate the questions connected with them. Such investigation was apportioned to the various members of the Committee, who were to send in reports of their work to the Chairman. These reports were then to be embodied in the circular correspondence.

The new organization could not be expected to show complete results in its first year, but the results that it has shown have greatly encouraged the members of the Committee. They are convinced that in the future the Committee can prove itself a more adequate and influential representative of the Alumnae Association than it has been in the past, and that it can far better promote the interests of the College and even of education in general.

The two regular conferences of the year have been of unusual interest. At the fall meeting President Thomas presented the reports asked for by the Committee in the preceding year, in regard to students entering the College in February, and in regard to students entering with more than four conditions. The former report showed that of the students that have entered in February a few have been exceptionally strong students, a few exceptionally weak, and the greater part fully able to meet the requirements of the average standard. President Thomas also repeated the arguments advanced in the preceding year in answer to the suggestion of the Committee that students should not be allowed to enter in February, namely, that admittance at that time did not interfere with the working of the College, and that the fact that some students were completing their course at the mid-year justified other students in extending their course. The latter report showed that in only very few cases have students been admitted with more than four conditions, that special reasons have existed for these exceptions, and special requirements been made in regard to an early passing off of the conditions. President Thomas stated that within the last year the requirements in regard to conditions had been made much stricter and that in September, 1894, no students had been admitted with more than four.

The members of the Committee on their side brought forward the question of undergraduate scholarship, reporting that at a preliminary meeting they had reached the conclusion that the advantages of such scholarships would far out-weigh their disadvantages, that by them a desirable student element would be introduced in the College, and that the fact that they were competed for on the ground of excellence in scholarship, as well as of financial necessity, would quite remove any evils of dependence that might be attached to them. In all this President Thomas warmly concurred, and considerable time was devoted to discussing practical details connected with the question. At the Spring Conference, President Thomas brought forward some interesting facts that had come to light in the awarding of the Anna Powers Memorial Scholarship. Chief among these was the fact that scholarships reach a class of students not reached by the Loan Fund. Young students that have never taught and are not sure of their ability to support themselves are very unwilling to borrow money. Rather than draw even on the Loan Fund, with its low rate of interest, they sometimes prefer to entirely give up their college work. Scholarships, on the other hand, they are very anxious to obtain. President Thomas and the Committee agreed in thinking that it was wiser to award such scholarships after the freshman year, rather than by competitive entrance examinations, although there were shown to be many practical difficulties in the way of decision on the basis of collegiate work.

The Spring Conference was in all respects a peculiarly interesting one. In addition to the question of scholarships that was continued from the Fall Conference, the Committee brought forward two topics that it had been discussing during the year, namely, Pedagogy, and the relation of college entrance examinations to preparatory schools. The member of the Committee to whom the investigation of Pedagogy had been assigned reported that she had drawn up a detailed plan of examination into the question, but had desisted from carrying it out after it was publicly announced that a school of Pedagogy was to be founded at Bryn Mawr; for it had been with a view to that result that the Committee had wished to bring the matter forward. This led to a very suggestive discussion, since the members of the conference were by no means unanimous in their belief in either theoretical or practical Pedagogy. President Thomas urged the Committee to continue its investigation, saying that its results would be of great assistance to the College. The Committee, therefore, during the next year will undertake such an investigation, the report of which the Alumnae Association will doubtless await with some interest.

The member of the Committee who had been appointed to arrange an investigation of the influence of entrance examinations on preparatory
REPORT OF THE CONFERENCE COMMITTEE.

Two regular and three special meetings of the Conference Committee were held during the academic year 1894-95, and at most of these meetings undergraduates, graduate students and alumnae were represented. That members of the joint committees might have opportunities of knowing each other personally, and of discussing informally questions that were arising from time to time, the committee of '94-'95 agreed to meet the first Thursday in each month. In case the new committee approve, this plan will be adopted for the year '95-'96.

The body of students studying at Bryn Mawr during the academic year '94-'95 consisted of 224 undergraduates, 13 graduates of Bryn Mawr, and 32 graduates of other colleges, making a total of 267 students.

The undergraduate life has been full of interest. The Self-government Association has adopted a new method of electing its officers. By this plan the Executive Board of five members, the secretary and the treasurer are elected on a general ticket, and therefore represent the majority; while the Advisory Board of ten members is elected by the classes—the graduate students constituting one class and each class having two representatives—and therefore may have on it some representatives of the minority. The elections are held at polls located in the various halls, and the returns are posted as soon as may be after the closing of the polls. From the standpoint of the individual, this new method saves time, gives more time for thought regarding the candidates, and gives each one an opportunity of voting for some of the officers of the Association if not for all. The new system is satisfactory so far, and will be tried again this coming year.

A religious society, called the Christian Union, was formed during the winter, and this society, together with the Philosophical Club and the De Rebus Club, was instrumental in bringing to the college many interesting lectures. The Undergraduate Committee told us, among other things, that there had been some excitement in the college over the discovery of the existence of a secret society; that one or two mass meetings had been called to discuss the matter, but though no definite action was taken the students in general expressed themselves as averse to secret societies for Bryn Mawr. It is believed that in deference to this expression of opinion, the society mentioned ceased to exist.

A serious question came up in regard to a college song. A few undergraduates, without the authority of any association, posted notices which stated that the music for the college song had been chosen (the metre was given); that these students, together with the editorial board of the Lantern, would examine all poems sent in; that a prize in money would be awarded to the best poem; and that the prize poem with the music chosen by these students would be published by the Editor of the Lantern in this year's issue, and would be called "The Bryn Mawr College Song." Alumnae were invited to compete.

Our Committee at once met the Undergraduate Committee, and took exception to the proposed plan, arguing:—(1) that no self-appointed committee had the right to select and publish a song to be called "The Bryn Mawr College Song"; (2) that the Lantern board had no right, without the authority of the Undergraduate Association, to publish in the Lantern, (the official organ of the undergraduates) a song to be called "The Bryn Mawr College Song"; and (3) that it would be impossible to get the approval or co-operation of the alumnae before the Lantern should go to press.

The joint committee made to the Undergraduate Association the following suggestions:—

(1) That both undergraduates and alumnae be asked to consider the plan of having a college song and to appoint committees to attend to the matter.

(2) That in case the associations decide to have such a song, undergraduates and alumnae be invited to send in music as well as words for it.

(3) That the students who had offered a prize for the best words to the music they had chosen, be asked to submit to the joint committee of undergraduates and alumnae their prize song.

To our committee this arrangement seemed a very fair one, for it would in no way interfere with the competition for the prize offered by the students already mentioned, and yet would give all Bryn Mawr students an opportunity of offering any words or any music, and would give the committee a greater variety of songs from which to select one.

I have gone into these details because of the feeling aroused among some of the undergraduates. The matter was misunderstood, the students offering the prize thinking the alumnae were interfering withdrew their offer and refused to have anything to do with the matter. This state of affairs was reported to us only when it was too late in the year to make an explanation, but the question will be taken up at our first meeting this fall, and we ask the alumnae to consider the proposition of appointing a committee to co-operate with the undergraduates in selecting a college song.

The Graduate Section of the Conference Committee assured us that the Graduate Club was firmly established with regular officers and committees. The object of the members of the club is to promote good feeling and good fellowship among graduate students, to learn from informal discussion something about one another's special work, and to inform themselves in regard to the graduate courses of other colleges. The club meets informally once a fortnight, and formally once a month; at the informal meetings some member of the club reads a paper, while an invited speaker addresses the club at its formal meetings. The club was represented by Miss Emery and Miss Hardcastle at the conference of Graduate Clubs held in New York, in April of this year. The principal topic of discussion was the "Publication of a Hand-book of Graduate Courses." This book has since been published and gives valuable information to graduate students concerning graduate courses offered by about twenty leading American colleges.

The reports from the undergraduates and from the Graduate Club seemed to our committee most interesting and satisfactory.

Evangeline Walker Andrews, Chairman.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON THE STUDENTS' LOAN FUND.

The Committee on the Students' Loan Fund held three meetings during the past year. One application was made for a loan of one hundred dollars ($100.00) which was granted. As our treasury was in need of funds it seemed advisable to have appeals printed, stating the object and needs of the fund. Three hundred of these appeals were circulated with the gratifying result of four hundred and seventy-two dollars and twenty cents ($472.20) being placed in our treasury.

The treasurer reports a balance on hand to June 4, 1895, of six hundred and ninety-seven dollars and ninety cents ($697.90).

Since the above report was made there has been returned to the fund one hundred and ten dollars and fifty cents ($110.50).

Julia Cope Collins, Chairman pro tem.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON HEALTH STATISTICS.

The Committee was appointed by order of the fall meeting of the Alumnae Association, to print and distribute the questions on health prepared for the Association, and to take charge of answers that should be received from the questions.

The work was begun immediately, but it was found advisable to make a few changes in the questions, when they were finally reviewed.

As the College promised to pay the expenses of the Committee, Miss Thomas was consulted in the choice of a printer, and the Committee decided, after comparing various estimates, to give the work to Friedenwald & Co., Baltimore.
The expenses have been—
To printing Envelopes, &c. .... $86.05
" Lock-box and other expenses, .... 4.92
Total, .............. $90.97

The bills have been paid by the College, as agreed.

On April 13, 119 copies of the questions were sent out, one to each Alumna of the College.

On June 4, 39 sets of answers had been received, i. e. about one-third of the number distributed, which is to be regarded as a good proportion.

The committee suggest when the answer to a question is not known, that this should be indicated by a question mark, or in some other way, as a blank simply means, that the question remains unanswered.

They recommend, also that the answers be returned sealed; the postage required, even at letter rates, is but six cents.

ACADEMIC NOTES.

Bryn Mawr has suffered a severe loss in the appointment of Dr. Edward Washburn Hopkins to the Sanskrit Chair, at Yale, formerly filled by Prof. Whitney. The appointment includes a year's leave of absence in India, of which Dr. Hopkins will avail himself in 1896-97.

In the classical department at Bryn Mawr the courses have been rearranged and two new appointments have been made, namely, that of Dr. Mortimer Lamson Earle, as Associate Professor of Greek and Latin, and that of Mr. Paul Elmer Mare, as Associate in Sanskrit and Classical Literature.

Dr. Earle received the degree of Ph.D., at Columbia, in 1889, studied for several years in Athens and Berlin, and was then appointed Instructor and Lecturer in the Classics at Columbia and Barnard. He has already won no small reputation as a scholar. Especially has his recent edition of the Alcestis been favorably received both at home and abroad.

Mr. Mare received the degree of A. M. at Harvard, in 1893, and since that time has been Instructor in Sanskrit at the same university. His book, "The Great Refusal," which deals with questions of Buddhistic philosophy, has gained for him considerable reputation as a writer.
The English department will also be increased by another "Lecturer," Mr. Alfred L. Hoder. Mr. Hoder has been a student and fellow in the graduate school at Harvard and has studied in Freiburg and Berlin.

Of especial interest are the two new departments, one of Art and Archaeology, the other of Geology, that are to be opened next year. The former is to be under the direction of Mr. Richard Norton, Lecturer in Archaeology, a son of Prof. Charles Eliot Norton. Mr. Norton was graduated from Harvard in 1892, and has since then been studying at Berlin, Athens and Munich. His courses will consist of lectures and class work on Italian and Greek Art, and Classical Archaeology. The sum of five hundred dollars has been appropriated for the purpose of photographs, and in addition a large collection of Braun photographs has been presented to the college. Furthermore, the undergraduates have raised a memorial fund in honor of Dr. Rhoads, which will be devoted to the purchase of books on art and archaeology.

The department of Geology will be under the direction of Dr. Florence Bascom, Reader in Geology, who received the degree of Ph.D. from the John Hopkins University, in 1893, being the first woman to obtain this honor, and who since then has been Instructor in Geology at the State University of Ohio. Dr. Bascom will give post-major and graduate courses, consisting of lectures and laboratory and field work. A valuable collection of minerals has been loaned to the department, and the college has appropriated the sum of five hundred dollars for the purchase of books and instruments.

The alumnae will hear with great regret that Miss Florence Peirce has resigned her position as librarian, but with great pleasure that Miss Henrietta Palmer, '93, has been appointed as her successor.

It is with great pleasure and pride that we learn that President Thomas has been elected a member of the Board of Trustees of Cornell University. This election may be considered a triumph, in view of the well-known conservatism of Cornell.

Dr. Paul Shorey, of Chicago, was married in Philadelphia, on June 20th, to Miss Emma Gilbert.

Dr. Charles McClean Andrews was married in Bryn Mawr, on June 19th, to Miss Evangeline Holcombe Walker, '93.

Dr. Arthur Stanley Mackenzie was married in Indianapolis, on May 29th, to Miss Mary Lewis Taylor, '92.

CLASS RECORDS.

CLASS OF '89.

SOPHIA WEYGANDT HARRIS, Sec'y, 5305 Main St., Germantown, Phila.

Nine of the Class of '89 are married. The first wedding was that of Helen Coale, who was married on July 17th, 1890, to Henry Crew, professor of physics at Haverford College. The year of 1891-92 they spent at Lick Observatory, and in 1892 they came to Evanston, Ill., where Prof. Crew holds a position at the Northwestern University. They have two children, Alice Hargrave and Mildred.

On May 7th, 1891, Catharine Bean was married to Isaac Cox, and is now living in Tulare, Cal. She also has two children, Joel Bean and Mary Morris. Both she and Mrs. Crew are keeping house.

Mabel Hutchinson was married to J. H. Douglas, June 12th, 1891, and is living in Scott's Mills, Oregon. She has one son, Bruce Hutchinson.

In this same year, on October 1st, Anne Taylor was married to Frank Hartwell Simpson. They have two children, Harold Taylor and Laura. Their home is in College Hills, Cincinnati.

Emily Anthony was also married this year, on November 11th, to Frederick Wright Robbins, M. D., and is keeping house in Detroit. They have one son, Franklin.

On January 18th, 1893, Margaret Thomas was married to Anthony Morris Carey, and still lives in Baltimore. They also have one son, Galloway Cheston.

The next wedding, in 1894, was Julia Cope's. She was married May 22d, to William Henry Collins, Prof. of Astronomy at Haverford College, where they are now living.

Also, this year, on June 14th, Sophia Weygandt was married to John McArthur Harris. Their home is in Germantown, and they have one daughter, Lucy.

On September 18th, 1894, Mabel Clark was married to John Henry Huddleston, M. D., and is now living in New York city. From 1890-93 she was reader in English at Bryn Mawr College and took an A. M. degree there in 1890. From 1893-94 she taught in Mrs. Emerson's school, in New York.

The next in number are those engaged in educational work. Susan Franklin was appointed instructor in Latin, at Vassar College, in 1893. Before that she was fellow in Greek, at Bryn Mawr College, from 1889-90; tutor in Wilmington and graduate student at the college from 1890-91; teacher of Greek and Latin at Miss Baldwin's school, Bryn Mawr, 1892-93; graduate student at Bryn Mawr as American Fellow of the Collegiate Alumnae Association, where she took a doctor's degree in 1893. Her doctor's dissertation was on the "Traces of Homeric Influence in the Tragedies of Aeschylus."

Elizabeth Blanchard was fellow at Bryn Mawr College 1889-90; taught in the Bryn Mawr School, Baltimore, from 1891-92; was lady in charge of one of the Bryn Mawr College Cottages from 1892-93; tutored in Germantown and Bryn Mawr, 1894-95.

Harriet Randolph is demonstrator in Biology and reader in Botany in Bryn Mawr College. From 1890-92 she studied abroad, and in 1892 she took the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, at Zurich. She has published two scientific papers, "The Regeneration of the Tail in Lumbriculus" in the Journal of Morphology, and "Beitrag zur Kenntniss der Tuberificiden" in the Jenaische Zeitschrift fur Naturwissenschaft."

Emily James Smith is Dean of Barnard College. The year of 1890 she spent studying in Europe. From 1891-93 she was teacher of Greek at Packer Institute; and 1893-94, fellow in Greek at the University of Chicago. She has published two papers on classical subjects: one, the "Hungry Greeklings," in the Atlantic Monthly; the other, "Americans at the English Universities," in the Nation. Also, she has published a book "Selections from Lucian". (Harper Bros.), most favorably noticed by the current monthlies and papers.

Leah Goff has been doing educational work until the last year, which has been spent at home. In 1889-91 she was demonstrator in the Biological Laboratory, Bryn Mawr; 1891-93, assistant demonstrator in the Biological Laboratory, Bryn Mawr College, and graduate student from 1891-92 and 1893-94, taking the degree of A. M. in 1894.

Emily Balch spent 1890-91 in Paris studying; 1891-92 she was occupied in the work of the Mass. State Board of Charities; 1892-94 she spent at home and gave lectures before various clubs on economical and social questions, and conducted a class in economics. She is a delegate of a labor union and an officer of the Working Women's Union.

In more exclusively charitable work are occupied, Helena Dudley, Lina Lawrence and Alice Anthony.

Helena Dudley was head worker at the College Settlement in Philadelphia from 1892-93; in Boston, 1893-95. Before she went into the settlement work she was teacher of Biology and Chemistry at the Packer Institute in Brooklyn. She has published two articles, one the "Report of College Settlements," and the other an article on "Relief work carried on in the Wells Memorial Institute," in the magazine of American Academy of Political and Social Science. She was a delegate to the Central Labor Union, Boston, and is treasurer of the Garment Makers' Union.

Lina Lawrence is assistant to the head worker at St. Peter's Settlement, Philadelphia, and is housekeeper and accountant of the house.

Alice Anthony was resident at the Rivington Street Settlement, New York, for four months in 1891, four months in 1892, and head worker at St. Peter's House, Philadelphia, from 1892-94.

Three of the class are at home, occupied with many interests.

Martha Thomas is corresponding secretary of the Bryn Mawr College Alumnae Association for 1894-95, and a member of many boards, secretary of the Women's Auxiliary of the Chester County Hospital of the Needlework Guild, and treasurer of the Students’ Loan Fund, &c.

Mary Blanchard is at home in Bellefonte, and is a member of the committee of the Village Improvement Society.

Mary McMurtrie is occupied principally with work in various charities, and is taking one or two courses in economics at the University of Pennsylvania. She is a member of the board of women visitors for the county of Philadelphia for the State Board of Charities, of the Lecture Association of the University of Pennsylvania, a manager of the Graduate Department for Women at the University of Pennsylvania, &c., &c.

Ella Riegel has been traveling abroad ever since graduation, except for one visit to America.

Anna Rhoads has been chiefly engaged in studying. From 1889-90 she was a graduate student at Bryn Mawr; 1890-91 she studied in Leipzig; 1893-94 Garrett scholar in Biblical Literature at Bryn Mawr College; 1894-95 graduate student at Bryn Mawr College. In 1894 she took a master’s degree at Bryn Mawr College.

Carrie Paxson has been managing the farm at New Hope, which is her home. She also is a member of various educational boards, the University Extension Committee, &c.

Alice Gould and Louise Elder have made no definite reports.

CLASS OF ’90.

ELIZABETH HARRIS, Secretary, Bryn Mawr, Pa.

Alice Hopkins Albright since graduation has taught for one year in the High School at Dunkirk, N. Y., and for three years in the Packer College Institute, Brooklyn.

Edith Child is teacher of Latin and Mathematics in Miss Case and Miss Hallowell’s School for Girls, and in the Philadelphia Seminary, Miss R. E. Judkins, Principal. She is a member of the Civic Club of Philadelphia.

Katharine Taber Willets Gardner traveled in Europe, Asia and Africa, from June 1890 to July 1891. On the 22d of August, 1892, she was married in New York city to Mr. Alfred A. Gardner.

Alice E. Garretson is engaged in book-keeping at Haywards, California.

Edith F. Sampson was married July 9th, 1895, to Mr. John H. Westcott, Prof. of Latin at Princeton College. She received the degree of Master of Arts from Bryn Mawr College in June, 1894. She is secretary of the Philadelphia Centre of the Biological Association, president of the Alumnae Association of Bryn Mawr College, and a member of the Civic Club of Philadelphia.

Alice Whitall Smith Russell, since 1890, has been engaged in philanthropic work in London. She published an article on “The Revolt of the Daughters” in the Nineteenth Century, for March, 1894. On December 13th, 1894, she was married in London to Hon. Bertrand Russell, and during the winter of 1895 attended lectures of Prof. Lummel on Sociology, in Berlin.
Katharine M. Shipley, from 1890-92, studied at the Universities of Leipzig, Paris, and Cambridge, England. She is a teacher in the Misses Shipley's School for Girls, preparatory to Bryn Mawr College.

Luella Hibbs Thorne is teacher of Latin in the High School, Bristol, Conn., and a trustee of the Oakwood Seminary, Union Springs, New York.

The Class of '90 has met with the sad loss of one of its members. Anna Powers died of typhoid fever on the twelfth day of November, 1894, in Germantown, at the house of Mr. Haywood Mason. She was born on the 6th of July, 1866, and was the second child of John E. and Emily D. Powers. Since graduation she had been occupied in teaching, first in Mrs. Head's School, Germantown, afterwards as a private instructor. She was collector for the Class of '90 of the Dr. Rhoads' Fund, and showed an active interest in all college matters. A scholarship of the value of two hundred dollars has been founded in memory of her by her sister, Miss Ethel Powers, of New York City. This scholarship is to be annually awarded to an undergraduate student of Bryn Mawr College, preferably to one that has completed her freshman year.

CLASS OF '91.

MYRÀ BEDINGER, Secretary, Anchorage, Kentucky.

Helen Aunan started on a journey around the world in June, 1891, from which she returned in October, 1893. She has spent the last two winters in New York City doing work in Sociology, first at Barnard College, and then under the direction of the Charity Organization Society of New York.

Emily Bull has taught for three years in Miss Stevens' School, Germantown.

Esther Bymes was assistant in Biology at Vassar College for two years. She has spent the years 1893-95 at Bryn Mawr, the first year as Garrett scholar, the second year as fellow in Biology. She took the degree of M. A. at Bryn Mawr, June, 1894.

Myra Bedinger has taught for three years at Mrs. Head's School, Germantown. During the year 1894-95 she studied at the University of Pennsylvania.

Jane Haines studied two years at Bryn Mawr, taking the degree of M. A. in June, 1892. The last two years she has spent at home, actively employed in philanthropic and other forms of work.

Harriet Head was, for three years, acting principal of Mrs. Head's School, Germantown. She has given up school work and is now at home.

Marian A. Wright was married December 27, 1893, to Mr. Thomas H. O'Connor, a lawyer of Boston, Mass. They are living in Cambridge, Mass., and have a son, Thomas Ireland O'Connor, born January 4th, 1895.

Ethel Parrish characterizes her work for the last four years as "miscellaneous and not of a statistical nature."
Lilian Sampson has done graduate work at Bryn Mawr since 1891, except during the year 1892-93, when she studied at the University of Zurich. She has also worked at Wood's Holl during the summers of 1892 and 1894. She took the degree of M. A. at Bryn Mawr, June, 1894.

Jane Scofield has been teaching history in the High School of San Antonio, Texas.

Emily Vail has been engaged in tutoring.

CLASS OF '92.

Edith Wetherill, Secretary, Chalkley Hall, Station E., Philadelphia.

Helen Bartlett, 107 Randolph avenue, Peoria, Illinois, has studied since graduation, receiving the degree of M. A. at Bryn Mawr College, 1893, and holding the American Fellowship of the Collegiate Alumnae, 1894-95.

Alice Belin, Scranton, Pa., travelled abroad in the summer of 1894 with Frances B. Harris and Edith Wetherill.

Elizabeth Maxwell Carroll, 19 East Centre street, Baltimore, is teacher of classics in the Randolph-Harrison School.

Kate Holladay Claghorn, Leonia, New Jersey.

Helen Theodora [Clements] Kirk, Lansdowne, Pa., married Dr. Edward Cameron Kirk, (Dentist and Editor of the "Dental Cosmos"), October 6th, 1892. Dorothy Clements Kirk, born July 5th, 1893.

Anne Crosby Emery, Ellsworth, Maine, studied at Bryn Mawr College and Leipzig since graduation. Traveled in Southern Europe with Dr. and Mrs. Slaughter summer of 1894. Graduate student at Bryn Mawr College and secretary to the President 1894-95.

Edith Rockwell Hall, 3909 Spruce street, Philadelphia. Private tutor 1893-94.

Frances Elizabeth Hunt, 639 Jefferson avenue, Scranton, Pa.

Margaret Dutton Kellum, 2017 Maryland avenue, Baltimore. Teacher in public school.

Abby Kirk, Graver's Lane, Germantown, Philadelphia. Reader in English at Bryn Mawr College.

Mary Taylor Mason, School Lane, Germantown, Philadelphia. Teacher of History and Geography in Mrs. Head's School, Germantown, 1892-93. Graduate student in Mathematics and Philosophy at Bryn Mawr College, 1893-94. Has been studying and traveling abroad since the spring of 1894.

Grace Pinney Stewart, 182 West 82d street, New York, married Mr. James M. Stewart (real estate), April 17th, 1895.

Helen J. Robins, 1708 Pine street, Philadelphia. Secretary to the Dean of Bryn Mawr College, 1892-93. Since then has taught English and History in Mrs. Edward J. Robins' School, has done private tutoring and has taught in private classes.

Mary Lewis Taylor Mackenzie, Bryn Mawr, Pa., married Mr. Arthur Stanley Mackenzie (Associate Professor of Physics at Bryn Mawr College), May 29th, 1895.

Edith Wetherill, Chalkley Hall, Station E., Philadelphia. Secretary of the Municipal Department of the Civic Club, Philadelphia. Secretary of Class of '92, Bryn Mawr College.

Elizabeth Ware Winsor, Weston, Mass. Teacher of Greek, Latin and English Composition in private school, Boston. Vice-elector of Bryn Mawr College Alumnae Chapter of the College Settlement Association.

CLASS OF '98.

Madeline Vaughan Abbott, Sec'y, Bryn Mawr College, Bryn Mawr, Pa.

Seventeen members, more than one-half of the class, have filled out and returned the record blanks. Six of these seventeen are teaching; three are studying; one is the Librarian and one the Secretary of Bryn Mawr, and the others are engaged in no definite occupation beyond that of their home life.

Eliza Raymond Adams is the Honorary Corresponding Secretary of Bryn Mawr College in Indianapolis, and under her care the summer examination for matriculation was held in Louisville.

Louise Sheffield Brownell is studying at Columbia.

Helen Rolfe Hopkins, with two friends of hers, has started a self-supporting class in calisthenics and physical culture among factory girls of South Baltimore.

Nellie Neilson has been appointed the American Fellow of the Association of Collegiate Alumnae and will spend next year at Bryn Mawr.

Elizabeth Nichols has been appointed assistant in Zoology in the Girls' High School of Philadelphia.

Henrietta Palmer has been appointed to the post of Librarian at Bryn Mawr.

Evangeline Holcombe Walker is to be married on June 19th to Dr. Charles M. Andrews.

Susan Grimes Walker has been elected President of the College Settlement Association.
HELEN MIDDLETON, Secretary, Pitville P. O., Philadelphia, Pa.

Four of '94's sixteen graduates spent the winter at Bryn Mawr.

Mary Bidwell Breed, the holder of the European Fellowship for 1894-95, was a graduate student in Chemistry, Physics and Mathematics, and assistant in the Chemical Laboratory. During the college year two scientific articles written by her were published: one in the journal of the Franklin Institute (January, 1895), was entitled "On the Action of Magnesium on Vapors of Alcohols, and a new method of preparing Allylene." Miss Breed received the degree of Master of Arts in June, 1895. She will spend next winter in studying abroad.

Edith Hamilton, who last spring received the degree of Master of Arts, was the Fellow in Latin and a graduate student at the College this winter. She has received the Garrett European Fellowship for the year 1895-96.

Emilie Norton Martin worked at the College as a graduate student from October to February, when she went to Baltimore to take the position of teacher of Latin in the Bryn Mawr School. Next year she will be at Bryn Mawr as the holder of the fellowship in Mathematics.

Marie Louise Minor was the assistant demonstrator in the Biological Laboratory at the College during the past year, and teacher of Physiology at Miss Baldwin's School, Bryn Mawr. She was also in charge of the College Book Shop.

Katherine Porter, during her four years college course, devoted much of her time to Biology, and has, this year, been a medical student at the Johns Hopkins Medical School. The Johns Hopkins Medical School has but recently been opened to women, and Miss Porter is the first Bryn Mawr graduate who has taken advantage of the opportunities offered there.

Seven of the Class of '94 have spent the past winter in teaching.

Sarah Wilson Darlington has done general teaching in the Boys' House of Refuge at Glen Mills, Pennsylvania.

Helen Rolfe Hopkins was teacher of Science in the Randolph-Harrison School in Baltimore.

Emilie Norton Martin, teacher of Latin in the Bryn Mawr School in Baltimore from February to June.

Helen Middleton was at Bryn Mawr until February, 1895. She taught for a short time in the spring, and has been doing ink drawing for scientific purposes.

Marie Louise Minor, teacher of Physiology in Miss Baldwin's School, Bryn Mawr.

Jennie M. Staadeker, an instructor in the Girls' High School, Louisville, Kentucky.

Ethel McCoy Walker, teacher of History in the Overbrook School, in Miss Baldwin's School, Bryn Mawr, and in Miss Irwin's School, Philadelphia.

Agnes M. Whiting was for three months in a book store in Springfield; the rest of the years she has been regularly employed as private secretary to Mr. Charles G. Whiting. During the year she has had a large number of book reviews published in the Springfield Republican.

The class also contains the following members, whose occupations have not been of a definite nature:—Mabel Birdsall, Blanche Davis Followsbee, Julia E. Landers, Fay M. MacCracken, Mary Neville.

Estelle Reid spent the winter of 1894-95 in Rome, visiting the family of Mr. Wayne MacVeagh, American Minister to Italy.

On June 12th, Abby Slade Brayton was married to Mr. Randall Nelson Durfee, of Fall River, Massachusetts.

GENERAL REPORT.

Four Alumnae meetings were held during the academic year 1893-94. The two regular meetings were well attended, but at both special meetings we failed to secure a quorum.

Owing to the small number of meetings held, the Secretary has little business to record in her Annual Report. The real work of the Association has been carried on through its committees, whose reports will be found printed separately or included in the General Report.

The regular Fall meeting was held on November 20th, in Merion Hall. At that meeting it was stated that the sum of $1,500 had been promised toward a swimming tank for the gymnasium on condition that the other $1,500 needed could be raised. The matter was referred to the Conference Committee, with instructions to bring it before the Undergraduate Association through its representatives on that committee. A joint committee was formed from both Associations and the work of soliciting money began. In June, the committee reported that the $1,500 had been raised. It should be stated that the success of the work was due in a great measure to the energy and enthusiasm of the Undergraduates, although the Alumnae responded heartily to the call for money. The swimming tank will be ready for use this Fall.

A year ago a committee was appointed to draw up a set of questions that would lead to statistics concerning the health of the Alumnae of Bryn Mawr. This committee made a careful study of the similar work already done by other Alumnae organizations, and presented a preliminary report. During the past year the committee has completed a list of questions to be sent to the Alumnae. This list, which is in tabular form, has been carefully compiled and submitted to many of the Alumnae for suggestions. It has also been approved of by Miss Thomas and Mr. Giddings.
With a view to carrying on this important work, the Association, at the June meeting, voted that a permanent committee of three be appointed, subject to the approval of the college authorities, who should confer with them in the matter.

It is hoped that during the year the funds can be obtained for printing the questions and distributing them among the Alumnae.

Several amendments to the constitution were made during the year. Art. iv, § 1 was amended to read, "The officers of the Association shall be a President, Vice-President, Corresponding Secretary, Recording Secretary, and Treasurer. These officers shall serve as the Executive Committee." By this change all the members of the Executive Board are officers of the Association.

The difficulty of obtaining a quorum at Alumnae meetings suggested an amendment to our constitution on that point. A committee appointed to investigate the matter reported that large quorums were not the rule among other alumni organizations. At Harvard, for instance, a quorum of ten is sufficient, while at Vassar any number present constitute a quorum. The committee recommended that ten members constitute a quorum of our Alumnae Association, and the constitution was amended to that effect.

A further amendment was made, requiring that an announcement of all business to come before a meeting should be sent with the two weeks' notice of that meeting. The June meeting alone was left open for casual business not announced in the call for the meeting.

Many of the Alumnae will be interested to learn that the Bryn Mawr Chapter of the College Settlements Association is prospering. The membership increased last year, and the subscriptions were much larger than ever before.

At the June meeting the following vice-electors were appointed:

Boston—Elizabeth W. Winsor.
Philadelphia—Edith F. Sampson.
Bryn Mawr—Ethel M. Walker.
Baltimore—Elizabeth Carroll.
Indianapolis—S. Frances Atkins.

The elector is Susan G. Walker, Bryn Mawr College.
It was with deep regret that the Alumnae learned of the resignation of Dr. Rhoads as President of the College. A copy of the letter sent to Dr. Rhoads on that occasion is given below:

Bryn Mawr College, December 19, 1893.

President James E. Rhoads—Dear Sir:—We, the undersigned, representing the Alumnae Association of Bryn Mawr College, desire, on behalf of the Association, to express to you our deep sense of all that the College owes to you, its first President; and the regret which we feel that you should have found it necessary to resign the office. We who have been students of the College during its first decade shall always gratefully remember your wise administration, your untiring devotion to the interests of the College, and the many marks of personal kindness each one of us has received from you.

It is a great satisfaction to us that, in withdrawing from the Presidency of the College, you will still be with the College, and that your interest and sympathy will be felt as hitherto by all its students.

We trust that this relation may long continue.

Elizabeth Harris,
For the Alumnae Association of Bryn Mawr College.

At the June meeting it was decided that the Association found a scholarship in Bryn Mawr College in honor of Dr. Rhoads, and call it after his name. It is to be a full scholarship of $400, and the endowment fund must be at least $8,000. It was felt that it would be more or less difficult to raise so large a sum at this time, but we resolved to undertake it, feeling sure that if begun at once, and carried forward enthusiastically, many of our friends would be willing to help us, and the collection would be made before long. The result has more than justified our expectations, for already by the middle of September about a fifth of the necessary sum is in our hands. We hope—with the hearty co-operation of all the Alumnae, some of whom will perhaps learn of the proposed scholarship for the first time in this report, to have the whole amount in hand before the end of the year.

Henrietta R. Palmer,
Secretary.

Note.—It has not yet been decided whether the income from the Endowment Fund shall be used as a Scholarship or as a Loan Fund.

Partial reports from the Alumnae give a total of $1502 raised during the Summer.
REPORTS OF STANDING COMMITTEES.

REPORT OF THE ACADEMIC COMMITTEE.

The Academic Committee held two meetings during the last year, one in November, the other in June. While there is little definite action to report, the discussions have been important and suggestive, and have touched upon a wide range of topics.

The increased comfort of the students through the improvement of the table was considered; by the adoption of a new menu last year, and the formation of hall committees consisting of a member from each table, which is to be effected this coming year, it is hoped all cause for complaint will be removed.

The need of an additional egress in the Gymnasium was suggested and it is probable that the alterations necessary for this will be made before the opening of the College year, since the plans were already drawn in June.

In connection with the College work, the admission of students at the mid-year was discussed; many of the Alumnae have felt that there were serious disadvantages in this; Dean Thomas said that the college would not consider it advisable to place any restriction upon the entrance of properly qualified students at that time, that however the facts connected with such admissions would be examined in the light of the objections that had been advanced by the Alumnae, and the result reported at the next meeting of the Academic Committee.

The representatives of the Alumnae asked that the advisability of reducing the fees for single courses to Graduate Students should be considered; on the part of the College, however, it was said that there were economic objections since the expense of the Graduate courses was relatively greater than that of the Undergraduate ones and the lowering of the fees would mean an increase in the number of the students without a proportionate increase in the income.

In addition to these special topics, there was much general discussion about the relation of the College to the preparatory schools, the desirability of promoting an interest in art during the College course, and in regard to the religious life of the College.

IDA WOOD,
Secretary.
REPORT OF THE CONFERENCE COMMITTEE.

As prescribed by the Association our Conference Committee held its two meetings with the Undergraduates during the academic year 1893-94. The Undergraduates met us promptly and expressed themselves as delighted with this arrangement that gives them an opportunity of knowing personally members of the Alumnae Association, and of informing themselves in regard to its aims and methods. They agreed with us in thinking that copies of the Alumnae Report should be given to the Undergraduates, and are satisfied with our decision to send each year a certain number of copies for distribution to the president of the Undergraduate Association.

The Undergraduate Committee then reported on the various organizations under the control of the Undergraduate Association. No changes have taken place in the religious organizations, or in the De Rebus club, and as all of these were to be reported in detail in the Lantern, nothing further was said about them.

Slight changes have taken place in some of the organizations. The Glee Club has been re-organized under a professional leader who drills the club once a week, and in consequence of this change the membership dues have increased from fifty cents to three dollars a year. The club, however, has fifty members, and will undoubtedly be of more credit to the College than a larger club of undrilled singers would be.

The Students' Library has also been reorganized. The tax remains the same—twenty-five cents a year for each Undergraduate—and there is still a library committee of six members; but the books are now massed in the students' parlour of Denbigh Hall, and are in charge of a librarian appointed by the committee. Under the old system books were often taken away unregistered, and were kept out for months; indeed often they were never returned, and almost two-thirds of the new books have disappeared each year. The librarian now has certain office hours, and the system of registration is the same as that of the College library; but students cannot keep books more than three weeks without incurring a fine of two cents a day. The committee buys new books, and determines the salary of the librarian. The new system is very satisfactory, for it not only insures the safety of the books, but prevents the monopoly by a few students of the new publications.

The committee reported a very active interest in athletics, due especially to the introduction of basket-ball, which was played in the gymnasium in the winter, and on the campus in the spring. It has become very popular this year, but has not interfered with the tennis, for the tennis courts were in great demand, and even more interest than formerly was taken in the tournaments last year.

The Undergraduates dwelt with great emphasis upon the duties of the Alumnae toward the Lantern. The Lantern of '94 was published with the greatest difficulty, for contributions were few in number, and very late in coming in. The Undergraduate Committee maintained that in the first place we do very little in the way of contributions, and almost nothing in the way of purchasing and supporting our own magazine. If the Undergraduates are to publish the Lantern in good form, with good paper and free from advertisements, the Alumnae must help them, otherwise they must make the Lantern pay by cheapening it. Furthermore, if the editors must do all the work and give almost all their time to the Lantern, the enterprise must be put on a business foundation, and the editors must receive remuneration by means of advertisements. The Alumnae, the Undergraduates claim, should do their part in supporting the magazine, and should purchase it if only for the detailed reports on the college life given in the department of Collegiana. Our committee felt that the remand we received from the Undergraduates was just and deserved.

We were very much interested to know how the large class of eighty Freshmen that entered in the fall had received the ideas and principles of self-government, and we were told that as a class they worked enthusiastically for everything that concerned the welfare of the College. Self-government, it was felt, would show its strength or weakness in its management and assimilation of large numbers, for with an increase of students would come many and various interests and opinions. Self-government so far has proved equal to its task, and we quote from the Lantern of '94, to show some changes that have taken place in its organization, changes needed to meet new conditions:

"The success of the Self-government association, of which in former years we have been obliged to speak in a tentative way, is now an assured fact, although the problems before us are many and grave, and although more sacrifice of time and work is necessary on the part of its officers than we perhaps realized in the early days of the system, yet we are convinced that, so long as the present friendly and helpful spirit reigns in the College, the difficulties in our way can never be unsurmountable. The working organization has been greatly strengthened by the creation of an Advisory Board, of eight members, whose duty is to assist and advise the Executive Board whenever they may wish it, and especially in the more serious cases of an infringement of the regulations of the association. To the combined boards has been given the judicial power of the association, subject to appeal to the whole body. This arrangement makes the practical work more simple and convenient, and yet the committee is large enough to bear easily the responsibility laid upon it."

In short, we are evolving a more and more practicable system of Self-government, and the sound common sense of the body of Bryn Mawr students encourages us to hope for an ever-increasing strength.

With the report and informal discussion of Self-government the committees closed their meeting. Our committee felt perfectly satisfied with the state of affairs as reported by the Undergraduates, and they in their turn listened with interest to what we had to tell them of the work of the Alumnae.

At the close of the meeting the chairman of our committee was told unofficially of the formation of a Graduate Club, made up of graduate students studying at Bryn Mawr. Of the two hundred and twenty-five students at Bryn Mawr this year, forty-one were graduates, and of the forty-one graduates seventeen were graduates of Bryn Mawr.
The club had been formed that the graduates might meet in a social way, and also that they might be in a position to communicate officially with the other College organizations. The club has asked that it may have two representatives in the Conference Committee and the request has been granted. This new organization is already playing an important part in the college life.

Evangeline H. Walker,
Chairman.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE OF THE STUDENTS' LOAN FUND.

The Committee on the Students' Loan Fund of Bryn Mawr College, held a meeting September 21st, 1893, to consider two applications for loans for the year 1893-94. Both of these applications for loans, amounting together to $500, were granted. Up to the present time loans have been made to the amount of $925, leaving in the treasury a balance of twelve dollars and eighty-two cents, ($12.82). For the present therefore the Loan Fund is crippled, its treasury being practically empty, but I think I may appeal to the members of the Association, in behalf of the Committee on the Loan Fund, to aid us in every way either by contributing themselves or urging others to contribute to replenish our exhausted treasury. The Loan Fund supplies a long felt want, and we who have seen what it has accomplished in the last year feel justified in begging for your hearty support and co-operation in extending its usefulness which, at present, means by increasing its funds.

Mary T. Mason,
Secretary and Treasurer.

The attention of the Alumnae is called to the necessity of filling out the class record blanks fully and definitely and of returning them as soon as possible to the class secretaries. The class records are of little value unless each alumna is careful to send in a prompt and accurate report.

During the year 1895-96 the two regular meetings of the Alumnae Association have been held at Bryn Mawr, the first on November 16th, 1895, the second on June 4th, 1896. Two meetings of the Executive Committee have also been held in Philadelphia, the first on October 21st, the second on April 26th.

The main business of the Executive Committee has been the collection of the Dr. James E. Rhoads Endowment Fund. In order to ascertain how much could be added immediately to the sum already collected, printed circulars were sent to the Alumnae early in November, 1895, asking each one whether or not she could contribute to the fund before January 1st, 1896, and in case she could, how much she was prepared to promise. Although a stamped and directed envelope accompanied each of these appeals, but 70 of the 143 Alumnae returned any answers to the Committee. Of these 45 promised to contribute. In all, these appeals brought promises of $473, of which at the time of the June meeting, but $105 still remained unpaid. At that time the amount of the fund actually collected was $6,106.77, showing an increase during the year, of $1,756.27. There were also outstanding promises to the amount of $405, which, when paid, will bring the total to $6,511.77, leaving $1,488.23 to be raised before the $8,000 fund will be completed. (For more recent figures see Treasurer's Report.)

In accordance with the motion made in June, 1895, nothing has been collected for the Alumnae Fund this year, nor will anything be called for until the Endowment Fund is completed.

It was brought to the attention of the Executive Committee at the April meeting that the regular annual dues of no fewer than 41 Alumnae remained unpaid, and 5 of these had not been paid for two years, making in all $23.00 due the treasury. The Treasurer's account showed a balance of $4.00, left from last year, to be applied to the Association's share of the expenses of the Academic Committee, which amounted to $25.60. Unless the delinquent members pay their dues at once, it will be necessary to assess the whole Association for what is due from them, to meet the expenses of the past year.

As the Alumnae Association is now increased by 44 new members, making the entire number 187, the dues of next year should bring in $93.50, while the expenses will probably not exceed $75.00. If, therefore, all the members could be induced to pay their dues promptly, a general assessment, to meet the expenses of the Academic Committee next year, will not be necessary.

At the recommendation of the Executive Committee the Association at the June meeting gave to that Committee the power to make assessments at discretion, provided that the amount of such assessments should not exceed the amount of the annual dues.

At the November meeting of the Association the chief matter of interest was the question of the class position of students taking their degrees in February. A motion was passed that the class position of mid-year students be left to their own decision, provided that they register their decision with the Secretary, on graduation. In case a student fails to register, she is registered with the class following the February in which she is graduated.

No new committees have been appointed during the year. In the fall the Executive Committee appointed Margaret Hill Hilles, '93, collector of the Dr. James E. Rhoads Endowment Fund for her class, in the place of Ruth Emerson, who resigned. In April the Executive Committee, as usual, appointed the Auditing Committee and the Nominating Committee. The members of the Auditing Committee were Elizabeth M. Blanchard, Chairman, and Anna E. Rhoads. The members of the Nominating Committee were Henrietta R. Palmer, Chairman, Katharine M. Shipley, Emma S. Wines, Helen J. Robins, and Nellie Neilson.

An important matter of discussion brought before the June meeting was how the standing committees, especially the Conference Committee, could be brought into closer connection with the Executive Committee. It was first proposed that the chairman of the standing committees should be ex-officio members of the Executive Committee. This was objected to on the ground that it was unnecessary in the case of two out of the three committees, as the President attends the meetings of the Academic Committee, and the work of the Loan Fund Committee is of a definite nature. The only committee to be considered, therefore, was the Conference Committee. The motion was therefore passed that the Vice-President be made ex-officio member of the Conference Committee, and that Article IV of the Constitution be amended to embody this change.*

At the June meeting, also, great dissatisfaction was expressed at the time and trouble involved in the present method of electing officers. It was proposed that at least a month before the June meeting the Nominating Committee should send out to all members of the Association a ballot presenting alternate nominees for offices; that the written ballot be returned to the Secretary before June 1st, and the resulting elections be announced at the meeting. It was understood by this motion that the ticket could be scratched.*

The Executive Committee regret that this report should have been delayed until fall. As many of the class records, however, have been very late in coming in, it seemed better to postpone the publication of the report rather than to omit a portion of it entirely.

The Alumnae will learn with the deepest sorrow of the recent death of two of their number. Mary Taylor Mackenzie, of the Class of '92, died at Indianapolis on September 27th, 1896. Jane Scofield, of the Class of '91, died on July 27, 1896, at San Antonio, Texas.

Ethel McCoy Walker,
Secretary.

*As these motions propose amendments to the Constitution, it is necessary to vote upon them at the next meeting of the Association before they can be finally passed.
REPORTS OF STANDING COMMITTEES.

REPORT OF THE ACADEMIC COMMITTEE.

The Academic Committee has held but one conference with President Thomas during the past year, namely, the one that was held the first week in December. The second conference, appointed for the first week in June, was postponed because of the absence of President Thomas from the College. In consequence, the work that the Committee had planned for the year has not been completed. Several investigations of subjects concerning the College and educational work in general had been undertaken and carried on after the December conference. It is hoped that the Committee will be in a position to include in its next report some, at least, of the results of these investigations.

The report for this year, however, although dealing with matters different from those contained in previous reports, is considered by the Committee of especial importance. It is with great satisfaction that the Committee finds itself able to inform the Alumnae Association that its formation has now received formal recognition from the Board of Trustees. The association will remember that when the Committee was organised in 1893, it was stated by the President and the Dean of the College that as soon as the usefulness of the Committee had been proven, its formation would be formally recognised, and it would appear in the Program as a part of the regular organisation of the College. This year the Trustees, at a meeting held in May, "voted to approve the action of the President in recognising the formation of the Academic Committee."

The names of the members of the Committee are printed in the Graduate Program of this year, and next year will be printed in the general Program.

Another very important part of the Committee's report concerns proposed changes in the "Agreement" drawn up in 1893 between the Academic Committee and the President and the Dean of the College. This agreement read as follows:

"In order to establish an official means of communication between the authorities and the Alumnae Association of Bryn Mawr College, the Alumnae Association has appointed a committee, known as the Academic Committee, to confer with the President and the Dean on all matters of interest connected with the College.

The President and the Dean in accordance with the petition laid before them by said Committee,

(1) have recognised said Committee as the official means of communication with the Alumnae Association;

(2) have appointed stated times for conference, namely two in each year, said times to be the Wednesday before Thanksgiving, or a day

near that date at the discretion of the Committee, and the day after the conferring of degrees, or a day near that date at the discretion of the Committee;

(3) have granted to the Committee power to call special meetings for any imperative business.

Since the abolishment of the office of Dean the conferences of the Committee have been held with the President alone. Now, with the approval of President Thomas, the Committee presents the following recommendations to the Alumnae Association:

(1) That the President of Bryn Mawr College be asked to appoint two members of the Faculty to join her each year in the second regular conference with the Academic Committee of the Alumnae Association.

(2) That these members of the Faculty shall serve on the conference for one year, and may be reappointed at the pleasure of the President.

(3) That the Academic Committee of the Alumnae Association be privileged to ask the President to invite also any other members of the Faculty to either conference, if their presence is especially desired.

The Committee also recommends, with the approval of President Thomas, that the time of the conferences be changed, in order that the academic rather than the calender year may be divided. The Committee proposes as approximate dates for the two conferences, the end of January or first of February, and the end of May or first of June.

Annie Crosby Emery, Secretary.

At the June meeting of the Alumnae Association a motion was passed that Section II of the motion relating to the organization of the Academic Committee be so changed as to embody the above recommendations of that committee. This motion will be voted upon again at the fall meeting.

Ethel McCoy Walker, Secretary.

REPORT OF THE CONFERENCE COMMITTEE.

During the academic year 1895-96 the Conference Committee held two regular and five special meetings, that is, it averaged about one meeting a month. The meetings were always well attended by the members of the Undergraduate and Graduate Conference Committees, but all the members of the Alumnae Committee were not regular in their attendance. Inasmuch as the Alumnae proposed the formation of this joint committee, and as both the graduates and undergraduates are showing an interest in it, it is to be hoped that the Alumnae members will do their best to make the work of the Committee what it should be.

The year has been a very successful one for the College. In all, the students attending courses at Bryn Mawr during the past year numbered about 300, and of these 50 were graduate students. The halls of residence were comfortably filled, and in consequence of the new arrangement by which a certain part of each hall is set aside for the graduates, the college life has been very pleasant and free from friction. The Graduate Club held its regular informal meetings, and several times during the year had interesting lectures given them by outsiders; while athletics, the Philosophical Club, the De Rebus Club, the College Settlement Association, the Christian Union, the Temperance Association, and the Missionary Association shared the interest of the undergraduates. As the President of the College in her annual report gives a full list of those who address any of these associations, it is not necessary to enumerate them here. Basket-ball has been the chief feature of the athletics, and the students are now rejoicing in a fine athletic field situated below the professor's houses near old Yarrow Road. Part of the money for the field was raised by the students and the remainder was given by the College.

Two questions of general interest came before the students during the year: one concerning both graduates and undergraduates, and therefore dealt with by the self-government Association; the other concerning undergraduates only, and therefore coming under the jurisdiction of the Undergraduate Association. The first was a question of chaperonage. Generally speaking no student has been allowed to go to places of public amusement without a chaperone, although certain graduate students at their own request have been put on the list of chaperones authorised by the college. Feeling this restriction to be burdensome, the graduates asked that they might be allowed to go and come as they pleased; but to this the undergraduates objected on the ground that in both Undergraduate and Graduate bodies there were students who might well have this privilege and those to whom it should not be granted, arguing further that whereas all the students lived together, they should, as far as the social life was concerned, be governed by the same rules. It was, therefore, agreed that all students, whether undergraduates or graduates, under twenty-five years of age should not go to places of public amusement without chaperones, while all those of twenty-five years or over were to be free to go alone.

Of more importance to the Alumnae is the discussion that came up in the Undergraduate Association regarding the publication of The Lantern. Several efforts were made by the board of editors to get enough good articles to justify their bringing out The Lantern in June; but finding this impossible, they resigned. A committee was appointed for the purpose of collecting material during the summer. It will report this fall, and if it has been successful, The Lantern will be published during the autumn; otherwise the undergraduates will take some definite action regarding it. It has been suggested by some of the undergraduates that the standard of The Lantern be lowered; others feel that rather than this should happen, it would be better to have no magazine; while still others—and these are many—are wholly indifferent about the matter. If the Alumnae have any suggestions to make, the chairman of the Conference Committee will gladly receive them, and would like to have them before the first week in November ('96) when the joint committee meets. It seems a great pity that The Lantern should either lower its standard or cease to exist if the alumni can do anything to prevent. The Fortnightly Philistine, with which many of the undergraduates have expressed themselves as discontented, continued its publications throughout the year; and in June appeared a magazine, more brief and less comprehensive than The Lantern, called The Looking-Glass.

Evangeline Walker Andrews, Chairman.

REPORT OF THE STUDENTS’ LOAN FUND COMMITTEE.

The Students’ Loan Fund Committee has met twice during the year 1895-96, and has received appeals for aid from six students for 1895-96, and from two students for 1896-97. Of these five students were loaned money for use during the year 1895-96, and one was refused help, owing to the almost depleted state of the treasury at that time. The two appeals for 1896-97 have not yet come before the Committee. In December 1895 a printed statement of the work of the Committee from November 1892 until that date was circulated among former contributors and others, whom it was hoped to interest in the Loan Fund. Several contributions were received in response to these circulars.

With this small balance at its disposal the Committee has already the two appeals from students for 1896-97, (referred to above) amounting together to $450, and will almost certainly have several more, as until this year the applications have not come in before June or July and often later.

The Committee feels that in every case the loans have been made to students who could probably not have obtained the money required for their work in College in any other way, and would emphasise the important place that a fund of this kind holds in the list of means of helping students obtain their education.
The usefulness of the Loan Fund cannot be maintained and increased, as it should be, without the continued interest and support of each Alumna of Bryn Mawr, and the Committee would cordially ask for this co-operation.

On behalf of the Committee,

Martha Gibbons Thomas,
Secretary and Treasurer.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON HEALTH STATISTICS.

Since the last meeting of the Alumnae Association 6 sets of answers have been received by this Committee. The total number received has been 62, a little more than one-third of the whole number sent out; 200 copies of the questions have been ordered at a cost to the College of $21.75.

Jane Louise Brownell, Chairman.

ACADEMIC NOTES.

Though the Academic staff of Bryn Mawr will be larger this coming year, it loses one of its old members. Dr. Charles Andrew Barneaud, Reader in Italian, has resigned, and his place will be filled by Dr. Frederick M. Page, Reader in Romance Languages at Bryn Mawr College 1891-1895.

Dr. Oliver Johnston, A. B., Mississippi College, Ph. D., John Hopkins, has been appointed lecturer in French Philology.

Dr. Max F. Blau, Ph. D., Leipzig, has been appointed assistant lecturer in German Literature.

Dr. Hermann Lukens, who has studied under Dr. Stanley Hall, will lecture twice a week on the History of Education and Pedagogy. The course is open not only to students of Bryn Mawr, but free of charge to any outsiders who may care to take it.

Dr. Lightner Witmer, of the University of Pennsylvania, will give a course in experimental Psychology, comprising both lecture and laboratory work.

The attention of the Alumnae is called to a recent book published by the Macmillan Company, entitled Handbook of Courses Open to Women in British, Continental, and Canadian Universities. It has been compiled for the Graduate Club of Bryn Mawr College by Miss Isabel Maddison. A few selections from the preface will explain the purpose of the book:—

have wished to continue their studies abroad, have strongly felt the need of a handbook defining the position of the different foreign universities in regard to the admission of women to their courses, and giving for foreign universities and colleges particulars such as are given for American universities and colleges in Graduate Courses, a handbook published originally by the Graduate Club of Harvard University, and later by the Federation of Graduate Clubs. —An editorial committee, consisting of members of the club, corresponded with women studying abroad, addressed inquiries to the authorities of all the foreign universities, and collected calendars and other official publications. The information gathered from these different sources has been put together in a condensed form, and it is hoped that the alphabetical arrangement adopted will be found convenient for reference. —It is intended that a new edition of the handbook shall be issued yearly. —The Graduate Club of Bryn Mawr College is glad to allow the members of other colleges to make use of its collection of official programs and calendars; particular books will be lent for a few days to applicants prepaying postage. All communications in regard to the Handbook, and all requests for programs and calendars, should be addressed to Miss Isabel Maddison, President of the Graduate Club, Bryn Mawr College, Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania.

Emily Anthony Robbins is Chairman of the Committee on Child Study in the Detroit Branch of Collegiate Alumnae, and was Secretary of the Twentieth Century Club, '94-'95. She has a daughter Frederica, born December 17th, 1895.

Anne Taylor Simpson is a member of the College Hill Progress Club and of the College Club of Cincinnati.

Martha Gibbons Thomas is Vice-President of the Alumnae Association, and Secretary and Treasurer of the Students' Loan Fund of Bryn Mawr College. She was Third Director of the Association of Collegiate Alumnae; (Philadelphia Branch, '95-'96), and is Secretary of the Women's Auxiliary to Chester County Hospital.

Catharine Bean Cox, Sophia Weygandt Harris, and Harriet Randolph, report nothing definite.

CLASS OF '90.

Elizabeth Harris Keiser, Secretary, Bryn Mawr, Pa.

Katharine Morris Shipley, Secretary, pro tem.

Of the Class of '90, eleven have sent in their reports. Of these eight have been engaged in educational work or have had definite occupations.

Alice Hopkins Albro has been studying at Yale University.

Edith Child has continued as teacher of Latin and Mathematics in Miss Case and Miss Hallowell's School, Philadelphia. She is a member of the Educational Department of the Civic Club of Philadelphia.

Elizabeth Harris was teacher of Greek and Latin at Miss Baldwin's School, Bryn Mawr. She was married on June 17th, 1896, at Bryn Mawr to Dr. Edward H. Keiser, Professor of Chemistry in Bryn Mawr College.

Marian MacIntosh has been doing private tutoring.
Margaret Patterson was married to Mr. Richard Crawford Campbell in September, 1895, at Denver, Colorado. She has held important positions in many clubs in Denver, among them the Woman's Club, the Discussion Club, the Young Woman's Equal Suffrage League, and the Y. W. C. A., and since October, 1895, has been literary editor of the Rocky Mountain News, of Denver.

Alys Smith Russell spent November and December, 1895, in Germany, studying Social Democracy. In April, 1896, she went to Florence. She is a member of the Fabian Society, the Woman's Liberal Association, and the Pioneer Club, and is the Honorable Generals' Secretary of the Young Women's Branches of the British Women's Temperance Association. She has lectured four times on German Social Democracy and the Woman Question, and has spoken at thirty-two temperance meetings.

Katharine Morris Shipley has had charge of the English Department at the Misses Shipley's School, Bryn Mawr, Pa.

Luella Thorne has been teaching. Four months in the year she travelled in the south, principally in Georgia and Tennessee.

The remaining three report as follows:

Katharine Willits Gardner is a member of the Women's University Club, New York, and of the Alumnae Association of the Woman's Law Class of the University of the city of New York.

Emeline Gowen travelled in Europe during the winter.

Edith Sampson Westcott travelled during the summer of 1895 in England and the Netherlands. She served until June 4th, 1896, as President of the Alumnae Association of Bryn Mawr College.

CLASS OF '91.

Maria Voorhees Bedinger, Secretary, Anchorage, Kentucky.

Of the Class of '91, three have sent in their reports.

Maria Voorhees Bedinger has been teacher of Physics and Chemistry in the Mary Institute, St. Louis, Missouri. She is a member of the St. Louis Branch of the Association of Collegiate Alumnae.

Lilian Vaughan Sampson has been a graduate student in Biology at Bryn Mawr College.

Jane Scofield died on the 27th of July, '96, at San Antonio, Texas, where she had been teaching. Her report, received in June, showed that during the winter she had taught History and Latin in the San Antonio High School. She had received a permanent teacher's certificate from the school board of Texas and had written an outline of a history course for all grades in Public Schools which was to be published by Maynard, Merrill & Company, New York. In the summer of '96 she took charge of the departments of History and higher English in the Teachers' Normal School which met at San Antonio. She died very suddenly while lecturing to one of her classes.
CLASS OF '02.

Edith Wetherill, Secretary, 1340 Walnut St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Mary Taylor Mason, Secretary pro tem.

Of the Class of '02 fifteen have sent in their reports. Of these eight have been engaged in educational work or have had definite occupations.

Helen Bartlett studied at Bryn Mawr College from October to December, 1895, when she passed her Ph. D. examination. She received the degree of Ph. D. in June, 1896.

Elizabeth Maxwell Carroll has been teacher of Classics in the Randolph-Harrison School, Baltimore, Md. She is a member of the Arundel Club, the Good Government Club, and the Woman's College Club, of Baltimore, and is a Vice-Elector of the Bryn Mawr Alumnae Branch of the College Settlement Association.

Kate Holladay Claghorn has been studying for a Ph. D. degree at Yale University. She is Vice-President of the Association of Collegiate Alumnae, and a member of the Leonia Literary League, and of the St. Katherine's Guild of Leonia.

Annie Crosby Emery was Secretary to the President of Bryn Mawr College until February, 1896. She studied during the year in the graduate department at Bryn Mawr College, and received the degree of Ph. D. in June. She is the Secretary of the Academic Committee of the Alumnae Association of Bryn Mawr College, and a member of the Committee on Health Statistics.

GENERAL REPORT.

During the year 1895-96 the two regular meetings of the Alumnae Association have been held at Bryn Mawr, the first on November 16th, 1895, the second on June 4th, 1896. Two meetings of the Executive Committee have also been held in Philadelphia, the first on October 21st; the second on April 26th.

The main business of the Executive Committee has been the collection of the Dr. James E. Rhoads Endowment Fund. In order to ascertain how much could be added immediately to the sum already collected, printed circulars were sent to the Alumnae early in November, 1895, asking each one whether or not she could contribute to the fund before January 1st, 1896, and in case she could, how much she was prepared to promise. Although a stamped and directed envelope accompanied each of these appeals, but 70 of the 143 Alumnae returned any answers to the Committee. Of these 45 promised to contribute. In all, these appeals brought promises of $473, of which at the time of the June meeting, but $105 still remained unpaid. At that time the amount of the fund actually collected was $6,106.77, showing an increase during the year, of $1,756.27. There were also outstanding promises to the amount of $405, which, when paid, will bring the total to $6,511.77, leaving $1,488.23 to be raised before the $8,000 fund will be completed. (For more recent figures see Treasurer's Report.)

In accordance with the motion made in June, 1895, nothing has been collected for the Alumnae Fund this year, nor will anything be called for until the Endowment Fund is completed.

It was brought to the attention of the Executive Committee at the April meeting that the regular annual dues of no fewer than 41 Alumnae remained unpaid, and 5 of these had not been paid for two years, making in all $23.00 due the treasury. The Treasurer's account showed a balance of $4.00, left from last year, to be applied to the Association's share of the expenses of the Academic Committee, which amounted to $25.60. Unless the delinquent members pay their dues at once, it will be necessary to assess the whole Association for what is due from them, to meet the expenses of the past year.

As the Alumnae Association is now increased by 44 new members, making the entire number 187, the dues of next year should bring in $93.50, while the expenses will probably not exceed $75.00. If, therefore, all the members could be induced to pay their dues promptly, a general assessment, to meet the expenses of the Academic Committee next year, will not be necessary.

At the recommendation of the Executive Committee the Association at the June meeting gave to that Committee the power to make assessments at discretion, provided that the amount of such assessments should not exceed the amount of the annual dues.

At the November meeting of the Association the chief matter of interest was the question of the class position of students taking their degrees in February. A motion was passed that the class position of mid-year students be left to their own decision, provided that they register their decision with the Secretary, on graduation. In case a student fails to register, she is registered with the class following the February in which she is graduated.

No new committees have been appointed during the year. In the fall the Executive Committee appointed Margaret Hill Hilles, '93, collector of the Dr. James E. Rhoads Endowment Fund for her class, in the place of Ruth Emerson, who resigned. In April the Executive Committee, as usual, appointed the Auditing Committee and the Nominating Committee. The members of the Auditing Committee were Elizabeth M. Blanchard, Chairman, and Anna E. Rhoads. The members of the Nominating Committee were Henrietta R. Palmer, Chairman, Katharine M. Shipley, Emma S. Wines, Helen J. Robins, and Nellie Neilson.

An important matter of discussion brought before the June meeting was how the standing committees, especially the Conference Committee, could be brought into closer connection with the Executive Committee. It was first proposed that the chairman of the standing committees should be ex-officio members of the Executive Committee. This was objected to on the ground that it was unnecessary in the case of two out of the three committees, as the President attends the meetings of the Academic Committee, and the work of the Loan Fund Committee is of a definite nature. The only committee to be considered, therefore, was the Conference Committee. The motion was therefore passed that the Vice-President be made ex-officio member of the Conference Committee, and that Article IV of the Constitution be amended to embody this change.*

At the June meeting, also, great dissatisfaction was expressed at the time and trouble involved in the present method of electing officers. It was proposed that at least a month before the June meeting the Nominating Committee should send out to all members of the Association a ballot presenting alternate nominees for offices; that the written ballot be returned to the Secretary before June 1st, and the resulting elections be announced at the meeting. It was understood by this motion that the ticket could be scratched.*

The Executive Committee regret that this report should have been delayed until fall. As many of the class records, however, have been very late in coming in, it seemed better to postpone the publication of the report rather than to omit a portion of it entirely.

The Alumnae will learn with the deepest sorrow of the recent death of two of their number. Mary Taylor Mackenzie, of the Class of '92, died at Indianapolis on September 27th, 1896. Jane Scofield, of the Class of '91, died on July 27, 1896, at San Antonio, Texas.

Ethel McCoy Walker,
Secretary.

*As these motions propose amendments to the Constitution, it is necessary to vote upon them at the next meeting of the Association before they can be finally passed.
REPORTS OF STANDING COMMITTEES.

REPORT OF THE ACADEMIC COMMITTEE.

The Academic Committee has held but one conference with President Thomas during the past year, namely, the one that was held the first week in December. The second conference, appointed for the first week in June, was postponed because of the absence of President Thomas from the College. In consequence, the work that the Committee had planned for the year has not been completed. Several investigations of subjects concerning the College and educational work in general had been undertaken and carried on after the December conference. It is hoped that the Committee will be in a position to include in its next report some, at least, of the results of these investigations.

The report for this year, however, although dealing with matters different from those contained in previous reports, is considered by the Committee of especial importance. It is with great satisfaction that the Committee finds itself able to inform the Alumnae Association that its formation has now received formal recognition from the Board of Trustees. The association will remember that when the Committee was organised in 1893, it was stated by the President and the Dean of the College that as soon as the usefulness of the Committee had been proven, its formation would be formally recognised, and it would appear in the Program as a part of the regular organisation of the College: This year the Trustees, at a meeting held in May, "voted to approve the action of the President in recognising the formation of the Academic Committee." The names of the members of the Committee are printed in the Graduate Program of this year, and next year will be printed in the general Program.

Another very important part of the Committee's report concerns proposed changes in the "Agreement" drawn up in 1893 between the Academic Committee and the President and the Dean of the College. This agreement read as follows:

"In order to establish an official means of communication between the authorities and the Alumnae Association of Bryn Mawr College, the Alumnae Association has appointed a committee, known as the Academic Committee, to confer with the President and the Dean on all matters of interest connected with the College.

The President and the Dean in accordance with the petition laid before them by said Committee,

(1) have recognised said Committee as the official means of communication with the Alumnae Association;

near that date at the discretion of the Committee, and the day after the conferring of degrees, or a day near that date at the discretion of the Committee;

(3) have granted to the Committee power to call special meetings for any imperative business.

Since the abolition of the office of Dean the conferences of the Committee have been held with the President alone. Now, with the approval of President Thomas, the Committee presents the following recommendations to the Alumnae Association:

(1) That the President of Bryn Mawr College be asked to appoint two members of the Faculty to join her each year in the second regular conference with the Academic Committee of the Alumnae Association.

(2) That these members of the Faculty shall serve on the conference for one year, and may be reappointed at the pleasure of the President.

(3) That the Academic Committee of the Alumnae Association be privileged to ask the President to invite also any other members of the Faculty to either conference, if their presence is especially desired.

The Committee also recommends, with the approval of President Thomas, that the time of the conferences be changed, in order that the academic rather than the calendar year may be divided. The Committee proposes as approximate dates for the two conferences, the end of January or first of February, and the end of May or first of June.

Annie Crosby Emery, Secretary.

At the June meeting of the Alumnae Association a motion was passed that Section II of the motion relating to the organization of the Academic Committee be so changed as to embody the above recommendations of that committee. This motion will be voted upon again at the fall meeting.

Ethel McCoy Walker, Secretary.

REPORT OF THE CONFERENCE COMMITTEE.

During the academic year 1895-96 the Conference Committee held two regular and five special meetings, that is, it averaged about one meeting a month. The meetings were always well attended by the members of the Undergraduate and Graduate Conference Committees, but all the members of the Alumnae Committee were not regular in their attendance. Inasmuch as the Alumnae proposed the formation of this joint committee, and as both the graduates and undergraduates are showing an interest in it, it is to be hoped that the Alumnae members will do their best to make the work of the Committee what it should be.

The year has been a very successful one for the College. In all, the students attending courses at Bryn Mawr during the past year numbered about 300, and of these 50 were graduate students. The halls of residence were comfortably filled, and in consequence of the new arrangement by which a certain part of each hall is set aside for the graduates, the college life has been very pleasant and free from friction. The Graduate Club held its regular informal meetings, and several times during the year had interesting lectures given them by outsiders; while athletics, the Philosophical Club, the De Rebus Club, the College Settlement Association, the Christian Union, the Temperance Association, and the Missionary Association shared the interest of the undergraduates. As the President of the College in her annual report gives a full list of those who address any of these associations, it is not necessary to enumerate them here. Basket-ball has been the chief feature of the athletics, and the students are now rejoicing in a fine athletic field situated below the professor's houses near old Yarrow Road. Part of the money for the field was raised by the students and the remainder was given by the College.

Two questions of general interest came before the students during the year: one concerning both graduates and undergraduates, and therefore dealt with by the self-government Association; the other concerning undergraduates only, and therefore coming under the jurisdiction of the Undergraduate Association. The first was a question of chaperonage. Generally speaking no student has been allowed to go to places of public amusement without a chaperone, although certain graduate students at their own request have been put on the list of chaperones authorised by the college. Feeling this restriction to be burdensome, the graduates asked that they might be allowed to go and come as they pleased; but to this the undergraduates objected on the ground that in both Undergraduate and Graduate bodies there were students who might well have this privilege and those to whom it should not be granted, arguing further that whereas all the students lived together, they should, as far as the social life was concerned, be governed by the same rules. It was, therefore, agreed that all students, whether undergraduates or graduates, under twenty-five years of age should not go to places of public amusement without chaperones, while all those of twenty-five years or over were to be free to go alone.

Of more importance to the Alumnae is the discussion that came up in the Undergraduate Association regarding the publication of The Lantern. Several efforts were made by the board of editors to get enough good articles to justify their bringing out The Lantern in June; but finding this impossible, they resigned. A committee was appointed for the purpose of collecting material during the summer. It will report this fall, and if it has been successful, The Lantern will be published during the autumn; otherwise the undergraduates will take some definite action regarding it. It has been suggested by some of the undergraduates that the standard of The Lantern be lowered; others feel that rather than this should happen, it would be better to have no magazine; while still others—and these are many—are wholly indifferent about the matter. If the Alumnae have any suggestions to make, the chairman of the Conference Committee will gladly receive them, and would like to have them before the first week in November (96) when the joint committee meets. It seems a great pity that The Lantern should either lower its standard or cease to exist if the alumni can do anything to prevent. The Fortnightly Philistine, with which many of the undergraduates have expressed themselves as discontented, continued its publications throughout the year; and in June appeared a magazine, more brief and less comprehensive than The Lantern, called The Looking-Glass.

Evangeline Walker Andrews, Chairman.

REPORT OF THE STUDENTS’ LOAN FUND COMMITTEE.

The Students’ Loan Fund Committee has met twice during the year 1895-96, and has received appeals for aid from six students for 1895-96, and from two students for 1896-97. Of these five students were loaned money for use during the year 1895-96, and one was refused help, owing to the almost depleted state of the treasury at that time. The two appeals for 1896-97 have not yet come before the Committee. In December 1895 a printed statement of the work of the Committee from November 1892 until that date was circulated among former contributors and others, whom it was hoped to interest in the Loan Fund. Several contributions were received in response to these circulars.

Balance, June 4th, 1896, $219.12

With this small balance at its disposal the Committee has already the two appeals from students for 1896-97, (referred to above) amounting together to $450, and will almost certainly have several more, as until this year the applications have not come in before June or July and often later.

The Committee feels that in every case the loans have been made to students who could probably not have obtained the money required for their work in College in any other way, and would emphasise the important place that a fund of this kind holds in the list of means of helping students obtain their education.
The usefulness of the Loan Fund cannot be maintained and increased, as it should be, without the continued interest and support of each Alumna of Bryn Mawr, and the Committee would cordially ask for this co-operation.

On behalf of the Committee,

Martha Gibbons Thomas,
Secretary and Treasurer.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON HEALTH STATISTICS.

Since the last meeting of the Alumnae Association 6 sets of answers have been received by this Committee. The total number received has been 62, a little more than one-third of the whole number sent out; 200 copies of the questions have been ordered at a cost to the College of $21.75.

Jane Louise Brownell, Chairman.

ACADEMIC NOTES.

Though the Academic staff of Bryn Mawr will be larger this coming year, it loses one of its old members. Dr. Charles Andrew Barneaud, Reader in Italian, has resigned, and his place will be filled by Dr. Frederick M. Page, Reader in Romance Languages at Bryn Mawr College 1891-1895.

Dr. Oliver Johnston, A. B., Mississippi College, Ph. D., John Hopkins, has been appointed lecturer in French Philology.

Dr. Max F. Blau, Ph. D., Leipzig, has been appointed assistant lecturer in German Literature.

Dr. Hermann Lukens, who has studied under Dr. Stanley Hall, will lecture twice a week on the History of Education and Pedagogy. The course is open not only to students of Bryn Mawr, but free of charge to any outsiders who may care to take it.

Dr. Lightner Witmer, of the University of Pennsylvania, will give a course in experimental Psychology, comprising both lecture and laboratory work.

The attention of the Alumnae is called to a recent book published by the Macmillan Company, entitled Handbook of Courses Open to Women in British, Continental, and Canadian Universities. It has been compiled for the Graduate Club of Bryn Mawr College by Miss Isabel Maddison. A few selections from the preface will explain the purpose of the book:—

have wished to continue their studies abroad, have strongly felt the need of a handbook defining the position of the different foreign universities in regard to the admission of women to their courses, and giving for foreign universities and colleges particulars such as are given for American universities and colleges in Graduate Courses, a handbook published originally by the Graduate Club of Harvard University, and later by the Federation of Graduate Clubs. —An editorial committee, consisting of members of the club, corresponded with women studying abroad, addressed inquiries to the authorities of all the foreign universities, and collected calendars and other official publications. The information gathered from these different sources has been put together in a condensed form, and it is hoped that the alphabetical arrangement adopted will be found convenient for reference. —It is intended that a new edition of the handbook shall be issued yearly. —The Graduate Club of Bryn Mawr College is glad to allow the members of other colleges to make use of its collection of official programs and calendars; particular books will be lent for a few days to applicants prepaying postage. All communications in regard to the Handbook, and all requests for programs and calendars, should be addressed to Miss Isabel Maddison, President of the Graduate Club, Bryn Mawr College, Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania."

JANE B. HAINES, Treasurer.

October 1, 1896.
Alumnae Association of Bryn Mawr College.

PROVISIONAL BY-LAWS.

Adopted June 3rd, 1897 for one year.

ARTICLE I.—Membership.

Section 1.—Any person who has received the degree of Bachelor of Arts or of Doctor of Philosophy from Bryn Mawr College, is entitled to full membership in the Bryn Mawr Alumnae Association, and to all the privileges pertaining to such membership.

Section 2.—Former students of the college who have not received degrees may be elected to honorary membership in the Bryn Mawr Alumnae Association upon recommendation of the Executive Committee. The names of such members must be proposed at one of the regular meetings of the Association and voted upon at the regular meeting next following; an unanimous vote of the meeting being necessary to election. Honorary members are entitled to all the rights and privileges of full membership with the exception of the power of voting.

ARTICLE II.—Dues and Assessments.

Section 1.—The annual dues for each member of the Association shall be fifty cents; assessments in any one year shall not amount to more than fifty cents for each member.

Section 2.—Any member of the Association may become a life member of the Association upon the payment at any time of fifteen dollars; and upon such payment she shall become exempt from all annual dues and assessments.

Section 3.—Honorary members are exempt from all regular dues and assessments.

Section 4.—The names of members who fail to pay the annual dues for three successive years shall be stricken from the membership list. The Executive Committee may at its discretion remit the dues of any member sub silentio.

ARTICLE III.—Officers.

Section 1.—The officers of the Association shall be a President, a Vice-President, a Recording Secretary, a Corresponding Secretary, and a Treasurer.

ARTICLE IV.—Committees.

Section 1.—The Standing Committees of the Association shall be: an Executive Committee, consisting of the officers of the Association; an Academic Committee, consisting of seven members; a Conference Committee, consisting of four members; a Students' Loan Fund Committee, consisting of five members; a James E. Rhoads Scholarships Committee, consisting of three members; a Health-Statistics Committee, consisting of three members; and an Alumnae Fund Committee, consisting of one collector from each class graduated.

Section 2.—The Select Committees of the Association shall be: a Nominating Committee, consisting of five members, and an Auditing Committee, consisting of two members.

ARTICLE V.—Election and Appointments.

Section 1.—Elections shall be held annually; and in every case the candidate receiving the greatest number of votes shall be declared elected.
Section 2.—The Officers of the Association, together with the Chairman and other members of the Conference Committee, shall be nominated by the Nominating Committee, and elected by ballot of the whole Association. They shall hold office for one year, or until others are elected in their places. The Executive Committee shall have power to fill any vacancy in its own body for an unexpired term, or in that of the Conference Committee.

Section 3.—The members of the Academic Committee shall be both nominated and elected by ballot of the whole Association, and shall each hold office for four years or until others are elected in their places. Two new members shall be elected annually, except in every fourth year, when one new member shall be elected.

Section 4.—The members of the Students' Loan Fund Committee shall be appointed by the Executive Committee from candidates recommended by the Loan Fund Committee. One new member shall be appointed each year to succeed the retiring member, and no member shall be eligible for re-election until at least one year has elapsed after the expiration of her term of office.

Section 5.—The members of the James E. Rhoads Scholarships Committee shall be appointed by the Executive Committee, and shall each hold office for three years or until others are appointed in their places. One new member shall be appointed each year to succeed the retiring member, and no member shall be eligible for re-election until one year has elapsed after the expiration of her term of office.

Section 6.—The Health-Statistics Committee shall be appointed by the Executive Committee, and shall hold office for one year, or until others are appointed in their places.

Section 7.—The members of the Alumnae Fund Committee shall be appointed annually by the Executive Committee, and shall hold office for one year, or until others are appointed in their places.

Section 8.—The members of the Nominating Committee shall be appointed annually by the President of the Association. Their appointment shall be ratified at the regular semi-annual meeting of the Association. They shall hold office for one year, or until others are appointed in their places.

Section 9.—The members of the Auditing Committee shall be appointed by the President of the Association, and their appointment shall be ratified at the regular semi-annual meeting of the Association. They shall hold office for one year, or until others are appointed in their places.

ARTICLE VI.—Duties.

Section 1.—The President shall preside at all meetings of the Association and of the Executive Committee, and shall perform such other duties as regularly pertain to her office. She shall be a member, ex-officio, of all the committees of the Association; and she shall approve all bills presented to the Treasurer. She shall appoint the chairman and other members of the Nominating Committee and the Auditing Committee annually and in season to report their appointment for ratification at the regular semi-annual meeting of the Association. She shall also appoint such other committees as are not otherwise provided for.

Section 2.—The Vice-President shall perform all the duties of the President in the absence of the latter.
Section 3.—The Recording Secretary shall keep the minutes of the Association and of the Executive Committee, and shall perform such other duties as regularly pertain to the office of clerk, she shall have the custody of all documents and records belonging to the Association not included in those pertaining to special or standing committees. She shall notify committees of all motions in any way affecting them; she shall receive all ballots cast for the annual election and shall act as teller for the same, and she shall be responsible for the publication of the Alumnae report, which should be mailed to the Alumnae not later than the fifteenth of June of each year.

Section 4.—The Corresponding Secretary shall conduct all the necessary correspondence of the Association; she shall send out all notices, and shall inform officers and committees of their election or appointment; she shall countersign all bills approved by the President before they are paid by the Treasurer; she shall send to each class secretary in March of each year the forms for the collection of class records for the Alumnae report, and she shall assist the Recording Secretary in the preparation of the Alumnae Report.

Section 5.—The Treasurer shall be the custodian of the general funds of the Association which she shall pay out only upon the joint order of the President and Corresponding Secretary; she shall collect all dues and assessments, shall take and file vouchers for all disbursements, and shall keep an account of all receipts and expenditures. She shall be ready at any time to make a report of the finances of the Association to the Association itself or to the Executive Committee, and she shall make to the Association at the annual meeting a full report, the correctness of which must be attested by the Auditing Committee.

Section 6.—The Executive Committee shall prepare all business for the meetings of the Association and transact the business of the Association in the interim of its meetings. It shall have power to levy assessments. It shall in May of each year appoint the Students’ Loan Fund Committee, the Health-Statistics Committee, and the Alumnae Fund Committee. It shall at all times be responsible to the Association.

Section 7.—The Academic Committee shall hold at least one meeting each academic year to confer with the President of Bryn Mawr College on matters of interest connected with the College. It shall have full power to arrange the times of its meetings.

Section 8.—The Conference Committee shall hold at least two meetings each academic year, one in the autumn and one in the spring, to confer with committees from the Undergraduate Association and the Graduate Club of Bryn Mawr College, on matters of interest to the three associations. It shall have power to call special meetings at its discretion.

Section 9.—The Students’ Loan Fund Committee shall have full charge of the Loan Fund, and of its disbursements, subject to the approval of the Executive Committee. It shall confer with the President of the College regarding all loans.

Section 10.—The James E. Rhoads Scholarships Committee shall, with the President of the College and the Committee appointed by the Academic Council of the Faculty, award annually the James E. Rhoads Scholarships according to the provisions to be found in the minutes of the Association.
Section 11.—The Health Statistics Committee shall collect from members of the Association information regarding their occupations and health, to serve as material for statistics. The Committee, subject to the approval of the Executive Committee, shall have power to determine the best methods of carrying out the duties assigned to it.

Section 12.—The Alumnae Fund Committee shall solicit annually voluntary subscriptions from the members of the Association which shall be devoted to the formation of an Alumnae Fund as provided in the minutes of the Association.

Section 13a.—The Nominating Committee shall send to each member of the Association, at least one month before the annual meeting, a ballot presenting nominations for the officers of the Association and for the chairman and members of the Conference Committee.

Section 13b.—Not later than April first of each year the Nominating Committee shall request each member of the Association to make nominations for the Academic Committee. It shall consider as nominees the five members receiving the greatest number of votes, and it shall have power to add to this list nominees of its own, and the list thus completed shall be sent to each member of the Association with the ballot for the officers of the Association.

Section 14.—The Auditing Committee shall, in May of each year, examine the accounts of the Treasurer, and shall report concerning the accuracy of the same at the annual meeting.

ARTICLE VII.—Meetings.

Section 1.—There shall be each year two regular meetings of the Association which shall be held at Bryn Mawr College. The annual meeting on the day of the conferring of degrees, and the semi-annual meeting in November on a date to be fixed annually by the Executive Committee.

Section 2.—Special Meetings may be called at any time by the Corresponding Secretary at the request of the President or of five members of the Association.

Section 3.—One-tenth of the whole membership of the Association shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business.

ARTICLE VIII.—Business.

Two weeks before each meeting, notice shall be given to each member of the Association of all business to come before the meeting. At the annual meeting only, action may be taken on business of which no previous notice has been given.

ARTICLE IX.—Rules of Order.

The rules of parliamentary practice as set forth in Roberts' "Rules of Order" shall govern the proceedings of this Association in so far as they are not inconsistent with any provisions of its charter or by-laws.

ARTICLE X.—Amendment of By-Laws.

The by-laws may be amended or new ones framed by a two-thirds vote of the members present at any regular meeting of the Association, provided that details of proposed amendments and additions have been given in writing at a previous regular meeting of the Association, either by the Executive Committee or by five members of the Association.
Alumnae Association of Bryn Mawr College

By-Laws.

ARTICLE I.

MEMBERSHIP.

Section 1. Any person who has received the degree of Bachelor of Arts or of Doctor of Philosophy from Bryn Mawr College is entitled to full membership in the Bryn Mawr Alumnae Association, and to all privileges pertaining to such membership.

Sec. 2. Former students of the College who have not received degrees may be elected to honorary membership in the Bryn Mawr Alumnae Association upon unanimous recommendation of the Board of Directors. The names of such members must be proposed at an annual meeting of the Association and must be voted on at the annual meeting next following, an unanimous vote of the meeting being necessary for election. Honorary members are entitled to all the rights and privileges of full membership with the exception of the power of voting and the right to hold office.

ARTICLE II.

MEETINGS.

Section 1. There shall be each year one regular meeting of the Association. This meeting shall be held at Bryn Mawr College in February, on a date to be fixed annually by the Board of Directors.

Sec. 2. Two weeks before the annual meeting, notices of the date and of the business to be brought before the meeting shall be sent to each member of the Alumnae Association. If it should be necessary to bring before the meeting business of which no previous notice could be given, action may be taken upon such business only by a two-thirds vote of the members present at the meeting.

Sec. 3. Special meetings of the Association may be called at any time by the Corresponding Secretary at the request of the President, or of five members of the Association, provided that notice of the meeting and of all business to be brought before it be sent to each member of the Association two weeks in advance.

Sec. 4. In cases demanding immediate action on matters clearly not affecting the financial or general policy of the Association, special meetings may be called by the Corresponding Secretary with less than two weeks' notice at the request of the Board of Directors or of ten members of the Association. At special meetings called on less than two weeks' notice action may be taken only by a two-thirds vote of the members present.

ARTICLE III.
MANAGEMENT.

Section 1. The Officers of the Association shall constitute a Board of Directors to which shall be entrusted the management of the affairs of the Association in the interim of its meetings.

ARTICLE IV.
DUES.

Section 1. The annual dues for each member of the Association shall be one dollar, payable to the Treasurer at the annual meeting.

Sec. 2. Any member of the Association may become a life member of the Association upon payment at any time of twenty dollars; and upon such payment she shall become exempt from all annual dues and assessments.

Sec. 3. Honorary members are exempt from all regular dues and assessments.

threethirds vote of the members present at any regular meeting of the Association, provided that details of proposed amendments and additions have been given in writing at a previous regular meeting of the Association, either by the Executive Committee or by five members of the Association.
Sec. 4. The names of members who fail to pay the annual dues for three successive years shall be stricken from the membership list. The Board of Directors may at its discretion remit the dues of any member sub silentio.

ARTICLE V.

COMMITTEES.

Section 1. The Standing Committees of the Association shall be: An Academic Committee, consisting of seven members; a Conference Committee, consisting of four members; a Students' Loan Fund Committee, consisting of five members; a James E. Rhoads Scholarships Committee, consisting of three members; a Nominating Committee, consisting of five members; and an Auditing Committee, consisting of two members.

ARTICLE VI.

ELECTIONS AND APPOINTMENTS.

Section 1. Elections shall be held biennially before the regular meeting, and the results of the elections shall be announced at that meeting; in every case the candidate receiving the greatest number of votes shall be declared elected.

Sec. 2. The Officers of the Association shall be nominated by the Nominating Committee, and elected by ballot of the whole Association. They shall hold office for two years or until others are elected in their places. The Board of Directors shall have power to fill any vacancy in its own body for an unexpired term.

Sec. 3. The members of the Academic Committee shall be both nominated and elected by ballot of the whole Association, and shall each hold office for four years or until others are elected in their places.

Sec. 4. The members of the Conference Committee shall be appointed annually by the Board of Directors and shall each hold office for one year or until others are appointed in their places.

Sec. 5. The members of the Students' Loan Fund Committee shall be appointed by the Board of Directors from candidates recommended by the Loan Fund Committee. They shall each hold office for five years or until others are appointed in their places. One new member shall be appointed each year to succeed the retiring member, and no member with the exception of the Treasurer shall be eligible for re-election until one year has elapsed after the expiration of her term of office.

Sec. 6. The members of the James E. Rhoads Scholarships Committee shall be appointed by the Board of Directors, and shall each hold office for three years or until others are appointed in their places. One new member shall be appointed each year to succeed the retiring member, and no member shall be eligible for re-election until one year has elapsed after the expiration of her term of office.

Sec. 7. The Health Statistics Committee shall be a permanent committee appointed by the Board of Directors in consultation with the President of Bryn Mawr College. The chairman of this Committee is empowered to fill vacancies in the Committee; a vacancy in the chairmanship shall be filled by the Board of Directors in consultation with the President of Bryn Mawr College.

Sec. 8. The members of the Nominating Committee shall be appointed biennially by the Board of Directors, and shall each hold office for one year or until others are appointed in their places.

Sec. 9. The members of the Auditing Committee shall be appointed annually by the Board of Directors, and shall each hold office for one year or until others are appointed in their places.

Sec. 10. All appointments of the Board of Directors for the year ensuing shall be made in time to be reported by thirds vote of the members present at any regular meeting of the Association, provided that details of proposed amendments and additions have been given in writing at a previous regular meeting of the Association, either by the Executive Committee or by five members of the Association.
the Board to the annual meeting for ratification by the Association.

ARTICLE VII.

DUTIES.

Section 1. The President shall preside at all meetings of the Association and of the Board of Directors, and shall perform such other duties as regularly pertain to her office. She shall be a member ex-officio of all the committees of the Association and shall countersign all bills presented to the Treasurer before they are paid. She shall appoint such committees as are not otherwise provided for.

Sec. 2. The Vice-President shall perform all the duties of the President in the absence of the latter.

Sec. 3. The Recording Secretary shall keep the minutes of the Association and of the Board of Directors, and shall perform such other duties as regularly pertain to the office of clerk. She shall have the custody of all documents and records belonging to the Association which do not pertain to special or standing committees, and she shall be the custodian of the seal of the Association. She shall notify committees of all motions in any way affecting them; she shall receive all ballots cast for the biennial elections and with the Chairman of the Nominating Committee shall act as teller for the same; and she shall be responsible for the publication of the Annual Report which should be mailed to the Alumnae within two months after the annual meeting.

Sec. 4. The Corresponding Secretary shall conduct all the necessary correspondence of the Association; she shall send out all notices, and shall inform officers and committees of their election or appointment; she shall approve all bills before they are sent to the President for her signature. She shall send to each class secretary in January of each year the forms for the collection of class records; she shall receive and arrange these records for the Annual Report, and she shall also assist the Recording Secretary in the further preparation of this report.

Sec. 5. The Treasurer shall be the custodian of all funds of the Association, except those pertaining to special or standing committees; and shall pay them out only upon the joint order of the President and Corresponding Secretary. She shall collect all dues and assessments, shall take and file vouchers for all disbursements, and shall keep an account of all receipts and expenditures. She shall be ready at any time to make a report of the finances of the Association to the Association itself or to the Board of Directors, and she shall make to the Association at the annual meeting a full report, the correctness of which must be attested by the Auditing Committee.

Sec. 6. The Board of Directors shall prepare all business for the meetings of the Association, and shall have full power to transact in the interim of its meetings all business not otherwise provided for in these by-laws. It shall have control of all funds of the Association; it shall supervise the expenditures of committees, and it shall have power to levy assessments not exceeding in any one year the amount of the annual dues. It shall appoint before each annual meeting the members of the Conference Committee, the Students' Loan Fund Committee, the James E. Rhoads Scholarships Committee, the Auditing Committee, and a collector from each class for the Alumnae Fund. It shall also appoint in alternate years before the regular meeting preceding the biennial election the members of the Nominating Committee; and in case a vacancy occurs it shall appoint, in consultation with the President of Bryn Mawr College, the chairman of the Health Statistics Committee. It shall report all appointments to the regular meeting next following for ratification by the Association. A majority of the Board shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business. The Board

It shall have power to call special meetings at its discretion.

Sec. 9. The Students' Loan Fund Committee shall have immediate charge of the Loan Fund, and of its disbursements, subject to the approval of the Board of Directors. It shall confer with the President of the College regarding all loans.

Sec. 10. The James E. Rhoads Scholarships Committee shall, with the President of the College and the Committee appointed by the Academic Council of the Faculty, nominate annually the candidates for the James E. Rhoads Scholarships to be conferred by the Board of Trustees of Bryn Mawr College according to the provisions contained in the Deed of Gift.

Sec. 11. The Health Statistics Committee shall collect from the members of the Association information that may serve as a basis for statistics regarding the health and occupation of College women. The Committee, subject to the approval of the Board of Directors, shall have power to determine the best methods of carrying out the duties assigned to it.

Sec. 12. The Nominating Committee shall send biennially to each member of the Association, at least one month before the regular meeting, a ballot presenting alternate nominations for the officers of the Association. Two months before this regular meeting it shall have requested each member of the Association to make nominations for the Academic Committee. It shall consider as nominees the five members receiving the greatest number of votes, and it shall have power to add to this list nominees of its own, and the list thus completed shall be sent to each member of the Association with the ballot for the officers of the Association.

Sec. 13. The Auditing Committee shall in the month preceding the annual meeting examine the accounts of the Treasurer, and shall report concerning the accuracy of the same at the annual meeting.

Sec. 14. The Board of Directors and all Committees shall report to the Association at the annual meeting, and the Students' Loan Fund Committee shall report also to the Board of Trustees of Bryn Mawr College.

ARTICLE VIII.
RULES OF ORDER.

GENERAL REPORT.

During the year 1896-97, the Alumnae Association has held three meetings at Bryn Mawr, the first on November 21st, 1896, the second on April 10th, 1897, and the third on June 3d, 1897. Seven meetings of the Executive Committee have also been held.

At the meeting of the Association held November 21st, the proposed amendments to the Constitution brought forward at the meeting held June 4th, 1896, were decided as follows:

In regard to the Academic Committee the motion was passed that Section 11 of the motion referring to the organization of the Academic Committee be amended to embody the recommendations of that Committee. (For these recommendations see Report for 1895-96, page 7.)

In regard to elections and appointments the motion was passed that Article iv, Section 5, of the Constitution be amended to read: "The officers with the members of the Conference Committee shall be elected by ballot of the whole Association, and shall hold office for one year or until others be elected in their places, and they shall have power to fill any vacancy that may occur in their number."

The two following sections were added as By-laws to the Constitution:

(1) That at least one month before the June meeting, the Nominating Committee shall send out to all members of the Association a ballot, presenting, whenever possible, ultimate nominees for offices of the Association and for Chairman and members of the Conference Committee; that the written ballot shall be returned to the Secretary before June 1st, and the resulting election be announced at the June meeting.

(2) That the Nominating Committee send out notices to all members of the Association requesting nominations for the Academic Committee; that the five members receiving the greater number of votes be considered nominees; that the Nominating Committee have power to add nominees of its own; that the list of nominees thus completed be 'sent out with the ballot for officers of the Association, and that the resulting vote elect the members of the Academic Committee.

Further motions passed at this meeting were as follows:
That the Chair appoint the Nominating and Auditing Committees not later than the first of February preceding the elections, and 'if possible in time for these appointments to be announced at the Fall meeting.
That an Alumnae luncheon be substituted for the Alumnae supper.
Acting in accordance with these and with previous motions, the Chair appointed the following Committees:
As members of the Nominating Committee, Edith Sampson Westcott, Chairman; Susan Grimes Walker, Emily James Smith, Mary Delia Hopkins, and Edith Wetherill in place of Ida Wood, resigned.
As members of the Auditing Committee, Elizabeth Miller Blanchard and Abby Kirk.
As members of the Luncheon Committee, Mary Virginia Crawford and Helen T. Robins.
The most important business of the Association has been the completion of the James E. Rhoads Endowment Fund, the investment of this fund, and the determination of the conditions under which the scholarships from the fund should be awarded. The investment of the fund brought up the question of the incorporation of the Alumnae Association, and the question of incorporation led to the revision of the Constitution and By-laws of the Alumnae Association.
Following the suggestion of the Class Collectors, a motion was passed at the meeting of the Alumnae Association on November 21st, that an appeal be made at once to each member of the Association, through the Class Collectors, for contributions to the James E. Rhoads Endowment Fund, to be paid monthly from January to June. In consequence of this appeal and of further efforts on the part of the Alumnae, the amount necessary to complete the fund was promised by January 1st, 1897.
As soon as the fund was assured, the Executive Committee consulted the President and Trustees of the College in regard to its investment. The Committee proposed to give the fund outright to the Board of Trustees rather than to leave it to the management of the Association because the College could guarantee a higher rate of interest than the Alumnœ could get by their own investments, and because the Alumnœ of to-day who have raised the fund, might in this way have the assurance that no matter how radically the management and policy of the College or of the Association might change, the fund would continue to draw a fixed amount of interest, and the scholarships to be awarded annually. The gift was accepted at a meeting of the Board of Trustees held on April 14th, 1897, and was embodied in the following form in the minutes of the Board:

"On consideration it was on motion unanimously decided that the Trustees of Bryn Mawr College accept the sum of Eight Thousand Dollars (§8,000) raised by the Alumnœ Association of the College as a fund for scholarships at the College in memory of Dr. James E. Rhoads, its first President, and that the Corporation, in consideration of this loving memorial gift and in testimony of its appreciation thereof, agree to pay to the Alumnœ Association of the College $500 annually, for ten years, for such scholarships. At the end of that time, the amount of this annual payment is to be readjusted, but the Corporation hereby agrees that it shall never be less than $400 per annum. The first payment to be for the College Year 1897-98." This very generous offer on the part of the Trustees was accepted by the Executive Committee acting for the Alumnœ Association.

The conditions under which the scholarships from this fund should be awarded had been decided at a meeting of the Alumnœ Association held June 6th, 1895. The Executive Committee, however, feeling that these conditions were not entirely satisfactory, submitted to the Association at the meeting held April 19th, 1897, several proposed amendments to the motions already passed. These amendments were not adopted, but the question was reconsidered at the meeting of the Association held on June 3d, 1897, and the following motions were adopted as final:

1. The interest from the James E. Rhoads Endowment Fund shall be given each year in two scholarships of equal value.

II. One of these scholarships shall be known as the James E. Rhoads Sophomore Scholarship, and shall be open only to those students who have completed College work amounting to not less than ten and not more than twenty-two and a-half hours (three semester's work) for a year, and have been in attendance upon lectures at Bryn Mawr College not less than one semester.

III. The second of these scholarships shall be known as the James E. Rhoads Junior Scholarship and shall be open only to those students who have completed college work amounting to not less than twenty and not more than thirty-seven and a-half hours (five semester's work) for a year, and have been in attendance upon lectures at Bryn Mawr not less than three semesters.

IV. To be eligible for either of these two scholarships a student shall have obtained a high degree of excellence in her work, shall express her intention of fulfilling the requirements for the degree of A. B. at Bryn Mawr College, and shall prove to the satisfaction of the Committee her need of financial aid.

V. In case in any year the Committee shall find no candidate fulfilling the requirements for the Sophomore or for the Junior Scholarship, it shall dispose of the money in one of two ways: it shall award it in the form of a scholarship or scholarships to any Bryn Mawr undergraduate or undergraduates who can meet the requirements enumerated in Section IV, or shall give it outright to the Students' Loan Fund Committee for that year.

VI. In case either scholarship is awarded to a non-resident student, its value shall not exceed the amount of one hundred and twenty-five dollars ($125.00) and the remaining one hundred and twenty-five shall be disposed of in one of the two ways mentioned in Section V of this Article.

VII. The money for these scholarships shall be given in the following division: One hundred and seventy-five dollars ($175.00) at the beginning of the first semester of the year in which the scholarships are awarded, and seventy-five dollars ($75.00) at the beginning of the second semester. In case either scholarship goes to a non-resident student; the sum of one hundred and twenty-five dollars ($125.00) shall be paid in full at the beginning of the first semester of the year in which the scholarship is awarded.
VIII. The Scholarships shall be awarded by a Committee consisting of the President of the Alumnae Association and three other Alumnae appointed by the Executive Committee, the President of the College and two members of the Academic Council of the Faculty appointed annually by that Council.

IX. The successful candidate or candidates shall be given honorable mention in the College Program, together with the holders of the Bryn Mawr and Garrett fellowships and scholarships.

The Executive Committee at a meeting on May 17th, acting under the earlier resolutions in regard to the disposition of the James E. Rhoads Endowment Fund, appointed as members of the Committee to award the scholarships, Anna Ely Rhoads, Henrietta Palmer and Mary Bidwell Breed. The Academic Council of the Faculty of Bryn Mawr College appointed as members of this Committee, Dr. Herbert Weir Smyth, Dr. Arthur Stanley Mackenzie and Dr. Charles McLean Andrews. The Committee composed of these six members, the President of the College and the President of the Alumnae Association, awarded the scholarships for the year 1897-98 to Cora Hardy, of the class of '99, and to Dorothea Farquhar, of the class of 1900.

The Executive Committee found that in order to make the conditions of this transference of money from the Alumnae Association to the Trustees legally binding, it would be necessary to have in the Deed of Trust a reverting clause which should provide that the Endowment Fund return to the Alumnae in case the conditions under which it was transferred were ever violated. As, however, such a clause would have no meaning unless the Alumnae Association were recognized by law, and as, apart from this special case it seemed desirable that the Association should have a legal standing in order to enable it to hold property, a motion was passed at the meeting held April 10th that the Alumnae Association of Bryn Mawr College should be incorporated. Since then the Executive Committee has taken the necessary steps and by July, 1897, the Association will be a corporation under the laws of the State of Pennsylvania.

In order that the Constitution might meet the requirements of the Courts, its revision has been a necessary part of the act of incorporation. At the meeting of the Association in April a motion was passed providing for the appointment of a committee to revise the Constitution and By-Laws. Martha Gibbons Thomas and Madelaine Vaughan Abbott were appointed. The Constitution or Charter was drawn up in the correct legal form and the By-Laws revised by the Committee were submitted to the Association at the June meeting. A motion was passed that the revised By-Laws should be accepted temporarily and their working tested for a year. The main features of the amendment to the Constitution and of the new By-Laws passed November 21st, 1896, are incorporated in the present revision of the By-Laws.

Recording Secretary.
REPRESENTS OF STANDING COMMITTEES.

REPORT OF THE ACADEMIC COMMITTEE.

The Academic Committee has held two conferences with President Thomas during the past year, the first taking place in February and the second in June. At the June conference Dr. Smyth and Dr. Warren were present as representatives of the Faculty.

The discussions of the year have been of unusual interest. In February the chief topics for consideration were the influence of the Bryn Mawr matriculation examinations on the preparatory schools, and the standards for admission of graduate students to the College. In June the question of the matriculation examinations was again considered, and discussions were also held on the requirement of fifteen hours a week for the A. B. degree, and on the advantages and disadvantages for undergraduate instruction of a modification of the German lecture system by the introduction of some features of the English tutorial system.

The discussions that take place at the conferences require preparatory investigation on the part of the Academic Committee, and not infrequently lead to more extended investigation of educational problems. The Committee carries on its work throughout the year by means of sub-committees and correspondence. Often, however, the results of any particular investigation must be the fruit of several years of effort, and it would be as impossible as it would be unnecessary to report to the Alumnae Association all details of the work.

The purpose of the Academic Committee is to enable the Alumnae to exercise in the matters that concern the College whatever influence their intimate knowledge of its conditions and needs may warrant, and to work together with the College in furthering the best interests of education. The Committee hopes to meet with increasing success from year to year in the accomplishment of this purpose.

Annie Crosby Emery, Chairman.

REPORT OF THE CONFERENCE COMMITTEE.

The Conference Committee held six meetings during the academic year 1896-97; Mrs. Andrews in almost every case, entertained the Committee at her house, and the attendance has been excellent.

An unusual number of public lectures have been given at the College during the year, and have been attended by large numbers of students and guests. A list of the lectures is given in the President’s report, with the list of lectures and addresses that have been delivered under the austricpse of the Graduate Club, the Philosophical Club, the De Rebus Club, the Bryn Mawr Chapter of the College Settlement Association, the Christian Union, the Temperance Association and the Missionary Association.

During the second semester, the order of Wednesday evening meetings has been changed: the regular meeting is held every other week, and is conducted by a well known preacher, who is secured by the College. It has been found that the interest of the students in the meeting has increased, and the attendance is larger than heretofore. At the request of some of the students, Dr. Barton conducts a meeting on the alternate Wednesday, in one of the halls of residence. It is now customary, at morning Chapel and on Wednesday evenings, to sing hymns which are led by a few of the students. Every other Tuesday evening, Mr. Sailer conducts a Bible Class of students, and on Sunday there is a Bible Class in each hall of residence, under the auspices of the Christian Union. This society has also organized work among the maids, and at the Bryn Mawr Hospital.

Besides the annual Sophomore and Freshman plays, the College Breakfast, &c., there have been several entertainments during the year. Mr. Walker and a quartette connected with Hampden sang before the students. An entertainment, which was originally given at the College Settlement in Philadelphia, was repeated at the College for the benefit of a child to be sent to the country; the programme included a representation of "Alice in Wonderland," Shadow-pictures, and music from the Banjo Club. At the Junior supper for the Seniors, a dramatic representation of the "Rose and the Ring" was very successfully produced. Finally the Kneisel Quartette of Boston gave a concert in the gymnasium which met with unqualified success; the concert not only paid for itself, by the private sale of tickets, but the interest was so great among the faculty, students and friends of the College, that it has been proposed to continue the plan another year, and perhaps even to have a series of quartette concerts.

The College has given its two regular receptions, the second in honor of Monsieur and Madame Brunetière and Madame Blanc. During the last weeks of the year, the Mistresses of the halls have been "at home" on Fridays.

The Glee Club held no meetings until the latter part of the year, when it was reorganized under Mr. Barrington as leader; in order to ensure a good standard of work, the voices are selected by the leader.

The interest in out-of-door athletics is unabated and a new basketball team has been organized among the graduate students; gymnasium exercise, on the other hand, is more and more at a discount. A tennis tournament was played in the fall, and during the winter there has been skating on the new athletic field, which, after several experiments, was finally flooded, at great expense, with city water. Basket-ball holds its own as the most popular sport, and the class games have been of great moment during the spring.
The "Fortnightly Philistme" has continued to appear, and the new issue of the Lantern will have been noted by all the alumnae. The students take pride in the fact that a freshman won in the competition for the Lantern Poster.

The Graduate Club has published a "Hand-book of Courses open to Women, in British, Continental and Canadian Universities."

It has been recently announced that an infirmary tax of $5.00 annually will be levied on each student; the fund thus established will be used towards defraying the expenses of students who are ill enough at College to require the services of a trained nurse.

Lilian Vaughan Sampson, Chairman.

REPORT OF THE STUDENTS' LOAN FUND COMMITTEE.

The Students Loan Fund Committee has met four times during the past year. Loans have been made to three students amounting to five hundred and fifty dollars ($550.00). One hundred and fifty dollars ($150.00) have been returned to the fund, and five applications for the year 1897-98 have been granted to the amount of eight hundred dollars ($800.00).

The Committee has used every effort to obtain contributions for the fund, and it received in all eight hundred and seventy two dollars ($872.00).

With the steady growth of the College there is an increase each year in the number of applications from students needing assistance from the fund. That its usefulness may be maintained it should have an endowment of at least five thousand dollars ($5,000.00). The Committee has been encouraged by the interest shown by the class of '97 in a plan laid before them, viz: for several of their number, (those representing different sections of the country,) to co-operate with it in raising as much of this sum as is possible the coming year. If each class as it is graduated would feel the importance of supporting a work of this kind some of the glory of 1890 might be shared.

A Students' Loan Fund founded by Students should be supported in part at least by Students.

On behalf of the Committee,

Julia Cope Collins, Chairman, pro tem.

Dr. James H. Teuba, now Docent in Psychology in Clark University, Worcester, Massachusetts, has been appointed Associate in Psychology and Pedagogy and has been granted leave of absence for the year 1897-98 to study the methods of teaching Pedagogy and Physiological Psychology now in use in Germany. Dr. Teuba's academic record is as follows: B. S., Neuchatel, Switzerland, 1886; Ph. B., Ursinus College, Pa., 1888; Teacher of the French language, St. Mark's School, Southboro’, Mass., 1891-92; Scholar in Psychology, Clark University, 1892-93; Fellow, 1893-95; Ph. D., Clark University, 1896.

The courses in Pedagogy and the History of Education will be discontinued during the year 1897-98. Dr. Lightner Witmer, however, will offer in addition to a laboratory course in Experimental Psychology, a course of lectures on Child Study.
Mr. Richard Norton, Lecturer in the History of Art, has been granted leave of absence for the year 1897-98 to accept the appointment of Professor of Art in the Classical School at Rome. The courses in Art and Archaeology will be discontinued for the year of Mr. Norton's absence.

Mr. Paul Elmer More has resigned the Associateship in Sanskrit and Classical Literature, and a Latinist will be appointed in his place.

Dr. Oliver M. Johnston, Lecturer in French Philology, has resigned in order to accept a position in the Leland Stanford University.

In February, 1897, Dr. Isabel Maddison, Secretary to the President, was appointed by the Trustees Reader in Mathematics. This appointment has been renewed for the year 1897-98.

Dr. Wilmer Cave France has been appointed Reader in Classical Literature for the year 1897-98.

The Alumnae Association has held two regular meetings, both at Bryn Mawr, during the year 1897-98; the first meeting on November 28th, 1897, and the second on June 2d, 1898.

The Executive Committee met ten times during the year, and the work of the Association, which has been carried on largely by the Executive Committee, has consisted to a great extent in bringing to their completion measures that were begun during the preceding year.

The most important questions that have come before the Association and the Executive Committee have been (a) the incorporation of the Association, (b) the transfer of the James E. Rhoads Scholarships Fund to the Trustees, (c) the selection of a design for a corporate seal, and (d) the final revision of the by-laws.

On account of an unavoidable delay in obtaining a charter for the Association, the formal transfer of the James E. Rhoads Scholarships Fund to the Trustees of the College was postponed until January, 1898. The Executive Committee secured the services of Mr. John C. Bell, and under his direction a Deed of Gift was drawn up which embodies the resolutions adopted by the Association June 3d, 1897, defines the conditions under which the scholarships are to be awarded, and states those under which the trust is accepted by the Trustees. On January 21st, 1898, the sum of $8,133.34 was transferred to the Trustees; this amount representing the principal, $8,000.00, and five per cent. interest on $8,000.00 from September, 1897 (the time at which the transfer of the money should have been made), to the date in January on which the conveyance actually took place.

In the report for 1896-97 it was stated that by July, 1897, the Alumnæ Association, would be a corporation under the laws of the State of Pennsylvania. When, however, the Executive Committee met in October, 1897, it was learned from Mr. Henry Brownback, the lawyer, through whom application had been made to the Court of Montgomery County, that the Court had refused to grant the Alumnæ Association a charter on the ground that the purpose for which the Association existed was not sufficient to warrant incorporation. A second application was made, in which the purpose was set forth more fully, and in December, 1897, the charter was obtained.

The incorporation of the Association has made necessary the adoption of a seal to be used in business transactions. The Executive Committee has consulted the former presidents of the Association, the class secretaries, and several other members of the Association in regard to a suitable design for such a seal. The general opinion has been that the design should not be elaborate, and also that it should embody, in some form, the lantern. Numerous sketches have been submitted to the Executive Committee by members of the Association; five of these designs were presented to the meeting, June 2d, 1898, one of which was selected subject to a few modifications suggested by members of the Association. The further business connected with the cutting of the die was referred back to the Executive Committee, and will be carried through as quickly as possible, as the transfer of one paper connected with the James E. Rhoads Scholarships Fund will not be valid until the seal is affixed.

The committee, appointed in April, 1897, to revise the by-laws, and that reported at the following annual meeting provisional by-laws then adopted for one year, was re-appointed by the President early in this year, and three new members added. This committee, consisting of Madeline V. Abbott, chairman; Helen Middleton, secretary; Annie C. Emery,
Mary T. Mason and Martha G. Thomas, received suggestions from various members of the Association, and after careful consideration presented as its report to the annual meeting a set of by-laws revised to agree in wording with the charter, now the constitution of the Association, and introducing certain changes in the method of conducting the business of the Association. The most important of these are, (a) the holding of one regular meeting each year, and this meeting in February, (b) the increase of the annual dues to $1.00, and (c) the establishment of biennial elections. The report of the committee was accepted, and the by-laws will come up at the next regular meeting of the Association for consideration.* The committee recommended that the by-laws, with the exception of the section changing the number of meetings, be permanently adopted in November, and further recommended that the Association for two years make trial of an annual meeting in February. The recommendations were favorably considered by the meeting.

At the November meeting the President announced the following committees whose appointments were ratified at that meeting:

Nominating Committee for June, 1898: Laurette Eustis Potts, chairman, Katharine M. Shipley, Susan B. Franklin, Mary B. Breed, Dora Keen.

Auditing Committee for June, 1898: Mary T. Mason, chairman, Elizabeth Harris Keiser.

The Executive Committee appointed to assist in arranging for the supper, June 2d, Julia Cope Collins and Ethel Parrish, and invited to the supper, as guests of the Association President Thomas and Miss Agnes Repplier, both of whom made addresses.

The James E. Rhoads Scholarships Fund having been

*The Charter and By-Laws form technically a part of this general report, but it seems best to defer printing them until nearer the time of the November meeting, when a copy will be sent to each member of the Association.
completed, the collections for the Alumnae Fund were renewed this year. This Fund was started in 1891 with the thought that it should be added to each year by voluntary subscriptions, and finally when it had become large, the Association should use it in some way that might present itself whereby it would be of benefit to the College. This thought has not been carried out by the Association, for in 1893 the amount then collected was given to build the botanical greenhouse, and in the years 1894-95 the collections were voted to the Students’ Loan Fund; again during the year in which the James E. Rhoads Scholarships Fund was finished the collection of the Alumnae Fund was by vote of the Association omitted, and for the time this fund merged into the Scholarships Fund. Each year it has been found to be more and more difficult to collect for a Fund that has no definite purpose, and it seemed wise to the Executive Committee to suggest to the November meeting, that if no large object presented itself before June toward which the Alumnae Fund might be turned, the Association should fix a sum of from $5,000 to $8,000, and state that the Fund should not be used for any purpose until this amount had been raised. Before the annual meeting, however, the Executive Committee conferred with the President of the College, and asked for suggestions from Alumnae who are in touch with the present life of the College, and brought before the Association at that meeting suggestions of three objects for the Fund. These are (a) the formation of a permanent fund of $5,000, to be used as a Loan Fund (suggested by the Students’ Loan Fund Committee), (b) the purchase of a collection of casts to be used by the Art Department of the College, and (c) the building of a Students’ Hall about which the social life of the College may centre. No definite action was taken at the meeting on any one of the objects presented, but before a decision could be made the Executive Committee was empowered to appoint a committee to examine plans for a Students' Building, to investigate the expense, and to confer with the President and Trustees of the College in regard to the probability of provision being made by the College for its maintenance, should such a building be found to be possible.

At the annual meeting the following resolution was presented, and directed to be placed on the minutes of the Association:

"Whereas, The Alumnae Association of Bryn Mawr College has learned of the death of five of its members:

"Mary G. Patterson, of the class of '88, deceased, 1894;
"Anna Powers, of the class of '90, deceased, 1894;
"Jane Scofield, of the class of '91, deceased, 1896;
"Mary L. Taylor Mackenzie, of the class of '92, deceased, 1896;
"Louella H. Thorne, of the class of '90, deceased, 1897;

and,

"Whereas, Through the death of these members the united Association has sustained a loss in scholarship and in friendship;

"Resolved, That we, the Alumnae of Bryn Mawr College, record our appreciation of their activity as useful women, that we are bereaved in their loss, and that we hold them with affectionate regard in our memory."

Martha G. Thomas,
Recording Secretary.
REPORTS OF STANDING COMMITTEES.

REPORT OF THE ACADEMIC COMMITTEE.

The work of the Academic Committee has been, as usual, of two kinds. At the mid-year conference it presented the matters that the association wished to have brought before the authorities of the college, and also discussed with the President matters concerning the college policy, such as number of hours required for the degree, the time allowed for preparation for the senior orals, and the arrangement of courses for freshmen. Furthermore the President gave the committee much important information about the growth and needs of the college.

But it is not only local questions that engage the committee's attention. General educational problems are also discussed and investigated. The most important undertaking this year is the publication of an article or series of articles on the government of women students in the representative colleges and universities of the country. The demand for information on this subject is increasing, and the plan of the committee has already met with warm approval from the editor of the "Educational Review" and from administrative officers in other colleges. The articles will appear, it is hoped, at an early date.

Annie Crosby Emery, Chairman.

REPORT OF THE CONFERENCE COMMITTEE.

The Conference Committee held three meetings during the academic year, 1897-98.

A list of the lectures and addresses delivered before the college as a whole, the Graduate Club, the Philosophical Club, and the De Rebus Club will be given in the president's report.

Three concerts, which were attended by a large proportion of the students and a number of outsiders, were given by the Kneisel Quartette in the gymnasium during the year.

The college gave the money which was to be expended for the first College Reception, to the Graduate Club and the Undergraduate Association for a lecture fund. The second reception was held in Pembroke.

The students have started a fund for a library building, but it is thought that if the Alumnæ decide to devote the Alumnæ Fund to the erection of a students' hall, the students would bend their energies in that direction.
The play given by the Sophomores to the Freshmen was "As You Like It," and was presented out of doors with great success. The Freshmen gave "A Hitherto Unpublished Eclogue of Virgil." Several other plays have also been given: "Mrs. Hawksbee Sits Out," for the College Settlements Association; "She Stoops to Conquer," for the Library Fund, and at the Junior-Senior Supper, "My Lord in Livery," and "Pyramus and Thisbe."

There are two debating clubs in college. In one, the debates are prepared, and in the other, after a pause of ten seconds for volunteers, names are drawn by lot. The subjects debated have been chiefly political, such as "The Annexation of Hawaii," "Proportional Representation," "Are bosses a necessary factor in modern municipal politics?"

The Glee Club numbers fifty members who have weekly meetings under the leadership of Mr. Barrington of Rosemont. The Glee and Banjo Clubs gave a concert on the 10th of March.

There are numerous basket-ball teams, and the regular spring games have caused more than usual excitement. The undergraduates have challenged the alumnae, and the game will take place on the afternoon of Commencement Day.

On the whole there seems to be increasing interest in outdoor athletics, and also a broadening of the social life of the college.

M. F. ELLIS, Chairman.

REPORT OF THE STUDENTS' LOAN FUND COMMITTEE.

Since its last report, the Students' Loan Fund Committee has held two regular meetings. Loans have been made to five students, amounting to eight hundred dollars ($800), and two hundred and fifty dollars ($250) have been returned to the fund.

Five applications for the year 1898-99 have been received by the committee, and three of these have been granted; the amount promised being three hundred and fifty dollars ($350).

Since March, 1893, when the fund was transferred by the Trustees to the Alumnae Association, thirty-two hundred and fifty-two dollars and fifty cents ($3,252.50) have been received. Eleven students have been given financial help through a four years' course or for less time, to the amount of three thousand and seventy-five dollars ($3,075). and two of these have paid back four hundred and fifty dollars ($450) to the Fund.

The committee desires to acknowledge the donation of one hundred and fifty-four dollars ($154) made by the class of 1897, and through one of its members, of one hundred dollars ($100) additional. It would also acknowledge all contributions received during the past year from interested friends.
The committee still feels the great need for a larger fund. Two thousand dollars ($2,000) in addition to the amount already in circulation, would make a more efficient fund with which to work, and would meet all demands made upon it for some years to come.

The committee would therefore suggest to the association that the Students' Loan Fund be considered among the objects for which collections are to be made.

On behalf of the committee,

Julia Cope Collins, Chairman.

MARY TAYLOR MASON,
ELIZABETH H. KEISER,
Auditing Committee.

May 31st, 1898.
Appointments and changes in the Faculty and teaching staff of Bryn Mawr College for the year 1898-99:

Dr. Herbert Weir Smyth, Professor of Greek, who has been granted leave of absence for the year 1898-99 in order to accept the Professorship of Greek in the American School of Classical Studies in Athens, has asked that his departure may be deferred for one year. In addition to the usual graduate and post-major courses he will next year lecture for two hours weekly in the Minor course and for three hours weekly in the Major course.

Dr. Mortimer Lamson Earle has resigned the Associate Professorship of Greek and Latin. He has accepted a similar position in Barnard College.

Dr. Dickinson Sergeant Miller, Associate in Philosophy, has resigned his position to accept a Secretaryship at Columbia University.

Dr. Charles Montague Bakewell has been appointed to succeed Dr. Miller. Dr. Bakewell's academic record is as follows: A.B., University of California, 1889; A.M., 1891; Thayer Scholar, Harvard University, 1891-92; Ph.D., Harvard University, 1895; Instructor in Harvard University, 1896-97; Instructor in University of California, 1897-98.

Dr. Alfred Hodder, Associate in English, has resigned his position. It will be filled by Dr. W. Allan Neilson, A.M., University of Edinburgh, 1891; Master in the Upper Canada College, 1891-95; Morgan Fellow, Harvard University, 1896-98; Ph.D., Harvard University, 1898.

Dr. Max F. Blau, Associate in German Literature, has resigned his position to take charge of the German department of Adelphi College, Brooklyn, New York.

Dr. Florence Bascom has been promoted to be Associate in Geology.

Dr. Gordon J. Laing, Reader in Latin, has been promoted to be Associate in Latin. His academic record is as follows: A.B., University of Toronto, 1891; Acting Lecturer in Greek and Latin, University of Toronto, 1893-94; Scholar and Fellow in Latin, Johns Hopkins University, 1895-96; Ph.D., Johns Hopkins University, 1896; Fellow in the American School of Classical Studies in Rome, 1896-97.

*Part of the following information has been taken by permission from "The Lantern."
Dr. Fonger DeHaan, Associate in Spanish, who has spent the year 1897-98 studying in Spain, will organize graduate and undergraduate courses in Spanish, and will conduct the course in Minor French critical reading and composition for three hours weekly, which has been conducted during his absence by Dr. Frederick M. Page.

Dr. James H. Leuba, Associate in Psychology and Pedagogy, who has been investigating educational methods in Germany, France and Italy during the year 1897-98, will organize the department of Pedagogy and Experimental Psychology in 1898-99. He will offer the course in Psychology, forming part of the Minor Philosophy course, which has been given this year by Dr. Lightner Witmer, of the Philosophical Department of the University of Pennsylvania. He will also offer a graduate course in Psychology, and laboratory work will be done in connection with the courses. The fifth floor of Dalton Hall will be fitted up during the summer as a psychological laboratory. In Pedagogy lectures and practice courses will be arranged for both graduate and undergraduate students.

Mr. Richard Norton has resigned the Lectureship in the History of Art, having been re-appointed Art Director at the School of Classical Studies at Rome.

Dr. Lightner Witmer has resigned his Lectureship in Psychology.
