BRYN MAWR COLLEGE.

GRADUATE COURSES OF INSTRUCTION.

Bryn Mawr College, situated at Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania, five miles from Philadelphia, was endowed by Dr. Joseph W. Taylor of Burlington, New Jersey, who died January 18, 1880. By his will he left the greater portion of his estate for the purpose of establishing and maintaining an institution of advanced learning for women. In the spring of 1885 the first program was issued, and the college opened for instruction in the following autumn.

Three classes of persons are admitted to the lectures and class work of the college—graduate students, undergraduate students, and hearers. For the convenience of graduate students the regulations of the graduate department and the graduate courses of instruction are published separately. No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Regulations of the Graduate Department.

From the first it has been the policy of the Trustees of Bryn Mawr College to organize no department in which they could not provide for graduate as well as undergraduate study. Only such instructors have been chosen as are qualified to direct both graduate and undergraduate work. In each department a consecutive series of graduate courses pursued throughout three years provides preparation in the chief or major subject of the examination for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, and certain courses may be pursued for one or two years and offered as one of the two minor or secondary subjects.

Admission.

Graduate students must have presented a diploma from some college of acknowledged standing.* They may pursue any

*The certificates of the women's colleges of the English Universities of Oxford and Cambridge, are regarded as equivalent to a first degree,—i. e., to the degree of Bachelor of Arts.
courses offered by the college for which their previous training has fitted them; but they must satisfy the several instructors of their ability to profit by the courses they desire to follow, and may be required to pursue certain introductory or auxiliary studies before they are admitted to the advanced or purely graduate courses. They are, moreover, entitled to personal guidance and direction, supervision of their general reading and furtherance of their investigations from the instructors, and their needs will be considered in the arrangement of new courses of lectures; they must consult the President in regard to the courses they are to pursue, and must be duly registered for those courses at the President’s office.

A reading knowledge of French and German is regarded as of the utmost importance to all graduate students, and is required of all candidates for a second degree. The undergraduate department will afford the student every opportunity for making good any deficiencies in this respect.

Fellowships and Scholarships.

The most distinguished place among the graduate students is held by the Fellows, who must reside in the college during the academic year. Eighteen resident fellowships, of the value of five hundred and twenty-five dollars each, are awarded annually in Greek, Latin, English, Romance Languages, Semitic Languages and Biblical Literature, History, Philosophy, Psychology, Archaeology, Education, Mathematics, Physics, Chemistry, Geology, and Biology, in Economics and Politics, named the Justus C. Strawbridge Fellowship, and two in Social Economy and Social Research, the Carola Woerishoffer Fellowships. They are open for competition to graduates of Bryn Mawr College, or of any other college of good standing, and will be awarded only to candidates who have completed at least one year of graduate work after obtaining their first degree. The fellowships are intended as an honour, and are awarded in recognition of previous attainments; generally speaking, they will be awarded to the candidates that have studied longest or to those whose work gives most promise of future success.

The holder of a fellowship is expected to devote at least one half her time to the department in which the fellowship is awarded, and to show, by the presentation of a thesis or in some other manner, that her studies have not been without result.

The Helen Schaeffer Huff Memorial Research Fellowship of the value of seven hundred and fifty dollars, founded in 1913, is awarded annually to a student pursuing advanced graduate work in either Physics or Chemistry, to be held during one year’s work at Bryn Mawr College.

Applicants for this fellowship must be students who have done advanced graduate work at Bryn Mawr College or at other colleges or universities. They must have shown distinct ability in their work and at the time of application must have in outline or actually in hand some definite piece of research work. The holder of the fellowship must do her major work under the direction of the Department of Chemistry or of the Department of Physics. In awarding the fellowship the ability of the applicant to do the best kind of research work will be considered. Where equally good candidates are considered, preference will be given to a student working on problems which may be considered to lie along the borderline between Chemistry and Physics. The fellowship may under exceptional circumstances be awarded in consecutive years to the same student, or the fellowship may be given to a graduate student studying at Bryn Mawr College to be held during one year’s work at some other American college or university if in the opinion of the Committee it is imperative for that student to go to some other college or university in order to complete an important piece of investigation.

All fellows may study for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, the fellowship being counted, for this purpose, as equivalent to the degree of Bachelor of Arts. Fellows that continue their studies at the college after the expiration of the fellowship, may, by a vote of the directors, receive the rank of Fellows by Courtesy.

Fellows are expected to attend all college functions, to wear academic dress, to assist in the conduct of examinations, and to give about an hour a week to the care of departmental libraries in the seminaries and in the halls of residence, but no such service may be required of them except by a written request from the president’s office; they are not permitted, while holding the fellowship, to teach, or to undertake any other duties in addition to their college work. Fellows* are required to reside in the college and are assigned rooms by the Secretary of the College. They are charged the usual fee of four hundred and five dollars for tuition, board, room-rent, and infirmary fee.

Twenty Graduate Scholarships, of the value of two hundred dollars each, may be awarded to candidates next in merit to the successful candidates for the fellowships; they are also open for competition to graduates of Bryn Mawr College, or of any other college of good standing. Scholars* are expected to reside in the college, to attend all college functions, to wear academic dress, and to assist in the conduct of examinations. They may undertake, while holding the scholarship, only a very limited amount of teaching or other paid work approved in advance by the President's office.

The Margaret Kingsland Haskell resident scholarship in English composition of the value of seven hundred and fifty dollars is offered in 1919-20 and in each succeeding year and in 1920-21 and each alternate year thereafter a second scholarship in English composition of the same value will be offered. These scholarships are open to graduates of Bryn Mawr College or of any college of good standing under the same conditions as the twenty graduate scholarships mentioned above.

A resident Intercollegiate Community Service Association and Bryn Mawr College joint fellowship† was established in 1915 and is offered by the Intercollegiate Community Service Association and by some alumnæ of Bryn Mawr College to a Bryn Mawr College graduate who wishes to prepare herself for settlement work. The value of the fellowship is $625, $125 of which is given by the College to meet the tuition fee. The holder of the fellowship is required to live in the College Settlement in Philadelphia and to give her entire time to the work of the Department of Social Economy. There is a charge of $7.00 a week for board and lodging in the Settlement and in addition to the usual charge of $125 for the graduate tuition

* It is expected that fellows and scholars of the college will uphold the college standards of scholarship and conduct and give loyal support to the Students' Association for Self-Government.

† The term fellowship is used here because adopted by the Intercollegiate Community Service Association. The condition of one year's graduate study required of candidates for Bryn Mawr College resident fellowships does not apply.
fee in Bryn Mawr College, the usual laboratory and transportation fees. Applications may be sent to the President of Bryn Mawr College.

Two additional joint fellowships of the value of $450 are offered by the Intercollegiate Community Service Association in conjunction with Smith College and Wellesley College, to graduates of Smith College and Wellesley College, respectively, who wish to prepare themselves for community service. By special arrangement with the Committee on Scholarships these scholarships may be held in connection with the College Settlement of Philadelphia and Bryn Mawr College. Smith and Wellesley alumnae are referred for further information to Miss Hilda Worthington Smith, Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania.

The Susan B. Anthony Memorial Research Scholarship in Social Economy and Social Research or in Politics, of the value of four hundred and fifty dollars, was founded by the Executors of the late Susan B. Anthony, Dr. Anna Howard Shaw and Miss Lucy E. Anthony, in memory of Susan B. Anthony's work for women's college education. The holder is expected to devote one-third of her time to the study of politics and must investigate, educational, social or industrial conditions affecting women.

The Robert G. Valentine Memorial Scholarship in Social Economy and Social Research of the value of two hundred dollars is offered by Mrs. Frank W. Hallowell of Chestnut Hill, Massachusetts, to be awarded by the President and Faculty of Bryn Mawr College on the recommendation of the Director of the Carola Woerishoffer Department of Social Economy and Social Research to a candidate approved by the donor. It is open to graduates of Bryn Mawr College or of any other college of good standing.

Twelve graduate scholarships of the value of four hundred and five dollars each are offered, four for English, Scotch, or Irish women, four for French women, two for Italian women, one for Swiss women and one for women from Scandinavia or the Netherlands. Candidates are required to have a preparation for graduate study equivalent to that denoted by the Bachelor's degree of an American college or university of acknowledged standing. Renewal of these scholarships for a second year will not be granted except in very exceptional cases.
Holders of the scholarships are required to be in continuous residence at the college and to follow regular approved courses of study. The scholarships are of the value of $405 and cover only the fees for board, residence, and tuition at Bryn Mawr College for one academic year. The scholarships are therefore equivalent in value to about $85 or 2,200 francs. In addition those holders of scholarships who so desire will be given an opportunity to teach or do some other kind of work in the college for not more than five hours a week and the college will guarantee that each scholar who wishes may in this way earn $100. In special cases when tutoring can be arranged for five hours a week throughout the year the sum earned may amount to $200. The scholars are not permitted to accept any other paid position except as arranged by the college. Holders of the scholarships must meet their own travelling expenses. A furnished single room in the graduate wing of one of the halls of residence is assigned to each scholar, but this is not available in the Christmas and Easter vacations when scholars who remain at the college have to pay the expenses of board and residence.*

Two special graduate scholarships in Social Economy of the value of $405 are offered to French women by two anonymous donors for the year 1919–20. These scholarships are open to women who wish to devote themselves to preparation in Industrial Supervision and Employment Management under the Carola Woerishoffer Graduate Department of Social Economy and Social Research. They are open for competition to all French women whose academic work has reached the standard equivalent to that denoted by the Bachelor’s degree of any American college or university of acknowledged standing and whose preparation and experience especially fits them for this type of work. The other conditions of award are the same as those stated in the preceding paragraph.

Application for resident fellowships or scholarships should be made as early as possible to the President of the College,† and must be made not later than the first of April preceding the academic year for which the fellowship or scholarship is desired. Blank forms of application will be forwarded to the applicants. A definite answer will be given within about two weeks from the latest date set for receiving applications. Any original papers, printed or in manuscript, which have been prepared by the applicant and sent in support of her application, will be returned, when stamps for that purpose are enclosed, or specific directions for return by express are given. Letters or testimonials from professors and instructors will be filed for reference.

† Applications for the scholarships should be accompanied by full particulars of the candidate’s academic work, by diplomas or certificates, and by letters of recommendation from professors, and should be addressed to the office of the Recording Dean, Bryn Mawr College, Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania, U. S. A., or in the case of French students they may be addressed to M. Petit Dutaillis, Office Nationale des Universités et Ecoles Françaises, 96 Boulevard Raspail, Paris.

The Anna Ottendorfer Memorial Research Fellowship in German and Teutonic Philology of the value of seven hundred dollars applicable to the expenses of one year's study and residence at some German university is awarded annually to a graduate student who has completed at least one year of graduate study at Bryn Mawr College. The fellowship will be awarded to the candidate who has pursued the most advanced work, or whose studies afford the most promise of future success. She must show such proficiency in her studies or in independent work as to furnish reason to believe that she will be able to conduct independent investigations in the field of Teutonic Philology or German.

Two European fellowships, founded by the late Miss Mary E. Garrett, of Baltimore, are open to graduate students who are enrolled as candidates for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. One, founded in 1896, and named by the donor the President M. Carey Thomas Fellowship, is awarded annually on the ground of excellence in scholarship to a student in her first year of graduate work at Bryn Mawr College; the other, founded in 1894, and known as the Mary E. Garrett Fellowship, is awarded annually on the ground of excellence in scholarship to a student still in residence who has for two years pursued graduate studies at Bryn Mawr College. These fellowships, of the value of five hundred dollars each, are intended to defray the expenses of one year's study and residence at some foreign university, English or Continental. The choice of a university may be determined by the holder's own preference, subject to the approval of the Faculty.
Studies Leading to a Second Degree.

Graduates of Bryn Mawr College, and graduates of other colleges, who shall have satisfied the Academic Council that the course of study for which they received a degree is equivalent to that for which the degree of Bachelor of Arts is given at Bryn Mawr College, or who shall have attended such additional courses of lectures as may be prescribed, may apply to the Academic Council to be enrolled as candidates for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy and Master of Arts; admission to the graduate school does not, in itself, qualify a student to become a candidate for this degree. A separate degree of Master of Arts is open to graduates of Bryn Mawr College, but to them only.

The Degree of Master of Arts.

The candidate for the degree of Master of Arts must be a Bachelor of Arts of Bryn Mawr College and must have worked as a graduate student at Bryn Mawr College for a full year during which at least two-thirds of her time must have been devoted to advanced work in closely related lines according to a course of study approved by the Graduate Committee of the Academic Council. The candidate must submit her proposed course of study for the approval of this committee before the third week of October. She must pass a special written examination on each subject to the satisfaction of the department in which she has studied, and must announce her candidacy for the degree to the President not later than the first day of May in the academic year in which the degree is to be conferred.

The Degree of Doctor of Philosophy and Master of Arts.

The degree of Doctor of Philosophy and Master of Arts may be conferred upon graduates of Bryn Mawr College, and upon graduates of other colleges who shall have satisfied the Academic Council either that the course of study for which they received a degree is equivalent to that for which the degree of Bachelor of Arts is given by Bryn Mawr College, or that it has been adequately supplemented by subsequent study. The degree is given to no one who cannot read French and German, or who is unacquainted with Latin. The degree of Doctor of

*It is understood that the work done for the degree of Master of Arts does not necessarily count as a full year towards the degree of Doctor of Philosophy and Master of Arts.
Requirements.

1. Time.—The earliest date at which the Ph.D. degree may be taken is three years after graduation, but the element of time is subordinate to the other requirements. The minimum of three years will usually be exceeded.

2. Residence.—The candidate must devote to graduate work the equivalent of three full years, of which at least two must be at Bryn Mawr, and the third if not at Bryn Mawr at some other college or university approved by the Graduate Committee.

3. Subjects.—The course of study shall consist of one major subject and two minor subjects, of which one (the associated minor) shall be in the same department as the major subject, or in a closely allied department specified in the printed requirements; the other (the independent minor) shall complete a combination authorized in the printed requirements. Certain combinations will permit the independent minor to be taken in the same department as the associated minor, when this is not in the same department as the major subject. The printed list of independent minors shall consist of subjects that are recommended, and the Graduate Committee shall have power to accept subjects not specified in the list.

4. Courses.—During the three years devoted to graduate work the candidate shall take a certain number of seminaries stated below; in case any part of the three years is spent at some other college or university, the Graduate Committee shall determine the Bryn Mawr equivalents of the courses there taken.

In the major subject together with the associated minor the candidate shall take during each of three years one journal club and two seminaries, or graduate courses recognized by the Graduate Committee as seminaries;* in the independent minor she shall take for one year two seminaries, or graduate courses recognized as seminaries. The division of the seminaries between the major and the associated minor shall be subject to the approval of the Supervising Committee. In no case shall less than two seminaries and one journal club for two years be taken in the major subject.

The required courses may be spread over more than three years; but the student may not take four required seminaries with one instructor unless authorized by the Graduate Committee.

No post-major work or work equivalent to post-major shall count towards the degree, even though a candidate may be obliged to take such work in order to supplement her preparation in her subjects, except in the case of such courses in science as shall be designated in the calendar and accepted by the Graduate Committee as equivalent to graduate seminaries in virtue of assigned supplementary reading or laboratory work or both.

Of the courses required in the major and associated minor, two seminaries and one journal club for at least two years must be taken before the Preliminary Examination, as well as the whole of the work in the independent minor. All must be completed before the Final Examination.

A course will not be regarded as equivalent to a seminary unless it requires about a third of the student's time.

5. Dissertation.—The dissertation must be the result of independent investigation in the field covered by the major subject, under such direction as may be necessary; it must contain new results, arguments, or conclusions, or it must present accepted results in a new light. It must be published within three years from the Commencement after the candidate has passed the Final Examination, unless a special extension of time is granted by the Graduate Committee; and 150 copies (including the vita), of which two must be bound in a specified manner, must then be supplied to the College. The candidate shall not be entitled to use the degree until her dissertation shall have been published in approved form.

6. Examinations.—The progress and attainments of the candidate shall be tested by examinations as explained in the printed regulations.

Registration.—Before an applicant for the degree of Ph.D. can be admitted as a candidate she must submit* to the Graduate Committee in writing an account of her general preparation, stating in particular the extent of her knowledge of Latin, French, and German; stating also the subjects she wishes to offer as major and minors for the degree, and the amount and character of the work already done in these subjects. If this statement is satisfactory she will be registered as a candidate. When the Graduate Committee decides that the candidate's preparation is in any way insufficient she will be required to undertake suitable extra work.

Expenses.

For graduate students attending six or more hours a week of lectures, and for fellows and graduate scholars the tuition fee is one hundred and twenty-five dollars a year, payable half yearly in advance at the beginning of each semester plus an emergency fee of one hundred dollars payable in advance at the beginning of the year charged to all students except holders of fellowships and scholarships and students taking less than eight hours a week of lectures. For other graduate students who do not wish to devote all their time to graduate work the fees are as follows, payable in advance: for one hour a week of lectures, ten dollars a semester; for two hours a week of lectures, twenty dollars a semester; for three hours a week of lectures, thirty dollars a semester; and for four or five hours a week of lectures, forty dollars a semester.† This arrangement is made

* Using the application blank issued by the Graduate Committee.

In counting the number of hours for which a graduate is registered the following special arrangements are made in regard to laboratory courses: payment for a one hour lecture course in a scientific department entitles the student to four hours of laboratory work in especially for non-resident graduate students, but those who wish to take five hours a week of lectures or less may live in the college halls on the understanding that they must give up their rooms if needed for students who are taking the full amount of graduate work and paying the regular tuition fee. The tuition fee for the semester becomes due as soon as the student is registered in the college office. No reduction of this fee will be made on account of absence, dismissal during the currency of the semester, term, or year covered by the fee in question, or for any other reason whatsoever. Graduate students are admitted to residence or to attendance on lectures at any time during the year, and in this case a proportionate reduction is made in the charges for board and room-rent and for tuition. Every student who enters the college must register immediately at the comptroller's office, and must register her courses at the president's office within two weeks after entrance under penalty of exclusion from the college. Any change made later in the courses registered must be reported immediately to the president's office, or the courses will not be permitted to count, and a charge of one dollar will be made for each change made in the course after it has been definitely registered.

Graduate students taking courses in scientific departments (Physics, Chemistry, Geology, Biology, and Psychology) amounting to six or more hours a week of lecture courses or its equivalent in laboratory courses are charged a laboratory fee of eighteen dollars a semester with the following exceptions: if the student takes, as a regular student, courses in subjects not enumerated above amounting to six hours a week the laboratory fee is reduced to twelve dollars a semester; and if she takes, as a regular student, courses in subjects not enumerated above amounting to ten hours a week the laboratory fee is reduced to six dollars a semester.

Graduate students taking less than six hours a week of lectures, or its equivalent in laboratory work, and graduate students taking one undergraduate laboratory course only are charged a laboratory fee of ten dollars a semester for every laboratory course of four or more hours a week, and of five dollars a semester for every laboratory course of less than four hours a week.

In courses in geology each hour of field work counts as one hour of laboratory work.

Graduate students taking courses in the department of Social Economy and Social Research are charged a laboratory fee of five dollars a semester and are also required to provide themselves with two 50-trip tickets between Bryn Mawr and Philadelphia costing $15.30. Any extra expenses for train fares or car fares or other charges in connection with the work required by the department will be defrayed by the department.

The fee for laboratory courses in applied psychology and educational psychology is $5 a semester.

Addition with no extra charge except the laboratory fee. Students registered for laboratory work only, are charged the following tuition fee: for each two and one-half hours of undergraduate laboratory course and for each five hours of graduate laboratory course the same fee as for a one hour lecture course. The laboratory fees as stated on page 37 are charged in addition to the charge for tuition.
Residence.

Residence in the college buildings is optional except for holders of resident fellowships and scholarships. In each hall of residence, except Merion Hall, a special wing or corridor is reserved for graduate students, and in order to secure entire quiet no undergraduate students are permitted to engage rooms in the graduate wings. The expense of board and residence in the graduate wings of the college halls is two hundred and seventy-five dollars. Of this amount two hundred and twenty-five dollars is the charge for board, and is payable half-yearly in advance; the remainder is room-rent, and is payable yearly in advance. Every student has a separate bedroom. Room-rent includes all expenses of furnishing, service, heating and light.

Plans and descriptions of the academic buildings and of the halls of residence, Merion Hall, Radnor Hall, Denbigh Hall, Pembroke Hall West, Pembroke Hall East, and Rockefeller Hall, with a full account of the halls and tariff of rooms, are published as Part 4 of the Bryn Mawr College Calendar and may be obtained by application to the Secretary of the College. Each of the halls of residence (except Pembroke, which has a common dining-hall and kitchen for the two wings) has its separate kitchen and dining-hall, provides accommodation for from sixty to seventy students, and is under the charge of a resident warden.

Application for rooms should be made as early as possible. The demand for graduate rooms is very great, and since every room unnecessarily reserved may prevent some other student from entering the college, a deposit of fifteen dollars is required in order that the application may be registered. In case the applicant enters the college in the year for which the room is reserved, the amount of the deposit is deducted from the first college bill. If she changes the date of her application or files formal notice of withdrawal at the secretary’s office before July fifteenth of the year for which the application is made, the deposit will be refunded. If, for any reason whatever, the change or withdrawal be made later than July fifteenth, the deposit will be forfeited to the College. Students making application for a room for the second semester forfeit the deposit if they do not file formal notice of withdrawal at the secretary’s office before December first of the academic year for which the room is reserved. In order to make application for a room it is necessary to sign a room-contract, which will be sent on application, and return it with the fee of fifteen dollars to the Secretary and Registrar of the College. A deposit of fifteen dollars must also be made by each student in residence in order to insure the tenure of her room for the following academic year. This sum will be forfeited if formal notice of withdrawal is not filed at the office of the Secretary and Registrar on or before May first of the current year.

Every applicant giving up later than the first of September the room or suite of rooms assigned to her for the ensuing academic year is responsible for the rent thereof for the whole year. Every applicant for a room for the second semester is responsible for the rent of the room or suite of rooms assigned to her for this semester, unless she gives formal notice of withdrawal to the Secretary and Registrar before the first of January. The charges for room-rent are not subject to remission or deduction under any circumstances, or in case of withdrawal for any cause whatever, even though during the currency of a semester, term, or year paid for in advance the student shall be dismissed. The applicant is not entitled to dispose of the rooms thus left vacant, this right being reserved exclusively by the college.

Any student who changes her room is required to pay an extra fee of fifteen dollars. Students are expected to provide their own rugs and towels, but in every other respect the rooms are completely furnished. Electric reading lamps, table napkins, sheets, etc., are provided by the college. No part whatever need be taken by the students in the care of their own rooms.

There are open fire-places in nearly all the studies and in many single rooms, but the rooms are sufficiently heated by steam. The air in each room is changed every ten minutes, and the temperature is regulated by a thermostat in each room. The students' personal washing may be done by any laundry recommended by the college for one dollar a dozen, or about $16 a half-year for one dozen pieces a week.

Accommodation is provided for graduate students that wish to remain at the college during the Christmas and Easter vacations at $1.50 a day or $10.50 a week. At Christmas the college halls are closed, but accommodation is provided on or near the college campus. At Easter graduate students may occupy their own rooms in the halls of residence at the above rate. Graduate students remaining during the vacations in the neighbourhood of Bryn Mawr are required to take advantage of these arrangements and will be charged at the above rates for the period of the vacation unless they inform the Secretary and Registrar of the College in advance of their intention to spend the vacation elsewhere, and register their addresses in the college office.

The health of the students is under the charge of a Health Committee consisting of the President, the Dean of the College, the Director of Athletics, the Senior Warden, and the physicians of the college.

The Assistant Resident Physician of the college is in her office in the college infirmary during the hours from eight to eight-thirty and four to five-thirty every day, except Saturday and Sunday, and may be consulted by the students without charge.

Graduate students who are elected to fellowships or scholarships, or who are admitted to the college, are required to have a medical examination and to follow the health directions of the physicians of the college which will be given them after the examination; and holders of fellowships and scholarships who are reported by the physicians of the college as suffering from uncorrected eye trouble will be expected to take the necessary measures to correct it.

Every student entering the college will be vaccinated unless she can furnish satisfactory proof that she has been successfully vaccinated not more than two years previously.

The conduct of the students in all matters not purely academic, or affecting the management of the halls of residence, or the student body as a whole, is in the hands of the Students' Association for Self-Government, which was organized in 1892. All persons studying in Bryn Mawr College, whether graduates or undergraduates, are members of this association.

The college reserves the right to exclude at any time and to cancel the fellowships or scholarships held by students whose conduct or academic standing renders them undesirable members of the college community, and in such cases the fees due or which may have been paid in advance to the college will not be refunded or remitted in whole or in part.

In 1893 the Bryn Mawr Graduate Association was organized by the graduate students then in residence, its object being to further the social life of the graduate students. A room in Denbigh Hall is set apart by the college to be used as a club-room. Informal meetings are frequently held in this room, and several times during the year the Association invites the Faculty and friends of the college to larger social gatherings, which are addressed by well-known speakers.

are not permitted to continue in residence or in attendance on their classes.

The Students' Loan Fund of Bryn Mawr College was founded by the Class of 1890 for the purpose of receiving contributions, however small, from those who are interested in aiding students to obtain an education. The money thus contributed is distributed in the form of partial aid, and as a loan. It is as a rule applied to the assistance of those students only who have attended courses in the college for at least one year. The Fund is managed by a committee consisting of the President of the college and representatives of the Alumnae Association of Bryn Mawr College. The committee reports yearly to the Board of Trustees and to the Alumnae Association. The committee consists of the following members: President M. Carey Thomas; Miss Martha G. Thomas, Secretary and Treasurer, Bryn Mawr College; Miss Doris Earle, Chestnut Hill, Pa.; Miss Mary Christine Smith, 1108 Spruce Street, Philadelphia; Miss Alice Dudley Patterson, Chestnut Hill, Philadelphia; Miss Elizabeth Yamall Maguire, 3813 Spruce Street, Philadelphia. Contributions may be sent to any member of the committee. Applications for loans should be sent to the Treasurer of the committee, and all applications for any given year should be made before May 1st of the preceding academic year.

Libraries.

The fact that the college is situated in the suburbs of Philadelpia enables the student to make use of all the resources of the libraries of Philadelphia, as well as those of the college proper.

The college library has been collected within the past thirty-three years, and is designed to be, as far as possible, a library for special study. There are at present on its shelves about ninety thousand bound volumes, and ten thousand dissertations and pamphlets, the collection including the classical library of the late Professor Sauppe, of Göttingen, which was presented to the college in 1894, and the Semitic library of the late Professor Amiaud, of Paris, acquired in 1892. A more detailed description of these two collections may be found on pages 51 and 75.

The sum of about seven thousand dollars is expended yearly for books under the direction of the heads of the several collegiate departments, and, in addition to many gifts of books, about twenty thousand dollars has been presented to the library during the past ten years for expenditure in special departments. Over four hundred publications and reviews in the English, Greek, French, Italian, Spanish, German, and Swedish languages, are taken by the library, as follows:

The library is open daily from eight a.m. to ten p.m. Books may be taken out by the students unless specially reserved for library reference use.

There are in Philadelphia the following important libraries which are available for students:

The Library Company of Philadelphia, which contains about 275,000 volumes, divided between the Locust Street Building and the Ridgway Branch. Its valuable collection of pamphlets is included in the number of volumes as given above. The

Presented by the Publishers.
Library is open from nine A.M. to five-thirty P.M., and is open to students for consultation freely during these hours. To take books from the building a deposit must be made or subscriptions will be received as follows: Twelve dollars for one year, six dollars for six months, four dollars for three months.

The Mercantile Library, which contains about 214,078 volumes. Private subscription, §5.00 a year for two separate works at a time.

The Library of the Academy of Natural Sciences, which contains about 81,000 volumes. The Council of the Academy has generously conceded the use of its library and of its museum to the students of Bryn Mawr College.

The Library of the University of Pennsylvania, which contains about 475,000 volumes and 50,000 pamphlets. The custodians of this library have always shown great courtesy in placing rare volumes at the disposal of the college.

The Free Library of Philadelphia, which contains about 550,000 volumes and 265,000 pamphlets, and is at all times open to the students for consultation.

The American Philosophical Society Library, which contains over 67,000 volumes, admission by card.

The Historical Society of Pennsylvania Library, which contains over 140,000 bound volumes, and 300,000 pamphlets, is for reference only. Every courtesy is extended to members of the college.

Sanskrit and Comparative Philology.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of a non-resident lecturer in Comparative Philology and Sanskrit.

Graduate Courses.

The following graduate courses are offered in each year:

Lectures on Comparative Philology and Philological Seminary. Two hours a week throughout the year.

Students entering this course are expected to be familiar with German and French. A short preliminary course in Sanskrit is also of great aid to the student. The lectures on comparative philology treat of the connection of the Greek and Latin languages with the related languages of the Indo-European group, first, phonetically, secondly, from the point of view of grammatical forms, and lastly, from the point of view of syntax. In the first part of the course which covers what during the last few years has been the field of the most active research the student is introduced to the latest theories and discoveries in Aryan phonetics, and is expected to read and criticize the articles appearing from time to time in the philological journals, and to prepare reports on these articles. The same method is pursued during the investigation of the history of forms; and in the third part of the course the student begins the study of comparative syntax by a close comparison of the use of cases and verbal forms in Sanskrit, Greek, and Latin.

Elementary Sanskrit. Two hours a week throughout the year.

Whitney's Grammar is used, and the classical selections from Lanman's Reader are read. Lectures are given on the phonology and morphology of Sanskrit.

The courses in Comparative Philology and in Elementary Sanskrit will not, as a rule, be given in the same year.

Second Year Sanskrit. One or two hours a week throughout the year.

The Vedic selections in Lanman's Reader are read, with some additional hymns from the Rigveda. Selections from the classical literature are read at sight. Exercises in etymology are given to supplement the lectures on the phonology.

Advanced Sanskrit. Two hours a week throughout the year.

Selected texts are read: the Bhagavad-Gītā; Kālidāsa's Ċakuntalā, Acts I and II, with a careful study of the Prākrit; selected hymns of the Atharvaveda. During the second semester the course is conducted as a seminar, with use of the native commentaries.

Greek.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Henry Nevill Sanders, Professor of Greek; Dr. Wilmer Cave Wright, Associate Professor of Greek; Dr. George A. Barton, Professor of Biblical Literature and Semitic Languages, and Miss Abby Kirk, Reader in Elementary Greek.

Exceptional facilities for the study of all departments of classical philology are offered by the large classical library owned by the College. The greater part of this library is formed by the well-known collection of the late Professor Hermann Sauppe of Göttingen, which was acquired in 1894. This has been supplemented by purchases made by the college library, so that the classical library now numbers some seven thousand volumes, including complete sets of most of the important journals, and about seven thousand dissertations and monographs.

Graduate Courses.

The graduate seminaries in Greek are varied from year to year in two series, Attic Tragedy, Orators, and Historians, and the Homeric Question, Plato, and Aristophanes, in order that they may be pursued by a student for consecutive years. Students electing Greek as a major subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy must offer not less than two seminaries and the journal club for two years and if Greek be also elected as the associated minor the candidate must offer two seminars and one journal club for three years. A list of approved associated minors and independent minors is given in the Regulations of the Academic Council. The post-major courses also are open to graduate students. A large part of the work expected of graduate students consists of courses of reading pursued under the direction of the department, and reports of this reading are from time to time required of the students. A reading knowledge of French and German is required. The course in Comparative Philology is recommended to graduate students of Greek. For graduate courses in Classical Archæology, which may be offered as an associated or independent minor by students taking Greek as a major for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, see page 106.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Dr. Sanders conducts in each year the following graduate seminary:

Greek Seminary.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

In 1918-19 Greek Orators is studied in the seminary. The work consists of the reading of large portions of all the orators and the critical interpretation of a selected part of each. Lectures are given on legal antiquities, the syntax, and the style of the various authors, in conjunction with which Dionysius of Halicarnassus and the Greek rhetoricians are studied. The later rhetoricians are treated and their criticism of antiquity investigated. Students are expected to provide themselves with the Teubner text editions of Antiphan, Andocides, Lysias, Isocrates, Ianua, Æschines, Hyperides, and Demosthenes. The classical library is well equipped with works on the orators.

In 1919-20 Greek Historians will be the main subject of the seminary. Thucydides is studied in detail and reports are made on data of history contained in Greek literature in general. Lectures are given by the instructor on subjects connected with Greek historiography, such as the composition of Thucydides's history, the syntax and style of Thucydides, the history of early prose, Greek historical inscriptions.

In 1920-21 Attic Tragedy will be the subject of the seminary. The work of the seminary in textual criticism is devoted to Æschylus. Members of the seminary report on assigned subjects and give critical summaries of current classical literature.

Dr. Wright conducts in each year the following graduate seminary:

Greek Seminary.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

In 1918-19 the Homeric Question is the subject of the seminary; the work consists of a review of the discussions of the Homeric poems since the publication of Wolf's Prolegomena. The various tests that have been applied to the poems by archaeologists, linguists, historians of myths, and aesthetic critics are taken up and criticized in detail.

In 1919-20 Aristophanes will be the subject of the seminary. The aim of the seminary is to make the students familiar with the more important Aristophanic literature up to the present day. Portions of the text are interpreted by the class and reports on assigned topics, literary, historical, and archaeological, connected with the plays are expected from all the members. All the comedies of Aristophanes are read in the course of the year; lectures are given by the instructor on the metres and syntax of Aristophanes, on the dramatic structure of the plays and on the history of Attic comedy. Part of the work consists of analyses of dissertations on Aristophanes which are presented by members of the class. Every member of the class should provide herself in advance with a complete text of Aristophanes. The Clarendon Press (Oxford) edition is recommended.
In 1920-21 Plato will be the subject of the seminary. The work is mainly literary and critical. Lectures on the style, philosophy, and chronology of the dialogues are given by the instructor; a detailed interpretation of a portion of Plato, and reports on topics set for discussion are given by the class. The students are expected to read the Republic, Theaetetus, Parmenides, and Sophist and discuss certain problems arising from these dialogues. The aim of the course is to lay a foundation for independent work by familiarizing the students with the achievements of scholarship and the general field of Platonic literature up to the present day. Every member of the seminary should provide herself in advance with a complete text of Plato. The Clarendon Press (Oxford) edition is recommended.

Dr. Sanders and Dr. Wright together conduct the Greek journal club:

Greek Journal Club. One and a half hours once a fortnight throughout the year.
The advanced students and the instructors meet to report on and discuss recent articles and books on subjects connected with the Greek classics.

Post-Major Courses.

Dr. Sanders offers in 1918–19 the following post-major courses, open to graduate students:

- Æschylus, Oresteia. Two hours a week during the first semester.
- Fourth Century Critics. One hour a week during the first semester.
- Pindar. Two hours a week during the second semester.
- Sophocles, Electra or Euripides, Electra. One hour a week during the second semester.

Dr. Sanders offers in 1919–20 the following post-major courses, open to graduate students:

- Minor Orations of the Attic Orators. Two hours a week during the first semester.
- Sophocles, Oedipus Tyrannus. One hour a week during the first semester.
- Æschylus, Agamemnon. Two hours a week during the second semester.
- Greek Prose Composition and the Evolution of Style. One hour a week during the second semester.

Dr. Sanders offers in 1920–21 the following post-major courses, open to graduate students:

- Sophocles, Trachiniae and Euripides, Heracles. Two hours a week during the first semester.
- Herodotus. One hour a week during the first semester.
- Greek Rhetoricians and Greek Prose Composition. One hour a week during the second semester.
- Bacchylides. One hour a week during the second semester.
- Euripides, Bacchæ. One hour a week during the second semester.
Dr. Wright offers in 1918–19 the following post-major courses, open to graduate students:

- Palatine Anthology. Two hours a week during the first semester.
- Sophocles, Ajax. Two hours a week during the second semester.

Dr. Wright offers in 1919–20 the following post-major courses, open to graduate students:

- Melic Poets. Two hours a week during the first semester.
- Plato, Republic. Two hours a week during the second semester.

Dr. Wright offers in 1920–21 the following post-major courses, open to graduate students:

- Theocritus. Two hours a week during the first semester.
- Æschylus, Septem or Lucian. Two hours a week during the second semester.

Free Elective Courses.

Dr. Wright offers in each year the following free elective courses:

- History of Greek Literature. Two hours a week throughout the year.
- Greek Religion and Greek Myths. Two hours a week during the first semester.

This course is supplementary to Greek and English literature and to Oriental and Classical Archeology and treats of the development of Greek religion, the attributes of the Olympian Gods, such as Zeus and Apollo, their ritual, and the influence on literature of Greek myths.

- Literary Geography of Greece and Asia Minor, Two hours a week during the second semester.

This course traces not only the literary legends of famous sites such as Athens, Thebes, Troy and Constantinople, but also their political history.

Latin.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Arthur Leslie Wheeler, Professor of Latin, Dr. Tenney Frank, Professor of Latin, and Dr. Mary Hamilton Swindler, Instructor in Latin and Archeology.

Graduate Courses.

The graduate work in Latin is conducted according to the seminary method, and is intended not only to broaden the student's knowledge, but also to teach methods of work. The graduate courses in Latin are varied from year to year in three series, Roman Lyric Poetry, Elegy, and Comedy, and Roman Epic Poetry; Cicero's Correspondence, and Epigraphy. Students electing Latin as a major subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy must offer not less than two seminaries and the journal club for two years and if Latin be also elected as the associated minor the candidate must offer two seminaries and the journal club for three years. A list of approved associated and independent minors is given in the Regulations of the Academic Council. It is desirable that all students who intend to do advanced work in Latin should have some knowledge of Greek. A reading knowledge of French and German is necessary.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Dr. Wheeler conducts in each year the following graduate seminary:

Latin Seminary.

In 1918–19 Latin Comedy is the subject of the seminar. All the plays of Plautus and Terence are read by the students; single plays form the basis of special work on the language, text, metres, etc. Students should provide themselves with the text edition of Plautus, edited by Goetz and Schoell, Leipsic, Teubner, 1892–1994, or that of W. M. Lindsay, Oxford, 1903–04, and with Datzskaz's textbook of Terence, Leipsic, Tauchnitz, 1884. The plays of Plautus, annotated by Brix, Leipsic, Teubner, 1901–12, and by Lorenz, Berlin, Weidmann, 1876–86, and the plays of Terence, annotated by Datzskaz (revised by Haule), 1898 and 1913 (Teubner), and by Spengel, 1879 and 1905 (Weidmann), are also recommended. P. Terenti Afri Commedia, edited by S. G. Ashmore, Oxford University Press, New York, 1905, is a convenient commentary.

In 1919–20 Roman Lyric in the Period of the Republic will be the subject of the seminar. After a rapid survey of the fragmentary lyric remains of the predecessors and contemporaries of Catullus, the poems of Catullus himself are studied in detail. Students should have Catulli carmina (Oxford text, 1909), edited by Robinson Ellis, and either the same scholar's commentary on Catullus, Oxford, Clarendon Press, 1889 (second edition), or G. Friedrich's Catalli Veronensis liber, Leipsic and Berlin, 1908 (Teubner).

In 1920–21 Roman Elegy as represented by Tibullus, Propertius, and Ovid will be the subject of the seminar. In addition to a careful study of selected poems an effort is made to trace the history of elegy among the Romans. The various topics connected with the subject are treated in detail as far as time permits, and the students are encouraged to familiarize themselves with the best literature in editions, periodicals, and dissertations. The texts recommended are the Oxford Clarendon Press editions of Catullus and Tibullus, edited by Ellis and Postgate, and the Leipsic (Teubner) text of Propertius, edited by C. Hosius, 1911. The best commentaries are Kirby Smith's The Elegies of Tibullus, New York, 1913 (American Book Co.), and M. Rothstein's Die Elegien des Sextus Propertius, Berlin, 1898 (Weidmann). For Catullus see Roman Lyric.

Dr. Frank conducts in each year the following graduate seminary:

Latin Seminary.

In 1918–19 Cicero's Correspondence is the subject of the seminar. An effort is made to master typical textual and linguistic problems presented by this text, and more especially to extend the student's acquaintance with the Roman civilization of Cicero's day.

In 1919–20 selected topics in Roman literature will be studied. The work consists of studies in the beginnings of the Roman epic, tragedy, and prose. The students read reports on special subjects assigned to them. A study of Latin syntax may be substituted.

In 1920–21 Latin Epigraphy and Palaeography is the work of the seminar. About two-thirds of the course is devoted to the study of the Corpus Inscriptionum. The questions assigned for investigation deal mainly with Roman political institutions, public and private life, and with historical grammar. Dessau's Inscriptiorum Latinae Selectae is used in the class room. The paleographical facsimiles of Chatelain, Zangemeister and Wattenbach, and Arndt form the basis for work in the latter part of the course.
Dr. Wheeler, Dr. Frank and Dr. Swindler together conduct the Latin journal club.

Latin Journal Club. One and a half hours once a fortnight throughout the year.
The advanced students and the instructors meet to report on and discuss recent articles and books on subjects connected with the Latin classics.

Post-Major Courses.

Dr. Wheeler offers in 1918–19 and again in 1920–21 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Roman Elegy. Two hours a week throughout the year.
An effort is made to trace historically the development of this branch of poetry among the Romans. Selections from Catullus, Tibullus, Propertius, and Ovid are read. The readings are supplemented by occasional lectures. Special attention is devoted to the structure and reading of the elegiac distich and to the characteristics of Roman poetic diction. Each student is required to prepare papers and reports on assigned topics in each semester.

Dr. Wheeler offers in 1919–20 and again in 1921–22 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Roman Satire. Two hours a week throughout the year.
The subject is treated historically in order to give an outline of the origin and development of Satire. The class reads selections from Horace, Persius, Seneca, Petronius, and Juvenal, together with some of the fragments of Ennius, Lucretius, and Varro. The readings are supplemented by occasional lectures. Each student is required to prepare papers and reports on assigned topics in each semester.

Dr. Frank offers in 1918–19 and again in 1920–21 the following post-major courses, open to graduate students:

The Life and Works of Vergil. Three hours a week during the first semester.
The larger part of the Aeneid, two books of the Georgics and some of the minor poems are read and discussed.

Latin Prose Composition. Two hours a week throughout the year.

Roman Prose of the Empire. Three hours a week during the second semester.
Selections from Velleius, Seneca, Quintilian, Tacitus, Suetonius, Apuleius, and Mucius Felix are read.

Dr. Frank offers in 1919–20 and again in 1921–22 the following post-major courses, open to graduate students:

Lucretius and Catullus. Three hours a week during the first semester.
Selections from the De Rerum Natura and from the lyrics of Catullus are read.

Latin Prose Composition. Two hours a week throughout the year.

Cicero and Cæsar. Three hours a week during the second semester.
An effort is made by means of lectures, discussions, and extensive reading to gain an intimate acquaintance with the literary work and the political careers of Cicero and Cæsar.
Modern Languages.

Professors and instructors: Dr. M. Carey Thomas, Dr. Fonger DeHaan, Miss Lucy Martin Donnelly, Dr. Karl Detlev Jessen, Dr. Regina Katharine Crandall, Dr. Eunice Morgan Schenck, Dr. Samuel Claggett Chew, Dr. Jean Baptiste Beck, Dr. Howard James Savage, Mr. Samuel Arthur King, Dr. Howard Rollin Patch, Madame Claude Rivière, Dr. Agnes Rutherford Riddell, Miss Esther Cloudman Dunn, Miss Emily Gifford Noyes, Miss Helen McGregor Noyes, Dr. Margaret Steel Duncan, Dr. Mary Agnes Quimby, Miss Carolina Marcial Dorado, Miss Margaret W. Watson, Dr. Esther Parker Ellinger and Miss Eva Alice Worrall Bryne.

English.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. M. Carey Thomas, Professor of English, Miss Lucy Martin Donnelly, Professor of English, Dr. Regina Katharine Crandall, Professor of English Composition, Dr. Samuel Claggett Chew, Associate Professor of English Literature, Dr. Howard James Savage,* Associate Professor of Rhetoric and Director of the Work in English Composition, Mr. Samuel Arthur King, Non-resident Lecturer in English Diction, Dr. Howard Rollin Patch, Associate in English Philology, Miss Esther Cloudman Dunn, Instructor in English Composition and Acting Director of First and Second Year English Composition, Miss Emily Gifford Noyes, Miss Helen McGregor Noyes, Miss Margaret W. Watson and Dr. Esther Parker Ellinger, Instructors in English, and Miss Eva Alice Worrall Bryne, Reader in English.

Graduate Courses.

There are offered each year graduate seminaries and courses in English literature and in English language, and these seminaries and courses are varied so as to enable candidates for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy to pursue graduate work for three or more successive years. The graduate instruction in English literature includes the direction of private reading and the assignment of topics for investigation. The graduate courses in literature presuppose at least as much knowledge as is obtained in the two years' course of undergraduate lectures on English literature and in one of the literature courses of the English major; and the graduate courses in Anglo-Saxon presuppose as much knowledge of Anglo-Saxon as is obtained in the language course in the English major. All students offering English as a subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy must have taken at least the equivalent of the composition in the required English course.

* Granted leave of absence for 1917-19 on military service.

Students who elect English literature as their major subject in their examination for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy must offer English philology as the associated minor and those who offer English philology as a major subject must offer English literature as the associated minor. In the major together with the associated minor the student must offer two seminaries and a journal club for three years. A list of approved independent minors is given in the Regulations of the Academic Council.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Miss Donnelly conducts in alternate years the following graduate seminary:

Seminary in English Literature.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

In 1918–19 Eighteenth Century Prose is the subject of the seminary. Swift, Addison, and Steele are studied. Attention is given to their relations to both contemporary politics and literature.

In 1920–21 the Romantic Poets will be the subject of the seminary. Special attention will be paid to Shelley and Byron and to the phases of Romanticism shown in their work. Their relations to their contemporaries in England and on the Continent will be discussed.

In 1922–23 Donne and Milton will be the subject of the seminary. They will be studied in their relation to such contemporary influences as Platonism and the Church and Puritanism and in especial to the sources and development of poetical style in the seventeenth century.

Miss Donnelly will offer in each year special assignments of reading and reports for foreign students who have come intending to study American literature and to prepare for examinations in it abroad.

Dr. Chew conducts in each year the following graduate seminary:

Seminary in English Literature.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

In 1918–19 the earlier Romantic Period is the subject of the seminary. The poetry of Blake and Burns; the revival of interest in the popular ballads; the novel between Sterne and Scott; and the drama of the period are among the subjects considered.

In 1919–20 the seminary will study various aspects of English Literature during the reign of Victoria.

In 1920–21 the plays of Jonson, Webster, Middleton, and Dekker will be studied.

Dr. Crandall conducts in each year the following graduate seminary:

Seminary in English Composition.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

The chief business of the seminary is the discussion and criticism of the students' own writing. Its aim is to make familiar and apply the principles and standards of criticism that have developed with the development of literature; the subject of study in each year is adapted to the purpose and interests of the students.

In 1918–19 the seminar studies the manner of writers of biography and memoirs, among others Boswell, Lord Morley and Henry Adams.

In 1919–20 the subject of the seminar will be historical writing and will include a study of the manner of Gibbon, J. R. Green, Motley, Parkman and other historians.

In 1920–21 modern fiction, English, French and Russian, will be the subject of the seminar.

Dr. Patch conducts in each year the following graduate seminar:

Seminary in Middle English. Three hours a week throughout the year.

In 1918–19 the Beginnings of English Drama is the subject of the seminar. After tracing the emergence of plays in the vernacular from the liturgical drama, the evolution of the leading English mystery cycles is studied. In considering the morality plays their connection with medieval allegories, debates, and didactic treatises is specially examined. The lectures given by the instructor are designed to afford a general survey of the drama (both religious and secular) in England to the accession of Queen Elizabeth. Critical reports on assigned topics are required from the students.

In 1919–20 Middle English Romances will be the subject of the seminar. All the romances represented in Middle English are read, and the relation of these English versions to their Latin and Old French originals are discussed. The romance cycles are taken up in the following order: Troy story, Alexander saga, Arthurian cycle, romances of Germanic origin, Charlemagne cycle. Special investigations of problems relating to the romances are undertaken from time to time by the members of the seminar.

In 1920–21 the seminar will study Thé Vision of Piers the Plowman and the works of Chaucer. Attention is devoted not so much to the critical reading of the texts themselves as to the examination of the questions of authorship and chronology which have recently been raised. These poems are also discussed in their relation to the other literature of the fourteenth century. Special subjects for individual investigation are assigned to the members of the seminar.

Dr. Patch offers in 1918–19 and again in 1920–21 the following graduate courses:

Beowulf. Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course begins with a careful textual study of the Beowulf. After discussing the problems of editing, a general survey of Beowulf criticism is presented including theories as to the composition of the poem, and an inquiry into its historical and mythological elements. In this connection a study is also made of the other pieces of Anglo-Saxon heathen poetry. This course is open to graduate students who have already taken the course in Anglo-Saxon grammar and reading of Anglo-Saxon texts, or its equivalent.

English Historical Grammar. Two hours a week throughout the year.

In this course the development of the English Language is traced from the earliest times. After an outline has been given of the history and external relations of English, the change and decay of inflections, the use of prepositions and the more important points in historical syntax are discussed. The course presupposes a knowledge of Anglo-Saxon and Middle English. The students will examine various documents of the different periods to discover evidence of the operation of linguistic principles.

Dr. Patch offers in 1919–20 and again in 1921–22 the following graduate course:

Cynewulf and Cædmon. Two hours a week throughout the year.

Several of the poems traditionally ascribed to these authors are critically studied. Lectures are given with a view to furnishing a thorough introduction to Anglo-Saxon Christian poetry and the literary problems connected with it. This course is open to graduate students who have already taken the course in Anglo-Saxon grammar and reading of Anglo-Saxon texts or its equivalent.

Dr. Savage offers in 1919–20 the following graduate course: Technical and Advanced Criticism. Two hours a week during the first semester.

In this course attention will be given to bibliography, the tabulating of critical data, the planning and writing of papers, reports, and dissertations, critical usage, and other matters. Materials collected for other courses in research are available for use in this work.

Miss Donnelly, Dr. Chew, Dr. Crandall, Dr. Savage, and Dr. Patch together conduct the English journal club.

English Journal Club. One and a half hours a fortnight throughout the year.

The advanced students and the instructors meet to report on and discuss recent reviews and critical articles.

The following advanced undergraduate courses may be attended by graduate students:

Miss Donnelly offers in 1919–20 and again in 1921–22 the following course: English Romantic Poets. Five hours a week during the second semester.

The poets studied in this course are Wordsworth, Coleridge, and Shelley in the first semester and in the second, Byron, and Keats. Their works are discussed in class in connection with questions of poetics and literary theory and reports are required from students attending the course.

Dr. Chew offers in each year the following course: English Critics of the Nineteenth Century. Five hours a week during the first semester.

Carlyle, Ruskin, Huxley, Arnold, Pater and Morley are studied with regard to their influence upon the thought of their time. A report is required from each student attending this course.

Dr. Chew offers in 1918–19 and again in 1920–21 the following course: English Poetry, 1850–1914. Five hours a week during the second semester.

A review of the progress of poetry during the first half of the nineteenth century is followed by more detailed study of the poets of the later period.

Dr. Chew offers in 1918–19 and again in 1919–20 and 1921–22 the following course:

English Drama. Five hours a week during the first semester.

This course comprises a survey of the early drama, close study of the Elisabethan and Jacobean dramatists, and an introduction to the later periods of the drama. A report is required from each student attending this course.
Dr. Chew offers in 1919–20 and again in 1921–22 the following course:

English Literature from Dryden to Johnson.
Five hours a week during the second semester.

The Poets from Butler to Thomson; the essayists; the philosophers from Hobbes to Hume; and the beginnings of the English novel are the chief subjects studied in this course. A report is required from each student attending the course.

Dr. Chew offers in 1920–21 and again in 1922–23 the following course:

English Literature from Bacon to Milton.
Five hours a week during the first semester.

The Authorized Version of the Bible; late Elizabethan and Jacobean Prose; the poets following Spenser and before Milton; and related matters such as the Witch Controversy and the political pamphlets of the time are among the chief topics in this course. A report is required from each member of the class.

Dr. Patch offers in 1918–19 and again in 1919–20 the following course:

Middle English Romances.
Five hours a week during the second semester.

Selected romances in Middle English are read by the members of the class. The lectures deal with the development of Romance literature in Europe with special reference to the romances of the Arthurian cycle, and the discussion includes a review of the development of mediæval themes in later periods.

Dr. Patch offers in 1918–19 and again in 1920–21 the following course:

Shakespeare.
Five hours a week during the second semester.

A careful study is made of a number of Shakespeare's plays, selected with a view to illustrating his earlier and later work. The plays usually chosen are: King Lear, Henry IV. Part I, Hamlet, Romeo and Juliet, and The Temp st. Some of the more general problems connected with these plays are discussed in introductory lectures and various topics are taken up such as the principles of tragedy and comedy, the use of allegory and the development of Shakesperian criticism.

Dr. Patch offers in 1920–21 and again in 1922–23 the following courses:

Anglo-Saxon Prose and Beowulf.
Five hours a week during the first semester.

The first half of the course is devoted to an outline of Anglo-Saxon grammar as presented in Shover's Old English Grammar (Cook's translation) and to the reading of the prose selections in Bright's Anglo-Saxon Reader. After reading one or two of the shorter Anglo-Saxon poems, the Beowulf is taken up (Wyatt and Chambers' text) and the first two-thirds of the poem is read with the class.

Dr. Patch offers in 1919–20 and again in 1921–22 the following course:

Middle English Poetry, Chaucer.
Five hours a week during the first semester.

The course begins with an outline of Middle English grammar sufficient to enable the students to read ordinary texts intelligently. Lectures are given on the development of the language and literature during this period. In the course on Chaucer the best of the Canterbury Tales are studied, also the Legend of Good Women, The House of Fame, and portions of Troilus and Criseyde. The lectures discuss Chaucer's sources and literary art, and his relation to the English, French, and Italian literature of his time.

Dr. Crandall offers in 1918–19 and again in 1920–21 the following elective courses:

Daily Themes. Two hours a week during the first semester.
Short papers on subjects chosen by the students themselves are required from each student and discussed in the class.

Criticism. Two hours a week throughout the year.
The course includes a study of the principles of criticism and the writing of critical expositions, the essay, and kindred forms.

The Short Story. Two hours a week during the second semester.

Versification. Two hours a week during the second semester.

Dr. Crandall offers in 1919–20 and again in 1921–22 the following elective courses:

The Short Story. Two hours a week throughout the year.
The course deals with various forms of narrative, more especially the short story, and includes a study of the work of representative authors, both English and French.

Versification. Two hours a week throughout the year.
The course is not historical but theoretical and practical. Students are required to write short exercises in verse every week.

Argumentation. Two hours a week throughout the year.
The writing of arguments, the study of the form with reference to other types of writing, and other problems connected with argumentation, formal and informal, make up the work of the course. If possible, some attention will be paid to oral composition.

Dr. Savage offers in 1919–20 the following course:

The Technique of the Drama. Two hours a week throughout the year.
This course is open only to those students who can assure the instructor that they can pursue the work with profit. It deals with the theory of the drama, the building of scenarios, adaptation, and the writing of original longer and shorter plays; and with the observation of dramatic technique in plays read and seen.

Dr. Savage offers in 1920–21 the following course:

English Fiction in the Nineteenth Century.
Five hours a week during the second semester.
A study of the principal types of English prose fiction during the last century, the short story and the novel, with attention to their origins, development, and technique.

Dr. Savage offers in 1921–22 the following course:

Materials and Methods of Teaching Composition.
Two hours a week during the second semester.
This course is intended for graduate students and for undergraduates who expect to teach English; its aim is to present some of the problems of collegiate instruction in composition: the planning and supervision of courses, reports on departments in various colleges, and allied problems. Practice in writing is gained through reports of varying character and length.

Mr. King offers in each year the following course in English Diction for graduate students:

General Course in Articulation and Voice Production.

One half hour a week throughout the year.

The object of this course is to train speakers in accurate and distinct articulation and to eliminate the faults of bad production. Speech is resolved into its phonetic elements which are the basis of practical exercises so arranged as to be progressive in their difficulties.

Mr. King offers in 1918–19 and again in 1920–21 the following free elective course in English Diction:

General Reading of Prose Authors.

One hour a week throughout the year.

This course is open only to those students who have attended the required course in English diction or who have done equivalent work.

Mr. King offers in 1919–20 and again in 1921–22 the following free elective course in English Diction:

Reading of Shakespeare.

One hour a week throughout the year.

This course is open only to those students who have taken the required course in English diction. A special study is made of the principles of correct delivery of blank verse. The needs of those students who intend to teach English literature, and desire to read Shakespeare to their pupils, are given special attention.

ROMANCE LANGUAGES.

French.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Eunice Morgan Schenck, Associate Professor of French; Dr. Jean Baptiste Beck, Associate Professor of Mediaeval French Literature; Madame Claude Rivière, Associate in French, and Dr. Margaret Steel Duncan, Instructor in Spanish and French.

GRADUATE COURSES.

Ten hours a week of seminary work and graduate lectures are offered each year to graduate students of French, accompanied by the direction of private reading and original research. The courses covering the field of Old and Modern French Language and Literature are arranged to form a triennial cycle. The work of each year centres around one main topic to be studied as a part of the history of French literature in its various relations to general literature and civilization of the period concerned. Students may enter a seminary in any year and pursue it during three or more consecutive years. The members of the seminars report on subjects assigned them at the beginning of each semester.

Students who choose French literature as their major subject in their examination for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy must offer French philology as the associated minor and students who offer French philology as a major subject must offer French literature as the associated minor. A list of approved independent minors will be found in the Regulations of the Academic Council. In the major together with the associated minor the student must offer two seminars and a journal club for three years.

Dr. Schenck conducts in each year the following graduate seminar:

Seminary in Modern French Literature. Three hours a week throughout the year.

In 1918–19 the subject of the seminary is Nineteenth Century Drama. After a rapid survey of the theatre of the eighteenth century a careful study is made of the drama of Hugo, Dumas père, Vigny, and Musset, and the extent of the influence of Shakespeare on French romantic drama. The rise and development of realistic comedy are studied and the course closes with an examination of Post-Realism, Symbolism, and Contemporary French drama.

In 1919–20 the subject of the seminary will be Romanticism and Realism. The origins of romanticism will be examined in the rise of "le cosmopolitisme littéraire," in eighteenth century French literature and especially in the works of Rousseau and Madame de Staël.

A parallel study of the theories underlying literary and historical realism will be made in connection with Taine, Renan, Zola, and Maupassant.

In 1920–21 the subject of the seminary will be Phases of Romanticism in the Nineteenth Century as illustrated by Hugo, Gautier, and Flaubert. A special study is made of the origin and development of the theory of L’art pour l’art.

Dr. Beck conducts in each year the following graduate seminar:

Seminary in Mediaeval French Literature. Two hours a week throughout the year.

The work expected of graduate students in the seminary in Mediaeval French Literature consists of a palaeographical analysis of the original manuscripts, a cursory interpretation of the texts, a review of the opinions expressed by the respective specialists on each subject and a critical discussion of the comparative value of the work in question. These reports are intended to train graduate students in literary research. The courses in other Romance Languages (Italian and Spanish) and also those in Middle English are recommended to students in Mediaeval French literature. During her first year of work in this seminary each student is required to take also the Seminary in Romance Philology, unless she has already taken a corresponding course.

In 1918–19 the Evolution of Dramatic and Epic Literature from the twelfth to the sixteenth century is studied in the seminary: the development of actual stage drama from the primeval liturgical ceremonies, these and the epic parts of Scripture in relation to the Mystères; the dramatic elements contained in medieval lyrics, such as the Aubes, Pastoureaux, Jeux-Partis and in the dialogue forms of certain types, such as the Chansons à danse; the primitive Opera comique, a combination of lyrics and epics: Aucassin et Nicolette, Robin et Marion, le Jeu de St. Nicolas, etc. The work of the second semester is devoted entirely to a systematic study of the origin and development of Old French epics in the light of Bédier's work.
In 1919–20 the subject of the seminar in Mediæval French Literature is the Origin of French Literature from the earliest documents to the twelfth century. The literary products of this period are read and interpreted from photographic reproductions of the original manuscripts. The main emphasis is laid upon the development of mediæval literature from the previous Middle Latin literature, to show the interrelations between literature written in the various languages and dialects, both Romanic and Germanic, and the religious literature, and to illustrate the international character of literature during that period. The origin of mediæval lyric poetry is derived from the Tropes and Sequences of St. Martial de Limoges and of St. Gall, the Epic Poetry from the Lives of the Saints and the dramatic literature from the Liturgy of the Church. The absolute unity of mediæval art in the conception of the authors and artists of the Romanesque and Gothic periods will be illustrated by the mutual connections between the various literary genres and the different branches of fine arts, such as architecture, sculpture, painting, and music.

In 1920–21 the subject of the seminar will be Rabelais' Gargantua et Pantagruel.

Dr. Beck offers in each year the following graduate courses:

Old French Philology.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

Historical Grammar of Old French, followed by Critical Reading of Old French texts, in their chronological order, chosen from the most representative genres and dialects, including Anglo-Norman. Students of Old French Philology should be provided with E. Monaci's Facsimili di Documenti per la storia delle lingue e delle letterature Romanze, Nyrop, Grammaire historique de la Langue Française, Vol. 1, and K. Bartsch, Chrestomathie de l'Ancien Français. This course is equivalent to a full seminar and counts as such.

Introduction into the study of Romance Philology.

One hour a week throughout the year.

Derivation of the Romance Languages, chiefly Old French, Old Italian and Old Spanish. This course is planned to meet the needs of all students of Romance Languages whether they are specializing in French, Italian or Spanish. It will require two hours of work a week in addition to the hour of lecture. Graduate students taking the graduate course in Old French Philology or the graduate language courses in Italian and Spanish who have not had this course or its equivalent are strongly advised to take it at the same time, and will be given an allowance of three hours in the work required to make these courses equivalent to seminars. The two combined courses will be equivalent to a full seminar and will count as such.

Dr. Beck offers in 1918–19 and again in 1920–21 the following graduate course intended especially for teachers of French:

The Foundations of French Grammar.

One hour a week throughout the year.

This course is intended to train teachers to be able to give a rational explanation of the various functions of parts of speech and to dispense with mechanical grammatical rules.

Dr. Beck offers in 1919–20 and again in 1921–22 one of the following graduate courses:

Old Provencal.

One hour a week during the first semester.

Historical Grammar of the Old Provencal language.

Old Provencal Literature.

One hour a week during the second semester.

The evolution from the Tropes and Sequences of the Troubadour-Lyrics and earliest Provencal Drama.
The Influence of Mediæval Latin Poetry upon Romance Versification.

One hour a week throughout the year.

The linguisitc difference between Classical and Low Latin explains the change from quantitative to qualitative prosody. The fundamental difference between the rhythmical nature of Teutonic and Romance languages explains the dissimilarity in their respective versifications. The origin of Rime and of Isosyllabism in French.

Students who take this course are supposed to be familiar with classical and mediæval literature.

Advanced Old French Philology. Two hours a week throughout the year.

The influence of Mediæval Latin upon the formation of the Old French literary language is studied. After an introduction to Mediæval Latin philology, the linguistic value of mediæval grammars, glosses, commentaries and interlinear translations is examined.

This course is open only to graduate students who have already taken the graduate course in Old French Philology and the Seminary in Mediæval French Literature or their equivalents.

Madame Rivière offers in each year the following graduate course:

Modern French Literature. Two hours a week throughout the year.

The method used in advanced literary instruction in France and known as the "Explications de textes" will be employed; students being required to give oral lessons and to write many short papers.

In 1918–19 seventeenth century authors are studied.

In 1919–20 authors of the eighteenth century will be studied.

In 1920–21 the period selected will be the sixteenth century.

Dr. Schenck, Dr. Beck, Madame Rivière, Dr. Riddell, Miss Dorado, and Dr. Duncan together conduct the journal club in Romance languages.

Romance Languages Journal Club.

One and a half hours a fortnight throughout the year.

The journal club is intended to make the advanced students familiar with all the important European periodicals and with new books dealing with Romance Philology. For each session of the club an important article chosen from some one of the various periodicals is assigned to a student for review. The student is also referred to previous articles or publications treating of the same subject as that of the review, and is expected to present to the club a chronological outline of the history and stages of the discussion on the given point. Thus the students become familiar with the names of leading Romance scholars and with the particular lines of research in which each of the latter excels. At the same time such reviews prepare the way for seminar work and original investigations.

Post-Major Courses.

Dr. Schenck offers in 1918–19 and again in 1920–21 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Modern French Drama. Three hours a week throughout the year.

The course begins with a study of the plays of the Romantic period, and traces the development of French drama throughout the nineteenth century to the present day. A special study is made of the modern tendencies represented by Brieux, Maeterlinck, and Paul Claudel. The course is conducted by means of lectures, class-room discussion, and reports.
Dr. Schenck offers in 1919-20 and again in 1921-22 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

The Short Story (Nouvelle) in the Nineteenth Century. Three hours a week throughout the year.

In the first semester the nouvelles of the romantic period are studied in the works of Chateaubriand, Nodier, Vigny, Musset, Balzac, Mérimée, and Gautier. The lectures of the second semester treat the development and modification of realism by Flaubert, Zola, Daudet, Coppée, Loti, Bourget, France, and others, while a careful study of the technique of the nouvelle is made in connection with Maupassant.

Madame Rivière offers in 1918-19 and again in 1920-21 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Evolution of French Lyric Poetry. Two hours a week throughout the year.

The origins of modern French lyric poetry are discussed with special emphasis on the poets of the 'Pléiade.' The romantic movement, l'Ecole du Parnasse, and the later nineteenth century poets are also studied.

Madame Rivière offers in 1919-20 and again in 1921-22 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

The Evolution of the French Essay. Two hours a week throughout the year.

The authors studied are Montaigne, Pascal, La Rochefoucauld, La Bruyère, Diderot, Voltaire, Renan, Sainte Beuve, Taine, etc.

Italian.

The instruction in this department is given by Dr. Agnes Rutherford Riddell, Associate in Italian.

Graduate Courses.

The graduate seminar in Italian is varied from year to year in order that it may be pursued by a student for consecutive years. Students electing Italian as a major subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy are required to offer French Philology as an associated minor. For the list of approved independent minors see the Regulations of the Academic Council.

Dr. Riddell offers in each year the following graduate seminar:

Seminary in Italian Literature. Two hours a week throughout the year.

In 1918-19 the subject of the seminar is the Development of the Drama. The early drama, the comedía dell' arte, the drama of the eighteenth century, and the modern drama are studied.

In 1919-20 the subject of the seminar will be the Development of the Novel. The popular tale, the novella, and other manifestations of the story form will be studied. Special attention will be paid to the modern novel.
In 1920–21 the subject of the seminary will be the Heroic Epic, with special study of Ariosto and Tasso.
If necessary, modifications will be made in the work of the seminary to meet the special requirements of students presenting themselves for it.

Dr. Riddell offers in each year the following undergraduate courses open to graduate students:

Introductory Italian. Five hours a week throughout the year.
This course is specially designed to enable students (a) to read modern Italian and to write simple Italian; (b) to read Dante as soon as possible. The reading of Dante will, it is hoped, be begun before the end of the first semester. Some practice is also given in speaking Italian.

Lectures on the History of Italian Literature. Three hours a week throughout the year.
Reading from Petrarch, Boccaccio, Boiardo, Ariosto, Castiglione, Tasso, Goldoni, Alfieri, Manzoni, Leopardi, Carducci and others. The influence of Italian on other literatures, especially English literature.

Reading and Composition. Two hours a week throughout the year.
Reading of modern plays and short stories by D'Annunzio and others. Composition in Italian.

Spanish.

The instruction in this department is given by Dr. Fonger DeHaan, *Professor of Spanish, Miss Carolina Marcial Dorado, Instructor in Spanish, and Dr. Margaret Steel Duncan, Instructor in French and Spanish.

Graduate Courses.

The graduate seminary in Spanish is varied from year to year in order that it may be pursued by a student for consecutive years. Students electing Spanish as a major subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy are required to offer French Philology as an associated minor. For the list of approved independent minors see the Regulations of the Academic Council.

Dr. DeHaan* offers in each year the following graduate course:

Spanish Philology. Two hours a week throughout the year.
The work of the course will consist of a study of Spanish philology and readings in Old Spanish. The course occupies one-third of the student's time and is counted as equivalent to a seminar.

* Granted leave of absence for the years 1917–10.
The following graduate seminary is offered in each year:

Seminary in Spanish.
Three hours a week throughout the year.

In 1919-20 the origins of the Spanish novel will be studied.
In 1920-21 Tirso de Molina, the plays, will be the subject of the seminary.

The following undergraduate courses, open to graduate students, are offered in each year:

First Year.

Spanish.
Five hours a week throughout the year.

The object of this course is to give beginners a good knowledge of modern Spanish. The first weeks are given to the essentials of grammar; exercises at frequent intervals during the first semester give practice in the application of the principles; the remaining time is given to reading prose texts. In the second semester exercises in composition are continued but a greater proportion of the time is given to reading; novels and plays in prose are read and attention is paid to conversation. This course is conducted in 1918-19 by Miss Dorado and Dr. Duncan in two sections.

Second Year.

Spanish.
Five hours a week throughout the year.

The work of the first year course is extended by the reading of moderately long and fairly difficult novels by representative modern authors, and some plays in verse, preferably of the classical period. Passages of continuous English prose are translated into Spanish. This course is conducted in 1918-19 by Miss Dorado four hours a week and by Dr. Duncan one hour a week.

German.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Karl Detlev Jessen, Professor of German Literature, and Dr. Mary Agnes Quimby, Instructor in German.

Graduate Courses.

The graduate courses offered in German philology may be found under the head of General Teutonic Philology.*

Graduate work in the history of modern German literature is conducted according to the seminary method. The courses are so varied that they may be followed by graduate students throughout three successive years and cover the work required of students who offer German literature as a major or a minor for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. Students who elect German literature as their major subject in the examination for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy must offer Teutonic philology as an associated minor and students who offer Teutonic philology as a major subject must offer German literature as an associated minor. In the major together with the associated minor the student must offer two seminaries and a journal club for three years. A list of approved independent minors is given in the Regulations of the Academic Council.

Owing to the small number of students electing courses in German temporary arrangements will be made for instruction in the courses offered in Teutonic Philology.

Dr. Jessen conducts in each year the following graduate seminar:

Seminary in German Literature. Two hours a week throughout the year.

It is hoped that the students will become familiar in the seminary with the methods of scientific literary criticism and investigation.

In 1918-19 the Romanticism of early modern German literature is studied in the seminary.

In 1919-20 topics from the classical period of German literature will be studied. Alternative subjects of study will be Luther and the Humanists or Nietzsche.

In 1920-21 Goethe will be the subject of study in the seminary.

Dr. Jessen offers in 1918-19 and again in 1920-21 the following graduate courses:

German Metrics. One hour a week during the first semester.

This course consists of lectures on Deutsche Metrik or Verslehre, with an introduction to phonetics, this being an indispensable Hilfswissenschaft for the study of German literature.

German Poetics. One hour a week during the second semester.

Lectures are given on Deutsche Poetik and Stilistik.

Dr. Jessen offers in 1919-20 and again in 1921-22 the following graduate courses:

German Literary Criticism. One hour a week during the first semester.

The lectures trace the development of literary and aesthetic criticism in Germany from Leibniz to Schiller and Goethe. The course is comparative, and French and English literary criticisms are also considered. Lessing's Laokoon and Hamburgische Dramaturgie and Schiller's essays on aesthetics are specially studied. The course is open to those students only who have a reading knowledge of French and German.

The German Essay. One hour a week during the second semester.

The history of the essay in German literature is studied and the most eminent German essayists, Schopenhauer, Herman Grimm, Karl Hillebrand, Friedrich Nietzsche, etc., are discussed. The influence of French, English, and American writers, in particular Montaigne, Macaulay, and Emerson, is traced, and incidentally the evolution of modern German prose style is treated.

Dr. Jessen offers in each year, if the time of the department permits, one of the following graduate courses:

Goethe's Faust. Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course is intended to give a detailed introduction to the problems of Faust-philologie, dealing with both the first and second part of Faust.

Goethe's Life and Works. Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course aims at giving an introduction into Goethe-philologie.

Dr. Jessen conducts in each year the German journal club.

German Journal Club. Two hours once a fortnight throughout the year.

At the meetings recent books and articles are reviewed and the results of special investigations presented for discussion, comment, and criticism.
Post-Major Courses.

Dr. Jessen offers in 1918–19 and again in 1920–21 the following post-major courses, open to graduate students:

Lectures on the History of German Literature from the Romantic School to 1850. Two hours a week during the first semester.

This course begins with a general study of the principles of philosophy, life, art, and poetry, as represented by the Romantic School, which is followed by lectures on the literary movements, expressed mainly in lyric poetry and in the novel, which supersede the Romantic Weltanschauung. The lyrics of the war of liberation, the Weltanschmerz, and the political revolution; the novel of Jungdeutschland; the drama of Heinrich von Kleist; the works of the Schlegels, Tieck, Hölderlin, Jean Paul, Novalis, Uhland, Lenau, Heine, Immermann, Freiligrath, Herwegh, Gutzkow, Mörike, and Gotthelf, are the principal topics discussed.

German Drama in the Nineteenth Century, continuation of the Romantic movement. Two hours a week during the second semester.

The drama of Heinrich von Kleist is studied with special reference to that of the classical period, and to the dramatic efforts of the Romanticists. The place of Grillparzer in German literature is defined, as well as the significance of Grabbe and Raimund. This leads to Otto Ludwig and to Friedrich Hebbel, who is the central figure, chronologically as well as in importance, of the German drama during the nineteenth century. The course ends with a review of Anzengruber, Wildenbruch, Sudermann, Hauptmann, and of other modern writers.

Dr. Jessen offers in 1919–20 and again in 1921–22 the following post-major courses, open to graduate students:

German Literature from 1850 to the present time. Two hours a week during the first semester.

The subject of this course is, in the first semester, the Epigonen-Literatur. The development of the modern German Novelle is discussed and Keller's, Storm's, and C. F. Meyer's works are specially studied. A full account of the poets of the Münchener Schule is given, in particular of Richard Wagner, Reuter, Groth, Freytag, Spielhagen, Scheffel, Raabe, Geibel, Heyse, and Schack.

German Literature from 1850 to the present time (continued). Two hours a week during the second semester.

In the second semester among the subjects discussed are the influence of French, Russian, and Scandinavian literatures, especially of the work of Zola and Ibsen on German literature; modern German realism and naturalism as represented by Fontane, Anzengruber, Wildenbruch, Hauptmann, Sudermann, Lilliencron, and Rosegger; the increased importance of women in literature, and the work of Marie von Ebner-Eschenbach, Louise von François, Ricarda Huch, Helene Böllau, Isolde Kurs, Clara Viebig and others; the significance of Nietzsche for German life and literature; neo-romanticism and Heimatsdichtung.

Dr. Jessen offers in each year the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Advanced Critical Reading. One hour a week throughout the year.

The reading is selected from works discussed in the post-major lectures on literature. The students give reports on dramas or novels, the object of the discussion being to trace the characteristics of the author, as shown in his works. Special attention will be paid to the needs of students who intend to teach German.
The following post-major courses open to graduate students are given when the time of the department permits:

Elementary Middle High German.
One hour a week throughout the year.

This course has been arranged primarily for undergraduate students who wish to be able to read the Middle High German classics in the original. Paul’s Mittelhochdeutsche Grammatik (8th edition, Halle, 1911) and Hartmann von Aue’s Der arme Heinrich are used.

Advanced German Composition.
One hour a week throughout the year.

Difficult English prose selections are translated into German. The intention of the course is to increase the understanding and feeling for written and spoken German. Attention is paid to the needs of students intending to teach German.

General Teutonic Philology,

Special attention is called to the facilities for the study of comparative Teutonic philology offered by Bryn Mawr College. The English and the German departments together have provided for a complete course in Teutonic philology, comprising both the study of the individual languages (Gothic, Norse, Anglo-Saxon, Old Saxon, Old High German, Middle High German, Middle Low German, etc.) and the study of general comparative philology.

The courses in introduction to the study of Teutonic philology, Gothic, and Middle High German grammar, are designed for students in their first year of graduate study in Teutonic languages, and the remaining courses for students in their second or third year.

Students intending to elect Teutonic philology are advised to study Greek for at least one year during their undergraduate course.

Graduate Courses.

The following graduate seminary is offered* in each year:

Teutonic Seminary.
Two hours a week throughout the year.

This seminary is arranged for the benefit of the most advanced students in Teutonic philology. Its object is to encourage independent work on the part of the students. The work consists mainly of the discussion of special topics by the instructor and the students. Members of the seminary are expected to study the literature on these subjects, and to make an effort to contribute some additional material, or an independent opinion of their own.

In 1918-19 Old High German texts such as Merseburger Zaubersprüche, Muspilli, and Hildebrandlied are studied in the first semester. The many problems that these texts offer and the various attempts to solve them are discussed. In the second semester modern High German texts is the subject of the seminar.

In 1919–20 the subjects of the seminar will be taken from Middle High German texts. Problems in text criticism as well as literary problems connected with the works of Middle High German poets either of the classical period or of the periods preceding or following it will be discussed.

In 1920–21 the seminar is devoted to High German texts from the fourteenth to the seventeenth century. The material is taken either from official documents of this period belonging to various parts of Germany or from the works of writers such as Murner, Hans Sachs, Luther, and others; or from grammatical works of this period in Müller's Quellenschriften und Geschichte des deutschsprachlichen Unterrichts, John Meier's Neudrucke älterer deutscher Grammatiken, etc. They are selected to illustrate the development of Modern High German. If it seems advisable Old Saxon texts (Heland and Genesis) are also studied.

The order of these seminar subjects may be changed in accordance with the requirements of the students in any particular year.

The following graduate courses are offered* in each year:

Introduction to the Study of Teutonic Philology.
One hour a week throughout the year.

After a discussion of the aim and method of historical and comparative grammar, these lectures deal with the relation of Teutonic to the cognate Aryan languages. A brief sketch of the single Aryan languages is given, followed by a more comprehensive discussion of the Teutonic languages and chiefly of the West Germanic branch.

Gothic.
Two hours a week throughout the year.

Gothic phonetics and inflection are studied in connection with the elements of comparative Aryan grammar; on the other hand the Gothic forms are compared with those of other Teutonic languages. Braune's Gotische Grammatik (5th ed., Halle, 1912); or Streitberg's Gotisches Elementarbuch (3rd ed., Heidelberg, 1910) are used as text-books.

As a thorough knowledge of Gothic is the foundation of the study of historical and comparative Teutonic grammar, every graduate student of Teutonic grammar is advised to take this course as early as possible. Die gotische Bibel (ed. by W. Streitberg, Heidelberg, 1908) is used by the more advanced students.

Middle High German Grammar and reading of Middle High German Texts.
Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course includes a brief abstract of Middle High German grammar and literature with special reference to the difference between Middle High German and Modern German, and a study of the most prominent authors in Middle High German. Selections from classical Middle High German poets are read, and also selections from the Nibelungenlied, a brief account being given of the history and development of the Nibelungenlied and its manuscripts.

Students of Middle High German should be provided with Paul's Mittelhochd. Grammatik (8th ed., Halle, 1911), or Michels's Mittelhochd. Elementarbuch (2nd ed., Heidelberg, 1912).

This course is required of all students that make Teutonic philology a minor subject in their examination for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy.

The private reading includes the works of the authors treated in the course.

Middle Low German.
One hour a week throughout the year.

A sufficient knowledge of Old Saxon is presupposed on the part of students taking this course. The Middle Low German grammar is studied and representative Middle Low German texts are read. This course may be substituted for the course in Middle High German in accordance with the requirements of the students in any particular year.

Old Norse.
Two hours a week throughout the year.

Students entering this course are supposed to be acquainted with Gothic and with Anglo-Saxon or Old High German grammar. In the grammatical part of the course the

* See footnote, page 69.
Norse sounds and forms are studied and compared with those of the Gothic and West-Germanic dialects.

In the first year's course prose texts will be read; in the second year the Edda will be studied and some of the problems connected with the study of the Edda will be discussed.

The books used are Heusler's Altislandisches Elementarbuch (Heidelberg, 1913) and some of the Islendinga sigrur (Altnordische Saga-Bibliothek) and Hildebrand-Gering's (3rd ed., Paderborn, 1913) or Neckel's (Heidelberg, 1914) Edda.

Attention is called to the facilities afforded for the study of Old Norse. A considerable portion of the library of the late philologist, Th. Wisén, of Lund, was acquired by Bryn Mawr College, and hence the library is probably as well supplied as any other college library in the United States with Old Norse texts, and works on Old Norse language and literature.

The following graduate courses are offered* in 1918–19 and again in 1920–21:

Old Saxon.

The work presupposes on the part the students a sufficient knowledge of Gothic and Old High German. Holzhausen's Altislandisches Elementarbuch (Heidelberg, 1909) or Gale's Altnordische Grammatik (2nd ed., Halle, 1910), Heiland (Behaghel's edition), and Zangemeister-Braune's Bruchstücke der altdeutschen Bibeldichtung (Heidelberg, 1894) are used.

History of Modern High German.

One hour a week throughout the year.

These lectures deal with the history of the development of the German written language during the Modern High German period. The most important Kanzleisprachen, the most prominent Druckersprachen, Luther, Modern German sounds and forms in their relation to the German dialects and to the rules of the Bühnenaussprache, will be discussed.

The following graduate courses are offered* in 1919–20 and 1921–22:

Old High German.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course includes a practical study of Old High German grammar, and a comparison of the Old High German sounds and forms with those of Gothic, Middle and Modern High German. The relations with other cognate languages of the Teutonic branch as well as other Aryan languages (chiefly Latin) are also discussed. Selections are read from Old High German texts, arranged so as to proceed from easy to more difficult pieces, and to illustrate the difference between the Old High German dialects.

Comparative Teutonic Grammar.

One hour a week throughout the year.

The study of comparative Teutonic philology is recommended to those students only who are acquainted with the single old Teutonic languages, and have studied Gothic, Old High German, Old Saxon, Anglo-Saxon, and Norse. The object of the course is to compare the various old Teutonic languages with each other and with the related Aryan languages,—or in other words (1) to reconstruct the primitive Teutonic language; (2) to point out the characteristic features of primitive Teutonic in distinction from primitive Aryan; (3) to carry down the history of early Teutonic from the period of unity into the early stages of the individual Teutonic languages.

In addition to the above courses, others in Old Frisian, or Modern Low German may be arranged for students that have previously studied Gothic, Old and Middle High German, Anglo-Saxon, and Old Saxon. A course in Sanskrit is offered which is specially recommended for students of Teutonic philology.

Semitic Languages and Biblical Literature.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. George A. Barton, Professor of Biblical Literature and Semitic Languages.

The college was particularly fortunate in securing in the year 1892 the library of the late M. Arthur Amiaud, of Paris. While M. Amiaud was especially eminent as an Assyriologist, he was also prominent as a general Semitic student. His library was the collection of an active scholar, and forms a working library for the student in every department of Semitic study. It is especially rich in the Hebrew, Syriac, and Assyrian languages, containing several works, indispensable to the student, which are now out of print. Another Semitic library containing many works on the Talmud and on Jewish literature was acquired in 1904. Mr. Albert J. Edmunds presented to the college in 1907 his library of 500 volumes on the history of religion. The contents of these libraries, together with the books already owned by the college and those easily accessible in neighbouring libraries, form an exceptionally good collection of material for the specialist in Semitic languages. A good working collection of cuneiform tablets is under the control of the department, and affords an excellent opportunity for students of Assyrian to become familiar with original documents.

Graduate Courses.

The graduate courses in Semitic languages are varied from year to year, as indicated below, so that they may be pursued by a student for four successive years. Those who offer Semitic languages as the major subject in the examination for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy are required to spend in Semitic work half their time for at least three years.

The work of the department is so arranged that students may specialize in Hebrew or Assyrian. Students who offer Hebrew or Assyriology as the major subject in the examination for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy must possess a knowledge of the grammatical forms of five Semitic languages and in this enumeration Syriac and Jewish Aramaic may not count as separate languages. For a list of approved associated and independent minors see the Regulations of the Academic Council.

The regular alternation of courses is indicated below and at least six hours a week will be given in each year, the courses being selected according to the needs of the graduate students. Graduate students may enter in any year of the four years' course, as there will be afforded each year an opportunity for graduate students to begin Hebrew.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.
Dr. Barton offers in 1918-19 and again in 1920-21 the following graduate courses:

Semitic Seminary.
Two hours a week throughout the year.

This seminary is devoted to Hebrew or Assyrian, the languages that may be offered as major subjects for the doctor’s degree. The time may be devoted to one of these languages, or may be divided between the two, according to the needs of the students. In Assyrian the subject may be chosen from one of the following: the oldest Babylonian inscriptions, temple archives of Tellah, Sumerian hymns, the code of Hammurabi, Semitic contracts or mythological poetry. In Hebrew one of the following subjects may be selected: the historical books, Job, the Psalter, Isaiah, Jeremiah, Ecclesiastes and the Song of Songs, or Hebrew Epigraphy. In the Hebrew seminary the students are trained in textual criticism through the use of the ancient versions.

Comparative Semitic Grammar.
One hour a week throughout the year.

The grammar of Brockelmann is used as a basis with comparisons from the Egyptian and other Hamitic languages. This course is given in the fourth year of the study of Semitic languages.

Ethiopic.
One hour a week throughout the year.

The grammar and Chrestomathia of Praetorius and Dillmann are used and in the latter part of the course selections are read from the book of Enoch.

Seminary in Aramaic and Arabic.
Two hours a week throughout the year.

This seminary is devoted to Arabic or Aramaic, the languages that may be offered as minor subjects for the doctor’s degree. The time may be devoted to one of the languages, or may be divided between the two, according to the needs of the students. In Arabic the subject may be chosen from one of the following: the Koran, pre-Islamic poetry, Arabic geographers, or South Arabic inscriptions. In Aramaic, one of the following subjects may be selected: a comparative study of the Syriac Versions of the Gospels, the Syriac Version of one of the Old Testament books, the writings of Gregory Bar Hebraeus, or of Efraem, the Targum on one of the Old Testament books, the Talmud, or Aramaic inscriptions.

Egyptian.
One hour a week throughout the year.

The elements of Egyptian and Coptic grammar are taught, and some texts in each language interpreted.

Seminary in Oriental Archaeology.
One hour a week throughout the year.

The work of this course may be devoted to the archaeology of Mesopotamia, Palestine, or Egypt according to the needs of the students. It consists of extensive courses of reading in the literature of the subject, together with a study of photographs and archaeological objects, of reports, criticisms, conferences, and occasional lectures. To meet the needs of students of ancient history, the seminary may in some years be devoted to the history of one of the countries mentioned. The work will then consist in a study of the sources of the history of the country chosen, and the proper method of using them.

Dr. Barton offers in 1919-20 and again in 1921-22 the following graduate courses:

Semitic Seminary.
Two hours a week throughout the year.

The work of the seminary is continued as given in 1918-19.

Seminary in New Testament Greek.
One hour a week throughout the year.

The work of the seminary is varied from year to year, so that a continuous course, covering the interpretation and the literary problems of the entire New Testament and the sub-Apostolic literature, may be pursued through four years. A year is devoted to the New Testament Epistles, another to the interpretation of the Gospels and the Synoptic and Johannine problems, a third to the books of Acts and Revelation, and a fourth to the Apostolic Fathers. During the first year of her work each student is given guidance in a course of reading on the history of the text and the science of textual criticism and also guidance in the practice of this discipline. A course in Greek equivalent to the major course in Greek in Bryn Mawr College is required of students taking this seminar.

Seminary in the History of Religion. One hour a week throughout the year.
The work of this seminary may be carried on in either of the following ways: By means of lectures, reports, and discussions the principal features of primitive religions are ascertained, and the principal civilized religions studied with special reference to origin, historical development, and religious point of view. The time may be devoted to investigating problems connected with one religion.

Elementary Semitic Languages. Two hours a week throughout the year.
This course may be devoted to the elements of Hebrew, or of Aramaic (Syriac and Jewish Aramaic), or Assyrian, or Arabic according to the needs of the students. The time may, if necessary, be divided between two of these languages.

Hebrew Literature. One hour a week throughout the year.
This course is devoted to a study of the Prophets, the Pentateuch, and the historical books of the Old Testament.

Dr. Barton offers each year one of the following free elective undergraduate courses in biblical literature; the course selected by the greater number of students will be given:

History of the Old Testament Canon. Two hours a week throughout the year.
In this course the history of the composition of the books of the Old Testament and their collection into a canon are studied. Special attention is given to the literary form and purpose of each book.

History of the New Testament Canon. Two hours a week throughout the year.
In this course the history of the composition and collection of the books of the New Testament is studied. The instruction is given in lectures, and reading is assigned in the New Testament and in modern literature concerning it.

New Testament Biography. Two hours a week throughout the year.
The first semester of this course is devoted to a careful study of the life and teaching of Christ; the second semester to the life and teaching of St. Paul. The Gospels and Epistles are read, together with the most helpful of the modern works on these topics. The course is illustrated by photographs of the most important places connected with the lives of Christ and St. Paul.

History of Christian Doctrine. Two hours a week throughout the year.
In the first semester the study is devoted to the Old Testament conceptions of God, Sin, and Redemption, and to Christianity as presented by its Founder and by the apostles, and in the second semester the history of Christian doctrine from 100 A.D. to the present time is briefly reviewed, and problems presented by modern thought are touched upon.

The Religions of the World. Two hours a week throughout the year.
The course begins with a study in primitive religions of certain fundamental conceptions. The great historical religions of the world are then studied in outline with special reference to the origin, development, and fundamental ideas of each.
Dr. Barton offers in each year the following free elective undergraduate courses in Oriental History, which taken together cover the great civilizations of Asia and North Africa:

History of the Near East.  Three hours a week throughout the year.

This course treats in broad outlines the history and civilization of the Classical Orient. The beginnings of the Hamito-Semitic race, and the influence of environment upon its primitive institutions are first studied. The separation of the races into the different nations is then traced, and the history of the principal Oriental nations, Egyptians, Babylonians, Assyrians, Phoenicians, Hebrews, Hittites, Sabaeans, and Persians; of Alexander and his successors; of the Parthians, and the oriental empire of the Romans, is followed in outline. Special attention is paid to the history of the Hebrews, and to their unique religious contribution to the civilization of the world. The course concludes with a study of the Arabic caliphates, and of Mohammedan civilization. The lectures are illustrated by archaeological specimens and by photographs. Either semester may be elected separately.

History of the Far East.  Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course treats in outline the history of China, India, and Japan from the earliest times to the present. It aims to acquaint the student with the origin, development, and principal features of the civilizations of these lands.

History.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Howard Levi Gray,* Professor of History, Dr. William Roy Smith,† Professor of History, Dr. Charles Wendell David, Associate Professor of European History, and Dr. Anna Lane Lingelbach, Lecturer in History.

Graduate Courses.

Three distinct seminaries, two in English and European history and one in American history, are offered to graduate students in history in addition to a course in Historical Method and Bibliography and the direction of private reading and original research. Students may offer either European History or American History as a major for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. A list of approved associated and independent minors will be found in the Regulations of the Academic Council.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Dr. Gray* conducts in each year the following graduate seminary:

Seminary in English and European History.  Three hours a week throughout the year.

In 1918–19 England in the sixteenth century is the subject of the seminary. The agrarian problem and the disorder connected with it, the increase of royal power at the expense of the old nobility, the rise of a new nobility, the renunciation by the English church of papal authority with the consequent administrative and dogmatic changes, the commercial and colonial ambitions of England, and the conflict with Spain receive attention.

*Granted leave of absence for the year 1918–19. The courses announced by Dr. Gray were offered by Dr. Lingelbach in 1918–19.

†Granted leave of absence for the year 1919–20. The courses announced by Professor William Roy Smith will be given by an instructor whose appointment will be announced later.

In 1919-20 the subject of the seminary will be a study of the reigns of Edward III and Richard II. The progress of the Hundred Years' War, the innovations in military science, the social changes wrought by the Black Death, the attitude of government and people toward the church, the causes of the Peasants' Revolt of 1381, the rise of a native merchant class, and the composition and power of Parliament will receive attention. Contemporary chronicles and state papers are the bases of study.

In 1920-21 the subject of the seminary will be England in the fifteenth century. The development of the art of war, the legislation of Lancastrian and Yorkist parliaments, the prosperity of towns and merchants, the influence of the Burgundian connection, and the effects of the Wars of the Roses are examined.

Dr. William Roy Smith* conducts in each year the following graduate seminary:

Seminary in American History. Two hours a week throughout the year.

In 1918-19 the Revolution, the Confederation, and the Constitution are the subjects of study. American history from 1776 to 1789 is discussed primarily from the local point of view as a step in the conflict between the seaboard aristocracy and the democracy of the frontier. The social and economic forces which led to the adoption of the Federal Constitution and the subsequent formation of national political parties are investigated.

In 1919-20 the seminary will deal with the Civil War and Reconstruction. Special stress will be laid upon the social, economic, and political reorganization of the South, the North and the West and also of the nation as a whole during the period from 1861 to 1877.

In 1920-21 the subject of the seminary will be slavery and the negro problem. After a preliminary survey of the history of slavery in the colonial period such topics as the slave compromises of the constitution, the growth of slavery in the South, the abolition of the slave trade, the Missouri Compromise, the anti-slavery movement, nullification, the Mexican War, the Wilmot Proviso, the compromise measures of 1850, the Kansas-Nebraska bill, the Dred Scott decision, the abolition of slavery, and the adoption of the thirteenth, fourteenth, and fifteenth amendments are discussed. Special attention is paid to the conflict between sectionalism and nationalism and the connection between slavery, territorial expansion, and the development of constitutional theories.

All students offering this seminary for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy are required to offer in addition the course in Historical Method and Bibliography.

Dr. David conducts in each year the following graduate seminary:

Seminary in Medieval and Modern European History. (Not given in 1919-20.)

Two hours a week throughout the year.

In 1918-19 the subject of the seminary is the French Revolution and Napoleon. Topics are selected for special study either from the revolutionary or from the Napoleonic period, with a view to illustrating various kinds of historical problems and gaining an adequate working knowledge of the principal printed sources and of the more important secondary writers.

In 1919-20 the subject of the seminary will be England during the transitional period of the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries. Special attention will be paid to the prospect of reform in England at the outbreak of the French Revolution, to the effect of the struggle with France and Napoleon upon England, and to the reform movement after the overthrow of Napoleon.

* See footnote, page 78.
In 1920–21 the subject of the seminary will be during the twelfth century. Special attention will be paid to the reigns of Henry I and Henry II, to institutional and cultural developments, and to English continental possessions and connections.

Dr. David offers in each year the following graduate course:

Historical Method and Bibliography. One hour a week throughout the year.

The matters dealt with in this course are the field of history and its relations to allied subjects; the evolution of the scientific historical method; the outlines of historical bibliography; the great collections of printed material; archives and MSS.; the work and rank of leading historians of the modern school. Throughout the course practical studies will be assigned to illustrate the subjects under discussion. A reading knowledge of French and German is required. This course must be elected by all students in history during their first year of graduate study.

Dr. Gray, Dr. William Roy Smith, Dr. David, and Dr. Lingelbach, conduct in each year the historical journal club.

Historical Journal Club. Two hours once a fortnight throughout the year.

The instructors in the department of history and the graduate students who are pursuing advanced courses in history meet once a fortnight to make reports upon assigned topics, review recent articles and books, and present the results of special investigations.

Post-Major Courses.

Dr. Gray offers in 1919–20 and again in 1921–22 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

England to 1485. Three hours a week throughout the year.

The transformation of Anglo-Saxon into Norman England, the constitutional and legal innovations of the Norman and Plantagenet kings, the intellectual and social condition of England at the height of the Middle Ages, and the effects of the Hundred Years’ War are subjects of study. The more important documents and secondary works are discussed and written reports are required.

Dr. Gray offers in 1920–21 and again in 1922–23 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

England under the Tudors. Three hours a week throughout the year.

Attention will be given to the character of Tudor absolutism, parliamentary and local government, dynastic ambitions, foreign trade, the prosperity of the towns, and the yeomen, the progress of the Reformation, and the complications in foreign affairs arising from religious changes. The reading and reports will be based largely upon contemporary documents.

Dr. William Roy Smith offers in 1918–19 and again in 1920–21 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

American Constitutional History from 1783 to 1865. Two hours a week throughout the year.

The lectures deal with the leading aspeccs of the political, constitutional, and economic history of the United States from the ratification of the constitution to the present time. The text-book used is MacDonald’s Select Documents of the History of the United States, but frequent additional references are given to the leading secondary authorities. To a limited extent use will be made of such documents as are available in the library, and special topics will be assigned for discussion and report.
Dr. William Roy Smith offers in 1919–20* and again in 1921–22 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

American Constitutional History to 1783.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

The text-books used in the course are MacDonald's Select Charters of American History and Select Documents of the History of the United States. The members of the class are also systematically referred, not only to the general authorities, but also to colonial charters and constitutions, the records of the colonial governments as far as they are available, the journals of Congress, and other documentary materials.

Dr. David offers in 1918–19 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

The French Revolution and Napoleon. Three hours a week throughout the year.

This course treats of the history of France and of Europe from 1789 to 1815, by means of lectures, assigned readings, and reports. The period is considered as an organic whole and the career of Napoleon is regarded as that of a child of the Revolution who in his later years abuses what has made him. The increasing mass of secondary material is appraised and some printed documentary material is used for reports and references.

Economics and Politics.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Marion Parris Smith,† Professor of Economics and Politics, Dr. Charles Ghequiere Fenwick, Professor of Political Science, and Miss Marjorie Lorne Franklin, Instructor in Economics and Politics.

Graduate Courses.

Three seminars, one in economics and two in political science, are offered each year in addition to the direction of private reading and original research. Post-major courses amounting to five hours a week which may be elected by graduate students are given in each year. Students may offer either economics or politics as their major subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. A list of approved associated and independent minors will be found in the Regulations of the Academic Council.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Dr. Marion Parris Smith offers in each year the following graduate seminar:

Economic Seminary. Two hours a week throughout the year.

The object of the seminar is to train students in methods of research and to give them practice in using the sources of economic history and theory.

In 1918–19 the Tariff, Currency and Banking in the United States are the subjects of the seminar.

* See footnote, page 78.

† Granted leave of absence for the year 1919–20. The courses announced by Professor Marion Parris Smith for the year 1919–20 will be given by an instructor whose appointment will be announced later.
In 1919-20* the subject of the seminary will be Taxation, Banking and Railroad Finance since 1900.

In 1920-21 the Theories and Problems of Distribution and the agencies in modern social life that affect the distribution of wealth are studied. Special attention is paid to wage problems, profit sharing, various plans for controlling large scale production, land reforms, and income and excess profits taxation.

In 1921-22 Economic Theory and Economic History in the United States from 1790 to 1850 will be studied.

Dr. Fenwick offers in each year the following graduate seminary:

Political Seminary. Three hours a week throughout the year.

The methods of instruction in the seminary are designed to guide advanced students in special research work along the lines indicated by the titles of the courses. Some lectures are given but the main attention is devoted to the presentation and criticism of the results of studies made by the students themselves.

In 1918-19 Constitutional Questions involved in Modern Economic and Social Problems are the subject of the seminary. The chief economic and social problems of the United States are studied from the point of view of the restrictions placed by the Constitution upon the legislative powers of Congress and of the several states dealing with those subjects. As an introduction the various theories relating to the proper functions of the state are discussed.

In 1919-20 Comparative Constitutional Government will be the subject of the seminary. The object will be to compare and contrast the several forms of constitutional government represented by the United States, Great Britain, France and Germany, together with a study of the new constitutional governments of Russia, Czecho-Slovakia, and China, if proper material be available. Among the questions raised will be the location of sovereign power, the authority of the constitution, the restrictions placed by the constitution upon the governing bodies, and the protection afforded by the constitution to the rights of individuals and minorities.

In 1920-21 the Constitutional Law of the United States will be the subject of the seminary. The decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States will form the basis of the work. Special stress will be laid upon the relations between the federal and state governments, interstate commerce, and due process of law under the Fourteenth Amendment. Students will be required to present brief reports upon assigned cases in the first semester and to prepare a longer report upon a group of cases in the second semester.

Miss Franklin conducts in each year the following seminary:

Seminary in Municipal Government. Three hours a week throughout the year.

This seminary deals with the structure and functions of modern municipal government. The legal relation of the city to the state, city charters, various types of city government, including the commission and city-manager forms, are considered in the early part of the course. A study of modern municipal administration follows, including municipal finance and budgetary problems, city planning, housing, public health and sanitation, franchises and public utilities. The discussion of modern agencies for research in city government is supplemented by practical field work at the Philadelphia Bureau of Municipal Research.

Dr. Marion Parris Smith, Dr. Fenwick, and Miss Franklin conduct in each year the economics and politics journal club.

Economics and Politics Journal Club. Two hours once a fortnight throughout the year.

At the meetings recent books and articles are reviewed and the results of special investigations presented for discussion, comment, and criticism.

* See footnote, page 81.

Dr. Marion Parris Smith offers in 1918-19 and again in 1920-21 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

American Economic and Social Problems. Two hours a week throughout the year.

The object of this course is to trace certain social movements in the United States from 1865 to the present time. Special studies are made of the changes in rural and urban population; the development of city life; the problems of country life; immigration, the race problem; problems of food distribution and marketing, cost of living, etc. Special topics are assigned to students for reports and attention is given to the use of original source material.

Dr. Marion Parris Smith offers in 1919-20* and again in 1921-22 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Economic and Social Legislation in England and America since 1890. Three hours a week throughout the year.

The first semester is devoted to a review of recent English legislation dealing with trade unions, workmen's compensation, minimum wages, the sweated trades, old age pensions, the unemployed, child-welfare, and the land system. In the second semester American legislation on these subjects is reviewed, as well as recent Anti-Trust legislation. Special topics are assigned to students for reports, and attention is given to the use of original source material.

Dr. Fenwick offers in 1918-19 and again in 1919-20 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

International Law. Two hours a week throughout the year.

The object of this course is to present the rules of international law as a positive system with an historical background of custom and convention. Use is made of judicial decisions of British and American courts applying the principles of international law wherever such cases are in point, and an endeavour is made to determine the precise extent to which a given rule is legally or morally binding upon nations.

Dr. Fenwick offers in 1920-21 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Constitutional Law of the United States. Two hours a week throughout the year.

In this course the leading principles of the American constitutional system will be examined. The course will deal principally with the federal constitution and the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States. Some attention will be given, however, to state constitutions and the decisions of state courts. Stress will be laid upon decisions relating to social and economic questions.

Dr. Fenwick offers in each year the following free elective course, open to graduate students:

Elements of Private Law. One hour a week throughout the year.

The object of the course is to familiarize the student with the principles and technical terms of those branches of private law with which the ordinary citizen is brought into con-

Social Economy and Social Research.

The Carola Woerishoffer Graduate Department of Social Economy and Social Research.

This department was opened in the autumn of 1915 and is known as the Carola Woerishoffer Graduate Department of Social Economy and Social Research in order that the name of Carola Woerishoffer may be associated in a fitting and lasting way with Bryn Mawr College which she so generously endowed. The department affords women an opportunity of obtaining advanced scientific training in philanthropy and social service to which Carola Woerishoffer devoted her life.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Susan Myra Kingsbury, Carola Woerishoffer Professor of Social Economy and Director of the Carola Woerishoffer Department of Social Economy and Social Research, Miss Angie Lillian Kellogg, Instructor (and Associate elect) in Social Economy and Social Research; Miss Anna Bezanson, Instructor in Social Economy and Social Research; and Miss Gladys Louise Palmer, Secretary to the Department of Social Economy and Social Research, with the co-operation of the following members of the closely allied departments of Economics and Politics, Psychology, Education, and Philosophy: Dr. Marion Parris Smith, Professor of Economics; Dr. Charles Ghequiere Fenwick, Professor of Political Science; Miss Marjorie Lorne Franklin, Instructor in Economics and Politics; Dr. Theodore de Leo de Laguna, Professor of Philosophy; Dr. James H. Leuba, Professor of Psychology; Dr. Clarence Errol Ferree, Professor of Experimental Psychology; Dr. Gertrude Rand, Associate in Experimental and Applied Psychology; Dr. Matilde Castro, Professor of Education; Dr. David Hilt Tennent, Professor of Biology, and Dr. Ellen C. Potter, Lecturer in Social Hygiene. The seminaries and courses given by these instructors and enumerated below are specially adapted for students of Social Economy and Social Research.
The courses in Social Economy and Social Research are intended for graduate students who may present a diploma from some college of acknowledged standing. No undergraduate students are admitted although graduate students in the department may elect, subject to the approval of the Director, undergraduate courses in other subjects.

Students of this department should offer for admission to their graduate work a preliminary course in economics, and more advanced courses equivalent to the Bryn Mawr College major course in economics, politics, psychology, philosophy, or history, and also preliminary work in psychology or biology, or should follow such courses while taking the work of the department.

The courses are planned for one, two, and three years, on the principle that about two-thirds of the student's time shall be given to the study of theory and the remaining one-third to practical work and investigation in her chosen field. Students entering the department are expected to pursue the work throughout one year at least. After one year of work in this department one-half year may be given to a practicum in residence in a social service institution, in connection with a social welfare or community organization, in a federal or state department of Labour and Industry, in a federal or state employment office, or in a manufacturing or mercantile establishment in Philadelphia, New York, New England, or elsewhere, during which time the practical work and special reading and research will be supervised by the instructor in charge of the practicum and the head of the institution, department or business firm.

The fields from which a subject for the practicum may be chosen are as wide as are the organized activities for social welfare. Advantage has been taken by the department of the very generous interest and co-operation of the Philadelphia social agencies, federal and state departments and manufacturers and merchants to secure for its students definite affiliations with practical work in the fields chosen by them. This has led in the years 1915–18 to an arrangement for co-operative work with the College Settlement, the Municipal Court, the Society for Organizing Charity, the Women’s Trade Union League, the Social Service Departments of the University of Pennsylvania Hospital, the Bryn Mawr Community Center, the Massachusetts Minimum Wage Commission, the Federal Children's Bureau, the Children's Aid Society, the Consumers' League, the Seybert Institution, the White-Williams Foundation, the U. S. Employment Service, and the State Department of Labour and Industry.

The following business firms have afforded opportunity for practical work in industrial supervision and employment management in or near Philadelphia:

Graduates of colleges other than Bryn Mawr College that have completed the required preliminary work in Economics, Political Science and Psychology and are able to study for one year only will receive certificates stating the courses they have satisfactorily completed. As the degree of Master of Arts is conferred only on graduates of Bryn Mawr College it is hoped that this certificate will in many cases be accepted for the master's degree in the colleges and universities from which students have received their bachelor's degree. Graduates of Bryn Mawr College may receive the degree of Master of Arts in Social Economy and Social Research under the conditions prescribed for this degree.

Graduate students that have completed the required preliminary work who are able to study for two years will receive certificates stating the courses they have satisfactorily completed.

The degree of Doctor of Philosophy in Social Economy and Social Research is open to graduates of all colleges of high standing under the conditions prescribed for this degree in Bryn Mawr College.

Candidates for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in Social Economy and Social Research may select the associated or independent minor from the following seminaries and graduate courses and from other graduate seminaries or courses, subject to the approval of the Graduate Committee. Candidates for this degree in other departments may elect, with the approval of the Director, the following seminaries for the associated or the independent minor according to the regulations of the Academic Council of Bryn Mawr College.

Six seminaries, three including practicums, and five graduate courses, are given each year in the Carola Woerishoffer Department in addition to seminaries and courses in economics, politics, education, philosophy, and psychology. Direction of investigation and research in special fields, and supervision of the practicum in social and industrial welfare accompanies the seminaries and courses. The seminaries and courses announced by the department are given in rotation so that different courses may be taken in consecutive years. The selection of courses depends upon the field of social work which the student may choose. A seminary in Social Economy or a seminary in Social Theory, and, unless previously taken, undergraduate courses in Elements of Statistics and Methods of Social Research are required of all students of the department.

Graduate Courses.

The following graduate seminaries and courses may be elected subject to the approval of the Director of the Department by students working for the first and second year certificates as well as by candidates for the degree of Master of Arts or of Doctor of Philosophy in Social Economy and Social Research, or may be offered as the associated or independent minor with the approval of the Director of the Department when the major is taken in certain other departments according to the regulations of the Academic Council.

Dr. Kingsbury offers in each year the following graduate seminary:

Seminary in Social Research.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

In 1918–19 the subject of the seminary is married women in industry, with special reference to mothers in industry.

In 1919–20 the subject of the seminary will be Community and Industrial Surveys.

In 1920–21 the seminary will be selected from the following aspects of Social and Industrial Problems: (1) social relations, (2) vocational opportunities and demands, (3) standards of living, including income and wages, (4) the relation of health and industry, (5) industrial relations of women and minors. Research including field work with conferences will be required of research fellows and will be offered to every student. A group of students may co-operate to produce a study which, it is hoped, will prove a contribution to our knowledge of the social or industrial conditions investigated.

As the chief subjects of investigation will vary from year to year, as noted above, it will be possible for students to follow the work of the seminary for three consecutive years.
Miss Kellogg offers in 1918-19 and again in 1920-21 the following graduate seminary:

Seminary in Races and Peoples.
Two hours a week throughout the year.

A study is made of the definitions of race, of theories regarding the origin and evolution of races, and of sociological characterizations of peoples.

Miss Kellogg offers in 1919-1920 and again in 1921-22 the following graduate seminary:

Seminary in the Family as a Social Institution.
Two hours a week throughout the year.

A study is made of theories regarding the origin and evolution of the family as a social institution; such as the patriarchal theory, the theory of the horde and mother-right, and the theory of the monogamous or pairing family. In connection with these theories are considered the questions of original communism, polygamy, polyandry, monogamy, exogamy, endogamy, wife-capture, wife-purchase, marriage contracts, and divorce, and finally modern theories as to the future of the family.

Miss Bezanson offers in 1918-19 and again in 1920-21 the following graduate seminary:

Seminary in Labour Organization.
Two hours a week throughout the year.

Assuming on the part of students a knowledge of the general concepts of labour economy this seminary discusses questions dealing with trade unionism, employers' associations, wage systems, scientific management, and unemployment. The modern problem of industrial democracy is traced through the various stages of collective bargaining, shop agreements, co-operative management and the recent developments of the British National Industrial Councils.

Miss Bezanson offers in 1919-20 and again in 1921-22 the following graduate seminary:

Seminary in Industrial Organization.
Two hours a week throughout the year.

This seminary undertakes a study of business organization as an element in industrial society. It especially emphasizes the aspects of the industrial combination in its effects upon efficiency and wages.

The purpose is also to present the standard practice in industrial organizations and management. It gives a conception of the entire plant structure in order to suggest possibilities of co-operation between departments, and to insure an understanding of their difficulties. It will concern itself with the location and equipment of a plant and its administration, including functions of the officials and departments and their inter-relations in all stages from purchasing and employing to marketing.

Dr. Kingsbury offers in each year the following graduate seminary:

Seminary in Social Economy.
Two hours a week throughout the year.

This seminary includes the Practicum in Community Organization and Administration. It combines practical work in social and community education with reports and discussions. It must be accompanied by the course in Community Organization and must be preceded or accompanied by the seminary in Essentials of Educational Theory and Practice for Social Workers or its equivalent. In addition to reports and conferences, seven or twelve hours a week, according to election, are devoted to active work in a social center or settlement by which the student gains vital illustration of the principles of organization of com-
Community activities, extra curricula classes and vocational education, citizenship movements, forums, social clubs, playgrounds and other educational movements for adults and children. Experience is then attained in the technique and method of conduct of such activities, and opportunity given for a knowledge of record keeping, of special brief community surveys and of the relation of citizen groups to government officials and institutions. Two or three months of non-resident practice in social centers and settlements, playgrounds or fresh-air camps may be arranged for the summer following the resident work at Bryn Mawr.

The fields from which the subject for the practicum may be chosen are community and social centers, settlements, playgrounds, health and recreation centers, and have included the Bryn Mawr Community Center, The Philadelphia College Settlement and work in smaller neighboring communities.

Miss Kellogg offers in each year the following graduate seminary:

Seminary in Social Economy.  Two hours a week throughout the year.

This seminary includes the Practicum in Social Relief and Social Guardianship. It must be accompanied by the course in Social Treatment of Dependants, Delinquents, and Defectives and the course in Legal Procedure in Cases Involving Women and Children. Field work is carried on with such agencies as the following: The Philadelphia Society for Organizing Charities; The Home Service Department of the Red Cross; The Children's Bureau, an agency which investigates all complaints concerning children; The Children's Aid Society, a Child-Placing Agency; The Girl's Aid; The Vocational Guidance Bureau; Hospital Social Service Departments and the various departments of the Municipal Court, such as the Probation, Statistical, Employment Agency and Psychological Departments.

The field work with these agencies is under the supervision of Miss Kellogg and of the director of the particular agency or department. In addition to the regular practice work, students are taken on observation trips to courts, almshouses, orphanages, asylums, institutions for the feebleminded, the blind, the crippled, hospitals, etc.

Miss Bezanson offers in each year the following graduate seminary:

Seminary in Social Economy.  Two hours a week throughout the year.

This seminary includes a practicum in Industrial Supervision and Employment Management, and consists of one day per week of industrial experience in or near Philadelphia and four months of non-resident industrial experience. During the period of residence at Bryn Mawr, the field work is devoted to assisting in an employment office, while group observation trips are regularly arranged. In the non-resident period the student, in addition to experience in the employment office, in being transferred from process to process, is enabled by plant supervision to see not only the conditions of work but the adjustment of employment problems to the other factors of industry. Experience may also be afforded in the federal employment service and in factory inspection. In connection with this seminary each student must take the course in Industrial Supervision and Employment Management, and must precede or accompany it by the Seminary in Labour Organization or Industrial Organization or the equivalent.

In 1918-19 this seminary met two hours a week during the first semester, and was repeated during the second semester.

Miss Kellogg offers in each year the following graduate courses:

Social Treatment of Dependants.  Three hours a week during the first semester.

This course involves a study of the principles, methods, and agencies employed for the prevention, relief and cure of dependency, defectiveness, and delinquency, such as family... case-work, outdoor relief, and institutional care. This course must be accompanied by the seminary in Social Economy including the practicum in Social Relief or Community Organization and Administration.

Social Treatment of Delinquents and Defectives.

Three hours a week during the second semester.

This course involves a study of the principles, methods, agencies, and institutions employed for the prevention, care and cure of defectives and delinquents, such as juvenile courts, probation and parole systems, the indeterminate sentence and psychological laboratories in connection with the courts. This course must be accompanied by the seminary in Social Economy including the practicum in Social Guardianship.

Community Organisation

Two hours a week throughout the year.

In this course the conceptions of community "associations," "societies" and other group formations are analyzed and the purposes and processes of administration of community associations are studied such as Community Centers, Settlements, Community Art, Drama, Music, and Recreation Clubs, Federation of Churches, Charities, etc., Red Cross, Home Service, Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A., Public Health Associations, District Nursing Associations, etc.

Legal Procedure in cases involving women and children.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

The administrative side of the law affecting women and children is presented in this course. It includes a study of the law as applied in juvenile courts, domestic relations courts, and other municipal courts.

The following courses are open to graduate students by special arrangement:

Criminal Law.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

By special arrangement with the Law School of the University of Pennsylvania students in this department may pursue the course in Criminal Law offered by Dean Mikell at the Law School, Thirty-fourth and Spruce Streets, Philadelphia.

This course may accompany the course in Social Treatment of Delinquents and Defectives (Criminology) and the course in Legal Procedure in cases involving women and children.

Criminal Procedure.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

By special arrangement with the Law School of the University of Pennsylvania students in this department may pursue the course in Criminal Procedure offered by Dean Mikell at the Law School, Thirty-fourth and Spruce Streets, Philadelphia.

This course must be preceded by the course in Criminal Law.

Miss Bezanson offers in each year the following graduate courses:

Industrial Supervision and Employment Management.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

The course presents the problems and methods of personnel administration. It includes, besides the consideration of the organization and functions of personnel departments, such practical problems as the selection of the worker, his physical and mental capabilities, his placement, rating and promotion. Intensive study is devoted to the instability of employees through the proper analysis of labour turnover. Other subjects considered in the course are questions arising in the equipment, technique and conduct of the Federal Employment Office or labour exchange, the principles and procedure of factory inspection and the approved methods of supervision of workers in industrial processes. The course must be preceded or accompanied by the seminary in Labour Organization or Industrial Organization or the equivalent, and by the seminary in Social Economy including the Practicum in Industrial Supervision and Employment Management.

Advanced Statistics. Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course attempts to study intensively the subjects of correlation and causation, or the functional relationships between series of facts. The main considerations of the course are the method of least squares, the theory of linear correlation, skew distribution, partial correlation, and the theory of contingency.

The course must be preceded by the course in Elements of Statistics or its equivalent, and a foundation in mathematics including the Calculus is desirable to facilitate ease in comprehension.

If accompanied by the Special Research in Statistics the course becomes equivalent to a seminary.

Special Research in Statistics. Seven hours a week throughout the year.

This course including laboratory analysis and reports is offered in each year in connection with the course in Advanced Statistics and the two courses taken together are equivalent to a seminary.

Dr. Kingsbury, Miss Kellogg and Miss Bezanson conduct in each year the Social Economy Journal Club.

Social Economy Journal Club. Two hours once a fortnight throughout the year.

Current books and articles are reviewed, recent reports, surveys and investigations are criticized, and the results of important research are presented for discussion.

Dr. Potter offers in 1918–19 and in each succeeding year the following graduate course, open to students working in the department:

Social Hygiene. One hour a week during the first semester.

Dr. Castro offers in 1919–20 and in each succeeding year the following graduate seminary:

Seminary in Social Education. Two hours a week during the first semester.

The Essentials of Educational Theory and Practice for Social Workers are studied in this seminary. The subjects dealt with serve as an introduction to the educational principles involved in the intelligent direction of such activities as community centres, settlement classes, clubs, etc. Among the subjects studied will be the characteristic mental and physical development of childhood, adolescence, youth, and maturity. This study will be used as a basis for the selection of the educational materials and methods appropriate to the needs and capacities of different groups of varying ages and differing educational opportunities.

Dr. Marion Parris Smith offers in each year the following graduate seminary:

Economic Seminary. Two hours a week throughout the year.

In 1918–19 the tariff, currency and banking in the United States are the subjects of the seminary.
In 1919–20\textsuperscript{th} the subject of the seminary will be Taxation, Banking and Railroad Finance since 1900.

In 1920–21 the Theories and Problems of Distribution and the agencies in modern social life that affect the distribution of wealth will be studied. Special attention will be paid to wage problems, profit sharing, various plans for controlling large scale production, land reforms, and income and excess profits taxation.

In 1921–22 Economic Theory and Economic History in the United States from 1790 to 1890 will be studied.

Dr. Fenwick offers in each year the following graduate seminary:

Political Seminary. \textit{Three hours a week throughout the year.}

In 1918–19 Constitutional questions involved in modern economic and social problems are the subject of the seminary. The chief economic and social problems of the United States are studied from the point of view of the restrictions placed by the Constitution on the legislative powers of Congress and of the several states in dealing with those subjects. As an introduction the various theories relating to the proper functions of the State are discussed.

In 1919–20 Comparative Constitutional Government will be the subject of the seminary. The object will be to compare and contrast the several forms of constitutional government represented by the United States, Great Britain, France and Germany, together with a study of the new constitutional governments of Russia, Czecho-Slovakia, and China, if proper material be available. Among the questions raised will be the location of sovereign power, the authority of the constitution, the restrictions placed by the constitution upon the governing bodies, and the protection afforded by the constitution to the rights of individuals and minorities.

In 1920–21 Constitutional Law of the United States will be the subject of the seminary. The decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States will form the basis of the work. Special stress will be laid upon the relations between the federal and state governments, interstate commerce, and due process of law under the Fourteenth Amendment. Students are required to present brief reports upon assigned cases in the first semester and to prepare a longer report upon a group of cases in the second semester.

Miss Franklin conducts in each year the following seminary:

Seminary in Municipal Government. \textit{Three hours a week throughout the year.}

This seminary deals with the structure and functions of modern municipal government. The legal relation of the city to the state, city charters, various types of city government, including the commission and city manager forms, are considered in the early part of the course. A study of modern municipal administration follows including municipal finance and budgetary problems, city planning, housing, public health and sanitation, franchises and public utilities. The discussion of modern agencies for research in city government is supplemented by practical field work at the Philadelphia Bureau of Municipal Research.

Dr. Leuba offers in each year the following graduate seminary:

Psychological Seminary. \textit{Two hours a week throughout the year.}

As the foundation of the work of the seminary one or two of the following subjects will be chosen each year: instinct, feeling, and emotion; the psychology of religion and of ethics; social psychology; abnormal psychology (mental disorders, the Freudian psychology, arrested mental development, and its social and educational implications, etc.); animal behaviour.

* See footnote, page 81.
Dr. Leuba offers in each year the following graduate seminary:

Seminary in Social Psychology.
Two hours a week during the first semester.

In 1918-19 and again in 1920-21 the principles of social psychology and their applications to social problems are the subject of the seminary.

In 1919-20 and again in 1921-22 abnormal psychology, chiefly mental deficiency, and its social implications, or Temperament and Character, their instinctive and emotional foundation, will be the subject of the seminary.

This seminary is open to students who have pursued an elementary course in psychology. It may be elected separately or may be combined with the seminary in Social and Political Philosophy given in the second semester to count as a seminary in the Department of Social Economy and Social Research.

Dr. Theodore de Laguna offers in each year the following graduate seminary:

Seminary in Social and Political Philosophy.
Two hours a week during the second semester.

The topics chosen for discussion will vary from year to year. Among them will be such subjects as: the general nature of law; sovereignty and allegiance; the conception of personal liberty; property; punishment; marriage and the family; moral education. This seminary is open to students who have pursued an elementary course in philosophy. It may be elected separately or may be combined with the seminary in Social Psychology given in the first semester to count as a seminary in the Department of Social Economy and Social Research.

Dr. Castro offers in each year the following graduate seminary:

Seminary in Principles and Methods of Education.
Three hours a week throughout the year.

In the seminary the principles and methods of education which bear most directly on the selection and teaching of the school curriculum are considered. For members of the seminary who prove to be qualified, opportunities will be afforded for practice in teaching individual children or small groups of Model School pupils who may require special instruction. Observation of classes in the Model School and elsewhere will be part of the required work.

Dr. Rand offers in each year the following graduate seminary:

Seminary in Applied Psychology.
Laboratory Work.
Two hours a week throughout the year.
Four hours a week throughout the year.

This course combines seminary, laboratory drill and research features, and covers the psychological aspects of mental testing with special application to problems of vocational guidance and to the testing of normal adults, adult and juvenile delinquents and defectives.

In the seminary work, the requirements of mental tests, their standardization and statistical treatment are considered. The laboratory drill work consists of training in the application of general intelligence and diagnostic tests to normal children and adults. This furnishes a standard of the normal reaction to the tests as well as practice in giving the tests. Later the work will be with delinquents and defectives. The research work will be done in connection with Vocational Guidance Bureaus. Two problems will be considered here: (a) the devising and standardizing of specific tests for diagnosing ability for different vocations; and (b) the determination of the average level of intelligence needed to meet the demands of different vocations. The course is open only to graduate students who have had training in experimental psychology.
Special Laboratory Problems in Applied Psychology.

This course is offered in connection with the course in Applied Psychology to students who wish to pursue more advanced work.

The following advanced undergraduate courses are offered to students in the department:

Dr. Kingsbury offers in each year the following post-major courses, open to graduate students:

Social Betterment.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course presents the principles and methods used in the Charity Organization Society and the principles of case work are carefully considered and various case records both from the Charity Organizations Society and from Home Service experiences are studied in the class. Opportunity to attend case conferences are offered to the students, and observation excursions made to various social institutions and agencies of Philadelphia and the surrounding country. The course includes a survey of the origin, growth, and present methods of the most important social service and social welfare organizations in order to acquaint the student with the fields of activity in which social work is being carried on: (1) social education, through settlements, civic centres or other neighbourhood organizations; (2) improvements of industrial conditions, through associations for labour legislation, labour organizations, or consumers' efforts; (3) vocational guidance, through vocational advising, through placement, or through adjustment of employment; (4) child welfare, through societies for care and protection of children; (5) family care, through organizations for the reduction and prevention of poverty; (6) social guardianship, through the probation work in the juvenile courts or corrective institutions.

This course is open to students who have attended or are attending courses equivalent to the course in Minor Economics or in General Psychology.

Record Keeping and Social Investigation.

Two hours a week during the second semester.

The object of the course is to acquaint the student with the principles and methods of record keeping and filing which are applicable to municipal, state, and federal offices, to business organizations, and to social organizations and investigation, and with the methods of securing, analyzing, interpreting and presenting social data. The best systems in use will be analyzed and studied. Preparation of the various types of schedules, tabulation of information secured, and the formulation of tables are among the subjects considered.

The course concludes with a critical study of the methods used in social economic investigations, of sources of social statistical information, and of reports by federal and state departments and by private organizations. This course must be accompanied by the course in Elements of Statistics.

Miss Bezanson offers in each year the following free elective course, open to graduate students:

Elements of Statistics.

One hour a week throughout the year.

This course deals with the elementary principles of statistics and their application. Among the topics are the array, frequency distributions, averages, measures of variation, probability and theory of errors, theory of sampling, index numbers, logarithmic curves, graphic methods, comparisons, and the elements of linear correlation.

The course is recommended to students of social economy and of economics. No knowledge of mathematics beyond the requirements for matriculation is presupposed.
Dr. Marion Parris Smith offers in 1918–19 and again in 1920–21 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

American Economic and Social Problems.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

The object of this course is to trace certain social movements in the United States from 1865 to the present time. Special studies are made of the changes in rural and urban population; immigration, the race problem; the development of city life; the problems of country life; problems of food distribution and marketing, cost of living, etc. Special topics are assigned to students for reports and attention is given to the use of original source material.

Dr. Marion Parris Smith offers in 1919–20* and again in 1921–22 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Economic and Social Legislation in England and America since 1890.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

The first semester is devoted to a review of recent English legislation dealing with trade unions, workmen's compensation, minimum wage, the sweated trades, old age pensions, unemployed, child-welfare, and the land system. In the second semester American legislation on these subjects is reviewed, as well as recent Anti-Trust legislation. Special topics are assigned to students for reports, and attention is given to the use of original source material.

Dr. Marion Parris Smith* offers in each year the following major course, open to graduate students:

History of Economic Thought and Recent Economic Problems.

Five hours a week during the second semester.

The course is divided into two parts: Part I aims to give students an historical introduction as a basis for a critical study of modern economic problems. The students read in connection with this section parts of Adam Smith's Wealth of Nation; Ricardo's Principles of Political Economy and Taxation; Malthus's Principles of Population; and selections from the writings of John Stuart Mill, Jevons, Wicksteed, Boehm-Bawerk, and Pantaleoni.

In part II certain modern economic problems are considered in some detail: distribution under socialism, co-operation, profit sharing, the minimum wage, the eight-hour day, tax reforms, price fixing, etc. Numerous short papers in connection with the reading, and one long report on some specially assigned subject are required.

Dr. Fenwick offers in each year the following major course, open to graduate students:

Present Political Problems.

Five hours a week during the first semester.

The object of this course is to present the chief political problems that have arisen in recent years. The study of practical problems is preceded by a study of theories relating to the origin and nature of the state, its end or object, and the proper sphere of state activities, under which last heading the various theories of individualism, liberalism, and socialism will be studied. Modern reforms in federal, state, and city government are next studied, and particular stress is laid upon the extension of federal power in the United States and the relation between the Fourteenth Amendment and modern social and economic legislation adopted in the exercise of the police powers of the several states.

* See footnote, page 81.
Dr. Fenwick offers in each year the following free elective course, open to graduate students:

Elements of Private Law. One hour a week throughout the year.

The object of the course is to familiarize the student with the principles and technical terms of those branches of private law with which the ordinary citizen is brought into contact. The subjects covered include Persons and Domestic Relations, Contracts, Torts, Real and Personal Property, and the chief forms of Procedure. The lectures are supplemented by a study and discussion of judicial decisions bearing on the subject.

Dr. Rand offers in each year the following major course, open to graduate students:

Applied Psychology. Five hours a week during the second semester.

The specific applications of psychology form the subject matter of this course. An important feature is the application to the work of the clinic. Demonstrations are made of mental equipment and individual practice is given in mental testing. The applications of psychology to law, medicine, vocational guidance, advertising, etc., are briefly considered. Four hours a week of laboratory work is required from students taking the course. A knowledge of psychology equivalent to that obtained in the minor experimental course is presupposed.

Dr. Ferree and Dr. Rand offer in each year the following minor course:

Experimental Psychology. Five hours a week during the first semester.

The lectures constitute an abbreviated course in systematic psychology in which the historical, critical, and theoretical features of the subject covered are discussed and the experimental features demonstrated. Special stress is laid on the comparative study of method. The laboratory work consists of individual practice in selected topics.

Dr. Grace de Laguna offers in 1918–19 and Dr. Sabin offers in 1919–20 the following minor course, open to graduate students:

Elementary Logic and Ethics. Five hours a week during the second semester.

The equivalent of two hours a week for a semester is devoted to logic and the remainder to ethics. The instruction in logic covers the topics of definition, classification, the interpretation of propositions, the syllogism, the inductive methods, analogy and the use of hypotheses. In the lectures on ethics special attention will be given to the relations between moral standards and the persistent and developing requirements of social organization.

Dr. Leuba offers in each year the following major course, open to graduate students:

Social Psychology: The Psychology of Group Life and the Origin and the Nature of Magic, Religion, Ethics, Science and Art. Five hours a week during the first semester.

Psychology has so far been concerned almost exclusively with individuals, human or animal, normal or abnormal. But a community, a crowd, a clique, an industrial trust, do not behave as the individuals composing them would behave if they acted independently.
For this reason the study of the laws of social interrelation and of social action has become a separate branch of psychology. The social institutions magic, religion, ethics, science, art, industry, and commerce are the most important forms which social life has assumed in the course of human development.

Dr. Tennent offers in each year the following free elective course, open to graduate students:

Theoretical Biology. \textit{One hour a week throughout the year.}

This is an historical course dealing with the development of the theories of biology. The course is open to students who have had one year's training in science. A considerable amount of assigned reading is required.

Philosophy.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Theodore de Leo de Laguna, Professor of Philosophy, Dr. Grace Mead Andrus de Laguna, Associate Professor of Philosophy, and Dr. Ethel Ernestine Sabin, Associate in Philosophy.

Graduate Courses.

A seminary in logic and metaphysics is offered each year and a seminary in ethics and one in the history of philosophy are offered in alternate years. The subjects of study are changed from year to year through a cycle of four years. A seminary in social and political philosophy is offered in the second semester of each year. Ten hours a week of advanced undergraduate courses are also open to graduate students. Students electing philosophy as their major subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy may emphasize either metaphysics or ethics. For the list of approved associated and independent minors see the Regulations of the Academic Council.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Dr. Theodore de Laguna conducts in alternate years the following graduate seminary:

Ethical Seminary. \textit{Two hours a week throughout the year.}

In 1919–20 the subject will be Recent French Ethics: Durkheim, Levy-Bruhl, Fouillée, Belot, and Paulhan.

In 1921–22 English Evolutionary Ethics, as exemplified in the writings of Darwin, Spencer, Clifford, Stephen, Alexander, and Hobhouse, and as criticized by Green, Sorley, Huxley, Pringle-Pattison, and Rashdall, will be the subject of the seminary. Special attention is given to the problem of determining the nature and limitations of the genetic method as applied in ethical research.

Dr. Grace de Laguna conducts in alternate years the following graduate seminary:

Seminary in Logic and Metaphysics. \textit{Two hours a week throughout the year.}

In 1919–20 the Nature of Consciousness will be the subject of the seminary. During the first semester the psychophysical aspect is examined and during the second semester the epistemological aspect.

In 1921–22 Contemporary Realism as represented by Moore, Russell, Alexander, Perry, McGilvary, and Fullerton will be the subject of the seminary.
Dr. Theodore de Laguna conducts in alternate years the following graduate seminary:

Seminary in Logic and Metaphysics. Two hours a week throughout the year.

In 1918-19 the philosophy of Plato is discussed in the seminary. Special attention is paid to the earlier dialogues, to the development of the theory of ideas and the relation of this theory to the teachings and method of Socrates.

In 1920-21 Inductive and Genetic logic will be the subject of the seminary. The theories of Sigwart, Wundt, Bradley, Bosanquet, Dewey, and Baldwin are the basis of investigation.

Dr. Sabin conducts in alternate years the following graduate seminary:

Seminary in the History of Philosophy. Two hours a week throughout the year.

In 1918–19 Descartes and Spinoza are studied with special reference to their view of the relation between idea and object.

In 1920–21 the philosophy of Kant will be the subject of the seminary. The principal writings of the critical period are read and a careful study is made of the final organization of Kant's system in the Critique of Judgment.

Dr. Theodore de Laguna offers in each year the following graduate seminary:

Seminary in Social and Political Philosophy. Two hours a week during the second semester.

The topics chosen for discussion will vary from year to year. Prominent among them will be: the general nature of law; sovereignty and allegiance; the conception of personal liberty; property; punishment; marriage and the family; moral education.

This seminary may be elected separately, or may be combined with the seminary in Social Psychology, given two hours a week during the first semester, as a seminar for students in the Department of Social Economy and Social Research.

Dr. Theodore de Laguna, Dr. Grace de Laguna, and Dr. Sabin conduct in each year the philosophical journal club.

Philosophical Journal Club. Two hours once a fortnight throughout the year.

The advanced students and the instructors meet to report on and discuss recent reviews and philosophical articles.

The following advanced undergraduate courses may be attended by graduate students:

Dr. Theodore de Laguna offers in each year the following minor and major courses:

History of Philosophy. Five hours a week during the first semester.

Ancient philosophy is very briefly treated. The greater part of the course is devoted to the discussion of selections from the principal writings of Bacon, Hobbes, Descartes, Spinoza, Leibniz, Locke, Berkeley, and Hume.

Recent Philosophical Tendencies. Five hours a week during the second semester.

This course includes a discussion of such theories as pragmatism, idealism, neo-realism, etc.
Dr. Sabin offers in each year the following major course:

From Kant to Spencer.
Five hours a week during the first semester.

The course is principally occupied with the development of the post-Kantian idealism, and with the naturalistic systems of Comte, J. S. Mill, and Spencer.

Dr. Grace de Laguna offers in 1918–19 and Dr. Sabin offers in 1919–20 the following minor course:

Elementary Logic and Ethics.
Five hours a week during the second semester.

The equivalent of two hours a week for a semester is devoted to logic and the remainder to ethics. The instruction in logic covers the topics of definition, classification, the interpretation of propositions, the syllogism, the inductive methods, analogy and the use of hypotheses. In the lectures on ethics special attention is given to the relations between moral standards and the persistent and developing requirements of social organization.

Psychology.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. James H. Leuba, Professor of Psychology, Dr. Clarence Errol Ferree, Professor of Experimental Psychology and Director of the Psychological Laboratory, Dr. Gertrude Rand, Associate in Experimental and Applied Psychology, and Dr. Ethel Ernestine Sabin, Associate in Philosophy, Miss Mary Ruth Almack, Assistant Demonstrator in Experimental Psychology, and Miss Istar Alida Haupt, Assistant Demonstrator in Applied Psychology.

Graduate Courses.

Twelve hours of graduate lectures and seminar work are offered in each year in addition to the direction of private reading and original research. Ten hours a week of advanced undergraduate courses are also open to graduate students. The laboratories of experimental psychology are open for research work. Students may offer either Social Psychology or Experimental and Systematic Psychology as a major subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. A list of approved associated and independent minors will be found in the Regulations of the Academic Council.

Dr. Leuba offers in each year the following graduate seminars:

Psychological Seminary.
Two hours a week throughout the year.

As the foundation of the work of the seminar one or two of the following subjects will be chosen each year: instinct, feeling and emotion; the psychology of religion and of ethics; social psychology; abnormal psychology (mental disorders, the Freudian psychology, arrested mental development, and its social and educational implications, etc.); animal behaviour.
Seminary in Social Psychology. Two hours a week during the first semester.

In 1918-19 and again in 1920-21 the principles of social psychology and their applications to social problems are the subject of the seminar.

In 1919-20 and again in 1921-22 abnormal psychology, chiefly mental deficiency, and its social implications, or temperament and character and their instinctive and emotional foundation will be studied.

This seminar together with the seminar in Social Philosophy, given in the second semester, may be counted as a seminar by students in the Department of Social Economy and Social Research.

Dr. Ferree offers in each year the following graduate seminar:

Seminary in Experimental and Systematic Psychology. Three hours a week throughout the year.

This seminar is intended, primarily, to give a systematic presentation of the literature of experimental psychology. Due consideration, however, will be given to all points of systematic importance. The work is grouped about the following topics: sensation, the simpler sense complexes, perception and ideas, feeling and the affective processes, attention, action, and the intellectual processes (memory, association, imagination, etc.). The course covers three years; but the topics chosen and the time devoted to each vary from year to year according to the needs of the students.

Psychological Laboratory Work.
The laboratory work consists of individual practice and research.

Dr. Ferree and Dr. Rand offer in each year the following seminar:

Seminary in Research Methods and Problems. Three hours a week throughout the year.

The object of this seminar is to give training in research. In addition to the work in the laboratory supplementary reading, reports and discussions are required. In special cases the course may be elected for a greater number of hours.

Dr. Rand conducts in each year the following seminar:

Seminary in Applied Psychology. Two hours a week throughout the year.

Laboratory Work. Four hours a week throughout the year.

This course combines seminar, laboratory drill and research features, and covers the psychological aspects of mental testing with special application to problems of vocational guidance and to the testing of normal adults and adult and juvenile delinquents and defectives.

In the seminar work, the requirements of mental tests and their standardization and statistical treatment are considered. The laboratory drill work consists of training in the application of general intelligence and diagnostic tests to normal children and adults. This furnishes a standard of the normal reactions to the tests as well as practice in giving the tests. Later the work is with delinquents and defectives. The research work will be done in connection with Vocational Guidance Bureaus. Two problems will be considered here: (a) the devising and standardizing of specific tests for diagnosing ability for different vocations; and (b) the determination of the average level of intelligence needed to meet the demands of different vocations. The course is open only to graduate students who have had training in experimental psychology.
Special Laboratory Problems in Applied Psychology.

Four hours a week throughout the year.

This course is offered to students who have attended the seminary in Applied Psychology and wish to pursue more advanced work.

Dr. Leuba, Dr. Ferree and Dr. Rand together conduct in each year the psychological journal club.

Psychological Journal Club. One hour a week throughout the year.

The advanced students meet with the instructors once a week to hear or read reports on the literature of the subject and on the work done in the laboratory.

The following advanced undergraduate courses may be attended by graduate students:

Dr. Leuba offers in each year the following major and minor courses:

Five hours a week during the first semester.

Psychology has so far been concerned almost exclusively with individuals, human or animal, normal or abnormal. But a community, a crowd, an industrial trust, do not behave as the individuals composing them would behave if they acted independently. For this reason the study of the laws of social interrelation and of social action has become a separate branch of psychology. Religion, ethics, science, art, industry, and commerce are the most important forms which social life has assumed in the course of human development.

Five hours a week during the second semester.

Although the course in animal psychology does not necessitate a special knowledge of biology, yet it appeals to students of that science since it deals with animal behaviour. Time is spent on an analysis of the methods by which animals learn. This part of the course is of special interest to students of education because of the light thrown upon the problems of mental acquisition in man.

Dr. Ferree and Dr. Rand offer in each year the following minor course:

Experimental Psychology. Five hours a week during the first semester.

Laboratory Work. Four hours a week during the first semester.

The lectures constitute an abbreviated course in systematic psychology in which the historical, critical, and theoretical features of the subjects covered are discussed and the experimental features demonstrated. Especial stress is laid on the comparative study of methods. The laboratory work consists of individual practice.

Dr. Ferree offers in each year the following elective course:

Advanced Experimental Psychology. Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course consists of five hours laboratory work a week, the students being assigned problems to investigate.
Dr. Rand offers in each year the following major course:

Applied Psychology.
Laboratory Work.

The specific applications of psychology form the subject matter of this course. An important feature is the application to the work of the clinic. Demonstrations are made of mental equipment and individual practice is given in mental testing. The applications of psychology to law, medicine, vocational guidance, advertising, etc., are briefly considered.

Education.

This Department is organized in part from the Phebe Anna Thorne Endowment and is connected with the Phebe Anna Thorne Model School.

The instruction in Education is under the direction of Dr. Matilde Castro, Professor of Education and Director of the Phebe Anna Thorne Model School, Professor James H. Leuba, Professor of Psychology, Dr. Clarence Errol Ferree, Professor of Experimental Psychology and Director of the Psychological Laboratory, and Dr. Ada Hart Arlitt, Associate in Educational Psychology.

The work of the Department of Education is intended for graduate students only. No undergraduate students are permitted to take any graduate work in education although graduate students may if they so desire elect undergraduate courses in education and psychology and other subjects. The courses are planned for graduate students who wish to study education for one, two, and three years on the principle that about one-half of the student's time will be given to purely educational courses and the remaining half to courses in the subjects in which she is preparing herself to teach. The degree of Master of Arts in Education is open to graduates of Bryn Mawr College only. Graduates of other colleges receive diplomas certifying to the work that they have taken in the Graduate Department of Education. The degree of Doctor of Philosophy in Education is open to graduates of all colleges of high standing under the general conditions prescribed for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy.

The Phebe Anna Thorne Model School.

The Phebe Anna Thorne School opened in the autumn of 1913 under the direction of the Bryn Mawr College Graduate Department of Education. It is maintained by an endowment of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars given by the executors of the estate of the late Phebe Anna Thorne to perpetuate her deep interest in school education and her desire to further research in the best methods of teaching school subjects. The Phebe Anna Thorne School is an integral part of the Graduate Department of Education and affords its students an opportunity to follow the work of the expert teachers of the model school and discuss in seminaries conducted by the professors of education the various problems of teaching and administration as they arise from day to day. Pupils are admitted at ten years of age and will be fitted to enter Bryn Mawr and other colleges on the completion of a seven years' school course based on the soundest available theory and practice of teaching to be found in this country or abroad. Wherever a new method of teaching a subject is known to have succeeded it will be studied and introduced into the model school and the results on the pupils of different methods of teaching the same subjects will be tested and compared. It is believed that the opportunity thus afforded of studying the newest approved methods of secondary teaching will enable teachers who have studied in the Graduate Department of Education to teach more efficiently and to command materially higher salaries.

In addition to two seminaries in education, and a seminary in the study of children and in educational psychology there are offered in each year observation classes in the Phebe Anna Thorne Model School and courses in systematic and experimental psychology recommended to students of education. Students electing education as their major subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy must elect educational psychology as the associated minor. The list of approved independent minors will be found in the Regulations of the Academic Council.

Dr. Castro offers in 1918–19 and in each succeeding year the following graduate seminaries:

Seminary in Educational Methods and Measurements.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

The seminary takes up the principles of educational methods and teaching technique. The latter part of the work deals with the theory and practice of educational measurements. The special subjects considered vary from year to year.

Seminary in Educational Psychology.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

The seminary considers the main categories of educational psychology and studies especially the psychology of school and high school subjects. If the student's training in psychology has been inadequate she is required to take the seminary in Educational Methods and Measurements either as a preliminary seminary or by special permission at the same time.

Seminary in Social Education. Two hours a week during the first semester.

The essentials of educational theory and practice for social workers are studied in this seminary.

The subjects dealt with serve as an introduction to the educational principles involved in the intelligent direction of such activities as community centres, settlement classes, clubs, etc. Among the subjects studied are the characteristic mental and physical development of childhood, adolescence, youth, and maturity. This study is used as a basis for the selection of the educational materials and methods appropriate to the needs and capacities of different groups of varying ages and differing educational opportunities.

Dr. Arlitt offers in each year the following graduate seminary:

Seminary in Intelligence Tests. Two hours a week throughout the year.

Laboratory Work in Intelligence Tests. Four hours a week throughout the year.

The work of the seminary is devoted to a critical survey of the field of mental tests. The laboratory work includes training in the use of tests followed by the practical application of them in schools.

Dr. Castro and Dr. Arlitt together conduct the journal club. Journal Club in Education. Two hours once a fortnight throughout the year.

The advanced students meet with the instructors once a fortnight to hear or read reports on the literature of the subject.

In addition to the above courses the following courses in education and in other departments are adapted to the needs of graduate students in the department of education:

Dr. Castro gives in each year the following undergraduate course, open to graduate students:

Education. Two hours a week throughout the year.

The course interprets modern educational problems from the standpoint of their social setting; develops the psychological principles underlying the technique of teaching and demonstrates their application; sketches the mental, moral, and physical development of children from infancy through adolescence; and discusses the treatment of children individually and in groups in school and extra-school activities.

It is conducted as a general survey course covering the subject-matter indicated, or various topics are stressed and studied more intensively according as the interests of the class vary from teaching to social work or to a more general interest in educational problems.

Dr. Arlitt offers in 1918–19 and in each succeeding year the following undergraduate course, open to graduate students:

Experimental Educational Psychology. Three hours a week throughout the year.

Laboratory Work. Two hours a week throughout the year.

In the first semester a study is made of sensori-motor learning, perceptual learning, and learning of the problem-solving type. Particular emphasis is laid on the conditions and methods of efficient study and on the training of memory.

In the second semester the course takes up the study of school subjects from the point of view of laboratory experimentation and a survey of the field of group and individual tests and educational scales and measurements.
Dr. Ferree offers in each year the following graduate seminary:
Seminary in Experimental and Systematic Psychology.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

This seminary is intended for graduate students who have already taken a course in experimental psychology and gives a systematic presentation of the literature of experimental psychology. Due consideration, however, is paid to all points of systematic importance. The work is grouped about the following topics: sensation, the simpler sense complexes, perception and ideas, feeling and the affective processes, attention, action, and the intellectual processes (memory, association, imagination, etc.). The course covers three years, but the topics chosen and the time devoted to each vary from year to year according to the needs of the students.

Dr. Ferree offers in each year the following undergraduate course, open to graduate students:

Experimental Psychology.  Five hours a week during the first semester.

The lectures constitute an abbreviated course in systematic psychology in which the historical, critical, and theoretical features of the subjects covered are discussed and the experimental features demonstrated. Four hours a week of laboratory work are required in connection with this course.

Mr. King offers in each year the following graduate course:
English Enunciation.  One hour once a fortnight throughout the year.

Classical Archaeology.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Joseph Clark Hoppin, Professor of Classical Archaeology, Dr. Rhys Carpenter,* Associate Professor and Professor (elect) of Classical Archaeology and Dr. Mary Hamilton Swindler, Instructor in Latin and Archaeology.

An archaeological seminary of two hours a week and a graduate course of one hour a week throughout the year are offered to graduate students who have done elementary archaeological work, and also a journal club meeting one and a half hours a fortnight. In addition individual students will be directed in special work by means of private conferences.

The undergraduate work is divided into courses of three hours a week and two hours a week, affording a complete series of instruction in the various branches of classical archaeology. It is recommended that those who elect archaeology as a major subject should offer the general course in Archaeology, Ancient Athens, and Ancient Rome, or the courses in Greek Sculpture, and Art and Life in Hellenistic Towns during their first year.

* Granted leave of absence for 1917-19 for military service.
reserving for their second year the courses on Ancient Architecture, Ancient Painting and Vases, Greek and Roman Minor Arts, Ancient Egypt and Crete.

All the undergraduate courses are fully illustrated with lantern-slides, and photographs are available for review and comparison.

Graduate Courses.

A seminary in archaeology and a journal club in archaeology are offered to graduate students in addition to the undergraduate courses which are open also to graduate students. A good reading knowledge of both French and German is indispensable, and familiarity with both Greek and Latin, though not required, is of the utmost value for graduate work in archaeology.

Students electing classical archaeology as a major subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy must have taken the major undergraduate course in Greek and the minor undergraduate course in Latin or courses equivalent to these. A list of approved associated and independent minors will be found in the Regulations of the Academic Council.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Dr. Hoppin conducts in 1918-19 and Dr. Carpenter will conduct in 1919-20 and succeeding years the following graduate seminary:

Archaological Seminary. Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course is open only to graduate students who have had some previous training in classical archaeology. The order of the subjects may be changed in accordance with the needs of the students.

In 1918-19 fifth century Greek sculpture is the subject of the seminary in the first semester, and fifth century Greek vases in the second semester.

In 1919-20 Greek minor arts (coins, gems, terra-cotta) will be studied.

In 1920-21 Greek Architecture will be studied in the first semester, and Roman architecture in the second semester.

Dr. Swindler offers in each year the following graduate courses:

Ægean Archaeology with emphasis on the recent discoveries in Crete. Two hours a week during the first semester.

Ancient Painting. Two hours a week during the second semester.

The work includes a detailed survey of Cretan frescoes, painted plaques, stele, and sarcophagi, Greek vases of the Polygnotan era, paintings found in Etruscan tombs, Pompeian wall decoration and the mummy portraits from the Fayûm.

Dr. Hoppin, Dr. Carpenter* and Dr. Swindler together conduct in each year the archaeological journal club:

* See footnote, page 105.
Archaeological Journal Club. One and a half hours a fortnight throughout the year.

The graduate students and the instructors meet for the presentation and discussion of topics of current archaeological literature.

The following undergraduate courses may be attended by graduate students:

Dr. Hoppin offers in 1918–19 the following minor and major courses:

General Archæology. Three hours a week throughout the year.

The course is an introduction to the study of classical archæology. It is general in its treatment and includes architecture, sculpture, vases, coins, gems, bronzes, toreutics and terra-cottas, omitting epigraphy and topography.

Topography and Monuments of Ancient Athens. Two hours a week during the first semester.

The course discusses the various existing monuments of Ancient Athens and the recent excavations.

Ancient Egypt. Three hours a week during the first semester.

The course deals with the history and art of Ancient Egypt down to the Roman period, especial attention being given to architecture and painting.

Crete and Prehistoric Greece. Three hours a week during the second semester.

In the course a careful analysis is given of the Minoan civilization of Crete and the Mycenaean civilization of the Greek mainland, as illustrated by the existing monuments. The Homeric poems are discussed in so far as they are related to the period.

Ancient Architecture. Two hours a week during the second semester.

An introductory outline of Egyptian, Cretan, and Mycenaean building is followed by a detailed study of the principles and practice of architecture in Greece and Rome.

Dr. Carpenter offers in 1919–20 and in each succeeding year the following minor and major courses open to graduate students:

Greek Sculpture. Three hours a week throughout the year.

A critical study of the rise, perfection, and ultimate developments of sculpture in Greece. The course is intended as a general introduction to the principles and appreciation of sculpture.

Art and Life in Hellenistic Towns. Two hours a week during the first semester.

A reconstruction, from existing remains, of town and city life in the period between the death of Alexander the Great and the Roman domination.

Ancient Architecture. Three hours a week throughout the year.

An introductory outline of Egyptian, Cretan, and Mycenaean building is followed by a detailed study of the principles and practice of architecture in Greece and Rome. The course ends with a brief survey of Byzantine, Renaissance, and present-day classical styles. Emphasis is laid on architectural evolution and its connection with the civilization of the times.

Greek and Roman Minor Arts. Two hours a week during the second semester.

The course treats of Greek and Roman bronze statuettes, terra-cotta figurines, coins, gems, jewelry, silverware, and similar objects, mainly for their artistic and cultural interest. The first six lectures deal with Cretan and Mycenaean art. This course supplements that on Greek vase-painting given in the first semester.
Dr. Wright offers in each year the following free elective courses, open to graduate students:

Greek Religion and Greek Myths.  Two hours a week during the first semester.
This course is supplementary to Greek and English literature and to Oriental and Classical Archaeology, and treats of the development of Greek religion, the attributes of the Olympian Gods, such as Zeus and Apollo, their ritual, and the influence on literature of Greek myths. This course may be offered as part of the minor course in Classical Archaeology.

Literary Geography of Greece and Asia Minor.  Two hours a week during the second semester.
This course traces not only the literary legends of famous sites such as Athens, Thebes, Troy and Constantinople, but also their political history. It may be offered as part of the minor course in Classical Archaeology.

Dr. Swindler offers in each year the following minor and major courses:

Ancient Painting and Vases.  Two hours a week during the first semester.
The course traces the development of ancient painting. It further forms an introduction to the mythology and daily life of Greece, through the study of designs on Greek vases.

Ancient Rome.  Two hours a week during the second semester.
The course deals with the art and material civilization of Rome through Republican and Imperial times. It is intended both as an archaeological background to Latin studies and as an introduction to Roman art, especially sculpture and painting. The course includes a study of Etruscan art and its influence on early Rome.
This course supplements that on Ancient Athens given in the first semester.

History of Art.
The instruction in this department is under the direction of Miss Georgiana Goddard King,* Professor of the History of Art, and Miss Helen Fernald, Instructor and Demonstrator in the History of Art.

Graduate Courses.
A seminary in History of Art of two hours a week throughout the year is offered to graduate students who have done elementary work in history of art.
In addition to the graduate seminary announced, other courses will be provided as need for them arises, and individual students will be directed in special work by means of private conferences. History of Art may be offered as a minor for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. A list of major subjects with which it may be offered will be found in the Regulations of the Academic Council.

Granted leave of absence for the year 1919–20. The courses announced by Professor King will be given during her absence by an instructor whose appointment will be announced later.
In 1918-19 the subject is Modern Art from the commencement of the romantic movements to the contemporary theories. Students are expected to be familiar already with the Old Masters, and to read French and German. Arrangements will be made for trips to Philadelphia and New York to study new pictures.

In 1919-20 the subject of the seminary will be the Spanish Primitives.

In 1920-21 the subject will be Spanish Painting after 1550.

In 1921-22 the subject will be the Theory and Practice of Connoisseurship. The Molian method will be examined and appraised, the value of documentary evidence discussed, and the different conditions affecting the study of different schools considered. Students will have access to a large collection of photographs and several private collections of paintings.

Journal Club in Modern Art. Two hours once a fortnight throughout the year.

The following undergraduate courses may be attended by graduate students:

Miss King offers each year the following minor and major courses:

Italian Painting of the Renaissance from the Middle of the Thirteenth to the Middle of the Sixteenth Century. Three hours a week throughout the year.

In the first semester the Italian Primitives are studied, chiefly in the schools of Florence, Siena, and Umbria; in the second semester the painters of the High Renaissance, with special attention to those of Venice and the north of Italy. The course is illustrated with photographs and lantern slides.

Gothic Architecture. Two hours a week throughout the year.

The first semester is devoted to Romanesque and pointed architecture in Italy and Germany, with special attention to the introduction of Gothic into Italy by the Cistercians, and the second semester to the development of Gothic in France and Spain with parallels from English ecclesiastical architecture. The course is illustrated with photographs and lantern slides.

Renaissance Sculpture. Two hours a week throughout the year.

The first semester is devoted to the sculpture of the Italian Renaissance, the second chiefly to Northern art, and in especial to figure sculpture in France from the finishing of the Cathedrals to the close of the Renaissance. The great sculptors of Germany and Spain will be studied carefully in conclusion. The course is illustrated with photographs and lantern slides.

Miss Fernald offers in each year the following major and elective courses:

Painting in the Seventeenth and Eighteenth Centuries.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

In the first semester the Flemish, Dutch, and German painters are studied, in the second semester the French, Spanish, and English. The course is illustrated with photographs and lantern slides.

Chinese and Japanese Art. Two hours a week throughout the year.

The course deals with the Art of China and Japan, especially painting, with emphasis upon the work of the Zen painters, of Sesshu and his followers, of the Kano and Korin schools, and the school of Japanese colour prints. It is illustrated with photographs and reproductions, also some originals.

Miss King offers in 1918–19 the following free elective course, open to graduate students:

Renaissance Architecture. \textit{Two hours a week throughout the year.}

The architecture of the Italian Renaissance is studied in the first semester, that of France, Germany, Spain and England in the second semester. Lantern slides and photographs are used for illustration.

Miss King offers in 1920–21 the following free elective course, open to graduate students:

Minor Arts of the Middle Ages. \textit{Two hours a week throughout the year.}

The lectures deal, in succession, with ivories, miniatures, enamels, stained glass, metal work, wood-carving and architectural sculpture, from the decline of Roman art until the beginning of the Renaissance. Photographs and other reproductions are provided for study and reference is made to pieces in museums and other collections accessible during the college year and in vacations. Students electing the course are expected to read at least one foreign language.

\textbf{POST-MAJOR COURSES.}

Miss King offers in 1918–19 and again in 1920–21 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Spanish Painting. \textit{Three hours a week throughout the year.}

This course is open only to students who have completed the minor and major work in history of art, or an equivalent course. The sources and development of Spanish painting are considered from the early miniature painters down to living pointers. Students are expected to learn something about the Spanish character and history and to make short trips to see paintings on exhibition in America.

Miss King* offers in 1919–20 and again in 1921–22 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Modern Painting. \textit{Three hours a week throughout the year.}

This course is open only to students who have completed the minor and major work in history of art or its equivalent. It deals with the history of painting since 1800 and comes down to the present year. Students are expected to make trips to Philadelphia and the neighbourhood to study pictures as often as may seem necessary.

\textbf{Mathematics.}

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Charlotte Angas Scott, Professor of Mathematics, and Dr. Anna Pell, Associate Professor of Mathematics.

\textbf{GRADUATE COURSES.}

The graduate courses consist of lectures and seminary work supplemented by private reading under the direction of the instructors, the courses being arranged each year with reference to the wishes and degree of preparation of the students concerned. Students who elect mathematics as a major subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy are required to elect mathematics also as an associated minor. The list of approved independent minors will be found in the Regulations of the Academic Council.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Dr. Scott offers in 1918–19 the following graduate seminary:

Geometry on a Curve and Linear Systems of Curves.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

The work follows the Italian treatment of the subject rather than the German; but the seminary is arranged so that the most important part of the Clebsch-Lindemann exposition may profitably be read in connection with the lectures.

Dr. Scott offers in 1919–20 the following graduate seminary:

Theory of Surfaces and Space Curves. Two hours a week throughout the year.

The subject will be treated from the projective (analytical) point of view without any consideration of the development of differential geometry.

Dr. Scott offers in 1920–21 the following graduate seminary:

Topology of Plane Algebraic Curves. Two hours a week throughout the year.

Dr. Pell offers in 1918–19 the following graduate seminary:

Theory of Integral Equations. Two hours a week throughout the year.

The classical theories of Volterra, Fredholm, Hilbert and Schmidt are studied. The theory is applied to boundary-value problems in linear differential equations. In the latter part of the course, either Volterra’s theory of functions of lines, or the theory of linear equations in infinitely many unknowns is given.

Dr. Pell offers in 1919–20 the following graduate seminary:

Theory of Functions. Two hours a week throughout the year.

Either the theory of functions of a complex variable including such topics as Riemann surfaces and elliptic functions, or the theory of functions of a real variable including the theory of Stieltjes and Lebesgue integrals will be given. The choice will depend on the need of the students electing the seminary.

Dr. Pell offers in 1920–21 the following graduate seminary:

Theory of Linear Differential Equations. Two hours a week throughout the year.

Dr. Scott and Dr. Pell together conduct the journal club.

Mathematical Journal Club. One hour a fortnight throughout the year.

The journal club holds fortnightly meetings at which reports on special topics or memoirs are presented by the instructors and the graduate students.

Post-Major Courses.

The post-major courses in mathematics are designed to bridge over the interval between the ordinary undergraduate studies and advanced work. They deal, therefore, with the subjects of the major courses carried to higher developments and treated by higher methods. As the order of mathematical studies differs in different colleges, graduate students frequently find it advisable to devote a part of their time to these courses.
Regular written work is expected from all mathematical students, and a reading knowledge of French and German is presupposed.

The post-major courses in any one year amount to five hours a week. The courses given are the following with occasional modifications:

Dr. Scott offers in 1918–19 and again in 1920–21 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Special Topics in Geometry. Two hours a week throughout the year.
Lectures on special topics in geometry, such as homogeneous coordinates, circular coordinates, families of curves, certain transcendental curves, geometrical transformations, etc.

Dr. Scott offers in 1919–20 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:
Lectures on Modern Pure Geometry. Two hours a week throughout the year.

Dr. Scott offers in 1921–22 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:
Modern Analytical Geometry. Two hours a week throughout the year.
Lectures introductory to modern analytical geometry, in connection with Salmon's Conic Sections and Scott's Modern Analytical Geometry.

Dr. Pell offers in 1918–19 the following post-major courses, open to graduate students:
General Course in Analysis. Two hours a week throughout the year.
This course deals with the development of subjects such as determinants, infinite series, Fourier series, definite integrals, etc.
Calculus of Finite Differences and Theory of Probabilities. One hour a week throughout the year.

Dr. Pell offers in 1919–20 the following post-major courses, open to graduate students:
Theory of Functions of a Complex Variable. Two hours a week throughout the year.
Differential Equations, Ordinary and Partial. One hour a week throughout the year.

Dr. Pell offers in 1920–21 the following post-major courses, open to graduate students:
Lectures Introductory to Modern Algebra. Two hours a week throughout the year.
The properties of polynomials, linear dependence, elimination, transformations, invariants, and canonical forms are discussed.
Elementary Theory of Numbers. One hour a week throughout the year.
Free Elective Courses.

Dr. Scott offers in 1918–19 and again in 1920–21 the following free elective course, open to graduate students:

Graphic Mathematics. \textit{One hour a week throughout the year.}

The course deals with statistical work, probability, and theory of errors. It is recommended to students of economics as well as to students of physics. No knowledge of mathematics beyond the requirement for matriculation is presupposed.

Dr. Scott offers in 1919–20 and again in 1921–22 the following free elective course, open to graduate students:

Fundamental Theorems of Algebra and Geometry. \textit{One hour a week throughout the year.}

Certain standard problems of historical interest are considered in order to elucidate some of the fundamental principles of mathematics. Either semester may be taken separately. No knowledge of mathematics beyond the requirement for matriculation is presupposed. It is hoped that the work will prove useful to those intending to teach elementary mathematics.

Science.

Physics, Chemistry, Geology, Biology.

Professors and instructors: Dr. Florence Bascom, Dr. William B. Huff,* Dr. David Hilt Tennent, Dr. James Barnes, Dr. Roger Frederic Brunel, Dr. James Llewellyn Crenshaw,\† Dr. Florence Peebles, Miss Edith Hamilton Lanman, Mr. Malcolm Havens Bissell, Miss Sue Avis Blake, Miss Harriet Hobbs, Miss Nora May Mohler, Miss Mary Jane Guthrie, and Miss Hope Hibbard.

In January, 1893, the Trustees opened Dalton Hall, a large building, containing ample laboratories, lecture-rooms, research-rooms, special libraries, and professors' rooms for the work of the scientific departments. The chemical, geological, biological, and physical laboratories and the laboratory for experimental psychology are open for students from nine to six daily.

The chemical department includes a lecture-room, a large laboratory for the first-year students, and several smaller ones for advanced and special work, a special room for physical chemistry, preparation and balance rooms, and a chemical library. The supply of apparatus and chemicals has been carefully selected for the purpose of instruction and research, and is * Granted leave of absence for 1918–19.

\† Granted leave of absence for 1917–19 on war service.
increasing from year to year. The chemical library contains, besides necessary treatises and reference books, complete sets of the most important chemical journals. The geological department is equipped with large collections of minerals, rocks, and fossils, a carefully selected library, and laboratories furnished with maps, models, charts, lantern slides, petrologic microscopes, goniometers, and other apparatus necessary for work in undergraduate and graduate courses. The biological laboratories are equipped with the best (Zeiss) microscopes, microtomes, etc., and are supplied with apparatus for the study of experimental physiology. The physical laboratories are carefully furnished with the apparatus necessary for thorough work.

Graduate work in the natural sciences is highly specialized, and consists of laboratory work, private reading, and special investigations pursued by the student under the guidance of the instructors.

Physics.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. William B. Huff,* Professor of Physics, Dr. James Barnes, Professor of Physics, and Miss Sue Avis Blake, Instructor in Physics, and Miss Nora May Mohler, Demonstrator in Physics.

Graduate Courses.

The graduate seminaries consist of lectures, laboratory work, and original research under the direction of the instructors, the lecture courses varying from year to year so that they may be pursued by students through consecutive years. A good working library containing the current and bound numbers of all the important physical journals is kept in the laboratory. Students electing physics as their major subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy may elect it also as the associated minor, provided either mathematics or applied mathematics is taken as the independent minor; or mathematics or applied mathematics may be taken as the associated minor. A list of approved independent minors will be found in the Regulations of the Academic Council.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

In 1918–19 the following graduate seminaries are offered:

Radioactivity and Discharge of Electricity through Gases.

Three hours a week during the first semester.

The earlier lectures treat of the effect of fields on the path of a moving charged particle. A discussion of typical experimental methods of measuring velocity and the ratio of charge to the mass follows. After a study of the phenomena of electrical discharge and of radioactivity a brief account of theories is given.

Granted leave of absence for the year 1918–19.

Electron Theory. Three hours a week during the second semester.
The mathematical development of the subject is presented in the lectures, with special reference to experimental tests of theory.

Dr. Huff offers in 1920–21 the following graduate seminary: Mathematical Theory of Electricity and Magnetism. Three hours a week throughout the year.
The lectures are based on Maxwell's standard work, and include a general account of the later development of the theory.

Dr. Barnes offers in 1919–20 the following graduate seminary: Physical Optics. Three hours a week throughout the year.
This course gives a general mathematical discussion of physical optics. Students are expected to give detailed reports on the methods and results of investigations which illustrate the theory. When it seems desirable two and a half hours of experimental work will be substituted for one hour of the lecture course.

Dr. Barnes offers in 1921–22 the following graduate seminary: Thermo-dynamics and Radiation. Three hours a week throughout the year.
The modern developments of thermo-dynamics and radiation including X-rays and photo-electricity are considered. Attention is paid to the application of the laws of thermo-dynamics in physical chemistry.

In each year Dr. Huff and Dr. Barnes together conduct the journal club, and the laboratory work.

Physical Journal Club. One hour a week throughout the year.
The advanced students meet with the instructors once a week to hear or read papers on assigned topics in physics.

Laboratory work.
The laboratory work is arranged for the purpose of familiarizing the student with the methods of research; the student begins by repeating methods and investigations of well-known experimenters, with any modifications that may be suggested, passing on to points of investigation left untouched by previous experimenters, and finally to the study of new methods and the prosecution of original research. Students taking physics as their chief subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy are expected to spend all the time possible in the laboratory. In the basement there is a constant-temperature vault designed for accurate comparison of lengths, etc., and the laboratory is provided with special rooms for magnetic, optical, and electrical work. A well-equipped shop and trained mechanics make it possible to have special forms of apparatus constructed which are needed in research work.

Post-Major Courses.

Dr. Huff offers in 1919–20 the following post-major courses, open to graduate students:

Properties of Matter. Three hours a week during the first semester.
The lectures cover the general subject of the properties of matter studied from the point of view of the Molecular Theory. The different theories of matter are discussed.
and an account of recent investigations concerning the relations of matter and electricity is given. Poynting and Thomson’s Properties of Matter is read in connection with the course.

Theory of Sound.
Three hours a week during the second semester.

The lectures form an introduction to the theory of modes of vibration of pipes, strings, and rods. The theory of music and of musical instruments is then studied. Poynting and Thomson’s Sound is used during the earlier part of the course, and frequent references are made to Helmholtz and Rayleigh.

Dr. Huff offers in 1921–22 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Electricity and Magnetism.
Three hours a week throughout the year.

The lectures of this course treat typical mathematical and experimental problems chosen from the various parts of the entire subject. A large number of problems on potential and attraction are assigned.

Dr. Barnes offers in 1918–19 the following post-major courses, open to graduate students:

Spectroscopy.
Three hours a week during the first semester.

The course begins with a complete discussion of the apparatus used in this subject; the results of past and present investigations are then considered, and problems for investigation are pointed out. The many important applications of spectroscopy to astronomy are not neglected. The standard book of reference is Kayser’s Handbuch der Spectroscopie. Detailed reports of laboratory investigations are required.

Astrophysics.
Three hours a week during the second semester.

This course consists of lectures on the application of physical principles and methods to the study of the composition, structure, and motions of the heavenly bodies. Selected chapters in Moulton’s Celestial Mechanics and many papers from the Astrophysical Journal will be read and discussed.

Dr. Barnes offers in 1920–21 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

General Optics.
Three hours a week throughout the year.

These lectures give a general discussion of the theories advanced to explain many phenomena in light. Students are required to have a good knowledge of elementary optics and to be sufficiently familiar with optical apparatus to undertake a detailed study of some special problem.

Free Elective Courses.

Dr. Huff offers in 1919–20 the following free elective course, open to graduate students:

Historical Development of Physics.
One hour a week throughout the year.

The work of this course consists of lectures, required reading, and class-room discussions. The lectures give an elementary presentation of some of the more important ideas and results of physics. The reading is intended to supplement the lectures and to provide additional material for general discussion. The course is open to students who have taken a minor course in science or its equivalent.
Dr. Huff offers in 1920–21 the following free elective course, open to graduate students:

Physical Basis of Music. \textit{One hour a week throughout the year.}

In the lectures of this course it is planned to present some of the physical principles illustrated in the construction of musical instruments and underlying the general theory of music. Private reading will be assigned.

Chemistry.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Roger Frederic Brunel, Associate Professor of Chemistry, Dr. James Llewellyn Crenshaw,* Associate in Physical Chemistry, Miss Edith Hamilton Lanman, Instructor in Chemistry, and Miss Harriet Hobbs, Demonstrator in Chemistry.

Graduate Courses.

The advanced courses in chemistry consist of lectures upon inorganic, organic, and physical chemistry, seminary work, reports upon current chemical literature, and laboratory exercises. In the laboratory work the students are required to become familiar with the literature bearing upon the subjects they are studying, and it is therefore necessary for them to have a reading knowledge of French and German.

The lecture courses are varied from year to year to meet the requirements of students and to form a consecutive course for those who wish to make chemistry the major subject in the examination for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. Such students may specialize either in organic chemistry under the direction of Dr. Brunel, or in physical or inorganic chemistry under the direction of Dr. Crenshaw, but students who elect organic chemistry as the major subject of examination must take physical chemistry as the associated minor, and students who elect physical chemistry as the major subject, must take organic chemistry as the associated minor.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Dr. Brunel offers in each year the following graduate seminary:

Chemical Seminary, Organic Chemistry. \textit{One hour a week throughout the year.}

This seminary is intended primarily for students who are carrying on research in organic chemistry, and consists of reports on assigned topics which are usually related to the research in which the student is engaged.

Dr. Crenshaw* offers in each year the following graduate seminary:

* See footnote, page 113.
Chemical Seminary, Inorganic Chemistry.

One hour a week throughout the year.

The work of the seminary consists of lectures, required reading, and reports on various topics. The needs of the individual students are considered in selecting the subjects for discussion.

Dr. Brunel offers in each year the following graduate course:

Advanced Organic Chemistry.

One hour a week throughout the year.

Lectures, reading, and occasional reports cover the historical developments and present status of subjects of current interest. In the year 1919-20 a considerable part of the time will be spent upon the carbohydrates.

Students counting this course as the equivalent of a seminary are required to do enough laboratory work, to make the work of the course occupy fourteen hours a week. The nature of this work depends so largely on the past training of the student that no definite statement can be made regarding it. A sufficiently advanced student may be assigned a problem to investigate.

Dr. Crenshaw* offers in each year the following graduate course:

Physical Chemistry.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

In the lectures no attempt is made to give a general survey of the subject but certain selected portions of the science are treated in detail and the student is made familiar with problems of current interest. Students counting this course as the equivalent of a seminary will be required to do enough laboratory work to make the work of the course occupy fourteen hours a week. The laboratory work will consist of physico-chemical research.

Dr. Brunel and Dr. Crenshaw* and Miss Lanman together conduct the journal club.

Chemical Journal Club.

One hour a week throughout the year.

The advanced students, with the instructors, meet to hear reports and discussions on recent scientific articles.

Post-Major Courses.

Dr. Brunel offers in each year the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Organic Chemistry.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

The course consists of lectures, assigned reading with occasional reports, and laboratory. It is intended to broaden the student's acquaintance with the subject and to serve as an introduction to the study of present day chemical problems.

At least four hours of laboratory work a week will be required, three hours' credit being given for the course. The laboratory work will consist of the preparation of compounds, organic analysis, and study of the methods for determining the constitution of organic compounds.

Dr. Crenshaw* offers in each year the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Physical Chemistry.*

Two hours a week throughout the year.

The aim of the lectures is to extend the student's knowledge of theoretical and physical chemistry and to lay a foundation for independent work in this subject. The lectures are intended to give a general outline of the subject, the following topics being discussed: fundamental theories of chemistry; the periodic classification; the corpuscular theory of matter; the laws of gases, liquids and solids; osmotic pressure and dilute solutions; colloidal solutions; thermochemistry; homogeneous and heterogeneous equilibria; chemical kinetics; electrochemistry; actinochemistry, and radiochemistry. The solution of a large number of problems will be required.

* See footnote, page 113.

The laboratory work amounting to four and a half hours a week is designed to prepare the students for physico-chemical research.

Miss Lanman offers in 1918–19 and Dr. Crenshaw offers in 1919–20 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Inorganic Chemistry. One hour a week throughout the year.

Selected topics in inorganic chemistry are discussed in detail and parallel reading is required. In the laboratory work of four and a half hours a week advanced quantitative analyses are included.

Geology.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Florence Bascom, Professor of Geology and Mr. Malcolm Havens Bissell, Instructor in Geology.

The instruction offered in geology includes, in addition to the minor and major courses, three free elective courses of two hours and one hour a week, four post-major courses of two and three hours a week open only to graduates and to undergraduates that have completed the major course in geology, and two graduate seminaries of three hours a week.

Post-major courses in petrography or mineralogy, economic geology, stratigraphy, and paleontology are offered in each year, and are designed to train the student in exact methods for the determination of rock and mineral species, in the genesis of ores, and in the principles of stratigraphy and paleontology. They are an essential preliminary to research work in the science.

Excellent illustrative material for the graduate and undergraduate courses is furnished by the geological and paleological collections of the college, including the Theodore D. Rand rock and mineral collection, which alone contains over 20,000 specimens, by the private collections of the instructors, and by material lent by the United States Geological Survey; the department is also fortunate in its proximity to the museum of the Academy of Natural Sciences of Philadelphia; within easy reach of the college there are excellent collecting fields for fossil, mineral, and rock specimens.
Graduate Courses.

The seminary in petrology and crystallography should be preceded by the major and post-major courses or their equivalents and is intended primarily for graduate students wishing to make inorganic geology a major subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. The graduate seminary in crystallography is also intended to meet the needs of graduate students in chemistry who wish to make crystallography a minor subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. The graduate seminary in physiography is designed primarily for graduate students wishing to make physiography a major subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. Further graduate seminars in petrology and physiography will be arranged to suit the requirements of candidates for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy and research problems will be assigned.

Students may specialize either in petrology and crystallography, under the direction of Dr. Bascom, or in stratigraphic geology and physiography, under the direction of Mr. Bissell, but students who make inorganic geology the major subject of examination must take either physiographic geology, inorganic chemistry, or crystallography as the associated minor and students who elect physiographic geology as the major subject must take either inorganic geology or biology as the associated minor. A list of approved independent minors will be found in the Regulations of the Academic Council.

No undergraduates are admitted to the graduate courses.

Dr. Bascom offers in each year the following graduate seminary:

Petrology and Crystallography. Three hours a week throughout the year.

This seminary is conducted by means of informal discussions, required reading, laboratory work, and formal reports. The selection of subjects in petrology is dependent upon the needs of the individual students. In crystallography direction is given in crystal measurement with the two-circle goniometer, in crystal projection, and crystal drawing. The seminary involves as much laboratory work as the time of the student permits.

Mr. Bissell offers in each year the following graduate seminary:

Seminary in Physiography. Three hours a week throughout the year.

A broad study of the physiographic cycle forms the basis of this course. The general principles governing the development of land forms are applied to various physiographic types, and the evolution of surface features under the control of climate and geologic structure is studied in considerable detail. This is followed by a study of definite regions illustrating the application of physiographic principles to problems of structural, economic and stratigraphical geology. Lectures, outside reading, reports, map work and field excursions are the methods of instruction. Research problems are taken up if time permits.

Dr. Bascom and Mr. Bissell together conduct the journal club.

Geological Journal Club. Two hours once a fortnight throughout the year.

The graduate students and the instructors meet for the presentation and discussion of recent investigations or recent geological literature.
Post-Major Courses.

Dr. Bascom offers in 1918-19 and again in 1920-21 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Determinative Mineralogy. Two hours a week throughout the year.
In this course lectures and laboratory practice deal with the determination of minerals by means of physical tests and by blow-pipe analysis. Special emphasis is placed on crystal form and practice is given in the use of the two-circle contact goniometer.

Dr. Bascom offers in 1919-20 and again in 1921-22 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Petrography. Three hours a week throughout the year.
During the first semester the lectures deal with the principles of optical crystallography, the optical means of mineral determination, and the petrographic characters of rock-forming minerals. In the second semester the textures, constitution, origin, geographic distribution, and geologic associations of igneous rocks are treated; practice is given in the quantitative system of classification. Special field problems may be given to the students for independent solution.

Mr. Bissell offers in 1918-19 and again in 1920-21 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Stratigraphy and Paleontology. Three hours a week throughout the year.
The work of the first semester consists largely of lectures and outside reading, and is devoted to a thorough study of the principles of sedimentation. This is followed by a consideration of the laws governing the distribution of organisms in time and space.
In the second semester the lectures deal with the evolution of the continents and seas as shown by the record of the sedimentary rocks and their fossils. The successive formations of North America are studied in order, and ancient physiographic conditions deduced as accurately as possible. Particular attention is paid to the evolution of life through the different geological periods and the changes of environment controlling it. In the laboratory the typical fossils of each formation are studied, and the student is required to learn the guide fossils of the more important geological horizons.

Mr. Bissell offers in 1919-20 and again in 1921-22 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Economic Geology. Two hours a week throughout the year.
The origin and geological occurrence of the useful minerals are treated in considerable detail, particular attention being given to the metallic ores.

Free Elective Courses.

Dr. Bascom offers in 1918-19 and again in 1920-21 the following free elective course, open to graduate students:

Cosmogony. One hour a week throughout the year.
The work of the course is conducted by means of lectures, required reading, and classroom discussion. The lectures treat of the origin of the earth, the growth of the continents and the development of landscape, and are illustrated by lantern slides. Reading is assigned to supplement the lectures and to furnish further material for discussion. The course is intended to give a survey of the more important results reached by geologic research. It will be given only if elected by a sufficient number of students.
Mr. Bissell offers in 1918-19 the following free elective course, open to graduate students:

Economic Geology. \textit{Two hours a week throughout the year.}

Mr. Bissell offers in 1919-20 and again in 1921-22 the following free elective course, open to graduate students:

Mineral Resources of the World. \textit{Two hours a week throughout the year.}

The course consists of a non-technical discussion of the world's mineral resources: their nature, mode of occurrence, geographical distribution, extent and uses. The metallic ores are first discussed, particularly iron, copper, gold, silver, lead and zinc, but the rarer elements also receive attention. Among the non-metals, coal, oil and gas, and water supply are the most important topics treated. The emphasis throughout the course is placed mainly on the geographic, economic and political significance of mineral resources rather than the technical aspects, and particular attention is paid to the problems of the United States.

Mr. Bissell offers in 1920-21 and again in 1922-23 the following free elective course, open to graduate students:

Principles of Modern Geography. \textit{Two hours a week throughout the year.}

In this course the scope of the modern science of geography and the fundamental principles upon which it is based will be discussed and illustrated. The physical environment of man will be first considered, and the manner in which this environment has influenced the growth and expansion of races and nations, the development of systems of government and philosophy, and the rise of commerce and industry will then be illustrated. The logical sequence of cause and effect will be particularly emphasized, and every effort will be made to encourage independent thought on the part of the student. Considerable outside reading will be required.

Biology.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. David Hilt Tennent, Professor of Biology, Dr. Florence Peebles, Associate Professor of Physiology, and Miss Mary Jane Guthrie and Miss Hope Hibbard, Assistant Demonstrators in Biology.

Graduate Courses.

The advanced courses are varied from year to year, so as to form a consecutive course for students that wish to make biology one of the chief subjects of the examination for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. Such students may specialize either in morphology under the guidance of Dr. Tennent, or in physiology under the guidance of Dr. Peebles or in physiological chemistry. A list of approved associated and independent minors will be found in the Regulations of the Academic Council.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.
Dr. Tennent offers in each year the following graduate seminary:

Seminary in Zoology. \textit{Three hours a week throughout the year.}

Special attention is given to the phenomena of spermatogenesis and oogenesis and the theories connected therewith.

In 1918-19 Embryology of Invertebrates is the subject of the seminary. The work includes a systematic survey of the normal development of invertebrates; of the problems of germinal organization, cleavage and differentiation, and a discussion of the bearing of these questions on evolution and inheritance.

In 1919-20 Genetics is the subject of the seminary. The work includes a discussion of biometrical methods and results; of investigations on "pure lines"; of the effectiveness of selection; of the relation between chromosomes and heredity; of various theories of heredity and of the application of these ideas in animal and plant breeding.

In 1920-21 Cytology will be the subject of the seminary. The work deals with the anatomy of the cell and the relations and functions of its various structures in unicellular and multicellular organisms.

Dr. Peebles offers in each year the following graduate seminary:

Seminary in Physiology. \textit{Three hours a week throughout the year.}

In 1918-19 Internal Secretions is the subject of the seminary.
In 1919-20 Animal Instincts and Tropisms will be treated.
In 1920-21 the Development of Modern Physiology will be studied. The work consists of reports by the students and discussion of recent advances in the subject.

The following graduate seminary will be offered in 1919-20 if an instructor is appointed:

Seminary in Physiological Chemistry. \textit{Three hours a week throughout the year.}

Students taking this seminary are required to have a preparation in physiological chemistry at least equivalent to that given in the post-major course. Research work will be begun in the seminary.

Dr. Tennent and Dr. Peebles together conduct the journal club and the laboratory work.

Biological Journal Club. \textit{One hour a week throughout the year.}

The advanced students and the instructors meet for the discussion of topics of current biological literature.

Laboratory Work.

There is no regular course of laboratory instruction for graduates. Each student must devote a considerable portion of her time to such work and will be given a problem for verification or extension. The nature of the work depends in each case on the qualifications of the student.

Post-Major Courses.

Dr. Tennent offers in 1918-19 and again in 1920-21 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Embryology of Vertebrates. \textit{One hour a week throughout the year.}

This course consists of lectures, assigned reading, and laboratory work on the embryology of vertebrates. The lectures deal with the development of specific forms and with Theoretical questions of embryological interest. The department has material for the study of the development of Amphioxus, Ascidian, Amia, Lepidosteus, Squalus, Ctenolabrus, Necturus, Rana, Chrysomys, Chick, and Pig. At least four hours of laboratory work are required.

The course is divided as follows: First semester, Early stages of development. Second semester, Organogeny.

Dr. Tennent offers in 1919-20 and again in 1921-22 the following post-major courses, open to graduate students:

Protoplasm, the Cell, and Cytological Technique.
One hour a week during the first semester.

This course consists of a study of the structure of protoplasm, the structure of the cell, the phenomena of cell division, maturation, and fertilization. Both plant and animal cells will be studied, and instruction will be given in methods of preparing cytological material for microscopical examination. This course is to be taken with four hours laboratory work as a two-hour course.

Experimental Morphology.
One hour a week during the second semester.

The object of this course is to give a general historical view of experimental morphology of both plants and animals, to discuss some of the methods employed, to point out the results already obtained, and to indicate the nature of the work now being done in the subject. This course is to be taken with four hours laboratory work as a two-hour course.

Dr. Peebles offers in 1918-19 and again in 1920-21 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Physiology of the Central Nervous System.
Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course consists of lectures and reports on assigned reading and laboratory work. A specific problem is taken up and studied by physiological methods. The lectures deal with the functions of the nervous system from a comparative standpoint.

Dr. Peebles offers in 1919-20 and again in 1921-22 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Physiology of Microorganisms.
Two hours a week throughout the year.

During the first semester the time is devoted to the study of yeasts, molds and bacteria. In the second semester problems of growth, cell division, regeneration and reproduction in Protozoa are treated. A specific problem is given to each student.

The following post-major course, open to graduate students will be offered in 1919-20 if an instructor is appointed:

Physiological Chemistry.
Three hours a week throughout the year.

This course consists of lectures and laboratory work. At least six and a half hours a week of laboratory work are required. The laboratory work includes a study of proteins, fats and carbohydrates. A preliminary training in chemistry at least equivalent to that obtained in the minor course is desirable.

Dr. Tennent and Dr. Peebles conduct laboratory work in connection with the above courses:

Laboratory Work.

It is desirable that as much laboratory work as possible should be done in connection with the courses offered above. The object of the laboratory work is to give the student experience in the use of apparatus and in its adaptation to research. Some special problem is assigned to each student; at the end of the year the results of the work are presented in writing.

Free Elective Course.

Dr. Tennent offers in each year the following free elective course, open to graduate students:

Theoretical Biology.

One hour a week throughout the year.

This is an historical course dealing with the development of the theories of biology. Special attention is given to theories of evolution and heredity. The course is open to students who have had one year's training in science. A considerable amount of assigned reading is required.

College Buildings.

The college buildings are situated at Bryn Mawr, in the suburbs of Philadelphia, five miles west of the city, on the main line of the Pennsylvania Railroad. Bryn Mawr is connected with Philadelphia by frequent electric trains on the Pennsylvania Railroad and by an electric trolley running every twenty minutes. The site of the college is four hundred and twenty feet above sea level in the midst of a beautiful rolling country made accessible by good roads in every direction. The college grounds cover fifty-two acres, and include lawns, tennis-courts, and three large athletic fields.

Taylor Hall (named after the founder), a large building of Port Deposit stone, contains a general assembly room, eleven lecture-rooms, and the offices of administration.

The Donors' Library, the gift of the friends, graduates, and students of the college, was begun in April, 1903, and completed in February, 1907. It is built of gray stone in the Jacobean Gothic style of architecture of the period of 1630 and forms three sides of a closed quadrangle. The main building, devoted to the library proper, faces east and is opposite and parallel to Taylor Hall at a distance of about fifty yards; the principal entrances of the two buildings face each other and are connected by a broad cement path. The east front is one hundred and seventy-four feet long and contains a three-story stack with accommodation for 88,000 volumes, and above this a large reading-room with desks for one hundred and thirty-six readers, each desk screened to a height of two feet as in the British Museum reading-room to secure privacy to the reader. No books of reference are kept in the main reading-room. Beyond the reading-room on the south side are the newspaper and magazine rooms. On the north side is the Art and Archaeological Seminary, containing collections of photographs, vases, and coins. The main building contains the Stack, the New Book Room, Reference Book Room, the Carola Woerishoffer Memorial Room, the Reserved Book Room, the Christian Association Library, two professors' offices, and four cloak rooms. The wings of the building, running symmetrically about two hundred feet in length from the north and south ends of the main building, contain twelve seminary rooms and thirty-one professors' offices. The books needed for graduate study and research are kept in the seminary rooms and graduate lectures are held in them. The seminaries are arranged as follows: Greek, Latin, English, Art and Archaeology, French and Italian and Spanish, German, Semitic Languages, Philosophy and Education in the north wing; Mathematics, History, Economics, Carola Woerishoffer Department of Social Economy and Social Research, and Psychology in the south wing, where are also offices for the librarians and cataloguers. The total book capacity of the library, including the seminary libraries and the books for general study which are kept in the stack, is 168,449 volumes. The building is absolutely fireproof. Professors' offices for the two senior professors in each department adjoin the seminary rooms. There are also a general lecture-room accommodating forty-two students, and three interview rooms. On the first floor of the south wing the department of experimental psychology has two large laboratories, one for general work and one for research. On the first floor of the north wing the department of Education has an experimental research laboratory. The basement of the north wing contains another experimental laboratory of the department of Education, two interview rooms, a room for the Monograph Committee of the Faculty, and fireproof safe rooms for the records and archives of the college. The quadrangular court enclosed by the building is surrounded by cloisters and in the centre of the grass enclosure is a fountain, the gift of the class of 1901. The library is open for students on week-days from 8 A. M. till 10 p.m. and on Sundays from 2 p.m. till 10 p.m. It is open for the faculty at all hours.

In January, 1893, the scientific departments of the college were transferred to Dalton Hall, a stone building erected by the trustees out of funds in large part contributed by the generosity of friends of the college. Dalton Hall is entirely occupied by the scientific departments, the special scientific libraries, and the consultation-rooms of the professors of science. The first floor and the basement are reserved for physics, the second floor is reserved for biology, the third floor for chemistry, and the fourth and fifth floors for geology. In December, 1893, a greenhouse designed for the use of the botanical department was added to Dalton Hall as the gift of the alumnae and students.

The new gymnasium, erected on the site of the first gymnasium as a gift of the Athletic Association, the alumnae and thirteen neighbours of the college, was completed in February, 1909. It is open to the students from 8 a.m. till 10 p.m., daily, contains a large hall for gymnastic exercises, with a running or walking track for use in rainy weather; a room for the director and an adjoining room for the examination and record of the physical development of the students, a waiting-room, and cloak rooms. The roof, 50 feet wide by 90 feet long, is used for gymnastic drills and students' entertainments. In the basement are dressing-rooms and shower-baths for use after exercise and a swimming-tank, seventy feet long, twenty feet wide, and from four to seven and a half feet deep, given in 1894 by the alumnae, students, and friends of the college, and well supplied with apparatus for the teaching of swimming. The gymnasium is under the charge of a director and an assistant.

On the grounds, separated from other buildings, is the 1905 Infirmary. It was opened in October, 1913, with accommodation for patients and nurses, doctors' offices and consultation rooms, diet kitchens, bathrooms, wards and private rooms, sun parlour, sun terrace, and two isolation wards.

Plans and descriptions of Taylor Hall, Donors' Library, Dalton Hall, the Gymnasium, the 1905 Infirmary and the six halls of residence, are published in Part 4 of the Bryn Mawr College Calendar and may be obtained from the Secretary and Registrar of the College.
Music-rooms with sound-proof walls and ceilings are provided in Pembroke Hall East. There is a club-room for non-resident students in Rockefeller Hall and also rooms where the students can have hairdressing and dressmaking done.

The Phebe Anna Thorne Open Air Model School of the department of Education is situated on the campus and has its own school building with out-of-door class rooms and athletic ground.

A central power-house, which was erected in 1902 as part of the gift of Mr. John D. Rockefeller, furnishes heat, electric light, and hot water for all the college buildings. Steam is conducted through tunnels underground to coils in the basement of each building. Air brought in from the outside is blown through the heaters by powerful fans and distributed to the various rooms, and the system is so adjusted as to change the air completely in every room once in every ten minutes throughout the day and night. The temperature is regulated by thermostats in the heating coils and every room in the college has separate thermostatic control. The electric lights, including electric reading-lamps for each student, are installed in the most approved manner and the voltage is kept constant so that there is no fluctuation. A constant and abundant supply of hot water is laid on and maintained at a temperature of 180 degrees day and night in all the bathrooms and stationary wash-stands and tea pantries.

Telephone pay stations by means of which the students may be reached at any time are maintained in the library, gymnasium, infirmary and in each of the halls of residence. The Western Union Telegraph and Cable Company delivers telegrams between the hours of 6 A. M. and 12 P. M. Near the college there are a United States money-order office, two banks and an office of the American Railroad Express.

BRYN MAWR COLLEGE.

Bryn Mawr College was founded by Dr. Joseph W. Taylor, of Burlington, New Jersey, who died January 18th, 1880. By his will he left the greater portion of his estate for the purpose of establishing and maintaining an institution of advanced learning for women. The college is situated in the suburbs of Philadelphia, at Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania, five miles to the west of the city. The site was purchased by the founder on account of its healthfulness and beauty, and the college buildings were begun during his lifetime. In 1880, the year of his death, the college was incorporated by the authority of the State of Pennsylvania, and invested with power to confer degrees. A circular of information was issued by the trustees in 1883. A president and a dean of the faculty were elected in the spring of 1884, and during the remainder of the year plans were matured and appointments made in the faculty. The courtesy of the presiding officers and instructors of existing universities and colleges facilitated an acquaintance with the prevailing college curriculum, and the domestic organisation of the woman's colleges, Vassar, Smith, and Wellesley, received careful consideration. To the Johns Hopkins University acknowledgment is especially due, since from it has been borrowed the system of major and minor electives in fixed combination to which Bryn Mawr College first gave the name of the Group System. In the spring of 1885 the first catalogue was issued, and the college was opened for instruction in the autumn of 1885.

Three classes of persons are admitted to the lectures and class work of the college—graduate students, undergraduate students, and hearers.

Graduate students must have presented a diploma from some college of acknowledged standing. They may pursue any courses offered by the college for which their previous training has fitted them; but they must satisfy the several instructors of their ability to profit by the courses they desire to follow, and may be required to pursue certain introductory or auxiliary studies before they are admitted to the advanced or purely graduate courses.* They are, moreover, entitled to personal guidance and direction, supervision of their general reading and furtherance of their investigations, from the instructors, and their needs are considered in the arrangement of new courses of lectures.

The most distinguished place among the graduate students is held by the fellows and graduate scholars, who must reside in the college during the academic year. Four European travelling fellowships, nineteen resident fellowships and thirty-nine graduate scholarships are awarded annually. The conditions of the award and the duties of holders of fellowships and scholarships are stated on pages 214 to 219.

Undergraduate students must have fulfilled the requirements for matriculation, stated on pages 165–190, and may enter the college at any age at which those requirements have been fulfilled. The studies leading to the degree of Bachelor of Arts are stated on pages 190–199.

Those students who do not wish to study for a degree are permitted to pursue any undergraduate courses offered by the College for which their previous training has fitted them; they will, in the event of a change of plan, be credited with such of their studies as may have coincided with the studies leading to a degree. Attention is called to the fact that the Group System enables all candidates for a degree to specialise in two or more subjects.

Hearers. Hearers are excused from passing the matriculation examination; but they are strictly distinguished from matriculated students, and are entitled to reside in the college only when by so doing they exclude no matriculated student, and when the courses pursued by them are equivalent in number to those ordinarily pursued in each year by candidates for a degree.

* For the convenience of graduate students the courses offered in the graduate departments of the college are reprinted from this in a separate part of the calendar, Part 2, Graduate Courses, which may be obtained free of charge by applying to the Secretary of the College.
They must be women of at least twenty-five years of age, and must furnish proof that they have at some time pursued the studies included in the matriculation examination. They must satisfy the several instructors that they can profit by the courses that they desire to follow, and their admission to recitations, examinations, and laboratory exercises depends on the express consent of the instructor in charge. Hearers differ, moreover, from matriculated students in that they are not recognised by the College, and may receive only such certificates of collegiate study as may be given them by the several instructors. They may not receive degrees.

All candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Arts must elect their courses in accordance with the Group System, and an understanding of the principles of the system is necessary for an intelligent selection of courses.

In all departments as yet fully organised there is a course of five hours a week for two years, called a Major Course. Whenever one year of this course is of such a nature that it may be taken separately, it is designated as a Minor Course. Every candidate for a degree is required to take two such major courses as shall be homogeneous, or shall complete each other, and major courses which fulfil this condition are designated as Groups. The object of this system is to enable the student to acquire the foundations of a specialist’s knowledge; and the Required Courses, namely, English (two years), philosophy and science, are intended in part to supplement the Group, and in part to insure a more liberal training than could be obtained if every student combined elective studies at pleasure.

The required two years' course in English serves as a general introduction to the study of language and comparative literature. The required year in science permits the student of chemistry and biology to pursue an advanced course in one of these branches, or to take a minor course in physics; and gives for one year at least to the student of history and literature the same kind of instruction and discipline as is received by the scientific student. The one year's course in philosophy is a general introduction into the study of the laws, conditions, and history of thought.
In almost all departments post-major courses, truly advanced courses which answer to graduate courses in many colleges, are organised and may be elected by students that have completed the major, or group, work in the subject.

All minor courses that do not presuppose required courses may be elected by any student, and special free elective courses of one, two, or three hours a week, are offered in many departments.

There are offered each year to undergraduates major courses of five hours a week, for two years, in the following subjects: Greek, Latin, English, French, Italian, Spanish and German, Modern History, Economics and Politics, Philosophy, Psychology, Classical Archaeology, History of Art, Mathematics, Physics, Chemistry, Geology, and Biology; and elective courses in the above and in Biblical Literature, Experimental Psychology, and Education.

Graduate courses are offered in Sanskrit and comparative Philology, Greek, Latin, English Philology including Anglo-Saxon, Early and Middle English, English Literature, Modern and Old French, Italian, Spanish, and other Romance Languages, German Literature, Gothic, Teutonic Philology, Old Norse, Old High German, Middle High German, Old Saxon, Hebrew, Aramaic, Assyrian, Biblical Literature, History, Economics and Politics, Social Economy and Social Research, Philosophy, Psychology, Education, Classical Archaeology, History of Art, Mathematics, Physics, Chemistry, Physical Chemistry, Geology, Mineralogy, Paleontology, Morphology, and Physiology.

The courses in language and literature are meant, first of all, to be complete in themselves and extensive enough to meet the needs of special students, and secondly, to facilitate the study of comparative philology or of comparative literature.

Courses of parallel reading are required of all students of language and literature, precisely as laboratory work is required of the students of chemistry or biology; these courses are intended to acquaint the students with the works of numerous authors, and it is especially hoped that students of Greek and Latin will, by this means, accustom themselves to read these languages without assistance.
The courses in ancient and modern languages are of equal difficulty, and are placed on a footing of equality. The traditional separation between ancient and modern languages has been disregarded, because, although strictly classical students may always be inclined to combine Greek and Latin, there is, nevertheless, no modern literature of which the study may not fitly be preceded, or supplemented, by the study of Latin or Greek.

The Professors or Associates appointed are the recognised heads of their departments, and only such instructors have been chosen as are qualified to direct both graduate and undergraduate work.

The undergraduate and graduate courses offered in the years 1918–19 and 1919–20 are as follows:

Sanskrit, Greek, and Latin.

Professors and instructors: Dr. Arthur Leslie Wheeler, Dr. Henry Nevill Sanders, Dr. Wilmer Cave Wright, Dr. George A. Barton, Dr. Tenney Frank, Miss Abby Kirk, and Dr. Mary Hamilton Swindler.

Exceptional facilities for the study of all departments of classical philology are offered by the large classical library owned by the college. The greater part of this library is formed by the well-known collection of the late Professor Hermann Sauppe, of Göttingen, which was acquired in 1894. This has been supplemented by purchases made by the college library, so that the classical library now numbers some seven thousand volumes, including complete sets of most of the important journals, and about seven thousand dissertations and monographs.

Sanskrit and Comparative Philology.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of a non-resident lecturer in Comparative Philology.

Graduate Courses.

Comparative Philology and Philological Seminary.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

Students entering this Seminary are expected to be familiar with German and French; a short preliminary course in Sanskrit is also of great aid to the student. The lectures on comparative philology treat of the connection of the Greek and Latin languages with the related languages of the Aryan group, first, phonetically, secondly, from the point of view of grammatical forms, and lastly, from the point of view of syntax. In the first part of the course, which covers what during the past years has been the field of the most active research, the student is introduced to the latest theories and discoveries in Aryan phonetics, and is expected to read and criticize the articles appearing from time to time in the philological journals, and to prepare reports on these articles. The same method is pursued during the investigation of the history of forms; and in the third part of the course the student begins the study of comparative syntax by a close comparison of the use of cases and verbal forms in Sanskrit, Greek, and Latin.

Elementary Sanskrit.
Two hours a week throughout the year.

Whitney's Grammar is used, and the classical selections from Lanman's Reader are read. Lectures are given on the phonology and morphology of Sanskrit.

The courses in Comparative Philology and in Elementary Sanskrit will not, as a rule, be given in the same year.

Second Year Sanskrit.
One or two hours a week throughout the year.

The Vedie selections in Lanman's Reader are read, with some additional hymns from the Rigveda. Selections from the classical literature are read at sight. Exercises in etymology are given to supplement the lectures on the phonology. The courses in Elementary and Second Year Sanskrit will not in general be offered in the same year.

Seminary in Advanced Sanskrit.
Two hours a week throughout the year.

Selected texts are read: the Bhagavad-Gïtâ; Kâlidâsa's Cakrntalâ, Acts I and II, with a careful study of the Prâkrit; selected hymns of the Athatasveda. During the second semester the course is conducted as a seminary, with use of the native commentaries.

Greek.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Henry Nevill Sanders, Professor of Greek; Dr. Wilmer Cave Wright, Associate Professor of Greek; Dr. George A. Barton, Professor of Biblical Literature and Semitic Languages, and Miss Abby Kirk, Reader in Elementary Greek. The instruction offered in Classical Greek covers twenty-eight hours of lectures and recitations a week apart from courses in Classical Archaeology and New Testament Greek; it includes five hours a week of Matriculation Greek; ten hours a week of undergraduate major and minor work; two hours a week of free elective; five hours a week of post-major work, open only to graduates and to undergraduates that have completed the major course in Greek; and six hours a week of graduate work.

A course of five hours a week throughout the year is provided for those students that wish to study Greek and whose examination for matriculation did not include it. Grammar and Composition are studied. Xenophon's Anabasis or Memorabilia and selections from Homer are read. Students may substitute for this course the minor, or first year's course in Latin. Either the matriculation course in Greek or the minor course in Latin is required of all candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Arts that have not passed the matriculation examination in Greek. This course is given by Miss Kirk under the direction of Dr. Wright.
Courses of Study. Greek.

First Year.
(Minor Course.)

1st Semester.
(Given in each year.)

Plato, Apology and Crito or Protagoras or Phædo, and Greek Prose Composition, Dr. Sanders. Two hours a week.

Sophocles, Antigone, Dr. Sanders. One hour a week.

Homer, Odyssey, Dr. Wright. Two hours a week.

(May be taken as a free elective.)

The Greek courses may not be offered for examination for advanced standing without class attendance.

Private reading: Euripides, Alesstis, ll. 1 to end must be read by students taking the five-hour course; Euripides, Alesstis, ll. 1-475 must be read by students taking the course in Homer only; Sophocles, Philoctetes, ll. 1-729 must be read by students taking the course in Plato and in Greek Prose Composition, omitting the course in Homer. Examinations on the private reading must be taken at the scheduled time during the semester by all students pursuing the Greek courses.

2nd Semester.

Euripides, Medea, and Greek Prose Composition, Dr. Sanders. Two hours a week.

Herodotus, Dr. Sanders. One hour a week.

Homer, Iliad, Dr. Wright. Two hours a week.

(May be taken as a free elective.)

The Greek courses may not be offered for examination for advanced standing without class attendance.

Private reading: Sophocles, Philoctetes, ll. 1-1080 and 1218-1313 must be read by students taking the five-hour course; Euripides, Alesstis, ll. 476-961 must be read by students taking the course in Homer only; Sophocles, Philoctetes, ll. 729 to end must be read by students taking the courses in Euripides and Greek Prose Composition, omitting the course in Homer. Examinations on the private reading must be taken at the scheduled time during the semester by all students pursuing the Greek courses.

Second Year.

1st Semester.
(Given in each year.)

Demosthenes, Dr. Sanders. Two hours a week.

Work in Greek prose composition is given in connection with this course.

Aristophanes, Dr. Sanders. One hour a week.

History of Greek Literature, Ionio-Dorian and Attic periods, Dr. Wright. Two hours a week.

Students who have not taken the work of the minor course are admitted to the course in History of Greek Literature as a free elective.

Private reading: Æschylus, Prometheus Vinctus, ll. 1 to end must be read by students taking the five-hour course; Æschylus, Persæ, ll. 1-680 must be read by students taking the courses in Demosthenes and Aristophanes, omitting the course in Greek literature; Æschylus, Prometheus Vinctus, ll. 1-136 must be read by students taking the course in Greek literature, omitting the courses in Demosthenes and Aristophanes. Examinations on the private reading must be taken at the scheduled time during the semester by all students pursuing the Greek courses.
End Semester.

Thucydides, Dr. Sanders. Two hours a week.

Work in Greek prose composition is given in connection with this course.

Sophocles, Dr. Sanders. One hour a week.

History of Greek Literature, Attic, Alexandrine, and Graeco-Roman periods, Dr. Wright. Two hours a week.

Students who have not taken the work of the minor course are admitted to the course in History of Greek Literature as a free elective.

The second year's work of the major course may be divided so as to cover a period of two years; but if elected for the first semester, the lectures on literature must be elected for the second semester also. The lectures on Demosthenes and Thucydides and the one-hour courses in Aristophanes and Sophocles may not be elected separately.

Private reading:
Eschylus, Persa, ll. 1 to end must be read by students taking the five-hour course;
Eschylus, Persa, ll. 681 to end must be read by students taking the courses in Thucydides and Sophocles, omitting the course in Greek literature;
Eschylus, Prometheus Vinctus, ll. 437-876 must be read by students taking the course in Greek literature, omitting the courses in Thucydides and Sophocles. Examinations on the private reading must be taken at the scheduled time during the semester by all students pursuing the Greek courses.

Group: Greek with any language, or with Philosophy, or with Philosophy and Psychology, or with Psychology, or with Ancient History, or with Classical Archaeology, or with Mathematics.

Free Elective Courses.

Greek Religion and Greek Myths, Dr. Wright. Two hours a week during the first semester.

This course is supplementary to Greek and English literature and to Oriental and Classical Archaeology and treats of the development of Greek religion, the attributes of the Olympian Gods, such as Zeus and Apollo, their ritual, and the influence on literature of Greek myths. This course may be offered as part of the minor course in Ancient History or as part of the minor course in Classical Archaeology.

Literary Geography of Greece and Asia Minor, Dr. Wright.

Two hours a week during the second semester.

This course traces not only the literary legends of famous sites such as Athens, Thebes, Troy and Constantinople, but also their political history. It may be offered as part of the minor course in Ancient History or as part of the minor course in Classical Archaeology.

Minor courses, amounting to ten hours a week which may be taken as free electives, are offered in Classical Archaeology. See pages 122 to 123.

Post-Major Courses.

The post-major courses are designed to bridge over the interval between the ordinary undergraduate studies and graduate work. As the amount of time given to undergraduate subjects differs in different colleges graduate students frequently find it advisable to elect some of these courses. No student that has not completed the equivalent of the minor and major courses in Greek is admitted to any post-major course in Greek.
Courses of Study. Greek.

- Euripides, Baccho, Dr. Sanders. One hour a week.
- Aeschylus, Septem, or Lucian, Dr. Wright. Two hours a week.

Graduate Courses.

Six hours a week of seminar work are offered each year to graduate students of Greek, accompanied by the direction of private reading and original research. The books needed by the graduate students are collected in the seminar library of the department. No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses or to the seminar library, but the post-major courses of the department amounting to five hours a week may be elected by graduates.

The graduate courses in Greek are varied from year to year in two series, Attic Tragedy, Orators, and Historians, and the Homeric Question, Plato, and Aristophanes, in order that they may be pursued by a student for consecutive years. Students electing Greek as a major subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy must offer not less than two seminaries and the journal club for two years and if Greek be also elected as the associated minor the candidate must offer two seminaries and the journal club for three years. A list of approved associated minors and independent minors is given in the Regulations of the Academic Council. A large part of the work expected of graduate students consists of courses of reading pursued under the direction of the department, and reports of this reading are from time to time required of the students. A reading knowledge of French and German is required. The course in Comparative Philology is recommended to graduate students of Greek. For graduate courses in Classical Archaeology, which may be offered as an associated or independent minor by students taking Greek as a major for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, see pages 123 to 124.

Greek Seminary, Dr. Sanders.

_Three hours a week throughout the year._
(Given in each year.)

In 1918-19 Greek Orators are studied in the seminary. The work consists of the reading of large portions of all the orators and the critical interpretation of a selected part of each. Lectures are given on legal antiquities, the syntax, and the style of the various authors, in conjunction with which Dionysius of Halicarnassus and the Greek rhetoricians are studied. The later rhetoricians are treated and their criticism of antiquity investigated. Students are expected to provide themselves with the Teubner text editions of Antiphan, Andocides, Lyais, Isocrates, IEschines, Hypereides, and Demoethenes. The classical library is well equipped with works on the orators.

In 1919-20 Greek Historians will be the main subject of the seminary. Thucydides is studied in detail and reports are made on data of history contained in Greek literature in general. Lectures are given by the instructor on subjects connected with Greek historiography, such as the composition of Thucydides's history, the syntax and style of Thucydides, the history of early prose, Greek historical inscriptions.

In 1920-21 Attic Tragedy will be the subject of the seminary. The work of the seminary in textual criticism is devoted to IEschylus. Members of the seminary report on assigned subjects and give critical summaries of current classical literature.

Greek Seminary, Dr. Wright.

_Two hours a week throughout the year._
(Given in each year.)

In 1918-19 the Homeric Question is the subject of the seminary; the work consists of a review of the discussions of the Homeric poems since the publication of Wolf's _Prolegomena_. The various tests that have been applied to the poems by archaeologists, linguists, historians of myths, and aesthetic critics are taken up and criticized in detail.

In 1919-20 Aristophanes will be the subject of the seminary. The aim of the seminary is to make the students familiar with the more important Aristophanic literature up to the present day. Portions of the text are interpreted by the class and reports on assigned topics, literary, historical, and archaeological, connected with the plays are expected from all the members. All the comedies of Aristophanes are read in the course of the year; lectures are given by the instructor on the metres and syntax of Aristophanes, on the dramatic structure of the plays and on the history of Attic comedy. Part of the work consists of analyses of dissertations on Aristophanes which are presented by members of the class. Every member of the class should provide herself in advance with a complete text of Aristophanes. The Clarendon Press (Oxford) edition is recommended.

In 1920-21 Plato will be the subject of the seminary. The work is mainly literary and critical. Lectures on the style, philosophy, and chronology of the dialogues are given by the instructor; a detailed interpretation of a portion of Plato, and reports on topics set for discussion are given by the class. The students are expected to read the _Republic_,
Courses of Study. Latin. 59

Theaetetus, Parmenides, and Sophist and discuss certain problems arising from these dialogues. The aim of the course is to lay a foundation for independent work by familiarizing the students with the achievements of scholarship and the general field of Platonic literature up to the present day. Every member of the seminary should provide herself in advance with a complete text of Plato. The Clarendon Press (Oxford) edition is recommended.

Greek Journal Club, Dr. Sanders and Dr. Wright.

One and a half hours once a fortnight throughout the year.

The instructors and the advanced students meet to report on and discuss recent articles and books.

Latin.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Arthur Leslie Wheeler, Professor of Latin, Dr. Tenney Frank, Professor of Latin, and Dr. Mary Hamilton Swindler, Instructor in Latin and Classical Archaeology. The instruction offered in Latin covers twenty-three hours of lectures and recitations a week, and includes ten hours a week of undergraduate major and minor work; seven hours a week of post-major work open only to graduates and to undergraduates that have completed the major course in Latin; and six hours a week of graduate work.

First Year.

(Minor Course)*

1st Semester.

(Cicero, Letters, Dr. Wheeler and Dr. Swindler. Three hours a week. Major Course. Given in each year.)

The class is divided into two sections, one of which is assigned to each instructor.

Horace, Odes, Dr. Frank and Dr. Swindler. Two hours a week.

(May be taken as a free elective.)

The class is divided into two sections, one of which is assigned to each instructor.

Private reading: Sallust's Catilina must be read during the first semester by students taking the five-hour course. Students taking the course in Horace only must read one half of the Catilina in each semester, while those taking the three-hour course in Cicero only read one half of Livy I (selections) in each semester. Examinations on the private reading must be taken at the scheduled time during the semester by all students pursuing the Latin courses.

* For regulations regarding the passing off of the Minor Latin, see footnote, pages 174-175. Students passing off the Minor Latin course for advanced standing are not required to take the separate examinations in private reading.
2nd Semester.

Terence, Phormio, Adelphoe, and Andria, Dr. Wheeler and Dr. Swindler. Three hours a week.

Horace, Selections from the Satires and Epistles and Vergil, Elocues, Dr. Frank and Dr. Swindler. Two hours a week.

(May be taken as a free elective.)

Private reading: Livy I (selections) must be read by students taking the five-hour course. Livy I (selections) (second half) must be read by students taking the course in Terence only. Sallust, Catilina (second half) must be read by students taking the course in Horace only. Examinations on the private reading must be taken at the scheduled time during the semester by all students pursuing the Latin courses.

Second Year.

1st Semester. (Given in each year.)

Tacitus, Annals, Dr. Wheeler. Three hours a week.

The reading is devoted chiefly to those parts of Books i–vi bearing on the character of Tiberius, a study of which forms one of the main objects of the course. Other important topics are Tacitus’s method as a historian, his style as a writer, the peculiarities of “Silver” Latin, etc. Several lectures are given on these and other subjects.

Lectures on Latin Literature, Dr. Frank. Two hours a week.

The lectures in this course treat the history of Latin Literature from its earliest beginnings down to the end of the second century of the Christian era, including all the authors from whose writings any important remains have been preserved. The libraries in each hall contain texts of the most important authors and extensive reading is required.

No student is admitted to any part of the major course in Latin who has not completed the work of the minor course. The major courses may not be offered for examination for advanced standing without class attendance.

Private reading: Suetonius, Tiberius must be read by students taking the five-hour course; Tacitus, Agricola (first half) must be read by students taking the course in Tacitus only; Suetonius, Tiberius (first half) must be read by students taking the course in Latin Literature only. Examinations on the private reading must be taken at the scheduled time during the semester by all students pursuing the Latin courses.

2nd Semester.

Latin Comedy, Plautus, Dr. Wheeler. Three hours a week.

The origin, development, and characteristics of Roman comedy are studied. Much attention is devoted to the peculiarities of archaic and colloquial Latin and to the reading of the simpler metres. Such topics as the theatre, stage, and actors receive special treatment in lectures. Four or five plays are read in class.

Lectures on Latin Literature (continued), Dr. Frank. Two hours a week.

The second year’s work of the major course may be divided so as to cover a period of two years; but if elected for the first semester, the lectures on literature must be elected for the second semester also.

No student is admitted to any part of the major course in Latin who has not completed the work of the minor course. The major courses may not be offered for examination for advanced standing without class attendance.

Private reading: Tacitus, Agricola must be read by students taking the five-hour course; Tacitus, Agricola (second half) must be read by students taking the course in Latin Comedy;
Courses of Study. Latin.

Suetonius, Tiberius (second half) must be read by students taking the course in Latin Literature only. Examinations on the private reading must be taken at the scheduled time during the semester by all students pursuing the Latin courses.

Group: Latin with any language, or with Philosophy, or with Classical Archaeology, or with Ancient History, or with Mathematics.

Post-major Courses.

The post-major courses are designed to bridge over the interval between the ordinary undergraduate studies and graduate work. As the amount of time given to undergraduate subjects differs in different colleges graduate students frequently find it advisable to elect some of these courses. No student that has not completed the minor and major courses in Latin is admitted to any post-major course in Latin.

In 1918–19 and again in 1920–21 the following post-major courses are offered:

1st Semester.

Roman Elegy, Dr. Wheeler. Two hours a week.

An effort is made to trace historically the development of this branch of poetry among the Romans. Selections from Catullus, Tibullus, Propertius, and Ovid are read and the readings are supplemented by occasional lectures. Special attention is devoted to the structure and reading of the elegiac distich and to the characteristics of Roman poetic diction. Each student is required to prepare papers on assigned topics in each semester.

The Life and Works of Vergil, Dr. Frank. Three hours a week.

The larger part of the Aeneid, two books of the Georgics and some of the minor poems are read and discussed.

Latin Prose Composition, Dr. Frank. Two hours a week.

This course is specially recommended to students who intend to teach Latin. It meets one hour a week, the remaining hour being given to interviews and individual work.

2nd Semester.

Roman Elegy (continued), Dr. Wheeler. Two hours a week.

Roman Prose of the Empire, Dr. Frank. Three hours a week.

Selections from Velleius, Seneca, Quintilian, Tacitus, Suetonius, Apuleius and Minucius Felix are read.

Latin Prose Composition (continued), Dr. Frank. Two hours a week.

In 1919–20 and again in 1921–22 the following post-major courses are offered:

1st Semester.

Roman Satire, Dr. Wheeler. Two hours a week.

The subject is treated historically in order to give an outline of the origin and development of Satire. The class reads selections from Horace, Persius, Seneca, Petronius, and Juvenal, together with some of the fragments of Ennius, Lucilius, and Varro. The readings are supplemented by occasional lectures. Each student is required to prepare papers on assigned topics in each semester.
Lucretius and Catullus, Dr. Frank.
Three hours a week.

Selections from the De Rerum Natura and from the Lyrics of Catullus are read.

Latin Prose Composition, Dr. Frank.
Two hours a week.

2nd Semester.

Roman Satire (continued), Dr. Wheeler.
Two hours a week.

Cicero and Caesar, Dr. Frank.
Three hours a week.

An effort is made by means of lectures, discussions, and extensive reading to gain an intimate acquaintance with the literary work and the political careers of Cicero and Caesar.

Latin Prose Composition (continued), Dr. Frank.
Two hours a week.

Graduate Courses.

Six hours a week of seminary work are offered each year to graduate students of Latin accompanied by the direction of private reading and original research. The books needed by graduate students are collected in the seminary library of the department. No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses or to the seminary library, but the post-major courses of the department amounting to six hours a week may be elected by graduates.

The graduate work in Latin is conducted according to the seminary method, and is intended not only to broaden the student's knowledge, but also to teach methods of work. The graduate courses in Latin are varied from year to year in three series, Roman Comedy, Lyric Poetry, and Elegy and Roman History, Epigraphy and Literature, or Syntax. Students electing Latin as a major subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy must offer not less than two seminars and the journal club for two years and if Latin be also elected as the associated minor the candidate must offer two seminars and the journal club for three years. A list of approved associated and independent minors is given in the Regulations of the Academic Council. It is desirable that all students who intend to do advanced work in Latin should have some knowledge of Greek. A reading knowledge of French and German is also necessary.

Latin Seminary, Dr. Wheeler.
Three hours a week throughout the year.
(Given in each year.)

In 1918–19 Latin Comedy is the subject of the seminary. All the plays of Plautus and Terence are read by the students; single plays form the basis of special work on the language, text, metres, etc. Students should provide themselves with the text edition of Plautus, edited by Goetz and Schoell, Leipsic, Teubner, 1892–1904, or that of W. M. Lindsay, Oxford, 1903–04, and with Dziatzko's text of Terence, Leipsic, Tauchnitz, 1884. The plays of Plautus, annotated by Brix, Leipsic, Teubner, 1901–12, and by Lorenz, Berlin, Weidmann, 1876–86, and the plays of Terence, annotated by Dziatzko (revised by Hauler), 1898 and 1913 (Teubner), and by Spengel, 1879 and 1905 (Weidmann), are also recommended. P. Terenti Afri Commedia, edited by S. G. Ashmore, Oxford University Press, New York, 1908, is a convenient commentary.

In 1919–20 Roman Lyric in the Period of the Republic will be the subject of the seminary. After a rapid survey of the fragmentary lyric remains of the predecessors and contemporaries of Catullus, the poems of Catullus himself are studied in detail. Students should have Catulli carmina (Oxford text, 1904), edited by Robinson Ellis, and either the same scholar's Commentary on Catullus, Oxford, Clarendon Press, 1889 (second edition), or G. Friedrich's Catulli Veronensis liber. Leipsic and Berlin, 1908 (Teubner).
In 1920–21 Roman Elegy as represented by Tibullus, Propertius, and Ovid will be the subject of the seminary. In addition to a careful study of selected poems an effort is made to trace the history of elegy among the Romans. The various topics connected with the subject are treated in detail as far as time permits, and the students are encouraged to familiarize themselves with the best literature in editions, periodicals, and dissertations. The texts recommended are the Oxford Clarendon Press editions of Catullus and Tibullus, edited by Ellis and Postgate, and the Leipsic (Teubner) text of Propertius, edited by C. Hosius, 1911. The best commentaries are Kirby Smith’s The Elegies of Tibullus, New York, 1913 (American Book Co.), and M. Rothstein’s Die Elegien des Sextus Propertius, Berlin, 1898 (Weidmann). For Catullus see Roman Lyric.

Latin Seminary, Dr. Frank.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

In 1918–19 Cicero’s Correspondence is the subject of the seminary. An effort is made to master typical textual and linguistic problems presented by this text, and more especially to extend the student’s acquaintance with the Roman civilization of Cicero’s day.

In 1919–20 selected topics in Roman Literature will be studied. The work consists of studies in the beginnings of the Roman epic, tragedy, and prose. The students read reports on special subjects assigned to them. A study of Latin Syntax may be substituted.

In 1920–21 Latin Epigraphy and Palaeography will be the subject of the seminary. About two-thirds of the course is devoted to the study of the Corpus Inscriptionum. The questions assigned for investigation deal mainly with Roman political institutions, public and private life, and with historical grammar. Dessau’s Inscriptiones Latinae Selectae is used in the class room. The paleographical facsimiles of Chatelain, Zangemeister and Wattenbach, and Arndt form the basis for work in the latter part of the course.

Latin Journal Club, Dr. Wheeler and Dr. Frank.

One and a half hours once a fortnight throughout the year.

The instructors and the advanced students meet to report on and discuss recent articles and books.

Courses of Study. English.

Crandall, Professor of English Composition, Dr. Samuel Claggett Chew, Associate Professor of English Literature, Dr. Howard James Savage,* Associate Professor of Rhetoric and Director of the Work in English Composition, Mr. Samuel Arthur King, Non-resident Lecturer in English Diction, Dr. Howard Rollin Patch, Associate in English Philology, Miss Esther Cloudman Dunn, Instructor in English Composition and Acting Director of First and Second Year English Composition, Miss Emily Gifford Noyes, Miss Helen McGregor Noyes, Miss Margaret W. Watson and Dr. Esther Parker Ellinger, Instructors in English, and Miss Eva Alice Worrall Bryne, Reader in English.

The instruction offered in English covers forty-three hours of lectures and recitations a week, and includes two years of lectures on literature and language required of every candidate for the Bachelor's degree; two years of Minor and Major English, which presuppose as much information as is contained in the required course, and may be elected in combination with the major course in any other language, or with philosophy, or with philosophy and psychology, or as a free elective; eight hours a week of free elective work; one hour a week of elective courses in English diction, and graduate courses in English literature, Composition, Anglo-Saxon, and Early and Middle English.

The required course consists of lectures on literature and language, in which the history of English literature is regarded as far as possible from the point of view of European literature generally; a study of the principles of English composition with constant practice in writing; and courses of private reading, which are meant to familiarise the student with English authors. The instruction in English composition is given in three ways: in introductory lectures, in written corrections on papers written by the students, and in conferences between the instructors and students. The course in English composition, though not connected with the lectures on literature and language, may not be elected separately. The courses are required to be taken in the order given below. The first year course must be completed before the second year course is taken and English Composition, Part I, must precede the first year lectures on the History of English Literature. The second year course in History of English Literature must precede the course in English Composition, Part II.

* Granted leave of absence for the years 1917-19 on war service.
Courses of Study. English.

First Year.

1st Semester. (Given in each year.)

General English Composition, Part I, Dr. Savage,* Miss Dunn, Miss E. G. Noyes, Miss H. M. Noyes, Miss Watson. Four hours a week.

For the most part, the course is concerned with a rapid survey of the elements of usage and discourse, and with the study of exposition, argument, and allied topics and forms. Some attention will be paid to oral composition. The written work consists of papers both short and long and various exercises. Personal interviews between instructor and student form an important part of the work. Much stress is laid upon illustrative reading. The class meets once, and sometimes twice, a week; the divisions meet regularly twice each week.

The Principles of Articulation, Mr. King. One hour a fortnight.

This course deals with a system of oral gymnastics, by which a distinct, firm, and fluent articulation can be acquired. The means of instruction for improving the quality of the speaking voice, and for acquiring a correct production, are pointed out. Special attention is paid to the cure of nasality and other vicious habits of speaking. The common errors of articulation and the vulgarisms constantly heard in every-day speech are clearly defined. A special class will be formed to assist those students whose defects of articulation are so marked as to make it difficult for them to work with the other members of the class.

2nd Semester.

Lectures on the History of English Literature, Miss Donnelly. Five hours a week.

Beginning with a history of the English language and Anglo-Saxon literature, the lectures give a brief introduction to the study of early Teutonic literature and mythology. The history of English literature to the death of Spenser and of mediaeval literature, occupies the second half of the course.

The Principles of Articulation (continued), Mr. King. One hour a fortnight.

Second Year.

1st Semester. (Given in each year.)

Lectures on the History of English Literature from the death of Spenser to the present time, inclusive, with a short account of the influences of the contemporary continental literatures, Miss Donnelly. Five hours a week.

The Sonant Properties of Speech, Mr. King. One hour a fortnight.

This course consists of a detailed study of the principles of inflection, pitch, and rhythm, together with special treatment of emphasis and rules on pausing. Students are required from time to time to read aloud in order that individual faults may be corrected.

2nd Semester.

General English Composition, Part II, Dr. Savage,* Miss Dunn, Miss E. G. Noyes, Miss H. M. Noyes, Miss Watson, Dr. Ellinger. Four hours a week.

In this course the work of the first year is continued with reference to description, narration, and allied forms and topics. The arrangements as to papers, reading, interviews, class meetings, and similar matters are like those for the first year.

* See footnote, page 64.
The major course in English differs slightly from the other major courses of the college, in that it must always have been preceded by two years' study of English in the required undergraduate courses. Any of the courses, except the courses in English Drama, in English Fiction in the nineteenth century, in English Literature from Dryden to Johnson, in English Literature from Bacon to Milton, and the courses in Shakespeare and in Middle English Poetry, and Chaucer, may be taken separately as free electives by students that have completed the required course. All students taking a major course in English must take one course in language, and those students who wish to specialise in language must take at least one course in literature.

First Year.

1st Semester.

Minor Course. (Literature.)

English Critics of the Nineteenth Century, Dr. Chew. Five hours a week.

(Given in each year.)

Carlyle, Ruskin, Arnold, Pater, and Morley are studied with regard to their influence upon the thought of their time. A report is required from each student attending this course.

2nd Semester.

English Poetry, 1850-1914, Dr. Chew. Five hours a week.

(Given in 1918-19 and again in 1920-21.)

A review of the progress of poetry during the first half of the nineteenth century is followed by a more detailed study of the poets of the later period.

English Romantic Poets, Miss Donnelly. Five hours a week.

(Given in 1919-20 and again in 1921-22.)

The poets studied in this course are Wordsworth, Coleridge, and Shelley in the first semester and in the second, Byron, and Keats. Their works are discussed in class in connection with questions of poetics and literary theory and reports are required from students attending the course.

1st Semester.

Language.

Middle English Poetry and Chaucer, Dr. Patch. Five hours a week.

(Given in 1919-20 and again in 1921-22.)

The course begins with an outline of Middle English grammar sufficient to enable the students to read ordinary texts intelligently. Lectures are given on the development of the language and literature during the period. In the course on Chaucer the best of the Canterbury Tales are studied, also the Legend of Good Women, The House of Fame, and portions of Troilus and Criseyde. The lectures discuss Chaucer’s sources and literary art, and his relation to the English, French, and Italian literature of his time.

Anglo-Saxon Prose and Beowulf, Dr. Patch. Five hours a week.

(Given in 1920-21 and again in 1922-23.)

The first half of the course is devoted to an outline of Anglo-Saxon grammar as presented in Siever’s Old English Grammar (Cook’s translation) and to the reading of the prose selections in Bright’s Anglo-Saxon Reader. After reading one or two of the shorter Anglo-Saxon poems, the Beowulf is taken up (Wyatt and Chambers’ text) and the first two-thirds of the poem is read with the class.
Second Year.

1st Semester.

English Drama, Dr. Chew.

(Literature.

Five hours a week.

(Given in 1919-20 and again in 1921-22.)

This course comprises a survey of the early drama, close study of the Elizabethan and Jacobean dramatists (excluding Shakespeare), and an introduction to the later periods of the drama. A report is required from each student attending this course.

English Literature from Bacon to Milton, Dr. Chew.

(Literature.

Five hours a week.

(Given in 1920-21 and again in 1922-23.)

The Authorized Version of the Bible; late Elizabethan and Jacobean Prose; the poets following Spenser and before Milton; and related matters such as the Witch Controversy and the political pamphlets of the time are among the chief topics in this course. A report is required from each member of the class.

2nd Semester.

English Fiction in the Nineteenth Century, Dr. Savage.* Five hours a week.

(Literature.

Given in 1920-21 and again in 1922-23.)

A study of the principal types of English prose fiction during the last century, the short story and the novel, with attention to their origins, development, and technique.

English Literature from Dryden to Johnson, Dr. Chew.

Five hours a week.

(Literature.

Given in 1920-21 and again in 1921-22.)

The poets from Butler to Thomson; the essayists; the philosophers from Hobbes to Hume; and the beginnings of the English novel are the chief subjects studied in this course. A report is required from each student attending the course.

2nd Semester.

Shakespeare, Dr. Patch.

(Five hours a week.

(Literature.

Given in 1920-21 and again in 1922-23.)

A careful study is made of a number of Shakespeare's plays, selected with a view to illustrating his earlier and later work. The plays usually chosen are: King Lear, Henry IV, Part I, Hamlet, Romeo and Juliet, and The Tempest. Some of the more general problems connected with these plays are discussed in introductory lectures and various topics are taken up such as the principles of tragedy and comedy, the use of allegory and the development of Shakesperian criticism.

Middle English Romances, Dr. Patch.

(Five hours a week.

(Literature.

Given in 1918-19 and again in 1919-20.)

Selected romances in Middle English are read by the members of the class. The lectures deal with the development of Romance literature in Europe with special reference to the romances of the Arthurian cycle, and the discussion includes a review of the development of medieval themes in later periods.

Group: English with any language, or English with Philosophy, or English with Philosophy and Psychology.

Courses of Study. English.

Free Elective Courses.

The Technique of the Drama, Dr. Savage. Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1918-19 and again in 1921-22.)

This course is open only to those students who can assure the instructor that they can pursue the work with profit. It deals with the making of scenarios, adaptation, and the writing of original longer and shorter plays; and with the observation of dramatic technique in plays read and seen.

Materials and Methods of Teaching Composition, Dr. Savage.

Two hours a week during the second semester.

(Given in 1921-22 and again in 1923-24.)

This course is intended for graduate students and for undergraduates who expect to teach English; its aim is to present some of the problems of collegiate instruction in composition: the planning and supervision of courses, reports on departments in various colleges, and allied problems. Practice in writing is gained through reports of varying character and length.

The Short Story, Dr. Crandall. Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1918-19 and again in 1920-21.)

The course deals with various forms of narrative, more especially the short story, and includes a study of the work of representative authors, both English and French. The course is open to students who have completed the required course in English composition and obtained the grade of merit in one semester of the course. This course was given in 1918-19 two hours a week during the second semester.

Versification, Dr. Crandall.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1918-19 and again in 1920-21.)

The course is not historical but theoretical and practical. Students are required to write short exercises in verse every week. The course is open to students who have completed the required course in English composition and obtained the grade of merit in one semester of the course. This course was given in 1918-19 two hours a week during the second semester.

Daily Themes, Dr. Crandall.

Two hours a week during the first semester.

(Given in 1918-19, 1919-20 and again in 1921-22.)

Short papers on subjects chosen by the students themselves are required from each student and discussed in the class. The course is open to students who have completed the required course in English composition and obtained the grade of merit in one semester of the course.

Criticism, Dr. Crandall.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1918-19, 1919-20 and again in 1921-22.)

The course includes a study of the principles of criticism and the writing of critical expositions, the essay, and kindred forms. The course is open to students who have completed the required course in English composition and obtained the grade of merit in one semester of the course.

Argumentation, Dr. Crandall.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1919-20 and again in 1921-22.)

The writing of arguments, the study of the form with reference to other types of writing, and other problems connected with argumentation, formal and informal, make up the work of the course. If possible, some attention will be paid to oral composition. The course is open to students who have completed the required course in English composition and obtained the grade of merit in one semester of the course.
General Reading of Prose Authors, Mr. King.

One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1918-19 and again in 1920-21.)

This course is open only to those students who have attended the lectures in English diction given in the general course.

Reading of Shakespeare, Mr. King.

One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1919-20 and again in 1921-22.)

This course is open only to those students who have attended the lectures in English diction given in the general course. A special study is made of the principles of correct delivery of blank verse. The needs of those students who expect to teach English literature and desire to read Shakespeare to their pupils are given special attention.

Graduate Courses.

There are offered each year distinct graduate seminaries and courses in English literature and in English language, and these seminaries and courses are varied so as to enable candidates for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy to pursue graduate work for three or more successive years. The graduate instruction in English literature includes the direction of private reading and the assignment of topics for investigation. The graduate courses in literature presuppose at least as much knowledge as is obtained in the two years' course of undergraduate lectures on English literature and in one of the literature years of the English major; and the graduate courses in Anglo-Saxon presuppose as much knowledge of Anglo-Saxon as is obtained in the language year in the English major. All students offering English as a subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy must have taken at least the equivalent of the composition in the required English course.

Students who elect English literature as their major subject in their examination for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy must offer English philology as an associated minor and those who offer English philology as a major subject must offer English literature as an associated minor. In the major together with the associated minor the student must offer two seminaries and a journal club for three years. A list of approved independent minors is given in the Regulations of the Academic Council.

Miss Donnelly will offer in each year special assignments of reading and reports for foreign students who have come intending to study American literature and to prepare for examinations in it abroad.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Seminary in English Literature, Miss Donnelly.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in alternate years.)

In 1918-19 Eighteenth Century Prose is the subject of the seminary. Swift, Addison, and Steele are studied. Attention is given to their relations to both contemporary politics and literature.

In 1920-21 the Romantic Poets will be the subject of the seminary. Special attention will be paid to Shelley and Byron and to the phases of Romanticism shown in their work. Their relations to their contemporaries in England and on the Continent will be discussed.
In 1922-23 Donne and Milton will be the subject of the seminary. They will be studied in their relation to such contemporary influences as Platonism and the Church and Puritanism and in especial to the sources and development of poetical style in the seventeenth century.

Seminary in English Literature, Dr. Chew.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

In 1918-19 the earlier Romantic Period is the subject of the seminary. The poetry of Blake and Burns; the revival of interest in the popular ballads; the novel between Sterne and Scott; and the drama of the period are among the subjects considered.

In 1919-20 the seminary will study various aspects of English Literature during the reign of Victoria.

In 1920-21 the plays of Jonson, Webster, Middleton, and Dekker will be studied.

Seminary in English Composition, Dr. Crandall.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

The chief business of the seminary is the discussion and criticism of the students' own writing. Its aim is to make familiar and apply the principles and standards of criticism that have developed with the development of literature; the subject of study in each year is adapted to the purpose and interests of the students.

In 1918-19 the seminary studies the manner of writers of biography and memoirs, among others Boswell, Lord Morley and Henry Adams.

In 1919-20 the subject of the seminary will be historical writing and will include a study of the manner of Gibbon, J. R. Green, Motley, Parkman and other historians.

In 1920-21 modern fiction, English, French and Russian, will be the subject of the seminary.

Seminary in Middle English, Dr. Patch.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

In 1918-19 the Beginnings of English Drama is the subject of the seminary. After tracing the emergence of plays in the vernacular from the liturgical drama, the evolution of the leading English mystery cycles is studied. In considering the morality plays their connection with medieval allegories, debates, and didactic treatises is especially examined. The lectures given by the instructor are designed to afford a general survey of the drama (both religious and secular) in England to the accession of Queen Elizabeth. Critical reports on assigned topics are required from the students.

In 1919-20 Middle English Romances will be the subject of the seminary. All the romances represented in Middle English are read, and the relation of these English versions to their Latin and Old French originals are discussed. The romance cycles are taken up in the following order: Troy story, Alexander saga, Arthurian cycle, romances of Germanic origin, Charlemagne cycle. Special investigations of problems relating to the romances are undertaken from time to time by the members of the seminary.

In 1920-21 the seminary will study The Vision of Piers the Plowman and the works of Chaucer. Attention is devoted not so much to the critical reading of the texts themselves as to the examination of the questions of authorship and chronology which have recently been raised. These poems are also discussed in their relation to the other literature of the fourteenth century. Special subjects for individual investigation are assigned to the members of the seminary.

Beowulf, Dr. Patch.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1918-19 and again in 1920-21.)

This course begins with a careful textual study of the Beowulf. After discussing the problems of editing, a general survey of Beowulf criticism is presented including theories as to the composition of the poem, and an inquiry into its historical and mythological elements. In this connection a study is also made of the other pieces of Anglo-Saxon heathen poetry. This course is open to graduate students who have already taken the course in Anglo-Saxon grammar and reading of Anglo-Saxon texts, or its equivalent.

English Historical Grammar, Dr. Patch.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1918-19 and again in 1920-21.)

In this course the development of the English Language is traced from the earliest times. After an outline has been given of the history and external relations of English, the change and decay of inflections, the use of prepositions and the more important points in historical syntax are discussed. The course presupposes a knowledge of Anglo-Saxon and Middle English. The students will examine various documents of the different periods to discover evidence of the operation of linguistic principles.

Cynewulf and Cædmon, Dr. Patch.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1919-20 and again in 1921-22.)

Several of the poems traditionally ascribed to these authors are critically studied. Lectures are given furnishing an introduction to Anglo-Saxon Christian poetry and the literary problems connected with it. This course is open to graduate students who have already taken the course in Anglo-Saxon, or its equivalent.

Technical and Advanced Criticism, Dr. Savage.*

Two hours a week during the first semester.

(Given in 1919-20.)

In this course attention will be given to bibliography, the tabulating of critical data, the planning and writing of papers, reports, and dissertations, critical usage, and other matters. Materials collected for other courses in research are available for use in this work.

English Journal Club, Miss Donnelly, Dr. Chew, Dr. Crandall, Dr. Savage,* and Dr. Patch.

One and a half hours a month throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

The advanced students and the instructors meet to report on and discuss recent reviews and critical articles.

Romance Languages.

French.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Eunice Morgan Schenck, Associate Professor of French; Dr. Jean Baptiste Beck, Associate Professor of Mediaeval French Literature; Madame Claude Rivière, Associate in French, and Dr. Margaret Steel Duncan, Instructor in French and Spanish.

The instruction offered in French covers thirty-one hours of lectures and recitations a week; it includes five hours a week of matriculation French; ten hours a week of undergraduate major and minor work; five hours a week of post-major work, open only to graduates and to undergraduates that have completed

* See footnote, page 64.
the major course in French; and eleven hours a week of graduate work in modern French literature and in Old French literature and language. All the courses in French except the matriculation course and the seminary in philology are conducted in the French language.

A class for beginners in French five hours a week throughout the year is provided, in order that those students whose matriculation examination did not include French may obtain a reading knowledge of it if they desire to do so. By great diligence students taking this course may acquire sufficient knowledge to be admitted into the first year of the major course in French. This course is given in 1918-19 by Dr. Duncan and in 1919-20 by Miss Crawford.

Entrance to the major course in French presupposes as much knowledge as is required to pass the matriculation examination in this subject.

First Year.
(Minor Course.)

1st Semester. (Given in each year.)

Lectures on the history of French Literature of the nineteenth century, accompanied by collateral reading, Dr. Schenck and Madame Rivière.

Three hours a week.

These lectures are delivered in French, and students are expected to take notes and answer questions in French. The aim of the course is to train the students to follow lectures in French as well as to give them a general survey of Modern French literature.

Critical Readings in French prose and poetry of the nineteenth century.
Practical Exercises in French Syntax and Composition, Dr. Schenck and Madame Rivière.

Two hours a week.

In the first semester selections from the poetry of Victor Hugo are read in class; in the second semester Balzac's Eugénie Grandet is read. In the course in syntax and composition Goodrich, French Composition, is used.

2nd Semester.

Lectures on the history of French Literature of the nineteenth century, accompanied by collateral reading, (continued), Madame Rivière and Dr.
Duncan.

Two hours a week.

Critical Readings in French prose and poetry of the nineteenth century.
Practical Exercises in French Syntax and Composition, Madame Rivière and Dr. Duncan.

Two hours a week.

The advanced standing examinations, or examinations taken without attendance on the college classes, in the reading and composition of the minor, two hours a week for two semesters, may be taken by those students only who are able to submit satisfactory evidence that they have obtained before entering the college, by regular and systematic study, or by residence abroad or work under French governesses the necessary advanced knowldge and are able to pass the examination in the first three weeks after entering the college.
Failure to pass at the first trial will disqualify from further trials. The examination in translation will consist of sight translation from French (usually poetry) into English. V. Hugo’s Les Châtiments (Hachette, Paris), La Légende des Siècles, id. (the first two volumes), or Schin’s Selections from Victor Hugo (Heath, Boston) will give an idea of the kind of translation required. The examination in composition will as a rule consist in translating a short passage of every-day idiomatic English.

SECOND YEAR.

1st Semester. (Given in each year.)

Lectures on the history of French Literature in the seventeenth century accompanied by collateral reading, Dr. Beck. Three hours a week.

Critical Readings in the Literature of the seventeenth century. Studies in French Style and Composition, Dr. Beck. Two hours a week.

2nd Semester.

Lectures on the history of French Literature in the eighteenth century accompanied by collateral reading, Dr. Schenck. Three hours a week.

Critical Readings in the Literature of the eighteenth century. Studies in French Style and Composition, Dr. Schenck. Two hours a week.

The advanced standing examinations or examinations taken without attendance on the college classes in the reading and composition of the major, two hours a week for two semesters may be taken by those students only who are able to submit satisfactory evidence, that they have obtained before entering the college by regular and systematic study, or by residence abroad or work under French governesses, the necessary advanced knowledge and are able to pass the examination in the first three weeks after entering the college. Failure to pass at the first trial will disqualify from further trials. The examination in translation will consist of sight translation from French (usually poetry) into English. V. Hugo’s Les Châtiments (Hachette, Paris), La Légende des Siècles, id. (the first two volumes), or Warren’s Selections from Victor Hugo (Holt, New York) will give an idea of the kind of translation required. More difficult passages will be selected than for the minor advanced standing examination. The composition consists of one or two pieces of connected English, taken from such books as Stevenson’s Treasure Island, Jerome K. Jerome’s Idle Thoughts of an Idle Fellow. No specific question in French grammar is asked; students are expected to show their knowledge of grammar in the composition. Cameron’s The Elements of French Composition (Holt, New York), and Storm’s French Dialogues (Maemillan, London) will be found useful in composition work.

Group: French with Italian and Spanish, or with any language, or with Modern History, or with History of Art.

POST-MAJOR COURSES.

The post-major courses are designed to bridge over the interval between the ordinary undergraduate studies and graduate work. As the amount of time given to undergraduate subjects differs in different colleges graduate students frequently find it advisable to elect some of these courses.

Modern French Drama, Dr. Schenck. Three hours a week throughout the year. (Given in 1918-19 and again in 1920-21.)

The course begins with a study of the plays of the Romantic period, and traces the development of French drama throughout the nineteenth century to the present day. A special study is made of the modern tendencies represented by Brieux, Maeterlinck, and Paul Claudel. The course is conducted by means of lectures, class-room discussion, and reports.
The Short Story (Nouvelle) in the nineteenth century, Dr. Schenek.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1919-20 and again in 1921-22.)

In the first semester the nouvelles of the romantic period are studied in the works of Chateaubriand, Nodier, Vigny, Musset, Balzac, Mérimée, and Gautier. The lectures of the second semester treat the development and modification of realism by Flaubert, Zola, Daudet, Coppée, Loti, Bourget, France, and others, while a careful study of the technique of the nouvelle is made in connection with Maupassant.

Evolution of French Lyric Poetry, Madame Rivièrè.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1918-19 and again in 1920-21.)

The origins of modern French lyric poetry are discussed with special emphasis on the poets of the "Pleiade." The romantic movement, l'Ecole du Parnasse, and the later nineteenth century poets are also studied.

The Evolution of the French Essay, Madame Rivièrè.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1919-20 and again in 1921-22.)

The authors studied are Montaigne, Pascal, la Rochefoucauld, La Bruyère, Diderot, Voltaire, Renan, Sainte Beuve, Taine, etc.

Graduate Courses.

Ten hours a week of seminary work and graduate lectures are offered each year to graduate students of French, accompanied by the direction of private reading and original research. The courses, covering the field of Old and Modern French Language and Literature are arranged to form a triennial cycle. The work of each year centers about one main topic to be studied as part of the history of French literature in its various relations to the general literature and civilisation of the period concerned. Students may enter the seminary in any year and pursue it during three or more consecutive years. The members of the seminaries report on theses assigned them at the beginning of each semester.

Students who choose French literature as their major subject in their examination for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy must offer French philology as the associated minor and students who offer French philology as a major subject must offer French literature as the associated minor. A list of approved independent minors will be found in the Regulations of the Academic Council. In the major together with the associated minor the student must offer two seminars and a journal club for three years.

Literature.

Seminary in Modern French Literature, Dr. Schenek.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

In 1918-19 the subject of the seminary is Nineteenth Century Drama. After a rapid survey of the theatre of the eighteenth century a careful study is made of the drama of Hugo, Dumas père, Vigny, and Musset, and the extent of the influence of Shakespeare on French romantic drama. The rise and development of realistic comedy are studied and the course closes with an examination of Post-Realism, Symbolism, and Contemporary French drama.
In 1919-20 the subject of the seminar will be Romanticism and Realism. The origins of romanticism will be examined in the rise of "le cosmopolitisme littéraire," in eighteenth century French literature and especially in the works of Rousseau and Madame de Staël. A parallel study of the theories underlying literary and historical realism will be made in connection with Taine, Renan, Zola, and Maupassant.

In 1920-21 the subject of the seminar will be Phases of Romanticism in the Nineteenth Century as illustrated by Hugo, Gautier, and Flaubert. A special study is made of the origin and development of the theory of L'art pour l'art.

Seminary in Mediaeval French Literature, Dr. Beck.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

The work expected of graduate students in the seminar in Mediaeval French Literature consists of a palaeographical analysis of the original manuscripts, a cursory interpretation of the texts, a review of the opinions expressed by the respective specialists on each subject and a critical discussion of the comparative value of the work in question. These reports are intended to train graduate students in literary research. The courses in other Romance Languages (Italian and Spanish) and also those in Middle English are recommended to students in Medieval French literature. During her first year of work in this seminar each student is required to take also the Introduction into the Study of Romance Philology, unless she has already taken a corresponding course.

In 1918-19 the Evolution of Dramatic and Epic Literature from the twelfth to the sixteenth century is studied in the seminar: the development of actual stage drama from the primitive liturgical ceremonies, these and the epic parts of Scripture in relation to the Mystères; the dramatic elements contained in mediaeval lyric, such as the Aubes, Pastourelles, Jeux-Partis and in the dialogue forms of certain types, such as the Chansons à danse; the primitive Opera comique, a combination of lyrics and epics; Ancassin et Nicolete, Robin et Marion, le Jeu de St. Nicolas, etc. The work of the second semester is devoted entirely to a systematic study of the origin and development of Old French epics in the light of Bédier's work.

In 1919-20 the subject of the seminar in Mediaeval French Literature is the Origin of French Literature from the earliest documents to the twelfth century. The literary products of this period are read and interpreted from photographic reproductions of the original manuscripts. The main emphasis is laid upon the development of mediaeval literature from the previous Middle Latin literature, to show the interrelations between literature written in the various languages and dialects, both Romanic and Germanic, and the religious literature, and to illustrate the international character of literature during that period. The origin of mediaeval lyric poetry is derived from the Tropes and Sequences of St. Martial de Limoges and of St. Gall, the Epic Poetry from the Lives of the Saints and the dramatic literature from the Liturgy of the Church. The absolute unity of mediaeval art in the conception of the authors and artists of the Romanesque and Gothic periods will be illustrated by the mutual connections between the various literary genres and the different branches of fine arts, such as architecture, sculpture, painting, and music.

In 1920-21 the subject of the seminar will be Rabelais' Gargantua et Pantagruel.

Old French Philology, Dr. Beck.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

Historical Grammar of Old French, followed by Critical Reading of Old French texts, in their chronological order, chosen from the most representative genres and dialects, including Anglo-Norman. Students of Old French Philology should be provided with E. Monaci's Pascimili di Documenti per la storia delle lingue e delle letterature Romane, Nyrop, Grammaire historique de la Langue Française, Vol. 1, and K. Bartsch, Chrêstomathie de l'Ancien Français. This course is equivalent to a full seminar and counts as such.

Introduction into the Study of Romance Philology, Dr. Beck.

One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

Derivation of the Romance Languages, chiefly Old French, Old Italian and Old Spanish. This course is planned to meet the needs of all students of Romance Languages whether they are specializing in French, Italian or Spanish. It will require two hours of work a week in addition to the hour of lecture. Graduate students taking the graduate course in Old French Philology or the graduate language courses in Italian and Spanish who have not had this course or its equivalent are strongly advised to take it at the same time, and will be given an allowance of three hours in the work required to make these courses equivalent to seminars. The two combined courses will be equivalent to a full seminar and will count as such.

The Foundations of French Grammar, Dr. Beck.
One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1918-19 and again in 1920-21.)

This course is intended to train teachers to be able to give a rational explanation of the various functions of parts of speech and to dispense with mechanical grammatical rules.

Old Provençal, Dr. Beck.
One hour a week during the first semester.

(Given in 1919-20.)

Historical Grammar of the Old Provençal language.

Old Provençal Literature.
One hour a week during the second semester.

(Given in 1919-20.)

The evolution from the Tropes and Sequences of the Trcubadour-Lyrics and earliest Provençal Drama.

The Influence of Mediæval Latin Poetry upon Romance and Teutonic Versification, Dr. Beck.
One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1919-20 if the courses in old Provençal are not given.)

The linguistic difference between Classical and Low Latin explains the change from quantitative to qualitative prosody. The fundamental difference between the rhythmical nature of Teutonic and Romance languages explains the dissimilarity in their respective versification. The origin of Rime and of Isosyllabism in French.

Students who take this course are supposed to be familiar with classical and mediæval literature.

Advanced Old French Philology, Dr. Beck.

One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1919-20 if the courses in old Provençal are not given.)

The influence of Mediæval Latin upon the formation of the Old French literary language is studied. After an introduction to Mediæval Latin philology, the linguistic value of mediæval grammars, glosses, commentaries and interlinear translations is examined.

This course is open only to graduate students who have already taken the graduate course in Old French Philology and the seminar in Mediæval French Literature or their equivalents.

French Literature, Madame Rivière.
Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

The method used in advanced literary instruction in France and known as the "Explications de textes" will be employed, students being required to give oral lessons and to write many short papers.

In 1918-19 seventeenth century authors are studied.
In 1919-20 authors of the eighteenth century will be studied.
In 1920-21 the period selected will be the sixteenth century.

Romance Languages Journal Club, Dr. Schenck, Dr. Beck, Madame Rivière, Dr. Riddell, Miss Dorado, and Dr. Duncan.

One and a half hours a fortnight throughout the year.

The journal club is intended to make the advanced students familiar with all the important European periodicals and with new books dealing with Romance Philology.
Italian.

The instruction in this department is given by Dr. Agnes Rutherford Riddell, Associate in Italian.

The instruction offered in Italian covers twelve hours of lectures and recitations a week; it includes ten hours a week of undergraduate minor and major work; and two hours a week of graduate work.

A combination of five hours a week for one year of the minor course in Italian with five hours a week for one year of the minor course in Spanish forms a major course and may be taken with any other language to form a group.

First Year.

Minor Course.

Introductory Italian, Dr. Riddell. Five hours a week throughout the year.

(May be taken as a free elective.)

This course is specially designed to enable students (a) to read modern Italian and to write simple Italian; (b) to read Dante as soon as possible. The reading of Dante will, it is hoped, be begun before the end of the first semester. Some practice is given in speaking Italian.

The advanced standing examinations or examinations taken without attendance on the college classes in the minor course in Italian, five hours a week for one or two semesters, may be taken by those students only who are able to submit satisfactory evidence that they have obtained before entering the college by regular and systematic study, or by residence abroad, the necessary advanced knowledge and are able to pass the examination in the first three weeks after entering college. Failure to pass at the first trial will disqualify from further trials.

Second Year.

Lectures on the History of Italian Literature, Dr. Riddell. Three hours a week throughout the year.

The influence of Italian on other literatures, especially English literature. Reading from Petrarch, Boecceio, Boiardo, Ariosto, Castiglione, Tasso, Goldoni, Alfieri, Manzoni, Leopardi, Carducci and others.

Reading and Composition, Dr. Riddell. Two hours a week throughout the year.

Reading of modern plays and short stories, from D'Annunzio and others. Composition in Italian.

Group: Italian, or Italian and Spanish, with any language, or Italian with History, or with History of Art.

Graduate Courses.

The graduate seminary in Italian is varied from year to year in order that it may be pursued by a student for consecutive years. Students electing Italian as a major subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy are required to offer French philology as an associated minor. For the list of approved independent minors see the Regulations of the Academic...
Courses of Study. Spanish.

Council. The books needed by graduate students are collected in the seminary library of the department. No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses or to the seminary libraries.

Seminary in Italian Literature, Dr. Riddell.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

In 1918–19 the subject of the seminary is the Development of the Drama. The early drama, the commedia dell' arte, the drama of the eighteenth century, and the modern drama are studied.

In 1919–20 the subject of the seminary will be the Development of the Novel. The popular tale, the novella, and other manifestations of the story form will be studied. Special attention will be paid to the modern novel.

In 1920–21 the subject of the seminary will be the Heroic Epic, with special study of Ariosto and Tasso.

If necessary, modifications will be made in the work of the seminary to meet the special requirements of students presenting themselves for it.

Romance Languages Journal Club, Dr. Schenek, Dr. Beek, Madame Rivière, Dr. Riddell, Miss Dorado, and Dr. Duncan.

One and a half hours a fortnight throughout the year.

The instructors and advanced students meet to report on and discuss recent reviews and critical articles.

Spanish.

The instruction in this department is given by Dr. Fonger DeHaan, * Professor of Spanish; Miss Carolina Marcial Dorado, Instructor in Spanish, and Dr. Margaret Steel Duncan, Instructor in French and Spanish.

The instruction offered in Spanish covers nineteen hours of lectures and recitations a week; it includes ten hours a week of undergraduate minor and major work; five hours a week of post major work; and four hours a week of graduate work.

A combination of five hours a week for one year of the minor course in Spanish with five hours a week for one year of the minor course in Italian forms a major course, and may be taken with any other language to form a group. Students may thus elect ten hours of Spanish, or five hours of Spanish and five hours of Italian to form a major course.

First Year.

(Minor Course.)

(Given in each year.)

Major Course.

Spanish, Division A, Dr. DeHaan.* Five hours a week throughout the year.

The object of this course is to give beginners a good knowledge of modern Spanish. The first few weeks are given to the essentials of grammar; exercises at frequent intervals

* Granted leave of absence for the years 1917–19.
during the first semester give practice in the application of the principles; the remaining time is given to reading: plays in prose and in verse are read and attention is paid to verification.

Spanish, Division B, Miss Dorado.  Five hours a week throughout the year.

The object of this course is to give beginners a good knowledge of modern Spanish.

The first weeks are given to the essentials of grammar; exercises at frequent intervals during the first semester give practice in the application of the principles; the remaining time is given to reading prose texts. In the second semester exercises in composition are continued but a greater proportion of the time is given to reading; and special attention is paid to conversation.

In 1918-19 the two divisions of the class were conducted by Miss Dorado and Dr. Duncan.

The advanced standing examinations or examinations taken without attendance on the college classes in the minor course in Spanish, five hours a week for one or two semesters may be taken by those students only who are able to submit satisfactory evidence, that they have obtained before entering the college by regular and systematic study, or by residence abroad, the necessary advanced knowledge and are able to pass the examination in the first three weeks after entering the college. Failure to pass at the first trial will disqualify from further trials.

SECOND YEAR.

(Given in each year.)

Spanish, Dr. DeHaan.* Five hours a week during the first semester.

The work of the first year course is extended by the reading of moderately long and fairly difficult novels by representative modern authors, and some plays in verse, preferably of the classical period. Passages of continuous English prose are translated into Spanish. In 1918-19 the course was conducted four hours a week throughout the year by Miss Dorado and one hour a week by Dr. Duncan.

Spanish, Miss Dorado. Five hours a week during the second semester.

The work of the first semester is continued and collateral reading is required throughout.

Group: Spanish or Italian and Spanish with any language, or Spanish with History or with History of Art.

POST-MAJOR COURSES.

The post-major courses are designed to bridge over the interval between the ordinary undergraduate studies and graduate work. As the amount of time given to undergraduate subjects differs in different colleges graduate students frequently find it advisable to elect some of these courses.

Advanced Spanish, Dr. DeHaan.* Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

The course consists of readings of classical, pre-classical, and modern literature, translation of English prose into Spanish, and the writings of compositions in Spanish. Some time is devoted to the history of Spanish literature.

The Spanish Short Story, Miss Dorado. Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1919-20 and again in 1921-22.)

The most important short stories are read by the class and a careful study is made of the literary form.

Spanish Lyric Poetry, Miss Dorado. Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1920-21 and again in 1922-23.)

The best lyric poetry published within the last fifty years is read and discussed.

* Granted leave of absence for the years 1917-19.
Graduate Courses.

Four hours a week of seminary work or graduate lectures are offered each year to graduate students of Spanish accompanied by the direction of private reading and original research. The books needed by the graduate students are collected in the seminary library of the department. No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses or to the seminary libraries.

The graduate seminars in Spanish are varied from year to year in order that they may be pursued by a student for consecutive years. Students electing Spanish as a major subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy are required to offer French philology as an associated minor. For the list of approved independent minors see the Regulations of the Academic Council.

Seminary in Spanish, Dr. DeHaan. Two hours a week throughout the year.
(Given in each year provided the courses in Spanish Philology and Old Spanish Readings are not given.)

In 1919–20 the plays of Tirso de Molina will be the subject of the seminary.

Spanish Philology, Dr. DeHaan. One hour a week throughout the year.
(Offered provided the seminary in Spanish is not given.)

Old Spanish Readings, Dr. DeHaan. One hour a week throughout the year.
(Offered provided the seminary in Spanish is not given.)

Seminary in Spanish Literature, Miss Dorado. Two hours a week throughout the year.

In 1919–20 Spanish literature from the middle of the nineteenth century up to the present time will be the subject of the seminary.
In 1920–21 Spanish literature of the first half of the nineteenth century will be studied.
In 1921–22 the late sixteenth and early seventeenth century will be the period dealt with.

German.

The instruction* in this department is under the direction of Dr. Karl Detlev Jessen, Professor of German Literature, and Dr. Mary Agnes Quimby, Instructor in German.

The instruction offered in German covers twenty-three hours of lectures and recitations a week; it includes five hours a week of matriculation German; five hours a week of undergraduate major and minor work; three hours a week of post-major work, open only to graduates and to undergraduates that have completed the major course in German, and ten hours a week of graduate work in modern German literature and in Teutonic philology.

* Owing to the small number of students electing courses in German temporary arrangements may be made for instruction in those courses for which the name of the instructor is not announced.
A class for beginners in German, conducted by Dr. Quimby, five hours a week throughout the year, is provided, in order that those students whose matriculation examination did not include German may obtain a reading knowledge of it if they desire to do so. By great diligence students taking this course may acquire sufficient knowledge to be admitted into the first year of the major course in German.

The major course in German presupposes as much knowledge as is required to pass the matriculation examination in this subject.

First Year.

(Minor Course.)

Two hours a week throughout the year.

Lectures on the History of German Literature from the period of Romanticism to the present time, Dr. Jessen.

These lectures are delivered in German and discuss the masterpieces of German literature in the nineteenth century. As much collateral reading as possible, done either in or out of class, will illustrate the lectures. Weicher's Deutsche Literaturgeschichte is recommended for references.

This course is open as a free elective to all students that have passed the matriculation examination in German.

Private reading: Grillparzer, Sappho, and Freytag, Die Journalisten, must be read by students taking the course in the first semester; Hebbel, Agnes Bernauer, and Sudermann, Die Heimat, must be read by students taking the course in the second semester. Examinations on the private reading must be taken at one of two stated times during the semester for which the reading is assigned by all students pursuing the German courses.

Critical Reading of Modern German Authors, Dr. Jessen.

German Grammar and Prose Composition, Dr. Jessen.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

The course in critical reading consists of translations of modern German prose and verse. Selections from Goethe's Dichtung und Wahrheit are studied and a number of Goethe's earlier writings are read by the students and discussed in class. They are selected so as to illustrate the events narrated in Dichtung und Wahrheit. For translation of English into German, Whitney and Stroebe's Advanced German Composition (Holt & Co.) and Ruskin's Praderita are used. German grammar is carefully reviewed in Thomas's Practical German Grammar (Holt & Co.).

The course in Critical Reading and the course in Grammar and Prose Composition may not be elected separately, and the examination in these subjects may not be divided. The courses are open as a free elective to all students that have passed the matriculation examination in German.

Private reading: Schiller, Die Piccolomini, Wallenstein’s Tod (Henry Holt & Co., New York), must be read by students taking the courses in the first semester; Schiller, Braut v. Messina, must be read by students taking the courses in the second semester. Examinations on the private reading must be taken at the scheduled time during the semester for which the reading is assigned by all students pursuing the German courses.

The advanced standing examinations, or examinations taken without attending the college classes, in the reading and grammar of the minor, three hours a week for two semesters, may be taken by those students only who are able to submit satisfactory evidence that they have obtained before entering the college, by regular and systematic study, or by residence abroad or work under German governesses the necessary advanced knowledge, and are able to pass the examination in the first three weeks after entering the college. Failure to pass at the first trial will disqualify from further trials. The examination on the private reading that accompanies these courses must be taken not later than the third semester after that in which the advanced standing examination is offered.
Courses of Study. German.

Second Year.

Lectures on the History of German Literature from Luther to the Romantic School.*

Two hours a week throughout the year.

These lectures are delivered in German and discuss the great classical authors, as well as the most modern poets and novelists.

Private reading: Goethe, Italienische Reise, and Lessing, Nathan der Weise, must be read by students taking the course in the first semester; Frensen's Järu Uhl and Nietzsche's Essays, must be read by students taking the courses in the second semester. Examinations on the private reading must be taken at one of two stated times during the semester for which the reading is assigned by all students pursuing the German courses.

Faust-Legend and similar legends in mediaeval and modern literature; Goethe, Faust (1st and 2nd parts).*

Two hours a week throughout the year.

The course aims to be a comparative study of an interesting group of literary products of both mediaeval and modern literature. Starting with the comparative history of such Faustlike legends in mediaeval literature as those of Theophilus and Cyprian, up to Calderon's El magico prodigioso, the Faust-Legend in its many pre-eminently English and German ramifications, will be taken up, including especially Marlowe's Doctor Faustus. Goethe's Faust will be the centre of comparative study, showing what in it is due to Rousseauism, to Romanticism, and to other currents of thought. Faustlike literature, especially German and English, of a later date, as far as it is of literary importance will bring the consideration as far up to date as possible. The course will consist of lectures, reports and readings.

Private reading will be announced later.

German Prose Composition and Reading.*

One hour a week throughout the year.

In this course the students translate selected passages of difficult English prose into German. The texts are taken from Henry Craik's English Prose, vol. 5 (The Macmillan Co.). Treitschke, Kleine Schriften will be translated into English.

The course in German literature and the course in Prose Composition and Reading may not be elected separately, and the examination in these subjects may not be divided.

Private reading: Kleist's Michael Kohlhaas must be read by students taking this course in the first semester; Hauptmann's Hannele's Himmelfahrt must be read by students taking this course in the second semester. Examinations on the private reading must be taken at the scheduled times during the semester for which the reading is assigned by all students pursuing the German courses.

An advanced standing examination, or an examination taken without attending the college class, in the prose composition of the major, one hour a week for two semesters, may be taken by those students only who are able to submit satisfactory evidence that they have obtained before entering the college, by regular and systematic study, or by residence abroad or work under German governesses the necessary advanced knowledge, and are able to pass the examination in the first three weeks after entering the college. Failure to pass at the first trial will disqualify from further trials. The examination on the private reading that accompanies this course must be taken not later than the third semester after that in which the advanced standing examination is offered.

Group: German with any language, or with History, or with History of Art.

* See footnote, page 80.
Courses of Study. German.

Post-major Courses.

The post-major courses are designed to bridge over the interval between the ordinary undergraduate studies and graduate work. As the amount of time given to undergraduate subjects differs in different colleges graduate students frequently find it advisable to elect some of these courses.

Lectures on the History of German Literature from the Romantic School to 1850, Dr. Jessen.

Two hours a week during the first semester.

(Given in 1918–19 and again in 1920–21.)

This course begins with a general study of the principles of philosophy, life, art, and poetry, as represented by the Romantic School, which is followed by lectures on the literary movements, expressed mainly in lyric poetry and in the novel, which supersedes the Romantic Weltanschauung. The lyrics of the war of liberation, the Weltenschmerz, and the political revolution; the novel of Jungdeutschland; the drama of Heinrich von Kleist; the works of the Schlegels, Tieck, Hölderlin, Jean Paul, Novalis, Uhland, Lenau, Heine, Immermann, Freiligrath, Herwegh, Gutzkow, Mörike, and Gotttheil are the principal topics discussed.

German Drama in the Nineteenth Century, Dr. Jessen.

Two hours a week during the second semester.

(Given in 1918–19 and again in 1920–21.)

The drama of Heinrich von Kleist is studied with special reference to that of the classical period, and to the dramatic efforts of the Romanticists. The place of Grillparzer in German literature is defined, as well as the significance of Grabbe and Raimund. This leads to Otto Ludwig and to Friedrich Hebbel, who is the central figure, chronologically as well as in importance, of the German drama during the nineteenth century. The course ends with a review of Anzengruber, Wildenbruch, Sudermann, Hauptmann, and of other modern writers.

German Literature from 1850 to the Present Time, Dr. Jessen.

Two hours a week during the first semester.

(Given in 1918–19 and again in 1920–21.)

The subject of this course is, in the first semester, the Epigonen-Literatur. The development of the modern German Novelle is discussed and Keller’s, Storm’s, and C. F. Meyer’s works are specially studied. A full account of the poets of the Münchener Schule is given, as well as of Richard Wagner, Reuter, Groth, Freytag, Spielhagen, Scheffel, Raabe, Geibel, Heyse, and Schack.

German Literature from 1850 to the Present Time (continued), Dr. Jessen.

Two hours a week during the second semester.

(Given in 1919–20 and again in 1921–22.)

In the second semester among the subjects discussed are the influence of French, Russian, and Scandinavian literatures, especially of the work of Zola and Ibsen on German literature; modern German realism and naturalism, as represented by Fontane, Anzengruber, Wildenbruch, Hauptmann, Sudermann, Liliencron, and Rosegger; the increased importance of women in literature, and the work of Marie von Ebner-Eschenbach, Luise von François, Ricarda Huch, Helene Böllau, Isolde Kurz, Clara Viebig, and others; the significance of Nietzsche for German life and literature; Neo-romanticism and Heimatdichtung.

Advanced Critical Reading, Dr. Jessen.

One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

The reading is selected from works discussed in the post-major lectures on literature. The students give reports on dramas or novels, the object of the discussion being to trace the characteristics of the author, as shown in his works. Special attention will be paid to the needs of students who intend to teach German.
Advanced German Composition.*
One hour a week throughout the year.
(Given in each year when the time of the department permits.)

Difficult English prose selections are translated into German. The intention of the course is to increase the understanding and feeling for written and spoken German. Attention is paid to the needs of students intending to teach German.

Elementary Middle High German.*
One hour a week throughout the year.
(Given in each year when the time of the department permits.)

This course has been arranged primarily for undergraduate students who wish to be able to read the Middle High German classics in the original. A general acquaintance with the history of early German literature, such as may be obtained from the lectures on the history of German literature in the minor course, is presupposed. Paul's Mittelhochdeutsche Grammatik (8th ed., Halle, 1911) and Hartman von Aue's Der arme Heinrich are used.

Graduate Courses.

Graduate Courses.

Ten hours a week of seminar work and graduate lectures are offered each year to graduate students of German and Teutonic Philology* accompanied by the direction of private reading and original research. The books needed by the graduate students are collected in the seminary library of the department. No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses or to the seminary libraries, but the post-major courses of the department, amounting to four hours a week, may be elected by graduate students.

The graduate courses offered in German Philology may be found under the head of General Teutonic Philology.

Graduate work in the history of modern German literature is conducted according to the seminary method. The courses are so varied that they may be followed by graduate students throughout three successive years and cover the work required of students who offer German literature as a major or a minor for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. Students who elect German literature as their major subject in the examination for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy must offer Teutonic Philology as an associated minor and students who offer Teutonic Philology as a major subject must offer German literature as an associated minor. In the major together with the associated minor the student must offer two seminars and a journal club for three years. A list of approved independent minors is given in the Regulations of the Academic Council.

Seminary in German Literature, Dr. Jessen.

Two hours a week throughout the year.
(Given in each year.)

It is hoped that the students will become familiar in the seminary with the methods of scientific literary criticism and investigation.

In 1918-19 the Romanticism of early modern German literature is studied in the seminary.

In 1919-20 topics from the classical period of German literature will be studied. Alternative subjects of study will be Luther and the Humanists or Nietzsche.

In 1920-21 Goethe will be the subject of study in the seminary.

*See footnote, page 80.
German Metrics, Dr. Jessen.
One hour a week during the first semester.
(Given in 1918-19 and again in 1920-21.)

This course consists of lectures on Deutche Metrik or Verslehre, with an introduction to phonetics, this being an indispensable Hilfswissenschhaft for the study of German literature.

German Poetics, Dr. Jessen.
One hour a week during the second semester.
(Given in 1918-19 and again in 1920-21.)

Lectures are given on Deutche Poetik and Stilistik.

German Literary Criticism, Dr. Jessen.
One hour a week during the first semester.
(Given in 1919-20 and again in 1921-22.)

The lectures trace the development of literary and aesthetic criticism in Germany from Leibniz to Schiller and Goethe. The course is comparative in character, and French and English literary criticism are also considered. Lessing's Laokoon and Hamburgische Dramaturgie and Schiller's essays on aesthetics are studied. A good reading knowledge of French and German is required.

The German Essay, Dr. Jessen.
One hour a week during the second semester.
(Given in 1919-20 and again in 1921-22.)

The history of the essay in German literature is studied and the most eminent German essayists, Schopenhauer, Herman Grimm, Karl Hillebrand, Friedrich Nietzsche, etc., are discussed. The influence of French, English, and American writers, in particular Montaigne, Macaulay, and Emerson, is traced, and incidentally the evolution of modern German prose style is treated.

Goethe's Faust, Dr. Jessen.
Two hours a week throughout the year.
(Given in each year when the time of the department permits.)

This course is intended as an introduction to the problems of Faust-philologie, dealing with both the first and second part of Faust.

Goethe's Life and Works, Dr. Jessen.
Two hours a week throughout the year.
(Given in each year when the time of the department permits.)

This course aims at giving an introduction into Goethe-philologie.

German Journal Club, Dr. Jessen.
Two hours once a fortnight throughout the year.

At the meetings recent books and articles are reviewed and the results of special investigations presented for discussion, comment and criticism.

GENERAL TEUTONIC PHILOLOGY.

Special attention is called to the facilities for the study of comparative Teutonic philology offered by Bryn Mawr College. The English and the German departments together have provided for a complete course in Teutonic philology, comprising both the study of the individual languages (Gothic, Norse, Anglo-Saxon, Old Saxon, Old High German, Middle High German, Middle Low German, etc.) and the study of general comparative philology.

The courses in introduction to the study of Teutonic phi-Courses of Study. German.

Tology, Gothic and Middle High German grammar are designed for students in their first year of graduate study in Teutonic languages and the remaining courses for students in their second or third year. The courses given in each year will be planned to meet the needs of the graduate students.

Students intending to elect Teutonic philology are advised to study Greek for at least one year during their undergraduate course.

Graduate Courses.

Teutonic Seminary.*

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

This seminar is arranged for the benefit of the most advanced students in Teutonic philology. Its object is to encourage independent work on the part of the students. The work consists mainly of the discussion of special topics by the instructor and the students. Members of the seminar are expected to study the literature on these subjects, and to make an effort to contribute some additional material, or an independent opinion of their own.

In 1918–19 Old High German texts such as Merschburger Zaubersprache, Muspilli, and Hildebrandlied will be studied in the first semester. The many problems that these texts offer and the various attempts to solve them will be discussed. In the second semester modern High German texts will be the subject of the seminar.

In 1919–20 the subject of the seminar is taken from Middle High German texts. Problems in text criticism as well as literary problems connected with the works of Middle High German poets either of the classical period or of the periods preceding or following it are discussed.

In 1920–21 the seminar is devoted to High German texts from the fourteenth to the seventeenth century. The material will be taken either from official documents of this period belonging to various parts of Germany or from the works of writers such as Murner, Hans Sachs, Luther, and others; or from grammatical works of this period in Müller's Quellenschriften und Geschichte des deutschsprachlichen Unterrichts, John Meier's Neudrucke älter deutscher Grammatiken, etc. They are selected to illustrate the development of Modern High German. If it seems advisable Old Saxon texts (Heliand and Genesis) will also be studied.

The order of these seminar subjects may be changed in accordance with the requirements of the students in any particular year.

Introduction to the Study of Teutonic Philology.*

One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

After a discussion of the aim and method of historical and comparative grammar, these lectures deal with the relation of Teutonic to the cognate Aryan languages. A brief sketch of the single Aryan languages is given, followed by a more comprehensive discussion of the Teutonic languages and chiefly of the West Germanic branch.

Gothic.*

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

Gothic phonetics and inflection are studied in connection with the elements of comparative Aryan grammar; on the other hand the Gothic forms are compared with those of other Teutonic languages. Braune's Gotische Grammatik (5th ed., Halle, 1912); or Streitberg's Gotisches Elementarbuch (3rd ed., Heidelberg, 1910) are used as text-books.

* See footnote, page 80.
As a thorough knowledge of Gothic is the foundation of the study of historical and comparative Teutonic grammar, every graduate student of Teutonic grammar is advised to take this course as early as possible. Die gotische Bibel (ed. by W. Streitberg, Heidelberg, 1908) is used by the more advanced students.

Middle High German Grammar and reading of Middle High German Texts.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

This course includes a brief abstract of Middle High German grammar and literature with special reference to the difference between Middle High German and Modern German, and a study of the most prominent authors in Middle High German. Selections from classical Middle High German poets are read, and also selections from the Nibelungenlied, a brief account being given of the history and development of the Nibelungenlied and its manuscripts.

This course is required of all students that make Teutonic philology a minor subject in their examination for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy.

The private reading includes the works of the authors treated in the course.

Middle Low German.

One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

A sufficient knowledge of Old Saxon is presupposed on the part of students taking this course. The Middle Low German grammar will be studied and representative Middle Low German texts are read. This course may be substituted for the course in Middle High German in accordance with the requirements of the students in any particular year.

Old Norse.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

Students entering this course are supposed to be acquainted with Gothic and with Anglo-Saxon or Old High German grammar. In the grammatical part of the course the Norse sounds and forms are studied and compared with those of the Gothic and West-Germanic dialects.

In the first year's course prose texts will be read; in the second year the Edda will be studied and some of the problems connected with the study of the Edda will be discussed.

The books used are Heusler's Altisländisches Elementarbuch (Heidelberg, 1913) and some of the Icelandika saga (Altnordische Saga-Bibliothek) and Hildebrand-Gering's (3d ed., Paderborn, 1913) or Neckel's (Heidelberg, 1914) Edda.

Attention is called to the facilities afforded for the study of Old Norse. A considerable portion of the library of the late philologist, Th. Wisén, of Lund, was acquired by Bryn Mawr College, and hence the library is probably as well supplied as any other college library in the United States with Old Norse texts, and works on Old Norse language and literature.

Old Saxon.

Two hours a week during the second semester.

(Given in alternate years.)

The work presupposes on the part of the students a sufficient knowledge of Gothic and Old High German. Holthausen's Altsächsisches Elementarbuch (Heidelberg, 1900) or Galle's Altsächsische Grammatik (2nd ed., Halle, 1910), Holland (Behaghel's edition), and Zangemeister-Braune's Bruchstücke der altsächsischen Bibeldichtung (Heidelberg, 1894) are used.

History of Modern High German.

One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in alternate years.)

These lectures deal with the history of the development of the German written language during the Modern High German period. The most important Kanzleisprachen, the most prominent Druckersprachen, Luther, Modern German sounds and forms in their relation to the German dialects and to the rules of the Bühnenaussprache, will be discussed.

See footnote, page 80.
Courses of Study. Semitic Languages.

Old High German

Two hours a week throughout the year.
(Given in alternate years.)

This course includes a practical study of Old High German grammar, and a comparison of the Old High German sounds and forms with those of Gothic, and Middle and Modern High German. The relations with other cognate languages of the Teutonic branch as well as other Aryan languages (chiefly Latin) are also discussed. Selections are read from Old High German texts, arranged so as to proceed from easy to more difficult pieces, and to illustrate the difference between the Old High German dialects.

Comparative Teutonic Grammar.
One hour a week throughout the year.
(Given in alternate years.)

The study of comparative Teutonic philology is recommended to those students only who are acquainted with the single old Teutonic languages, and have studied Gothic, Old High German, Old Saxon, Anglo-Saxon, and Norse. The object of the course is to compare the various old Teutonic languages with each other and with the related Aryan languages,—or in other words (1) to reconstruct the primitive Teutonic language; (2) to point out the characteristic features of primitive Teutonic in distinction from primitive Aryan; (3) to carry down the history of early Teutonic from the period of unity into the early stages of the individual Teutonic languages.

Semitic Languages and Biblical Literature.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. George A. Barton, Professor of Biblical Literature and Semitic Languages. The instruction offered in this department includes two courses, one of three hours a week and one of two hours a week in Oriental History, two hours a week of free elective courses in Biblical Literature, and five hours a week of graduate courses in Semitic Languages.

The college was particularly fortunate in securing in the year 1892 the library of the late M. Arthur Amiaud, of Paris. While M. Amiaud was especially eminent as an Assyriologist, he was also prominent as a general Semitic student. His library was the collection of an active scholar, and forms a working library for the student in every department of Semitic study. It is especially rich in the Hebrew, Syriac, and Assyrian languages, containing several works, indispensable to the student, which are now out of print. Another Semitic library containing many works on the Talmud and on Jewish literature was acquired in 1904. In 1907 Mr. Albert J. Edmunds presented to the college his library of 500 volumes on the history of religion. The contents of these libraries, together with the books already owned by the college and those easily accessible in neighboring libraries, form an exceptionally good collection of material for the specialist in Semitic languages. A good working collection of cuneiform tablets is under the control of the department, and affords an excellent opportunity for students of Assyrian to become familiar with original documents.

Minor Course.

(Given in each year.)

History of the Near East, Dr. Barton. Three hours a week throughout the year.

(May be taken as a free elective or may be substituted for part of the second year of required science, or part of the minor course in ancient history.)

This course treats in broad outlines the history and civilisation of the classical orient. The beginnings of the Hamito-Semitic race, and the influence of environment upon its primitive institutions are first studied. The separation of the races into the different nations is then traced, and the history of the principal oriental nations, Egyptians, Babylonians, Assyrians, Phoenicians, Hebrews, Hittites, Sabaeans, and Persians; of Alexander and his successors; of the Parthians, and the oriental empire of the Romans, is followed in outline. Special attention is paid to the history of the Hebrews, and to their unique religious contribution to the civilisation of the world. The course concludes with a study of the Arabic caliphs, and of Mohammedan civilisation. The lectures are illustrated by archaeological specimens and by photographs. Either semester may be elected separately.

History of the Far East, Dr. Barton. Two hours a week throughout the year.

(May be taken as a free elective or may be substituted for part of the second year of required science, or part of the minor course in ancient history.)

This course treats in outline the history of China, India, and Japan from the earliest times to the present. It aims to acquaint the student with the origin, development, and principal features of the civilizations of those lands.

Free Elective Courses.

The courses in Biblical Literature are intended primarily for undergraduate students, but may be elected by graduate students also.

Biblical Literature, Dr. Barton. Two hours a week throughout the year.

One of the following courses will be given in each year, the choice depending on the registration of the students:

- History of the Old Testament Canon: In this course the history of the composition of the books of the Old Testament and their collection into a canon are studied. Special attention is given to the literary form and purpose of each book.
- History of the New Testament Canon: In this course the history of the composition and collection of the books of the New Testament is studied. The instruction is given in lectures, and reading is assigned in the New Testament and in modern literature concerning it. In 1918-19 this course was given one hour a week throughout the year.
- New Testament Biography: The first semester of this course is devoted to a careful study of the life and teaching of Christ; the second semester to the life and teaching of St. Paul. The Gospels and Epistles are read, together with the most helpful of the modern works on these topics. The course is illustrated by photographs of the most important places connected with the lives of Christ and St. Paul.
- History of Christian Doctrine: In the first semester the study is devoted to the Old Testament conceptions of God, Sin, and Redemption, and to Christianity as presented by its Founder and by the apostles, and in the second semester the history of Christian doctrine from 100 A. D. to the present time is briefly reviewed, and problems presented by modern thought are touched upon.
Courses of Study. Semitic Languages.

The Religions of the World: The course begins with a study in primitive religions of certain fundamental conceptions. The great historical religions of the world are then studied in outline with special reference to the origin, development, and fundamental ideas of each.

Graduate Courses.

Seminary work and graduate lectures amounting to at least five hours a week are offered each year to graduate students of Semitic languages and Biblical Literature accompanied by the direction of private reading and original research. The books needed by the graduate students are collected in the seminary library of the department. No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses or to the seminary library, but the elective courses of the department amounting to two hours a week may be elected by graduate students.

The graduate courses in Semitic languages are varied from year to year, as indicated below, so that they may be pursued by a student for four successive years. Those who offer Semitic languages as the major subject in the examination for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy are required to spend in Semitic work half their time for at least three years.

The work of the department is so arranged that students may specialise in Hebrew or Assyrian. Students who offer Hebrew or Assyriology as the major subject in the examination for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy must possess a knowledge of the grammatical forms of five Semitic languages and in this enumeration Syriac and Jewish Aramaic may not count as separate languages. For a list of approved associated and independent minors see the Regulations of the Academic Council.

The regular alternation of courses is indicated below and at least five hours a week will be given in each year, the courses being selected according to the needs of the graduate students. Graduate students may enter in any year of the four years' course, as there will be afforded each year an opportunity for graduate students to begin Hebrew.

The following courses are offered in 1918-19 and again in 1920-21:

Semitic Seminary, Dr. Barton. Two hours a week throughout the year.

This seminary is devoted to Hebrew or Assyrian, the languages that may be offered as major subjects for the doctor's degree. The time may be devoted to one of these languages, or may be divided between the two, according to the needs of the students. In Assyrian the subject may be chosen from one of the following: the oldest Babylonian inscriptions, temple archives of Tellah, Sumerian hymns, the code of Hammurabi, Semitic contracts or mythological poetry. In Hebrew, one of the following subjects may be selected: the historical books, Job, the Psalter, Isaiah, Jeremiah, Ecclesiastes and the Song of Songs, or Hebrew Epigraphy. In the Hebrew seminary the students are trained in textual criticism through the use of the ancient versions.

Comparative Semitic Grammar, Dr. Barton. One hour a week throughout the year.

The grammar of Brockelmann is used as a basis with comparisons from the Egyptian and other Hamitic languages. This course is to be taken in the fourth year of study of Semitic languages.

Ethiopic, Dr. Barton. One hour a week throughout the year.

The grammar and Chrestomathia of Praetorius and Dillmann are used and in the latter part of the course selections are read from the book of Enoch.
Courses of Study. Semitic Languages.

Seminary in Aramaic and Arabic, Dr. Barton.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

This seminary is devoted to Arabic or Aramaic, the languages that may be offered as minor subjects for the doctor's degree. The time may be devoted to one of the languages, or may be divided between the two, according to the needs of the students. In Arabic the subject may be chosen from one of the following: the Koran, pre-Islamic poetry, Arabic geographers, or South Arabic inscriptions. In Aramaic, one of the following subjects may be selected: a comparative study of the Syriac Versions of the Gospels, the Syriac Version of one of the Old Testament books, the writings of Gregory Bar Hebræus, or of Efraem, the Targum on one of the Old Testament books, the Talmud, or Aramaic inscriptions.

Egyptian, Dr. Barton.

One hour a week throughout the year.

The elements of Egyptian and Coptic grammar are taught, and some texts in each language interpreted.

Seminary in Oriental Archaeology, Dr. Barton.

One hour a week throughout the year.

The work of this course may be devoted to the archaeology of Mesopotamia, Palestine, or Egypt according to the needs of the students. It consists of extensive courses of reading in the literature of the subject, together with a study of photographs and archaeological objects, of reports, criticisms, conferences and occasional lectures. To meet the needs of students of ancient history, the seminary may in some years be devoted to the history of one of the countries mentioned. The work will then consist in a study of the sources of the history of the country chosen, and the proper method of using them.

The following courses are offered in 1919-20 and again in 1921-22:

Semitic Seminary, Dr. Barton.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

The work of the seminary is continued as given in 1918-19.

Seminary in New Testament Greek, Dr. Barton.

One hour a week throughout the year.

The work of the seminary is varied from year to year, so that a continuous course, covering the interpretation and the literary problems of the entire New Testament and the sub-Apostolic literature, may be pursued through four years. A year is devoted to the New Testament Epistles, another to the interpretation of the Gospels and the Synoptic and Johannine problems, a third to the books of Acts and Revelation, and a fourth to the Apostolic Fathers. During the first year of her work each student is given guidance in a course of reading on the history of the text and the science of textual criticism and also guidance in the practice of this discipline. A course in Greek equivalent to the major course in Greek in Bryn Mawr College is required of students taking this seminary.

Seminary in the History of Religion, Dr. Barton.

One hour a week throughout the year.

The work of this seminary may be carried on in either of the following ways: By means of lectures, reports, and discussions the principal features of primitive religions are ascertained, and the principal civilized religions studied with special reference to origin, historical development, and religious point of view. The time may be devoted to investigating problems connected with one religion.

Elementary Semitic Languages, Dr. Barton.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course may be devoted to the elements of Hebrew, or of Aramaic (Syriac and Jewish Aramaic), or Assyrian, or Arabic according to the needs of the students. The time may, if necessary, be divided between two of these languages.

Hebrew Literature, Dr. Barton.

One hour a week throughout the year.

This course is devoted to a study of the Prophets, the Pentateuch, and the historical books of the Old Testament.
History.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Howard Levi Gray,* Professor of History, Dr. William Roy Smith,† Professor of History, Dr. Charles Wendell David, Associate Professor of History, Dr. George A. Barton, Professor of Biblical Literature and Semitic Languages, Dr. Wilmer Cave Wright, Associate Professor of Greek, and Dr. Anna Lane Lingelbach, Lecturer in History.

The instruction offered in history covers forty-one hours of lectures a week; it includes fifteen hours a week of undergraduate major and minor work in modern history and seven hours a week of minor work in ancient history; five hours a week of free elective; five hours a week of post-major work, open only to graduates and undergraduates that have completed the major course in history, and nine hours a week of graduate work.

The object of the major course in history is three-fold. Primarily, history is taught for its own sake as a record of the development of humanity; secondarily, as a necessary companion to the study of political institutions; and finally, as a framework for other forms of research, linguistic, religious, or archaeological. The courses are planned to develop in the students a readier historical sense, and a consciousness of historical growth, rather than to give them a mere outline of general history. The instruction consists mainly of lectures, which are designed to create interest in the broad lines of historical development; the lectures are accompanied by constant references for private reading, to stimulate accuracy in detail and independence in judgment.

First Year.

Major Course.

1st Semester. (Minor Course.) (Given in each year.) History of Europe from 1789 to 1915, Dr. Gray and Dr. David. Five hours a week.

(This course may be taken as a free elective. The class is given in two sections, one conducted by Dr. Gray, the other by Dr. David.)

The course deals with the political and social transformation of Europe which was initiated by the French Revolution. The outcome of the Revolution, the career of Napoleon, the absolutist reaction of the early nineteenth century, the successive revolts against this, the formation of modern constitutional governments, the creation of the German Empire and the Kingdom of Italy, the extension of European influence to Asia and Africa, and the treatment of social problems of today are among the topics studied. The instruction is given by means of lectures, required reading, written papers, and discussion.

2nd Semester.

History of Europe from 1517 to 1789, Dr. William Roy Smith.*

(This course may be taken as a free elective. The course in the Civilization of the Ancient World may be substituted for this course.)

The course begins with a brief survey of the organisation of the medieval Church, the rise and decline of the Papacy, and the pre-Lutheran reform movements. It then considers, more in detail, the Reformation, the Catholic Reformation, and the Religious Wars, the territorial expansion of France and the rise of French absolutism, the theory of the balance of power; the rise of Prussia and Russia; the expansion of England; the benevolent despotisms of the eighteenth century; and the antecedents of the French Revolution.

Civilization of the Ancient World, Dr. David.

(This course may be taken as a free elective. The course in the History of Europe from 1517 to 1789 may be substituted for this course.)

The origin and development of Mediterranean civilization from earliest times to the fourth century A.D. are broadly treated. Special attention is paid to Greece and Rome but the evolution of civilization as a whole is the main theme of the course.

SECOND YEAR.

1st Semester.

British Imperialism, Dr. William Roy Smith.*

(Given in each year.)

(This course may be elected only by students who have studied history at least five hours a week for one year. Under this condition it may be taken as a free elective.)

This course deals with the external history of the English people: the sea-rovers of the sixteenth century; the beginnings of American colonisation; the contrast between the old colonial system and the new; the history of Canada, Australasia, South Africa, India, Egypt and other colonies and dependencies; the new imperialism of Bénefield and Chamberlain; the present position of England as a world power.

2nd Semester.

History of the Renaissance, Dr. Gray.

(Given in 1919–20 and in each succeeding year.)

(This course may be elected only by students who have studied history at least five hours a week for one year. Under this condition it may be taken as a free elective.)

An endeavour is made to indicate in what ways medieval life and thought were transformed into those of modern Europe. Political, economic, literary, artistic and scientific changes are therefore studied. Since Italians were prominent in the new movements, most attention is given to Italian history, but the innovations of the North, especially those connected with the new Burgundian State, are not neglected. The period extends in a general way from 1250 to 1527.

History of the Slavs in Europe, Dr. Lingelbach.

(Given in 1918-19.)

This course deals especially with the history of the Russian people, their political, economic, social and artistic development. The growth of autocracy, imperialism and Bolshevism is taken up in detail. A study is also made of Poland, Bohemia and the Slavic nations of southeastern Europe, their gradual absorption by their more powerful neighbors, their stubborn struggles for national existence, and their present claims to recognition. Russian and other Slavic literature is freely used as illustrative material.

FIRST YEAR.

Ancient History.

History of the Near East, Dr. Barton. Three hours a week throughout the year.

(This course may be taken as a free elective and may be entered in the second semester, but must be elected in both semesters in order to count as part of the minor course in Ancient History.)

This course treats in broad outline the history of the civilization of the Classical Orient. The beginnings of the Hamito-Semitic race, and the influence of environments upon its primitive institutions are first studied. The separation of the races into the different nations is then traced, and the history of the principal oriental nations, Egyptians, Babylonians, Assyrians, Phoenicians, Hebrews, Hittites, Sabeans, and Persians; of Alexander and his successors; of the Parthians, and the oriental empire of the Romans, is followed in outline. Special attention is paid to the history of the Hebrews, and to their unique religious contribution to the civilization of the world. The course concludes with a study of the Arabic caliphates, and of Mohammedan civilization. The lectures are illustrated by archaeological specimens and by photographs.

History of the Far East, Dr. Barton. Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

(This course may be taken as a free elective and may be entered in the second semester, but must be elected in both semesters in order to count as part of the minor course in Ancient History.)

This course treats in outline the history of China, India, and Japan from the earliest times to the present. It aims to acquaint the student with the origin, development, and principal features of the civilizations of those lands.

Greek Religion and Greek Myths, Dr. Wright.

Two hours a week during the first semester.

(Given in each year.)

(This course may be offered as part of the minor course in Ancient History in place of the History of the Far East.)

The course treats of the development of Greek religion, the attributes of the Olympian gods, such as Zeus and Apollo, their ritual, and the influence on literature of Greek myths.

Literary Geography of Greece and Asia Minor, Dr. Wright.

Two hours a week during the second semester.

(Given in each year.)

(This course may be offered as part of the minor course in Ancient History in place of the History of the Far East.)

The course traces not only the literary legends of famous sites such as Athens, Thebes, Troy and Constantinople, but also their political history.
Courses of Study. History.

Group: History with Economics and Politics; History with German, or with French, or with Italian, or with Spanish, or with History of Art.

Free Elective Courses.

History of the United States from 1865 to 1915, Dr. William Roy Smith.*
Two hours a week throughout the year.
(Given in each year.)
The aim of this course is to present the historical background necessary to enable students to discuss intelligently the more important social, industrial, political, and diplomatic problems of the present day. They are also taught by means of required reading and reports how to use memoirs, letters, magazines, newspapers, and other contemporary historical sources.

History of Europe since 1860 with reference to the War of 1914, Dr. Lingelbach.
Three hours a week throughout the year.
(Given in 1918-19.)

History of Medieval Europe, Dr. David.
Three hours a week throughout the year.
(Given in 1919-20 and again in 1921-22.)
An attempt will be made to trace the political, institutional, economic, social and intellectual development of medieval Europe from the decline of ancient culture to the thirteenth century. Special attention will be devoted to the church as a great civilization, to the outstanding writers and thinkers of all periods, and to the renaissance of the twelfth century. Instruction will be by means of lectures, directed reading, and classroom discussion.

Post-major Courses.

England to 1485, Dr. Gray.
Three hours a week throughout the year.
(Given in 1919-20 and again in 1921-22.)
The transformation of Anglo-Saxon into Norman England, the constitutional and legal innovations of the Norman and Plantagenet kings, the intellectual and social condition of England at the height of the Middle Ages, and the effects of the Hundred Years' War are subjects of study. The more important documents and secondary works are discussed and written reports are required.

England under the Tudors, Dr. Gray.
Three hours a week throughout the year.
(Given in 1920-21 and again in 1922-23.)
Attention is given to the character of Tudor absolutism, parliamentary and local government, dynastic ambitions, foreign trade, the prosperity of the towns and the yeomen, the progress of the Reformation, and the complications in foreign affairs arising from religious changes.

American Constitutional History from 1783 to 1865, Dr. William Roy Smith.*
Two hours a week throughout the year.
(Given in 1918-19 and again in 1920-21.)
The lectures deal with the leading aspects of the political, constitutional, and economic history of the United States from the ratification of the constitution to the present time. The text-books used are MacDonald’s Selected Documents of the History of the United States, but frequent additional references are given to the leading secondary authorities. To a limited extent use will be made of such documents as are available in the library, and special topics will be assigned for discussion and report.

* See footnote, page 92.

* See footnote, page 92.

(Given in 1919-20 and again in 1921-22.)

The text-books used in the course are MacDonald's Select Charters of American History and Select Documents of the History of the United States. The members of the class are also systematically referred, not only to the general authorities, but also to colonial charters and constitutions, the records of the colonial governments as far as they are available, the journals of Congress, and other documentary materials.

The French Revolution and Napoleon, Dr. David.

(Given in 1918-19 and again in 1920-21.)

This course treats of the history of France and of Europe from 1789 to 1815, by means of lectures, assigned readings, and reports. The period is considered as an organic whole and the career of Napoleon is regarded as that of a child of the Revolution who in his later years abuses what has made him. The increasing mass of secondary material is appraised and some printed documentary material is used for reports and references.

Graduate Courses.

Three distinct seminaries, two in English and European history, and one in American history are offered to graduate students in history in addition to a course in Historical Method and Bibliography and the direction of private reading and original research. Students may offer either European History or American History as a major for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. A list of approved associated and independent minors will be found in the Regulations of the Academic Council.

The books needed by the graduate students are collected in the Seminary library of the department. No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses or to the Seminary library.

Seminary in English and European History, Dr. Gray.

(Given in each year.)

In 1918-19 England in the sixteenth century is the subject of the seminary. The agrarian problem and the disorder connected with it, the increase of royal power at the expense of the old nobility, the rise of a new nobility, the renunciation by the English church of papal authority with the consequent administrative and dogmatic changes, the commercial and colonial ambitions of England, and the conflict with Spain receive attention.

In 1919-20 the subject of the seminary will be a study of the reigns of Edward III and Richard II. The progress of the Hundred Years' War, the innovations in military science, the social changes wrought by the Black Death, the attitude of government and people toward the church, the causes of the Peasants' Revolt of 1381, the rise of a native merchant class, and the composition and power of Parliament will receive attention. Contemporary chronicles and state papers are the bases of study.

In 1920-21 the subject of the seminary will be England in the fifteenth century. The development of the art of war, the legislation of Lancastrian and Yorkist parliaments, the prosperity of towns and merchants, the influence of the Burgundian connection, and the effects of the War of the Roses are examined.
Courses of Study. History.

Seminary in American History, Dr. William Roy Smith.*

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

In 1918-19 the Revolution, the Confederation, and the Constitution are the subjects of study. American history from 1776 to 1789 is discussed primarily from the local point of view as a step in the conflict between the seaboard aristocracy and the democracy of the frontier. The social and economic forces which led to the adoption of the Federal Constitution and the subsequent formation of national political parties are investigated.

In 1919-20 the seminary will deal with the Civil War and Reconstruction. Special stress will be laid upon the social, economic, and political reorganization of the South, the North and the West and also of the nation as a whole during the period from 1861 to 1877.

In 1920-21 the subject of the seminary will be slavery and the negro problem. After a preliminary survey of the history of slavery in the colonial period such topics as the slavery compromises of the constitution, the growth of slavery in the South, the abolition of the slave trade, the Missouri Compromise, the anti-Slavery movement, nullification, the Mexican War, the Wilmot Proviso, the compromise measures of 1850, the Kansas-Nebraska bill, the Dred Scott decision, the abolition of slavery, and the adoption of the thirteenth, fourteenth, and fifteenth amendments are discussed. Special attention is paid to the conflict between sectionalism and nationalism and the connection between slavery, territorial expansion, and the development of constitutional theories.

All students offering this seminary for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy are required to offer in addition the course in Historical Method and Bibliography.

Seminary in Mediæval and Modern European History, Dr. David.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Not given in 1919-20.)

In 1918-19 the subject of the seminary is the French Revolution and Napoleon. Topics are selected for special study either from the revolutionary or from the Napoleonic period with a view to illustrating various kinds of historical problems and gaining an adequate working knowledge of the principal printed sources and of the more important secondary writers.

In 1919-20 the subject of the seminary will be England during the transitional period of the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries. Special attention will be paid to the prospect of reform in England at the outbreak of the French Revolution, to the effect of the struggle with France and Napoleon upon England, and to the reform movement after the overthrow of Napoleon.

In 1920-21 the subject of the seminary will be England during the twelfth century. Special attention will be paid to the reigns of Henry I and Henry II, to institutional and cultural developments, and to English continental possessions and connections.

Historical Method and Bibliography, Dr. David.

One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1919-20.)

The matters dealt with in this course are the field of history and its relations to allied subjects; the evolution of the scientific historical method; the outlines of historical bibliograpy; the great collections of printed material; archives and Mss.; the work and rank of leading historians of the modern school. Throughout the course practical studies will be assigned to illustrate the subjects under discussion. A reading knowledge of French and German is required. This course must be elected by all students in history during their first year of graduate study.

Historical Journal Club, Dr. Gray, Dr. William Roy Smith,* Dr. David, and Dr. Lingelbach.

Two hours once a fortnight throughout the year.

The instructors in the department of history and the graduate students who are pursuing advanced courses in history meet once a fortnight to make reports upon assigned topics, review recent articles and books, and present the results of special investigations.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Marion Parris Smith,* Professor of Economics and Politics, Dr. Charles Ghequiere Fenwick, Professor of Political Science, and Miss Marjorie Lorne Franklin, Instructor in Economics and Politics.

The instruction offered in this department covers twenty-five hours of lectures a week; it includes ten hours a week of undergraduate minor and major work; one hour of free elective, five hours a week of post-major work open only to graduates and to undergraduates who have completed the major course in economics and politics; and nine hours a week of graduate work.

The object of the undergraduate courses in economics and politics is three-fold: first, to trace the history of economic and political thought; second, to describe the development of economic and political institutions; and third, to consider the practical economic and political questions of the day. Instruction is given by lectures. The lectures are supplemented by private reading, by oral and written quizzes, by written theses and reports, and by such special class-room exercises as the different subjects require.

First Year.

Minor Course.

1st Semester. (Given in each year.)

Major Course.

Introduction to Economics, Dr. Marion Parris Smith* and Miss Franklin. Five hours a week

(This course may be taken as a free elective. The class is divided alphabetically into two sections, A and B, one conducted by Dr. Marion Parris Smith* and one by Miss Franklin.

The object of this course is to introduce the students to the economic problems in the modern state, and to train them to think clearly on economic subjects. The subjects considered are production, agricultural and industrial; distribution of wealth, the mechanism of exchange, economic institutions of money, banking, foreign exchange, markets; transportation, etc. Students are required to write occasional short papers in connection with their private reading, and one short report on a specially assigned topic.

*Granted leave of absence for the year 1919–20. The courses announced by Dr. Marion Parris Smith for the year 1919–20 will be given by an instructor whose appointment will be announced later.
2nd Semester.

Introduction to Government and Politics, Dr. Fenwick and Miss Franklin.

(This course may be taken as a free elective. The class is divided alphabetically into two sections, A and B, one conducted by Dr. Fenwick and one by Miss Franklin.

The object of this course is to present the structure and organization of the government of the United States and of the government of the several states, together with an examination of the party system and its effects upon the actual operations of government. It is followed by a comparative study of the governments of Great Britain, France, and Germany.

Second Year.

1st Semester.

1st Semester. (Given in each year.)

Present Political Problems, Dr. Fenwick.

(This course may be elected only by students who have studied economics and politics at least five hours a week for one year. Under this condition it may be taken as a free elective.)

The object of this course is to present the chief political problems that have arisen in recent years. The study of practical problems is preceded by a study of theories relating to the origin and nature of the state, its end or object, and the proper sphere of state activities, under which last heading the various theories of individualism, liberalism, and socialism will be studied. Modern reforms in federal, state, and city government are next studied, and particular stress is laid upon the extension of federal power in the United States and the relation between the Fourteenth Amendment and modern social and economic legislation adopted in the exercise of the police powers of the several states.

2nd Semester.

History of Economic Thought and Recent Economic Problems, Dr. Marion Parris Smith.*

The course is divided into two parts: Part I aims to give students an historical introduction as a basis for a critical study of modern economic problems. The students read in connection with this section parts of Adam Smith’s Wealth of Nation; Ricardo’s Principles of Political Economy and Taxation; Malthus’s Principles of Population; and selections from the writings of John Stuart Mill, Jevons, Wicksteed, Bowm-Bawerk, and Pantaleoni.

In part II certain modern economic problems are considered in some detail: distribution under socialism, co-operation, profit sharing, the minimum wage, the eight-hour day, tax reforms, price fixing, etc. Numerous short papers in connection with the reading, and one long report on some specially assigned subject are required.

Group: Economics and Politics with Modern History or with Philosophy, or with Philosophy and Psychology, or with Psychology, or with Geology.

Free Elective Course.

Elements of Private Law, Dr. Fenwick. One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

(This course may be elected only by students who have studied economics and politics or modern history at least five hours a week for one year.)

*See footnote, page 98.
The object of this course is to familiarize the student with the principles and technical terms of those branches of private law with which the ordinary citizen is brought into contact. The subjects covered include Persons and Domestic Relations, Contracts, Torts, Real and Personal Property, and the chief forms of procedure. The lectures are supplemented by a study and discussion of court cases bearing on the subject.

Post-major Courses.

The post-major courses are designed to bridge over the interval between the ordinary undergraduate studies and graduate work. As the amount of time given to undergraduate subjects differs in different colleges graduate students frequently find it advisable to elect some of these courses.

American Economic and Social Problems, Dr. Marion Parris Smith.*

*Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1918-19 and again in 1920-21.)

The object of this course is to trace certain social movements in the United States from 1865 to the present time. Special studies are made of the changes in rural and urban population; the development of city life; the problems of country life; immigration, the race problem; problems of food distribution and marketing, cost of living, etc. Special topics are assigned to students for reports and attention is given to the use of original source material.

Economic and Social Legislation in England and America since 1890, Dr. Marion Parris Smith.*

*Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1919-20 and again in 1921-22.)

The first semester is devoted to a review of recent English legislation dealing with trade unions, workmen's compensation, minimum wages, the sweated trades, old age pensions, unemployed, child-welfare, and the land system. In the second semester American legislation on these subjects is reviewed as well as recent Anti-Trust legislation. Special topics are assigned to students for reports, and attention is given to the use of original source material.

International Law, Dr. Fenwick.

*Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1918-19 and again in 1920-20.)

The object of this course is to present the rules of international law as a positive system with an historical background of custom and convention. Use is made of judicial decisions of British and American courts applying the principles of international law wherever such cases are in point, and an endeavour is made to determine the precise extent to which a given rule is legally or morally binding upon nations. In view of the importance of the question of international reorganization at the present time stress is laid upon the problems involved in a League of Nations.

Constitutional Law of the United States, Dr. Fenwick.

*Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1920-21.)

In this course the leading principles of the American constitutional system will be examined. The course will deal principally with the federal constitution and the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States. Some attention will be given, however, to state constitutions and the decisions of state courts. Stress will be laid upon decisions relating to social and economic questions.

* See footnote, page 98.
Courses of Study. Economics and Politics. 101

Graduate Courses.

Nine hours a week of seminar work and graduate lectures are offered each year to graduate students of economics and politics.

Three seminaries, one in economics, two in political science, are offered each year in addition to the direction of private reading and original research. An advanced course in statistics is given in the Department of Social Economy. Post-major courses amounting to five hours a week which may be elected by graduate students are given in each year. Students may offer either economics or politics as their major subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. A list of approved associated and independent minors will be found in the Regulations of the Academic Council.

The books needed by the graduate students are collected in the seminar library of the department. No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses or to the seminar library.

Economics Seminary, Dr. Marion Parris Smith.*

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

The object of the seminar is to train students in methods of research and to give them practice in using the sources of economic history and theory.

In 1918–19 the Tariff, Currency, and Banking in the United States will be the subjects of the seminar.

In 1919–20* the subject of the seminar will be Taxation, Banking, and Railroad Finance since 1900.

In 1920–21 the Theories and Problems of Distribution and the agencies in modern social life that effect the distribution of wealth are studied. Special attention is paid to wage problems, profit sharing, various plans for controlling large scale production, land reforms, and income and excess profits taxation.

In 1921–22 Economic Theory and Economic History in the United States from 1790 to 1850 will be studied.

Politics Seminary, Dr. Fenwick.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

The methods of instruction in the seminar are designed to guide advanced students in special research work along the lines indicated by the titles of the courses. Some lectures are given but the main attention is devoted to the presentation and criticism of the results of studies made by the students themselves.

In 1918–19 Constitutional Questions involved in Modern Economic and Social Problems are the subject of the seminar. The chief economic and social problems of the United States are studied from the point of view of the restrictions placed by the Constitution upon the legislative powers of Congress and of the several states dealing with these subjects. As an introduction the various theories relating to the proper functions of the state are discussed.

In 1919–20 Comparative Constitutional Government will be the subject of the seminar. The object will be to compare and contrast the several forms of constitutional government represented by the United States, Great Britain, France and Germany, together with a study of the new constitutional governments of Russia, Czecho-Slovakia, and China, if proper material be available. Among the questions raised will be the location of sovereign power, the authority of the constitution, the restrictions placed by the constitution upon the governing bodies, and the protection afforded by the constitution to the rights of individuals and minorities.

See footnote, page 98.
In 1920-21 the Constitutional Law of the United States will be the subject of the seminary. The decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States will form the basis of the work. Special stress will be laid upon the relations between the federal and state governments, interstate commerce, and due process of law under the Fourteenth Amendment. Students will be required to present brief reports upon assigned cases in the first semester and to prepare a longer report upon a group of cases in the second semester.

Seminary in Municipal Government, Miss Franklin.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

This seminary deals with the structure and functions of modern municipal government. The legal relation of the city to the state, city charters, various types of city government, including the commission and city-manager forms, are considered in the early part of the course. A study of modern municipal administration follows, including municipal finance and budgetary problems, city planning, housing, public health and sanitation, franchises the public utilities. The discussion of modern agencies for research in city government is supplemented by practical field work at the Philadelphia Bureau of Municipal Research.

Economics and Politics Journal Club, Dr. Marion Parris Smith, Dr. Fenwick, and Miss Franklin.

Two hours once a fortnight throughout the year.

At the meetings recent books and articles are reviewed and the results of special investigations presented for discussion, comment, and criticism.

Social Economy and Social Research.

The Carola Woerishoffer Graduate Department of Social Economy and Social Research.

This department was opened in the autumn of 1915 and is known as the Carola Woerishoffer Graduate Department of Social Economy and Social Research in order that the name of Carola Woerishoffer may be associated in a fitting and lasting way with Bryn Mawr College which she so generously endowed. The department affords women an opportunity of obtaining advanced scientific training in philanthropy and social service to which Carola Woerishoffer devoted her life.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Susan Myra Kingsbury, Carola Woerishoffer Professor of Social Economy and Director of the Carola Woerishoffer Department of Social Economy and Social Research; Miss Angie Lillian Kellogg, Instructor (and Associate elect) in Social Economy and Social Research; Miss Anne Bezanson, Instructor in Social Economy and Social Research; and Miss Gladys Louise Palmer, Secretary to the Department of Social Economy and Social Research, with the co-operation of the following members of the closely allied departments of Economics and Politics, Psychology, Education, and Philosophy: Dr. Marion

Courses of Study. Social Economy. 103

Parris Smith,* Professor of Economics; Dr. Charles Ghequiere Fenwick, Professor of Political Science; Miss Marjorie Lorne Franklin, Instructor in Economics and Politics; Dr. Theodore de Leo de Laguna, Professor of Philosophy; Dr. James H. Leuba, Professor of Psychology; Dr. Clarence Errol Ferree, Professor of Experimental Psychology; Dr. Gertrude Rand, Associate in Experimental and Applied Psychology; Dr. Matilde Castro, Professor of Education; Dr. David Hilt Tennent, Professor of Biology, and Dr. Ellen C. Potter, Lecturer in Social Hygiene. The seminaries and courses given by these instructors and enumerated below are specially adapted for students of Social Economy and Social Research.

The courses in Social Economy and Social Research are intended for graduate students who may present a diploma from some college of acknowledged standing. No undergraduate students are admitted although graduate students in the department may elect, subject to the approval of the Director, undergraduate courses in other subjects.

Students of this department should offer for admission to their graduate work a preliminary course in economics, and more advanced courses equivalent to the Bryn Mawr College major course in economics, politics, psychology, philosophy, or history, and also preliminary work in psychology or biology, or should follow such courses while taking the work of the department.

The courses are planned for one, two, and three years, on the principle that about two-thirds of the student's time shall be given to the study of theory and the remaining one-third to practical work and investigation in her chosen field. Students entering the department are expected to pursue the work throughout one year at least. After one year of work in this department one-half year may be given to a practicum in residence in a social service institution, in connection with a social welfare or community organization, in a federal or state department of Labour and Industry, in a federal or state employment office, or in a manufacturing or mercantile establishment in Philadelphia, New York, New England, or elsewhere, during which time the practical work and special reading and research will be supervised by the instructor in charge of the practicum and the head of the institution, department or business firm.

The fields from which a subject for the practicum may be chosen are as wide as are the organized activities for social welfare. Advantage has been taken by the department of the very generous interest and co-operation of the Philadelphia social agencies, federal and state departments and manufacturers and merchants to secure for its students definite affiliations with practical work in the fields chosen by them. This has led in the years 1915-18 to an arrangement for co-operative work with the College Settlement, the Municipal Court, the Society for Organizing Charity, the Women's Trade Union League, the Social Service Departments of the University of Pennsylvania Hospital, the Bryn Mawr Community Center, the Massachusetts Minimum Wage Commission, the Federal Children's Bureau, the Children's Aid Society, the Consumers' League, the Seybert Institution, the White-Williams Foundation, the U. S. Employment Service, and the State Department of Labour and Industry.

The following business firms have afforded opportunity for practical work in industrial supervision and employment management in or near Philadelphia:

Graduates of colleges other than Bryn Mawr College that have completed the required preliminary work in Economics, Political Science and Psychology and are able to study for one year only will receive certificates stating the courses they have satisfactorily completed. As the degree of Master of Arts is conferred only on graduates of Bryn Mawr College it is hoped that this certificate will in many cases be accepted for the master's degree in the colleges and universities from which students have received their bachelor's degree. Graduates of Bryn Mawr College may receive the degree of Master of Arts in Social Economy and Social Research under the conditions prescribed for this degree.

Graduate students that have completed the required preliminary work who are able to study for two years will receive certificates stating the courses they have satisfactorily completed.
The degree of Doctor of Philosophy in Social Economy and Social Research is open to graduates of all colleges of high standing under the conditions prescribed for this degree in Bryn Mawr College.

Candidates for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in Social Economy and Social Research may select the associated or independent minor from the following seminaries and graduate courses and from other graduate seminaries or courses, subject to the approval of the Graduate Committee. Candidates for this degree in other departments may elect, with the approval of the Director, the following seminaries for the associated or the independent minor according to the regulations of the Academic Council of Bryn Mawr College.

Six seminaries, three including practicums, and five graduate courses, are given each year in the Carola Woerishoffer Department in addition to seminaries and courses in economics, politics, education, philosophy, and psychology. Direction of investigation and research in special fields, and supervision of the practicum in social and industrial welfare accompanies the seminaries and courses. The seminaries and courses announced by the department are given in rotation so that different courses may be taken in consecutive years. The selection of courses depends upon the field of social work which the student may choose. A seminary in Social Economy or a seminary in Social Theory, and, unless previously taken, undergraduate courses in Elements of Statistics and Methods of Social Research are required of all students of the department.

Free Elective Courses.

Elements of Statistics, Miss Bezanson.  One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

This course deals with the elementary principles of statistics and their application. Among the topics are the array, frequency distributions, averages, measures of variation, probability and theory of errors, theory of sampling, index numbers, logarithmic curves, graphic methods, comparisons, and the elements of linear correlation.

The course is recommended to students of social economy and of economics and to those students interested in the study of record keeping and filing. No knowledge of mathematics beyond the requirements for matriculation is presupposed.

Social Betterment, Dr. Kingsbury.  Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

This course presents the principles and methods used in the Charity Organization Society and the principles of case work are carefully considered and various case records both from the Charity Organization Society and from Home Service experiences are studied in the class. Opportunity to attend case conferences are offered to the students, and observation excursions made to various social institutions and agencies of Philadelphia and the surrounding country. The course includes a survey of the origin, growth, and present methods of the most important social service and social welfare organizations in order to acquaint the student with the fields of activity in which social work is being carried on: (1) social education, through settlements, civic centres or other neighbourhood organizations; (2) improvements of industrial conditions, through associations for labour legislation, labour organizations, or consumers' efforts; (3) vocational guidance, through vocational advising, through placement, or through adjustment of employment; (4) child welfare, through societies for care and protection of children; (5) family care, through organizations for the reduction and prevention of poverty; (6) social guardianship, through the probation work in the juvenile courts or corrective institutions.

This course is open to students who have attended or are attending courses equivalent to the course in Minor Economics or in General Psychology.

Record Keeping and Social Investigation, Dr. Kingsbury.

Two hours a week during the second semester.

(Given in each year.)

The object of the course is to acquaint the student with the principles and methods of record keeping and filing which are applicable to municipal, state, and federal offices, to business organizations, and to social organizations and investigation, and with the methods of securing, analyzing, interpreting and presenting social data. The best systems in use will be analyzed and studied. Preparation of the various types of schedules, tabulation of information secured, and the preparation of tables are among the subjects considered. The course concludes with a critical study of the methods used in social economic investigations and of reports by federal and state departments and by private organizations. This course must be accompanied by the course in Elements of Statistics.

Graduate Courses.

The following graduate seminars and courses may be elected subject to the approval of the Director of the Department by students working for the first and second year certificates as well as by candidates for the degree of Master of Arts or of Doctor of Philosophy in Social Economy and Social Research, or may be offered as the associated or independent minor with the approval of the Director of the Department when the major is taken in certain other departments according to the regulations of the Academic Council.

Seminary in Social Research, Dr. Kingsbury.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

In 1918–19 the subject of the seminary is married women in industry, with special reference to mothers in industry.

In 1919–20 the subject of the seminary will be Community and Industrial Surveys.

In 1920–21 the seminary will be selected from the following aspects of Social and Industrial Problems: (1) social relations, (2) vocational opportunities and demands, (3) standards of living, including income and wages, (4) the relation of health and industry (5) industrial relations of women and minors. Research including field work with conferences will be required of research fellows and will be offered to every student. A group of students may co-operate to produce a study which, it is hoped, will prove a contribution to our knowledge of the social or industrial conditions investigated.

As the chief subjects of investigation will vary from year to year, as noted above, it will be possible for students to follow the work of the seminary for three consecutive years.
Courses of Study. Social Economy.

Seminary in Races and Peoples, Miss Kellogg.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1918-19 and again in 1920-21.)

A study is made of the definitions of race, of theories regarding the origin and evolution of races, and of sociological characterizations of peoples.

Seminary in the Family as a Social Institution, Miss Kellogg.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1919-20 and again in 1921-22.)

A study is made of theories regarding the origin and evolution of the family as a social institution; such as patriarchal theory, the theory of the horde and mother-right, and the theory of the monogamous or pairing family. In connection with these theories are considered the questions of original communism, polygamy, polyandry, monogamy, exogamy, endogamy, wife-capture, wife-purchase, marriage contracts, and divorce, and finally modern theories as to the future of the family.

Seminary in Labour Organization, Miss Bezanson.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1918-19 and again in 1920-21.)

Assuming on the part of students a knowledge of the general concepts of labour economy this seminary discusses questions dealing with trade unionism, employers' associations, wage systems, scientific management, and unemployment. The modern problem of industrial democracy is traced through the various stages of collective bargaining, shop agreements, co-operative management and the recent developments of the British National Industrial Councils.

Seminary in Industrial Organization, Miss Bezanson.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1919-20 and again in 1921-22.)

This seminary undertakes a study of business organization as an element in industrial society. It especially emphasizes the aspects of the industrial combination in its effects upon efficiency and wages.

The purpose is also to present the standard practice in industrial organizations and management. It gives a conception of the entire plant structure in order to suggest possibilities of co-operation between departments, and to insure an understanding of their difficulties. It will concern itself with the location and equipment of a plant and its administration, including functions of the officials and departments and their inter-relations in all stages from purchasing and employing to marketing.

Seminary in Social Economy, Dr. Kingsbury.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

This seminary includes the Practicum in Community Organization and Administration. It combines practical work in social and community education with reports and discussions. It must be accompanied by the course in Community Organization and must be preceded or accompanied by the seminary in Social Education or its equivalent. In addition to reports and conferences, seven or twelve hours a week, according to election, are devoted to active work in a social center or settlement by which the student gains vital illustration of the principles of organization of community activities. Extra curricula classes and vocational education, citizenship movements, forums, social clubs, playgrounds and other educational movements for adults and children. Experience is then attained in the technique and method of conduct of such activities, and opportunity given for a knowledge of record keeping, of special brief community surveys and of the relation of citizen groups to government officials and institutions. Two or three months of non-resident practice in social centers and settlements, playgrounds or fresh-air camps may be arranged for the summer following the resident work at Bryn Mawr.
Courses of Study. Social Economy.

The fields from which the subject for the practicum may be chosen are community and social centers, settlements, playgrounds, health and recreation centers, and have included the Bryn Mawr Community Center, the Philadelphia College Settlement and work in smaller neighboring communities.

Seminary in Social Economy, Miss Kellogg.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

This seminary includes the Practicum in Social Relief and Social Guardianship. It must be accompanied by the course in Social Treatment of Dependent and Delinquents, and Defectives and the course in Legal Procedure in Cases Involving Women and Children. Field work is carried on with such agencies as the following: The Philadelphia Society for Organizing Charities; The Home Service Department of the Red Cross; The Children's Bureau, an agency which investigates all complaints concerning children; The Children's Aid Society, a Child-Placing Agency; The Girl's Aid; The Vocational Guidance Bureau; Hospital Social Service Departments and the various departments of the Municipal Court, such as the Probation, Statistical, Employment Agency and Psychological Departments.

The field work with these agencies is under the supervision of Miss Kellogg and of the director of the particular agency or department. In addition to the regular practice work, students are taken on observation trips to courts, almshouses, orphanages, asylums, institutions for the feeble-minded, the blind, the crippled, hospitals, etc.

Seminary in Social Economy, Miss Bezanson.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

This seminary includes the Practicum in Industrial Supervision and Employment Management, and consists of one day per week of industrial experience in or near Philadelphia and four months of non-resident industrial experience. During the period of residence at Bryn Mawr, the field work is devoted to assisting in an employment office, while group observation trips are regularly arranged. In the non-resident period the student, in addition to experience in the employment office, is enabled by plant supervision to see not only the conditions of work but the conditions of employment problems to the other factors of industry. Experience may also be afforded in the federal employment service and in factory inspection. In connection with this seminary each student must take the course in Industrial Supervision and Employment Management, and must precede or accompany it by the Seminary in Labour Organization or Industrial Organization or the equivalent.

In 1918-19 this seminary met two hours a week during the first semester, and was repeated during the second semester.

Social Treatment of Dependent, Miss Kellogg.

Three hours a week during the first semester.

(Given in each year.)

This course involves a study of the principles, methods, and agencies employed for the prevention, relief and cure of dependency, defectiveness, and delinquency, such as family case-work, outdoor relief, and institutional care. This course must be accompanied by the seminary in Social Economy including the practicum in Social Relief or Community Organization and Administration.

Social Treatment of Delinquents and Defectives, Miss Kellogg.

Three hours a week during the second semester.

(Given in each year.)

This course involves a study of the principles, methods, agencies and institutions employed for the prevention, care and cure of defectives and delinquents, such as juvenile courts, probation and parole systems, the indeterminate sentence and psychological laboratories in connection with the courts. This course must be accompanied by the seminary in Social Economy including the practicum in Social Guardianship.
Community Organization, Miss Kellogg. Two hours a week throughout the year.
(Given in each year.)

In this course the conceptions of community "associations," "societies" and other group formations are analyzed and the purposes and processes of administration of community associations are studied such as Community Centers, Settlements, Community Art, Drama, Music, and Recreation Clubs, Federation of Churches, Charities, etc., Red Cross, Home Service, Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A., Public Health Associations, District Nursing Associations, etc.

Legal Procedure in Cases Involving Women and Children, Miss Kellogg.
Two hours a week throughout the year.
(Given in each year.)

The administrative side of the law affecting women and children is presented in this course. It includes a study of the law as applied in juvenile courts, domestic relations courts, and other municipal courts.

Criminal Law.
Two hours a week throughout the year.

By special arrangement with the Law School of the University of Pennsylvania students in this Department may pursue the course in Criminal Law offered by Dean Mikell at the Law School, Thirty-fourth and Spruce Streets, Philadelphia.

This course may accompany the course in Social Treatment of Delinquents and Defectives (Criminology) and the course in Legal Procedure in Cases Involving Women and Children.

Criminal Procedure.
Two hours a week throughout the year.

By special arrangement with the Law School of the University of Pennsylvania students in this Department may pursue the course in Criminal Procedure offered by Dean Mikell at the Law School, Thirty-fourth and Spruce Streets, Philadelphia.

This course must be preceded by the course in Criminal Law.

Industrial Supervision and Employment Management, Miss Bezanson.
Two hours a week throughout the year.
(Given in each year.)

The course presents the problems and methods of personnel administration. It includes, besides the consideration of the organization and functions of personnel departments, such practical problems as the selection of the worker, his physical and mental capabilities, his placement, rating and promotion. Intensive study is devoted to the instability of employees through the proper analysis of labour turnover. Other subjects considered in the course are questions arising in the equipment, technique and conduct of the Federal employment office or labour exchange, the principles and procedure of factory inspection and the approved methods of supervision of workers in industrial processes. The course must be preceded or accompanied by the seminar in Labour Organization or Industrial Organization or the equivalent, and by the seminar in Social Economy including the Practicum in Industrial Supervision and Employment Management.

Advanced Statistics, Miss Bezanson.
Two hours a week throughout the year.
(Given in each year.)

This course attempts to study intensively the subjects of correlation and causation, or the functional relationships between series of facts. The main considerations of the course are the method of least squares, the theory of linear correlation, skew distribution, partial correlation, and the theory of contingency.

The course must be preceded by the course in Elements of Statistics or its equivalent, and a foundation in mathematics including the Calculus is desirable to facilitate ease in comprehension.

If accompanied by the Special Research in Statistics the course becomes equivalent to a seminar.
Special Research in Statistics, Miss Bezanson.

Seven hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

This course including laboratory analysis and reports is offered in each year in connection with the course in Advanced Statistics and the two courses taken together are equivalent to a seminary.

Seminary in Social Education, Dr. Castro.

Two hours a week during the first semester.

(Given in each year.)

The essentials of educational theory and practice for social workers are studied in this seminary. The subjects dealt with serve as an introduction to the educational principles involved in the intelligent direction of such activities as community centres, settlement classes, clubs, etc. Among the subjects studied will be the characteristic mental and physical development of childhood, adolescence, youth, and maturity. This study will be used as a basis for the selection of the educational materials and methods appropriate to the needs and capacities of different groups of varying ages and differing educational opportunities.

Economic Seminary, Dr. Marion Parris Smith.*

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

In 1918–19 the tariff, currency, and banking in the United States are the subjects of the seminary.

In 1919–20 the subject of the seminary will be Taxation, Banking and Railroad Finance since 1900.

In 1920–21 the Theories and Problems of Distribution and the agencies in modern social life that effect the distribution of wealth will be studied. Special attention will be paid to wage problems, profit sharing, various plans for controlling large scale production, land reforms, and income and excess profits taxation.

In 1921–22 Economic Theory and Economic History in the United States from 1790 to 1850 will be studied.

Political Seminary, Dr. Fenwick.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

In 1918–19 constitutional questions involved in modern economic and social problems are the subject of the seminary. The chief economic and social problems of the United States are studied from the point of view of the restrictions placed by the Constitution on the legislative powers of Congress and of the several states in dealing with those subjects. As an introduction the various theories relating to the proper functions of the State are discussed.

In 1919–20 Comparative Constitutional Government will be the subject of the seminary. The object will be to compare and contrast the several forms of constitutional government represented by the United States, Great Britain, France and Germany, together with a study of the new constitutional governments of Russia, Czecho-Slovakia, and China, if proper material be available. Among the questions raised will be the location of sovereign power, the authority of the constitution, the restrictions placed by the constitution upon the governing bodies, and the protection afforded by the constitution to the rights of individuals and minorities.

In 1920–21 Constitutional Law of the United States will be the subject of the seminary. The decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States will form the basis of the work. Special stress will be laid upon the relations between the federal and state governments, interstate commerce, and due process of law under the Fourteenth Amendment. Students are required to present brief reports upon assigned cases in the first semester and to prepare a longer report upon a group of cases in the second semester.

*See footnote, page 98.
Courses of Study. Social Economy.

Seminary in Municipal Government, Miss Franklin.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

This seminary deals with the structure and functions of modern municipal government. The legal relation of the city to the state, city charters, various types of city government, including the commission and city manager forms, are considered in the early part of the course. A study of modern municipal administration follows including municipal finance and budgetary problems, city planning, housing, public health and sanitation, franchises and public utilities. The discussion of modern agencies for research in city government is supplemented by practical field work at the Philadelphia Bureau of Municipal Research.

Psychological Seminary, Dr. Leuba.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

As the foundation of the work of the seminary one or two of the following subjects will be chosen each year; instinct, feeling, and emotion; the psychology of religion and of ethics; social psychology; abnormal psychology (mental disorders, the Freudian psychology, arrested mental development, and its social and educational implications, etc.), animal behaviour.

Seminary in Social Psychology, Dr. Leuba.

Two hours a week during the first semester.

In 1918-19 and again in 1920-21 the principles of social psychology and their applications to social problems are the subject of the seminary.

In 1919-20 and again in 1921-22 abnormal psychology, chiefly mental deficiency, and its social implications, or temperament and character, their instinctive and emotional foundation, will be the subject of the seminary.

This seminary is open to students who have pursued an elementary course in psychology. It may be elected separately or may be combined with the seminary in Social and Political Philosophy given in the second semester to count as a seminary in the Department of Social Economy and Social Research.

Seminary in Social and Political Philosophy, Dr. T. de Laguna.

Two hours a week during the second semester.

(Given in each year.)

The topics chosen for discussion will vary from year to year. Among them will be such subjects as: the general nature of law; sovereignty and allegiance; the conception of personal liberty; property; punishment; marriage and the family; moral education. This seminary is open to students who have pursued an elementary course in Philosophy. It may be elected separately or may be combined with the seminary in social psychology given in the first semester to count as a seminary in the Department of Social Economy and Social Research.

Seminary in Educational Methods and Measurements; Dr. Castro.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

The seminary takes up the principles of educational methods and teaching technique. The latter part of the work deals with the theory and practice of educational measurements. The special subjects considered vary from year to year.

Seminary in Applied Psychology, Dr. Rand.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

Laboratory Work.

Four hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

This course combines seminary, laboratory drill and research features, and covers the psychological aspects of mental testing with special application to problems of vocational guidance and to the testing of normal adults, adult and juvenile delinquents, and defectives.
In the seminary work, the requirements of mental tests, their standardization and statistical treatment are considered. The laboratory drill work consists of training in the application of general intelligence and diagnostic tests to normal children and adults. This furnishes a standard of the normal reaction to the tests as well as practice in giving the tests. Later the work will be with delinquents and defectives. The research work will be done in connection with Vocational Guidance Bureaus. Two problems will be considered here: (a) the devising and standardizing of specific tests for diagnosing ability for different vocations; and (b) the determination of the average level of intelligence needed to meet the demands of different vocations. The course is open only to graduate students who have had training in experimental psychology.

Social Hygiene, Dr. Potter.
One hour a week during the first semester.

Social Economy Journal Club, Dr. Kingsbury, Miss Kellogg, and Miss Bezanson.
Two hours once a fortnight throughout the year.

Current books and articles are reviewed, recent reports, surveys and investigations are criticized, and the results of important research are presented for discussion.

Philosophy.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Theodore de Leo de Laguna, Professor of Philosophy, Dr. Grace Mead Andrus de Laguna, Associate Professor of Philosophy, and Dr. Ethel Ernestine Sabin, Associate in Philosophy.

The instruction offered in this department covers eighteen and a half hours of lectures a week: it includes a required course of five hours a week for one semester; ten hours a week of undergraduate major and minor work; and six hours a week of graduate work.

A course in philosophy, five hours a week throughout one semester, and a course in psychology, five hours a week throughout one semester, are required of all candidates for a degree.

The major course in philosophy presupposes as much information as is contained in the required course, and may be elected as a group in combination with the major course in Greek, Latin, English, economics and politics, psychology, mathematics, or physics.

A combination of five hours a week for one year of the minor course in philosophy with five hours a week for one year of the minor course in psychology, making up a course of five hours a week for two years, forms a major course and may be elected as a group in combination with the major course in Greek, English, economics and politics, mathematics, and physics.
Introduction to Philosophy, Dr. Theodore de Laguna, Dr. Grace de Laguna and Dr. Sabin.
Five hours a week during the first semester.
(Given in each year.)

(The class is divided into three sections and each section assigned to a different instructor.)

The course consists of discussions of certain fundamental problems of metaphysics based as far as possible upon recent philosophical literature. Every effort will be made to foster independence and sincerity of thought rather than to impress upon the students any system of philosophical dogmas.

FIRST YEAR.

1st Semester.
(Given in each year.)

History of Philosophy, Dr. Theodore de Laguna.
Five hours a week.

Ancient philosophy is very briefly treated. The greater part of the course is devoted to the discussion of selections from the principal writings of Bacon, Hobbes, Descartes, Spinoza, Leibniz, Locke, Berkeley, and Hume.

2nd Semester.

Elementary Logic and Ethics, Dr. Sabin.
Five hours a week.

The equivalent of two hours a week for a semester is devoted to logic and the remainder to ethics. The instruction in logic covers the topics of definition, classification, the interpretation of propositions, the syllogism, the inductive methods, analogy and the use of hypotheses. In the lectures on ethics special attention will be given to the relations between moral standards and the persistent and developing requirements of social organization. This course is conducted by Dr. Grace de Laguna in 1918-19 and in 1920-21 and by Dr. Sabin in 1919-20 and in 1921-22.

SECOND YEAR.

1st Semester.

From Kant to Spencer, Dr. Sabin.
Five hours a week.

The course is principally occupied with the development of the post-Kantian idealism, and with the naturalistic systems of Comte, John Stuart Mill, and Spencer.

2nd Semester.

Recent Philosophical Tendencies, Dr. Theodore de Laguna.
Five hours a week.

The object of this course is to give the student an introduction to the most important and significant recent movements of thought. Among the theories discussed are neorealism, the pragmatism of James and Dewey, and the intuitionalism of Bergson.

Group: Philosophy with Greek, or with Latin, or with English, or with Economics and Politics, or with Psychology, or with Mathematics, or with Physics, or with Geology; Philosophy and Psychology with Greek or with English or with Economics and Politics or with Mathematics or with Physics.

GRADUATE COURSES.

Five hours a week of seminary work and graduate lectures are offered each year to graduate students of philosophy, accompanied by the direction of private reading and original research.

Graduate Courses.
Courses of Study. Philosophy.

A seminary in logic and metaphysics is offered each year and a seminary in ethics and one in the history of philosophy are offered in alternate years. A seminary in social and political philosophy is offered in the second semester of each year. The subjects of study are changed from year to year through a cycle of three years. Ten hours a week of advanced undergraduate courses are also open to graduate students. Students electing Philosophy as their major subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy may emphasize either metaphysics or ethics. For the list of approved associated and independent minors see the Regulations of the Academic Council. The books needed by the graduate students are collected in the seminary library of the department. No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses or to the seminary library.

Ethical Seminary, Dr. Theodore de Laguna.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

In 1919–20 the subject will be Recent French Ethics as represented by Durkheim, Levy-Bruhl, Fouillee, Belot, and Paulhan.

In 1921–22 English Evolutionary Ethics, as exemplified in the writings of Darwin, Spencer, Clifford, Stephen, Alexander, and Hobhouse, and as criticized by Green, Sorley, Huxley, Pringle-Pattison, and Rashdall, will be the subject of the seminary. Special attention is given to the problem of determining the nature and limitations of the genetic method as applied in ethical research.

Seminary in Logic and Metaphysics, Dr. Theodore de Laguna.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

In 1918–19 the philosophy of Plato is discussed in the seminary. Special attention is paid to the problem of the Socratic dialogues, and to the development of the theory of ideas.

In 1920–21 Inductive and Genetic logic will be the subject of the seminary. The theories of Sigwart, Wundt, Bradley, Bosanquet, Dewey, and Baldwin are the basis of investigation.

Seminary in Social and Political Philosophy, Dr. Theodore de Laguna.

Two hours a week during the second semester.

(Given in each year.)

The topics chosen for discussion vary from year to year. Prominent among them are: the general nature of law; sovereignty and allegiance; the conception of personal liberty; property; punishment; marriage and the family; moral education.

This seminary may be elected separately, or may be combined with the seminary in Social Psychology, given two hours a week during the first semester, to count as a seminary in the Department of Social Economy and Social Research.

Seminary in Logic and Metaphysics, Dr. Grace de Laguna.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

In 1919–20 the Nature of Consciousness will be the subject of the seminary. During the first semester the psychophysical aspect is examined and during the second semester the epistemological aspect.

In 1921–22 Contemporary Realism as represented by Moore, Russell, Alexander, Perry, McGilvary, and Fullerton is the subject of the seminary.

Seminary in the History of Philosophy, Dr. Sabin.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

In 1918–19 Descartes and Spinoza are studied with special reference to their view of the relation between idea and object.
In 1920–21 the philosophy of Kant will be the subject of the seminar. The principal writings of the critical period will be read and a careful study will be made of the final organisation of Kant’s system in the Critique of Judgment.

Philosophical Journal Club, Dr. Theodore de Laguna, Dr. Grace de Laguna, and Dr. Sabin. Two hours once a fortnight throughout the year.

The advanced students and the instructors meet to report on and discuss recent reviews and philosophical articles.

Psychology.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. James H. Leuba, Professor of Psychology, Dr. Clarence Errol Ferree, Professor of Experimental Psychology and Director of the Psychological Laboratory, Dr. Gertrude Rand, Associate in Experimental and Applied Psychology, and Dr. Ethel Ernestine Sabin, Associate in Philosophy, Miss Mary Ruth Almack, Assistant Demonstrator in Experimental Psychology and Miss Istar Alida Haupt, Assistant Demonstrator in Applied Psychology.

The instruction offered in this department covers twenty-four and a half hours of lectures a week; it includes a required course of five hours a week for one semester; ten hours a week of undergraduate major and minor work; two hours a week of free elective work and ten hours a week of graduate work.

A course in psychology, five hours a week throughout one semester, and a course in philosophy, five hours a week throughout one semester, are required of all candidates for a degree.

The major course in psychology presupposes as much information as is obtained in the required course and may be elected as a group in combination with the major course in Greek, English, economics and politics, philosophy, mathematics, physics, or biology.

A combination of five hours a week for one year of the minor course in psychology with five hours a week for one year of the minor course in philosophy forms a major course and may be elected as a group in combination with the major course in Greek, English, economics and politics, mathematics, and physics.

Psychology, Dr. Leuba and Dr. Sabin. Five hours a week during the second semester. (Given in each year.)

The text-book used is Pillsbury’s Fundamentals of Psychology. In connection with the lectures there are experimental demonstrations.
Courses of Study. Psychology.

First Year.

(Minor Course.)

1st Semester.

(Given in each year.)

Major Course.

Experimental Psychology, Dr. Ferree and Dr. Rand. Five hours a week.

Laboratory work, Dr. Ferree and Dr. Rand. Four hours a week.

(Open only to those students who have taken the required course in psychology. May be taken as a free elective.)

The lectures constitute an abbreviated course in systematic psychology in which the historical, critical, and theoretical features of the subjects covered are discussed and the experimental features demonstrated. Special stress is laid on the comparative study of methods. The laboratory work consists of individual practice in selected topics.

2nd Semester.

The Psychology of Instinct and Emotion, and Animal Behaviour, Dr. Leuba. Five hours a week.

(Open only to those students who have taken the required course in psychology. May be taken as a free elective.)

The course in animal psychology does not necessitate a special knowledge of biology, yet it appeals to students of that science since it deals with animal behaviour. Time is spent on an analysis of the methods and processes by which animals learn. This part of the course is of special interest to students of education because of the light thrown upon the problems of mental acquisition in man.

Second Year.

1st Semester.

(Given in each year.)

Five hours a week.

(Open only to those students who have taken the minor course in psychology five hours a week in the second semester. Experimental psychology is not a prerequisite. May be taken as a free elective.)

Psychology has so far been concerned almost exclusively with individuals, human or animal, normal or abnormal. But a community, a crowd, an industrial trust, do not behave as the individuals composing them would behave if they acted independently. For this reason the study of the laws of social interrelation and of social action has become a separate branch of psychology. Religion, ethics, science, art, industry, and commerce are the most important forms which social life has assumed in the course of human development.

2nd Semester.

Applied Psychology, Dr. Rand. Five hours a week.

Laboratory work, Dr. Rand. Four hours a week.

(Open only to those students who have taken the minor course in psychology five hours a week throughout the year. May be taken as a free elective.)

The specific applications of psychology form the subject-matter of this course. An important feature is the application to the work of the clinic. Demonstrations are made of mental equipment and individual practice is given in mental testing. The applications of psychology to law, medicine, vocational guidance, advertising, etc., are briefly considered.

Group: Psychology with Greek, or with English, or with Economics and Politics, or with Philosophy, or with Mathematics, or with Physics, or with Biology, or Philosophy and Psychology with Greek, or with English, or with Economics and Politics, or with Mathematics, or with Physics.

Free Elective Course.

Advanced Experimental Psychology, Dr. Ferree.
Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

This course is intended for students who wish to be trained in research work. It is primarily for fourth year students in psychology, but in very special cases by permission of the instructor it may be taken by a student who has taken the minor course in experimental psychology. The instructor will cooperate with the students in the solution of some original problems. A reading knowledge of French and German is required.

Graduate Courses.

Twelve hours a week of seminary work and graduate lectures are offered each year to graduate students of psychology, accompanied by the direction of private reading and original research and the courses are varied from year to year so that they may be pursued by students through three or more successive years. The books needed by the graduate students are collected in the seminary library of the department. No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses or to the seminary library, but the minor and major courses of the department amounting to ten hours a week may be elected by graduate students. The laboratory of experimental psychology is open to graduate students for research work. Students may offer either Social Psychology or Experimental and Systematic Psychology as a major subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. A list of approved associated and independent minors will be found in the Regulations of the Academic Council.

Psychological Seminary, Dr. Leuba.
Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

As the foundation of the work of the seminary one or two of the following subjects will be chosen each year: instinct, feeling, and emotion; the psychology of religion and of ethics; social psychology; abnormal psychology (mental disorders, the Freudian psychology, arrested mental development, and its social and educational implications, etc.); animal behaviour.

Seminary in Social Psychology, Dr. Leuba.
Two hours a week during the first semester.

In 1918-19 and again in 1920-21 the principles of social psychology and their applications to social problems are the subject of the seminary.

In 1919-20 and again in 1921-22 abnormal psychology, chiefly mental deficiency, and its social implications, or temperament and character and their instinctive and emotional foundation will be studied.

This seminary together with the seminary in Social Philosophy, given in the second semester, may be counted as a seminary by students in the Department of Social Economy and Social Research.
Seminary in Experimental and Systematic Psychology, Dr. Ferree.

_Three hours a week throughout the year._

(Given in each year.)

This seminary is intended, primarily, to give a systematic presentation of the literature of experimental psychology. Due consideration, however, will be given to all points of systematic importance. The work is grouped about the following topics: sensation, the simpler sense complexes, perception and ideas, feeling and the affective processes, attention, action, and the intellectual processes (memory, association, imagination, etc.). The course covers three years, but the topics chosen and the time devoted to each vary from year to year according to the needs of the students.

Seminary in Research Methods and Problems, Dr. Ferree and Dr. Rand.

_Three hours a week throughout the year._

The object of this seminary is to give training in research. In addition to the work in the laboratory supplementary reading, reports and discussions are required. In special cases the course may be elected for a greater number of hours.

Seminary in Applied Psychology, Dr. Rand.

_Two hours a week throughout the year._

Laboratory Work, Dr. Rand.

_Four hours a week throughout the year._

This course combines seminar, laboratory drill and research features, and covers the psychological aspects of mental testing with special application to problems of vocational guidance and to the testing of normal adults and adult and juvenile delinquents and defectives.

In the seminar work, the requirements of mental tests and their standardization and statistical treatment are considered. The laboratory drill work consists of training in the application of general intelligence and diagnostic tests to normal children and adults. This furnishes a standard of the normal reactions to the tests as well as practice in giving the tests. Later the work is with delinquents and defectives. The research work will be done in connection with Vocational Guidance Bureaus. Two problems will be considered here: (a) the devising and standardizing of specific tests for diagnosing ability for different vocations; and (b) the determination of the average level of intelligence needed to meet the demands of different vocations. The course is open only to graduate students who have had training in experimental psychology.

Special Laboratory Problems in Applied Psychology, Dr. Rand.

_Four hours a week throughout the year._

This course is offered to students who have attended the seminary in Applied Psychology and wish to pursue more advanced work.

Psychological Journal Club, Dr. Leuba, Dr. Ferree, and Dr. Rand.

_One hour a week throughout the year._

The advanced students meet with the instructors once a week to hear or read reports on the literature of the subject and on the work done in the laboratory.

Psychological Laboratory Work, Dr. Ferree and Dr. Rand.

The laboratory work consists of individual practice and research.

Education.

This Department is organized in part from the Phebe Anna Thorne Endowment and is connected with the Phebe Anna Thorne Model School.

The instruction in Education is under the direction of Dr. Matilde Castro, Professor of Education and Director of the Courses of Study. Education.

Phebe Anna Thorne Model School, and Dr. Ada Hart Arlitt, Associate in Educational Psychology.

The work of the Department of Education is intended for graduate students only. No undergraduate students are permitted to take any graduate work in education although graduate students may if they so desire elect undergraduate courses in education and psychology and other subjects. The courses are planned for graduate students who wish to study education for one, two, and three years on the principle that about one-half of the student’s time will be given to purely educational courses and the remaining half to courses in the subjects in which she is preparing herself to teach. The degree of Master of Arts in Education is open to graduates of Bryn Mawr College only. Graduates of other colleges receive diplomas certifying to the work that they have taken in the Graduate Department of Education. The degree of Doctor of Philosophy in Education is open to graduates of all colleges of high standing under the general conditions prescribed for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy.

The Phebe Anna Thorne Model School.

The Phebe Anna Thorne School opened in the autumn of 1913 under the direction of the Bryn Mawr College Graduate Department of Education. It is maintained by an endowment of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars given by the executors of the estate of the late Phebe Anna Thorne to perpetuate her deep interest in school education and her desire to further research in the best methods of teaching school subjects. The Phebe Anna Thorne School is an integral part of the Graduate Department of Education and affords its students an opportunity to follow the work of the expert teachers of the model school and discuss in seminaries conducted by the professors of education the various problems of teaching and administration as they arise from day to day. Pupils are admitted at nine or ten years of age and will be fitted to enter Bryn Mawr and other colleges on the completion of a seven or eight years’ school course based on the soundest available theory and practice of teaching to be found in this country or abroad. It is believed that the opportunity of studying the newest approved methods of secondary teaching will enable teachers who have studied in the Graduate Department of Education to teach more efficiently and to command materially higher salaries.

Free Elective Courses.

Education, Dr. Castro.
Two hours a week throughout the year.
(Given in each year.)

The course interprets modern educational problems from the standpoint of their social setting; develops the psychological principles underlying the technique of teaching and demonstrates their application; sketches the mental, moral, and physical development of children from infancy through adolescence; and discusses the treatment of children individually and in groups in school and extra-school activities.

It is conducted as a general survey course covering the subject-matter indicated, or various topics are stressed and studied more intensively according as the interests of the class vary from teaching to social work or to a more general interest in educational problems.

Experimental Educational Psychology, Dr. Arlitt.
Three hours a week throughout the year.
(Given in each year.)

Laboratory Work, Dr. Arlitt.
Two hours a week throughout the year.
(Given in 1918-19 and in each succeeding year.)

In the first semester a study is made of sensori-motor learning, perceptual learning, and learning of the problem-solving type. Particular emphasis is laid on the conditions and methods of efficient study and on the training of memory.

In the second semester the course takes up the study of school subjects from the point of view of laboratory experimentation and a survey of the field of group and individual tests and educational scales and measurements.

Graduate Courses.

In addition to three seminars in education, and a seminar in the study of children there are offered in each year observation classes in the Phebe Anna Thorne Model School and courses in systematic and experimental psychology recommended to students of education. Students electing education as their major subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy may elect educational psychology, educational methodology, economics, social economy, social psychology or experimental and systematic psychology, as the associated minor. The list of approved independent minors will be found in the Regulations of the Academic Council.

Seminary in Educational Methods and Measurements, Dr. Castro.
Two hours a week throughout the year.
(Given in 1918-19 and in each succeeding year.)

The seminar takes up the principles of educational methods and teaching technique. The latter part of the work deals with the theory and practice of educational measurements. The special subjects considered vary from year to year.

Seminary in Educational Psychology, Dr. Castro.
Two hours a week throughout the year.
(Given in 1918-19 and in each succeeding year.)

The seminar considers the main categories of educational psychology and studies especially the psychology of school and high school subjects.
Courses of Study. Classical Archaeology. 121

Psychology has been inadequate she is required to take the seminary in Educational Methods and Measurements either as a preliminary seminary or by special permission at the same time.

Seminary in Social Education, Dr. Castro.

Two hours a week during the first semester.

The essentials of educational theory and practice for social workers are studied in this seminary. The subjects dealt with serve as an introduction to the educational principles involved in the intelligent direction of such activities as community centres, settlement classes, clubs, etc. Among the subjects studied will be the characteristic mental and physical development of childhood, adolescence, youth, and maturity. This study will be used as a basis for the selection of the educational materials and methods appropriate to the needs and capacities of different groups of varying ages and differing educational opportunities.

Seminary in Intelligence Tests, Dr. Arlitt.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

Laboratory Work in Intelligence Tests, Dr. Arlitt.

Four hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

The work of the seminary is devoted to a critical survey of the field of mental tests. The laboratory work includes training in the use of tests followed by the practical application of them in schools.

Journal Club in Education, Dr. Castro and Dr. Arlitt.

Two hours once a fortnight throughout the year.

The instructors and students meet to report on and discuss recent reviews and articles and the results of special investigations are presented for comment and criticism.

Classical Archaeology.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Joseph Clark Hoppin, Professor of Classical Archaeology, Dr. Rhys Carpenter,* Professor of Classical Archaeology, Dr. Wilmer Cave Wright, Associate Professor of Greek, and Dr. Mary Hamilton Swindler, Instructor in Latin and Archaeology.

An archaeological seminary of two hours a week and a lecture course of two hours a week throughout the year are offered to graduate students who have done elementary archaeological work, and also a journal club meeting one and a half hours a fortnight. In addition individual students will be directed in special work by means of private conferences.

The undergraduate work is divided into courses of three hours a week and two hours a week, affording a complete series of instruction in the various branches of classical archaeology. It is recommended that those who elect archaeology as a major

* Granted leave of absence for 1917-19 for military service.
subject should offer General Archaeology, Greek Sculpture, Art and Life in Hellenistic Towns, and Ancient Rome, during their first year, reserving for their second year the courses on Ancient Egypt, Crete and Prehistoric Greece, Ancient Architecture, Greek and Roman Minor Arts, and Ancient Painting and Vases. The elective courses in Greek Religion and Greek Myths and Literary Geography of Greece and Asia Minor may be substituted for the courses in Ancient Athens and Ancient Rome.

All the undergraduate courses are fully illustrated with lantern-slides, and photographs are available for review and comparison.

First Year.

(Minor Course.)

Major Course.

General Archaeology, Dr. Hoppin.  Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1918-19.)

The course is intended as an introduction to the study of Classical Archaeology. It is general in its treatment and includes architecture, sculpture, vases, coins, gems, bronzes, terracottas and terra-cottas, omitting however epigraphy and topography.

Topography and Monuments of Ancient Athens, Dr. Hoppin.

Two hours a week during the first semester.

(Given in 1918-19.)

The course deals with the various existing monuments of Ancient Athens and the recent excavations.

Greek Sculpture, Dr. Carpenter.*  Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1919-20 and in each succeeding year.)

A critical study of the rise, perfection, and ultimate developments of sculpture in Greece. The course is intended as a general introduction to the principles and appreciation of sculpture.

Art and Life in Hellenistic Towns, Dr. Carpenter.*  Two hours a week during the first semester.

(Given in 1919-20 and in each succeeding year.)

A reconstruction, from existing remains, of town and city life in the period between the death of Alexander the Great and the Roman domination.

Greek Religion and Greek Myths, Dr. Wright.

Two hours a week during the first semester.

(Given in each year.)

This course is supplementary to Greek and English literature and to Oriental and Classical Archaeology and treats of the development of Greek religion, the attributes of the Olympian Gods, such as Zeus and Apollo, their ritual, and the influence on literature of Greek myths.

Literary Geography of Greece and Asia Minor, Dr. Wright.

Two hours a week during the second semester.

(Given in each year.)

This course traces not only the literary legends of famous sites such as Athens, Thebes, Troy and Constantinople, but also their political history.

*See footnote, page 121.
Ancient Rome, Dr. Swindler. Two hours a week during the second semester.

(Given in each year.)

The course deals with the art and material civilization of Rome through Republican and Imperial times. It is intended as an archaeological background to Latin studies and as an introduction to Roman art, especially sculpture and painting. The course includes a study of Etruscan art and its influence on early Rome.

Second Year.

(Minor Course.)

Ancient Egypt, Dr. Hoppin. Three hours a week during the first semester.

(Given in 1918-19.)

The course deals with the history and art of Ancient Egypt down to the Roman period, especially attention being given to architecture and painting.

Crete and Prehistoric Greece, Dr. Hoppin. Three hours a week during the second semester.

(Given in 1918-19.)

In the course a careful analysis is given of the Minoan civilization of Crete and the Mycenaean civilization of the Greek mainland, as illustrated by the existing monuments. The Homeric poems are also discussed in so far as they are related to the period.

Ancient Architecture, Dr. Hoppin. Two hours a week during the second semester.

(Given in 1918-19.)

An introductory outline of Egyptian, Cretan, and Mycenaean building is followed by a detailed study of the principles and practice of architecture in Greece and Rome.

Ancient Architecture, Dr. Carpenter.* Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1919-20 and in each succeeding year.)

An introductory outline of Egyptian, Cretan, and Mycenaean building is followed by a detailed study of the principles and practice of architecture in Greece and Rome. The course ends with a brief survey of Byzantine, Renaissance, and present-day classical styles. Emphasis is laid on architectural evolution and its connection with the civilization of the times.

Greek and Roman Minor Arts, Dr. Carpenter.* Two hours a week during the second semester.

(Given in 1919-20 and in each succeeding year.)

The course treats of Greek and Roman bronze statuettes, terra-cotta figurines, coins, gems, jewelry, silverware, and similar objects, mainly for their artistic and cultural interest. The first six lectures deal with Cretan and Mycenaean art. This course supplements that on Greek vase-painting given in the first semester.

Ancient Painting and Vases, Dr. Swindler. Two hours a week during the first semester.

(Given in each year.)

The course traces the development of ancient painting. It further forms an introduction to the mythology and daily life of Greece, through the study of designs on Greek vases.

*Group: Classical Archaeology with Greek o r with Latin.

Graduate Courses.

A seminar in archaeology, a graduate course, and a journal club in archaeology are offered to graduate students in addition to the undergraduate courses which are open also to graduate students. A good reading knowledge of both French and German is indispensable, and familiarity with both Greek and Latin, though not required, is of the utmost value for graduate work in archaeology.

Students electing classical archaeology as a major subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy must have taken the major undergraduate course in Greek and the minor undergraduate course in Latin or courses equivalent to these. A list of approved associated and independent minors will be found in the Regulations of the Academic Council.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Archaeological Seminary, Dr. Hoppin. Two hours a week throughout the year.

(The seminary is conducted by Dr. Hoppin in 1918-19 and by Dr. Carpenter in 1919-20 and in each succeeding year.)

This seminary is open only to graduate students who have had some previous training in classical archaeology. The order of the subjects may be changed in accordance with the needs of the students.

In 1918-19 fifth century Greek sculpture is the subject of the seminary in the first semester, and fifth century Greek vases in the second semester.

In 1919-20 Greek minor arts, (coins, gems, terra-cotta) will be studied.

In 1920-21 Greek architecture will be studied in the first semester, and Roman architecture in the second semester.

Αιγεαν Archaeology with emphasis on the recent discoveries in Crete, Dr. Swindler. Two hours a week during the first semester.

(Again in each year.)

Ancient Painting, Dr. Swindler. Two hours a week during the second semester.

(Given in each year.)

The work includes a detailed survey of Cretan frescoes, painted plaques, stelae and sarcophagi, Greek vases of the Polygnotan era, paintings found in Etruscan tombs, Pompeian wall decoration, and the mummy portraits from the Fayum.

Archaeological Journal Club, Dr. Hoppin, Dr. Carpenter and Dr. Swindler.

One and a half hours a fortnight throughout the year.

The graduate students and the instructors meet for the presentation and discussion of topics of current archaeological literature.

History of Art.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Miss Georgiana Goddard King,* Professor of the History of Art, and Miss Helen E. Fernald, Instructor in the History of Art.

A seminary of two hours a week and a journal club of one hour a week are offered to graduate students who have done elementary work in history of art. In addition individual students will be directed in special work by means of private conferences.

The undergraduate work is divided into courses of three hours

* Granted leave of absence for the year 1919-20. The courses offered by Professor King in 1919-20 will be given by an Instructor whose appointment will be announced later.
Courses of Study. History of Art. 125

a week and two hours a week on painting, sculpture and architecture.

All the courses except the course in Chinese and Japanese Art (which is illustrated with photographs) are illustrated with lantern slides, and photographs are available for review and comparison.

First Year.
(Minor Course.)
(Given in each year.)

Italian Painting of the Renaissance from the Middle of the Thirteenth to the Middle of the Sixteenth Century, Miss King.*

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(May be taken as a free elective.)

In the first semester the Italian Primitives are studied, chiefly in the schools of Florence, Siena, and Umbria; in the second semester the painters of the High Renaissance, with special attention to those of Venice and the north of Italy. The course is illustrated with photographs and lantern slides.

Gothic Architecture, Miss King.*

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(May be taken as a free elective.)

The first semester is devoted to Romanesque and pointed architecture in Italy and Germany, with special attention to the introduction of Gothic into Italy by the Cistercians, and the second semester to the development of Gothic in France and Spain with parallels from English ecclesiastical architecture. The course is illustrated with photographs and lantern slides.

Second Year.
(Given in each year.)

Painting in the Seventeenth and Eighteenth Centuries, Miss Fernald.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

In the first semester the Dutch, German, and Flemish painters are studied, in the second semester the French, Spanish, and English. The course is illustrated with photographs and lantern slides.

Renaissance Sculpture, Miss King.*

Two hours a week throughout the year.

The first semester is devoted to the sculpture of the Italian Renaissance, the second chiefly to Northern art, and in especial to figure sculpture in France from the finishing of the Cathedrals to the close of the Renaissance. The great sculptors of Germany and Spain will be studied carefully in conclusion. The course is illustrated with photographs and lantern slides.

Group: History of Art with French, or with Italian, or with Spanish, or with German, or with History.

Free Elective Courses.

Renaissance Architecture, Miss King.* Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1918-19.)

The architecture of the Italian Renaissance is studied in the first semester, that of France, Germany, Spain and England in the second semester. Lantern slides and photographs are used for illustration.

Minor Arts of the Middle Ages, Miss King.*

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1920-21.)

The lectures will deal, in succession, with ivories, miniatures, enamels, stained glass, metal work, wood-carving and architectural sculpture, from the decline of Roman art until the beginning of the Renaissance. Photographs and other reproductions are provided for study and reference is made to pieces in museums and other collections accessible during the college year and in vacations. Students electing the course are expected to read at least one foreign language.

Chinese and Japanese Art, Miss Fernald.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

The course deals with the Art of China and Japan, especially painting, with emphasis upon the work of the Zen painters, of Sesshu and his followers, of the Kano and Korin schools, and the school of Japanese colour prints. The course is illustrated with photographs and reproductions and also some originals.

Post-Major Courses.

Spanish Painting, Miss King.* Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1918-19 and again in 1920-21.)

This course is open only to students who have completed the minor and major work in history of art, or an equivalent course. The sources and development of Spanish painting will be considered from the early miniature painters down to living painters. Students will be expected to learn something about Spanish history and characters and to make short trips to see paintings on exhibition in the United States.

Modern Painting, Miss King.* Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1919-20 and again in 1921-22.)

This course is open only to students who have completed the minor and major work in history of art, or an equivalent course. It deals with the history of painting since 1800 and comes down to the present year. Students are expected to make trips to Philadelphia and the neighbourhood to study pictures, as often as may seem necessary.

Graduate Courses.

Two hours a week of seminar work are offered each year to graduate students of history of art accompanied by the direction of private reading and original research, and the courses are varied from year to year so that they may be pursued by students through three or more successive years. In addition to the graduate seminar announced, other courses will be provided as need for them arises, and individual students will be directed in special work by means of private conferences. History of Art may be offered as a minor for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. A list of major subjects with which it may be offered will be found in the Regulations of the Academic Council. The books needed by the graduate students are collected in the seminary library of the department. No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses or to the seminary library, but the minor and major courses of the department amounting to ten hours a week may be elected by graduate students.

* See footnote, page 124.

Seminary in Modern Art, Miss King.* Two hours a week throughout the year.

In addition to working with books and photographs the students will be required to make short day-trips to study pictures.

In 1918–19 the subject is Modern Art from the commencement of the romantic movement to the contemporary theories. Students are expected to be familiar already with the Old Masters, and to read French and German. Arrangements will be made for trips to Philadelphia and New York to study new pictures.

In 1919–20 the subject of the seminary will be the Spanish Primitives.

In 1920–21 the subject will be Spanish painting after 1550.

In 1921–22 the subject will be the Theory and Practice of Connoisseurship. The Morelian method will be examined and appraised, the value of documentary evidence discussed, and the different conditions affecting the study of different schools considered. Students will have access to a large collection of photographs and several private collections of paintings.

Journal Club in Modern Art, Miss King* and Miss Fernald.

Two hours once a fortnight throughout the year.

Mathematics.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Charlotte Angas Scott, Professor of Mathematics, and Dr. Anna Johnson Pell, Associate Professor of Mathematics.

The instruction offered in mathematics covers twenty and a half hours of lectures and recitations a week; it includes ten hours a week of undergraduate minor and major work, one hour a week of free elective work, five hours a week of post-major work open only to graduates and to undergraduates who have completed the major course in mathematics, and four and a half hours a week of graduate work.

In the major course the students are able to gain a fair knowledge of the principal subjects belonging to the department of pure mathematics. The points of contact of mathematics with other branches of mental and physical science are indicated as far as possible throughout the course, special attention being paid to the nature of mathematical reasoning, and to the true relation and mutual dependence of mathematics and physics. The course of lectures on the history of mathematics in the second year is intended to give an outline of the development of the subject from its beginning to 1700 A. D.

* See footnote, page 124.
The two hour course in trigonometry included in the first semester of the minor course in mathematics may be taken separately as a free elective. It is required for admission to the major course in physics. An examination for advanced standing may be taken by those who do not wish to attend the course and yet wish to elect the minor course in mathematics or the major course in physics.

First Year.

(Minor Course.)

1st Semester. (Given in each year.)

Analytical Conics, Dr. Scott. Three hours a week.

Trigonometry, including Series, Dr. Scott. Two hours a week.

The course in trigonometry may be taken separately as a free elective. The course in analytical conics may be taken separately by those students only who have passed the examination for advanced standing in trigonometry.

2nd Semester.

Elementary Differential and Integral Calculus, Dr. Pell. Three hours a week.

Algebra and Theory of Equations, Dr. Pell. Two hours a week.

The three hour and two hour courses in this semester may not be elected separately.

Second Year.

1st Semester. (Given in each year.)

Differential and Integral Calculus and Differential Equations, Dr. Pell. Three hours a week.

Theory of Equations, Determinants, Dr. Pell. Two hours a week.

2nd Semester.

Curve Tracing, History of Mathematics, Dr. Scott. Three hours a week.

Analytical Geometry of two and three Dimensions, Dr. Scott. Two hours a week.

The three hour and two hour courses in each semester may not be elected separately.

Group: Mathematics with Greek, or with Latin, or with Philosophy, or with Psychology, or with Philosophy and Psychology, or with Physics, or with Chemistry, or with Geology, or with Biology.

Free Elective Courses.

Graphic Mathematics, Dr. Scott. One hour a week throughout the year.

(Offered in 1918-19 and again in 1920-21.)

The course deals with statistical work, standard graphs and interpolation. It is recommended to students of economics as well as to students of physics. No knowledge of mathematics beyond the requirements for matriculation is presupposed.
Fundamental Theorems of Algebra and Geometry, Dr. Scott.

One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1919-20 and again in 1921-22.)

Certain standard problems of historical interest are considered in order to elucidate some of the fundamental principles of mathematics. Either semester may be taken separately. No knowledge of mathematics beyond the requirements for matriculation is presupposed. It is hoped that the work will prove useful not only to students electing mathematics as a major, but also to those intending to teach elementary mathematics.

Mathematics Preparatory to Science.  Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year when the time of the department permits.)

This course deals chiefly with parts of the differential and integral calculus, trigonometry, analytical geometry, and differential equations. Some problems in probability are also considered.

Post-major Courses.

The post-major courses in mathematics are designed to bridge over the interval between the ordinary undergraduate studies and graduate work. As the amount of time given to mathematical studies differs in different colleges, graduate students frequently find it advisable to elect some of these courses. Regular written work is expected from all mathematical students, and a reading knowledge of French and German is presupposed.

The post-major courses in any one year amount to five hours a week. The courses given are the following, with occasional modifications.

In 1918-19 the following post-major course are offered:

Special Topics in Geometry, Dr. Scott.  Two hours a week throughout the year.

Lectures on special topics in geometry, such as homogeneous coordinates, circular coordinates, families of curves, certain transcendental curves, geometrical transformations, etc.

General Course in Analysis, Dr. Pell.  Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course deals with the development of subjects such as determinants, infinite series, Fourier series, definite integrals, etc.

Calculus of Finite Differences and Theory of Probabilities, Dr. Pell.

One hour a week throughout the year.

In 1919–20 the following post-major courses are offered:

Lectures on Modern Pure Geometry, Dr. Scott.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

Theory of Functions of a Complex Variable, Dr. Pell.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

Differential Equations, Ordinary and Partial, Dr. Pell.

One hour a week throughout the year.

In 1920–21 the following post-major courses are offered:

Special Topics in Geometry, Dr. Scott.  Two hours a week throughout the year.

Lectures on special topics in geometry such as homogeneous coordinates, circular coordinates, families of curves, certain transcendental curves, geometrical transformations, etc.
Courses of Study. Mathematics.

Lectures Introductory to Modern Algebra, Dr. Pell.
Two hours a week throughout the year.

The properties of polynomials, linear dependence, elimination, transformations, invariants, and canonical forms are discussed.

Elementary Theory of Numbers, Dr. Pell. One hour a week throughout the year.

In 1921–22 the following post-major courses are offered:

Modern Analytical Geometry, Dr. Scott. Two hours a week throughout the year.
Lectures introductory to modern analytical geometry, in connection with Salmon’s Conic Sections and Scott’s Modern Analytical Geometry.

General Course in Analysis, Dr. Pell. Two hours a week throughout the year.
This course with the development of subjects such as determinants, infinite series, Fourier series, definite integrals, etc.

Calculus of Finite Differences and Theory of Probabilities, Dr. Pell. One hour a week throughout the year.

Graduate Courses.

Four and a half hours a week of seminary work and graduate lectures are offered each year to graduate students of mathematics accompanied by the direction of private reading and original research. The subjects vary from year to year so that the seminars may be pursued by candidates for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy for three or more successive years. The books needed by the graduate students are collected in the seminary library of the department. No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses or to the seminary library, but the post-major courses of the department amounting to five hours a week may be elected by graduate students. Students who elect mathematics as a major subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy are required to elect mathematics also as an associated minor. The list of approved independent minors will be found in the Regulations of the Academic Council.

Mathematical Seminary, Dr. Scott. Two hours a week throughout the year.
(Given in each year.)

In 1918–19 Geometry on a Curve and Linear Systems of Curves are the subject of the seminary. The work follows the Italian treatment of the subject rather than the German; but the seminary is arranged so that the most important part of the Clebsch-Lindemann exposition may profitably be read in connection with the lectures.

In 1919–20 Theory of Surfaces and Space Curves will be studied. The subject will be treated from the projective (analytical) point of view without any consideration of the development of differential geometry.

In 1920–21 Topology of Plane Algebraic Curves will be the subject of the seminary.

Mathematical Seminary, Dr. Pell. Two hours a week throughout the year.
(Given in each year.)

In 1918–19 Theory of Integral Equations is studied. The classical theories of Volterra, Fredholm, Hilbert and Schmidt are studied. The theory is applied to boundary-value problems in linear differential equations. In the latter part of the course, either Volterra’s theory of functions of lines, or the theory of linear equations in infinitely many unknowns is given.

In 1919–20 either the Theory of Functions of a Complex Variable including such topics as Riemann surfaces and elliptic functions, or the theory of functions of a real variable including the theory of Stieltjes and Lebesque integrals will be given. The choice will depend on the need of the students electing the seminar.
Courses in Science. 131

In 1920-21 Theory of Linear Differential Equations will be treated. The order of these subjects may be changed in accordance with the needs of the students.

Mathematical Journal Club, Dr. Scott and Dr. Pell.

One hour a fortnight throughout the year.

The Journal Club holds fortnightly meetings at which reports on special topics or memoirs are presented by the instructors and the graduate students.

Science.

Physics, Chemistry, Geology, Biology.

Professors and instructors: Dr. Florence Bascom, Dr. William B. Huff,* Dr. David Hilt Tennent, Dr. James Barnes, Dr. Roger Frederic Brunel, Dr. James Llewellyn Crenshaw,† Dr. Florence Peebles, Miss Edith Hamilton Lanman, Mr. Malcolm Havens Bissell, Miss Sue Avis Blake, Miss Harriet Hobbs, Miss Nora May Mohler, Miss Mary Jane Guthrie, and Miss Hope Hibbard.

In January, 1893, the Trustees opened Dalton Hall, a large building, containing ample laboratories, lecture-rooms, research-rooms, special libraries, and professors' rooms for the work of the scientific departments. The chemical, geological, biological, and physical laboratories and the laboratory for experimental psychology are open for students from nine to six daily.

The attention of graduates of medical colleges and of undergraduate and graduate students intending to take the degree of Doctor of Medicine is called to the facilities offered by the laboratories, and to the resolutions of the Trustees of the Johns Hopkins University in regard to the admission of students to the Medical School of that University, which opened in the autumn of 1893, and has from the first admitted women on the same terms as men. The courses of Bryn Mawr College in physics, chemistry, and biology correspond to those of the Johns Hopkins University,‡ and it is easy for a student to elect † Granted leave of absence for 1917-19 on war service.

‡ Requirements for admission to the medical department of the Johns Hopkins University.

"As candidates for the degree of Doctor of Medicine the school receives:
1. Those who have satisfactorily completed the Chemical-Biological Course which leads to the A.B. degree in this University. (Group V.) a course corresponding exactly to the Preliminary Medical Course of the Johns Hopkins University. Students planning to begin the study of medicine should elect physics for one year and biology and chemistry for two years.

Physics.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. William B. Huff, * Professor of Physics, Dr. James Barnes, Professor of Physics, Miss Sue Avis Blake, Instructor in Physics and Miss Nora May Mohler, Demonstrator in Physics. The instruction offered in physics covers eighteen hours of lectures a week; it includes ten hours a week of undergraduate

2. Graduates of approved Colleges or Scientific Schools who can furnish evidence:
(a) That they have acquaintance with Latin and a reading knowledge of French and German; (b) That they have such knowledge of biology, chemistry, and physics as may be obtained by a year’s course in these subjects when accompanied by laboratory work,†
3. Those who give evidence by examination that they possess the general education implied by a degree in arts or in science from an approved college or scientific school and the knowledge of French, German, Latin, Physics, Chemistry, and Biology above indicated."

† Biology.—In addition to the usual class work, the instruction must include a year’s laboratory course of six hours or more a week upon the structure, functions and life-histories of selected types of animal and plant life. Courses in botany or zoology will be accepted provided the laboratory work has been adequate. It is desirable that the course should include laboratory instruction in embryology.

Chemistry.—The minimum requirement is a one year course, including five hours of laboratory work a week throughout the year, covering the outlines of inorganic chemistry and the elements of organic chemistry, somewhat as presented in Remsen’s “Introduction to the Study of Chemistry.” Students will be required to present evidence that in addition to these requirements they have had an elementary course in organic chemistry, including at least 25 to 30 lectures and 90 to 100 hours of laboratory work.

Physics.—A collegiate course for at least one year is required. This must include four hours a week of class-room work and at least three hours a week of quantitative work in the laboratory. Special attention should be given to theoretical mechanics and to mechanical and electrical experiments.

Latin.—The student should have studied Latin grammar and should possess at least such knowledge of the language as may be acquired by reading four books of Caesar or their equivalent.

Similar requirements are made for admission to the Medical College of Cornell University.

The Woman’s Medical College of Pennsylvania admits students of Bryn Mawr College who have pursued the chemical-biological course that leads to the A.B. or the Ph.D. degree to advanced standing in the corresponding branches of the college curriculum on presentation of evidence of work equivalent to that done in the Medical School and on passing the required examinations in these branches. The Woman’s Medical College presented to Bryn Mawr College in 1910 a scholarship giving free tuition and renewable for the four years of the college course to be awarded to a graduate of the college.

minor and major work, one or two hours a week of free elective work, three hours a week of post-major work, open only to graduates and to undergraduates that have completed the major course in physics; and four hours a week of graduate lectures and seminary work.

The first year of the major course deals principally with the development of physical facts and is accordingly mainly experimental and descriptive in its nature. A wide range of physical phenomena and the elements of physical theories are treated. The course is planned to cover the whole subject from this point of view so as to give those who do not intend to pursue physics further, such a knowledge of its principles as will enable them to follow its recent development and applications, and also to provide those electing physics as a group with a good foundation for more advanced work. No knowledge of physics is presupposed. In the second year the course is intended to serve as an introduction to the theories to which experimental evidence has led. The treatment is accordingly more mathematical than in the first year, but the experimental side of the subject is still emphasised. A knowledge of trigonometry is required, and some familiarity with the methods of the calculus will be of assistance.

the instruction in this course is given by means of lectures, daily oral quizzes, occasional written quizzes, regular problem papers, and required private reading. students are expected to use, in connection with the lectures, text-books on the special part of the subject under discussion; at present reed and guthe's college physics is used for reference; also the text-books of ames and glazebrook. the lectures are illustrated throughout by means of the lantern, by demonstrations on the lecture table, and by the exhibition of apparatus, etc.

In the laboratory, the students are first instructed in the methods of accurate measurement of the simple quantities, length, time, and mass; later, they make a series of determinations, mainly quantitative, on the part of the subject under discussion in the lecture room at the time. Ames and Bliss's Manual of Experiments in Physics is found useful as a reference work for part of this course. A system of laboratory lectures has also been developed to supplement the class-room work, to point out sources of error and their treatment, to demonstrate methods of manipulation, and, in general, to give directions for working which are applicable to the class as a whole; they are given at the beginning of each week's laboratory work. The object of the work is to familiarise the students with the instruments and methods used in physical measurements, with special reference to the quantitative laws upon which the science is based. The laboratory is equipped with this object in view, and the apparatus is all of the most modern design.

Second Year.

1st Semester. (Given in each year.)

Theoretical Mechanics, Theory of Light, Dr. Barnes. Three hours a week.

Laboratory Work, Dr. Barnes and Miss Mohler. Six hours a week.

2nd Semester.

Theory of Heat, Theory of Electricity and Magnetism, Dr. Huff.*

Laboratory Work, Dr. Huff* and Miss Blake. Six hours a week.

In 1918–19 this course was conducted by Miss Blake and the laboratory work by Miss Blake and Miss Mohler.

The instruction is given by lectures, supplemented by the discussion of weekly problem papers; the text-books mentioned below indicate the character of the ground covered, and form the basis of the lectures. Private reading and outside preparation will take at least three and a half hours a week, and the course counts as a five-hour lecture course. An endeavour is made to bring the students into contact with the work of original investigators.

The general text-book used is Watson, Physics; the books used in special subjects are as follows: heat: Maxwell, Theory of Heat, Preston, Theory of Heat; dynamics: selections from Tait and Steele's Dynamics of a Particle, Jeans's Theoretical Mechanics; and special lectures dealing with the applications of dynamics to physical problems; electricity and magnetism: J. J. Thomson, Elements of the Mathematical Theory of Electricity and Magnetism; optics, physical and geometrical: Preston, Theory of Light, Edser, Light.

The laboratory work of the second year is designed to follow and illustrate the subject-matter of the lectures. The student is taught the use of accurate instruments and the methods of physical investigation. A special study is made of the sources and amounts of the errors involved in the different operations, and the problems assigned are adapted as far as possible to the requirements and wishes of the individual students.

Free Elective Courses.

Physical Basis of Music, Dr. Huff.* One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1918–19 and again in 1920–21.)

In the lectures of this course it is planned to present some of the physical principles illustrated in the construction of musical instruments and underlying the general theory of music. Private reading is assigned.

Historical Development of Physics, Dr. Huff.

One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1919–20 and again in 1921–22.)

* See footnote, page 132.
Courses of Study. Physics.

The work of this course consists of lectures, required reading, and class-room discussions. The lectures give an elementary presentation of some of the more important ideas and results of physics. The reading is intended to supplement the lectures and to provide additional material for general discussion. The course is open to students who have had a minor course in science or its equivalent.

Post-major Courses.

The post-major courses are designed to bridge over the interval between the ordinary undergraduate studies and graduate work. As the amount of time given to undergraduate subjects differs in different colleges graduate students frequently find it advisable to elect some of these courses. A knowledge of differential and integral calculus is required. These lectures deal not only with the theoretical development of the subject, but great stress is laid on the important experimental work which has been done in it, and methods and results are criticised and opportunities for further investigation pointed out. The object of the courses is to prepare students to undertake independent work. The laboratory work is planned with this object in view and is arranged to meet the special needs of each individual student. Graduate students may be permitted to take the lectures without the laboratory work. In addition to the laboratory work which accompanies the lectures a student may take extra laboratory work sufficient to make the courses equivalent to five hours a week.

Properties of Matter, Dr. Huff. Three hours a week during the first semester.

(Given in 1919-20.)

The lectures cover the general subject of the properties of matter studied from the point of view of the Molecular Theory. The different theories of matter are discussed and an account of recent investigations concerning the relations of matter and electricity is given. Poynting and Thomson's Properties of Matter is read in connection with the course.

Theory of Sound, Dr. Huff. Three hours a week during the second semester.

(Given in 1919-20.)

The lectures form an introduction to the theory of modes of vibration of pipes, strings, and rods. The theory of music and of musical instruments is then studied. Poynting and Thomson's Sound is used during the earlier part of the course, and frequent references are made to Helmholtz and Rayleigh.

Electricity and Magnetism, Dr. Huff. Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1921-22.)

The lectures of this course treat typical mathematical and experimental problems chosen from the various parts of the entire subject. A large number of problems on potential and attraction are assigned.

Spectroscopy, Dr. Barnes. Three hours a week during the first semester.

(Given in 1918-19.)

The course begins with a complete discussion of the apparatus used in this subject: the results of past and present investigations are then considered, and problems for investigation are pointed out. The many important applications of spectroscopy to astronomy are not neglected. The standard book of reference is Kayser's Handbuch der Spectroscopie. Detailed reports of laboratory investigations are required.
Astrophysics, Dr. Barnes.
Three hours a week during the second semester.
(Given in 1918–19.)

This course consists of lectures on the application of physical principles and methods to the study of the composition, structure, and motions of the heavenly bodies. Selected chapters in Moulton's Celestial Mechanics and many papers from the Astrophysical Journal will be read and discussed.

General Optics, Dr. Barnes.
Three hours a week throughout the year.
(Given in 1920–21.)

These lectures give a general discussion of the theories advanced to explain many phenomena in light. Students are required to have a good knowledge of elementary optics and to be sufficiently familiar with optical apparatus to undertake a detailed study of some special problem.

Graduate Courses.

The graduate seminaries consist of lectures, laboratory work, and original research under the direction of the instructors, the subjects varying from year to year so that the seminaries may be pursued by students through consecutive years. A good working library containing the current and bound numbers of all the important physical journals is kept in the laboratory. Students electing physics as their major subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy may elect it also as the associated minor, provided either mathematics or applied mathematics is taken as the independent minor; or mathematics or applied mathematics may be taken as the associated minor. A list of approved independent minors will be found in the Regulations of the Academic Council.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Physical Seminary, Dr. Huff.*
Three hours a week throughout the year.
(Given in alternate years.)

In 1918–19 Radio-activity and Discharge of Electricity through gases is the subject of the seminary in the first semester and Electron Theory in the second semester. The earlier lectures treat of the effect of fields on the path of a moving charged particle. A discussion of typical experimental methods of measuring velocity and the ratio of charge to the mass follows. After a study of the phenomena of electrical discharge and of radioactivity a brief account of theories is given. In the Electron Theory the mathematical development of the subject is first dealt with and this is followed by experimental tests of theory.

In 1920–21 Mathematical Theory of Electricity and Magnetism is the subject discussed. The lectures are based on Maxwell's standard work, and include a general account of the later development of the theory.

Physical Seminary, Dr. Barnes.
Three hours a week throughout the year.
(Given in alternate years.)

In 1919–20 the seminary deals with a general mathematical discussion of physical optics. Students are expected to give detailed reports on the methods and results of investigations which illustrate the theory. When it seems desirable two and a half hours of experimental work will be substituted for one hour of the seminary.

*See footnote, page 132.
In 1921-22 Thermo-dynamics and Radiation are the subjects of the seminary. The modern developments of thermo-dynamics and radiation including X-rays and photo-electricity are considered. Attention is paid to the application of the laws of thermo-dynamics in physical chemistry.

Physical Journal Club, Dr. Huff and Dr. Barnes.

One hour a week throughout the year.

The advanced students meet with the instructors once a week to hear or read papers on assigned topics in physics.

Laboratory Work, Dr. Huff and Dr. Barnes.

The laboratory work is arranged for the purpose of familiarising the student with the methods of research; the student begins by repeating methods and investigations of well-known experimenters, with any modifications that may be suggested, passing on to points of investigation left untouched by previous experimenters, and finally to the study of new methods and the prosecution of original research. Students taking physics as their chief subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy are expected to spend all the time possible in the laboratory. In the basement there is a constant-temperature vault designed for accurate comparison of lengths, etc., and the laboratory is provided with special rooms for magnetic, optical, and electrical work. A well-equipped shop and trained mechanics make it possible to have special forms of apparatus constructed which are needed in research work.

Chemistry.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Roger Frederic Brunel, Professor of Chemistry, Dr. James Llewellyn Crenshaw,* Associate in Physical Chemistry, Miss Edith Hamilton Lanman, Instructor in Chemistry, and Miss Harriet Hobbs, Demonstrator in Chemistry. The instruction offered in chemistry covers twenty-one hours of lectures a week; it includes ten hours a week of undergraduate major and minor work, five hours a week of post-major work, open only to graduates and to undergraduates that have completed the major course in chemistry, and six hours a week of graduate work.

The first year's work, or minor course, is a general introduction to the subject. Lectures are given in inorganic chemistry, and qualitative analysis.

In the second year particular attention is paid to the quantitative side of chemical phenomena. The lectures are on theoretical and organic chemistry.

The post-major courses are intended to prepare students for independent work, particular attention being paid to laboratory methods.

Granted leave of absence for 1917-19 for military service.
Courses of Study. Chemistry.

First Year.

1st Semester.  (Minor Course.)

Major Course.

Introduction to General Chemistry, Dr. Brunel.  Three hours a week.
Laboratory Work, Dr. Brunel.  Six hours a week.

The course does not presuppose any knowledge of chemistry. In the class-room the nature of chemical action is taught by lectures that are illustrated by a series of experiments in which the more important substances are made and transformed, the time being spent largely on the non-metals. Throughout the semester the lectures and the laboratory work are complementary. After all the experiments on a given subject have been carried out the results are discussed in the class-room.

2nd Semester.

The Chemistry of the Metals, Dr. Crenshaw.  Three hours a week.
Laboratory Work, Dr. Crenshaw.  Six hours a week.

This course deals with the properties of the more important metallic elements and their compounds. The methods of separation employed in the laboratory are discussed, and the fundamental principles upon which these methods of separation are based are emphasised. The lectures are supplemented by required private reading. This course was given by Miss Lannan in 1918-19.

The laboratory work consists of qualitative analyses. The students are first taught to identify the basic and acidic constituents in solutions; later they are required to carry out analyses of alloys and minerals.

Second Year.

1st Semester.  (Given in each year.)

Lectures on Elementary Physical Chemistry, Dr. Crenshaw.  Three hours a week.

In this course chemical facts are considered from the point of view of common and exact relations and from these relations the laws and theories of chemistry are developed. Special attention is paid to the atomic theory, the laws of gases, the theory of solutions and simple equilibria. Private reading and outside preparation amounting to at least three and a half hours a week is required. This course was given by Miss Lannan in 1918-19.

Laboratory Work, Dr. Crenshaw.  Six hours a week.

The laboratory work consists of quantitative analyses. Each exercise is important in itself and illustrates some principle or involves some manipulation of general application in analytical work.

2nd Semester.

Organic Chemistry, Dr. Brunel.  Three hours a week.

The methods of preparation and the behaviour of the various classes of organic compounds are studied. Particular emphasis is laid on the relation between the arrangement of atoms within the molecule and the behaviour of the compounds, and on the processes of reasoning by which the constitution of organic compounds is established.

Laboratory Work, Dr. Brunel.  Seven hours a week.

The laboratory work is devoted to organic preparations. Simple representatives of the more important classes of organic compounds are first prepared and their typical reactions studied. After a familiarity with the methods of dealing with organic substances has been gained, syntheses of a few of the more complex organic compounds are carried out.

Group: Chemistry with Mathematics, or with Physics, or with Geology, or with Biology.
Courses of Study. Chemistry.

Post-major Courses.

The post-major courses are designed to bridge over the interval between the ordinary undergraduate studies and graduate work. As the amount of time given to undergraduate subjects differs in different colleges, graduate students frequently find it advisable to elect some of these courses.

Organic Chemistry, Dr. Brunel.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

The course consists of lectures, assigned reading with occasional reports, and laboratory work. It is intended to broaden the student's acquaintance with the subject and to serve as an introduction to the study of present day chemical problems. At least four hours of laboratory work a week will be required, three hours' credit being given for the course. The laboratory work will consist of the preparation of compounds, organic analysis, and study of the methods for determining the constitution of organic compounds.

Physical Chemistry, Dr. Crenshaw.*

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

The aim of the lectures is to extend the student's knowledge of theoretical and physical chemistry and to lay a foundation for independent work in this subject. The lectures are intended to give a general outline of the subject, the following topics being discussed: fundamental theories of chemistry; the periodic classification; the corpuscular theory of matter; the laws of gases, liquids and solids; osmotic pressure and dilute solutions; colloidal solutions; thermochemistry; homogeneous and heterogeneous equilibria; chemical kinetics; electrochemistry; actinochemistry, and radiochemistry. The solution of a large number of problems will be required. This course was given by Dr. Larman in 1918-19.

The laboratory work amounting to four and a half hours a week is designed to prepare the students for physico-chemical research.

Inorganic Chemistry, Dr. Crenshaw.*

One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1919-20 and again in 1921-22.)

Selected topics in inorganic chemistry are discussed in detail, and parallel reading is required. In the laboratory work of four and a half hours a week advanced quantitative analyses are included.

Graduate Courses.

The advanced courses in chemistry consist of lectures upon inorganic, organic, and physical chemistry, seminar work, reports upon current chemical literature, and laboratory exercises. In the laboratory work the students are required to become familiar with the literature bearing upon the subjects they are studying, and it is therefore necessary for them to have a reading knowledge of French and German.

The lecture courses are varied from year to year to meet the requirements of students and to form a consecutive course for those who wish to make chemistry the major subject in the examination for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. Such students may specialise either in organic chemistry under the direction of Dr. Brunel, or in physical or inorganic chemistry under the direction of Dr. Crenshaw, but students who elect organic chemistry as the major subject of examination must take physical chemistry as the associated minor, and students who elect physical chemistry as the major subject, must take organic chemistry as the associated minor.

* See footnote, page 137.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Chemical Seminary, Organic Chemistry, Dr. Brunel.

One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

This is intended primarily for students who are carrying on research in organic chemistry, and consists of reports on assigned topics which are usually related to the research in which the student is engaged.

Chemical Seminary, Inorganic Chemistry, Dr. Crenshaw.*

One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

The work of the seminary consists of lectures, required reading, and reports on various topics. The needs of the individual students are considered in selecting the subjects for discussion.

Physical Chemistry, Dr. Crenshaw.*

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

In the lectures no attempt is made to give a general survey of the subject but certain selected portions of the science are treated in detail and the student is made familiar with problems of current interest. Students counting this course as the equivalent of a seminary will be required to do enough laboratory work to make the work of the course occupy fourteen hours a week. The laboratory work will consist of physico-chemical research.

Advanced Organic Chemistry, Dr. Brunel. One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

Lectures, reading, and occasional reports cover the historical developments and present status of subjects of current interest. In the year 1919–20 a considerable part of the time will be spent upon the carbohydrates.

Students counting this course as the equivalent of a seminary will be required to do enough laboratory work, to make the work of the course occupy fourteen hours a week. The nature of this work depends so largely on the past training of the student that no definite statement can be made regarding it. A sufficiently advanced student may be assigned a problem to investigate.

Chemical Journal Club, Dr. Brunel, Dr. Crenshaw,* and Miss Lanman.

One hour a week throughout the year.

The advanced students and the instructors meet to hear reports and discuss recent scientific articles.

Geology.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Florence Bascom, Professor of Geology, and Mr. Malcolm Havens Bissell, Instructor in Geology.

The instruction offered in geology covers twenty hours of lectures a week; it includes the equivalent of ten hours a week of undergraduate major and minor work, three free elective courses of two hours and one hour a week, four post-major courses of two and three hours a week open only to graduates and to undergraduates that have completed the major course in geology, and two graduate seminaries of three hours a week, but all these courses will not be given in the same year.

* See footnote, page 137.

The purpose of the major course in geology is to make clear to the student the constitution and history of the earth and the processes which have been operative in its evolution. The first year of the major course is arranged to give a general survey of two divisions of the science and at the same time to introduce the student to the larger field of geology. It may be taken as a free elective or as a year of required science or as the first year of the group course in geology. The second year of the major course deals with rocks and minerals, and with their arrangement in the lithosphere.

Post-major courses in petrography or mineralogy, economic geology, stratigraphy, and paleontology are offered in each year, and are designed to train the student in exact methods for the determination of rock and mineral species, in the genesis of ores and in the principles of stratigraphy and paleontology. They are an essential preliminary to research work in the science.

Excellent illustrative material for the graduate and undergraduate courses is furnished by the geological and palaeontological collections of the college, including the Theodore D. Rand rock and mineral collection, which alone contains over 20,000 specimens, by the private collections of the instructors, and by material lent by the United States Geological Survey; the department is also fortunate in its proximity to the museum of the Academy of Natural Sciences of Philadelphia; within easy reach of the college there are excellent collecting fields for fossil, mineral, and rock specimens.

First Year.

(Minor Course.)

1st Semester. (Given in each year.)

Physiography, Dr. Bascom.

Field Work and Laboratory Work, Dr. Bascom.

Three hours a week. Major Course.

Six hours a week.

The lectures deal primarily with the character and action of the forces which control the landscape and with the features produced by these forces; subordinately physio-graphic regions are discussed. The lectures are illustrated by photographs, lantern slides, geographic relief models, and maps.

In the laboratory the student is occupied with a study of the development of physiographic forms. This is conducted by means of practical exercises and the use of topographic maps and models.

For the field work, excursions are made into the immediate neighbourhood on Mondays from 2 to 4 p.m. during the autumn and spring. On all excursions instruction in field geology is given, areal mapping is accomplished, and reports of the areas covered are required of the students. Reading amounting to three hours will be required of students absent from a field trip. During the winter months laboratory work replaces the field excursions.

2nd Semester.

Introduction to Historical Geology, Mr. Bissell. Three hours a week.

Field Work and Laboratory Work, Mr. Bissell. Six hours a week.

The lectures deal with the evolution of continents and of life, and with the distribution and character of the various rock formations. Special attention is given to the development of life and to the theory of evolution.

In the laboratory the student becomes familiar with the typical flora and fauna of the successive geologic formations and with the development of the more important classes. The field work involves excursions to fossiliferous localities in the Paleozoic formations of Pennsylvanis, and to the Mesozoic and Cenozoic formations of New Jersey. During the winter months and when the weather is unsuitable laboratory work is substituted for the field work.

SECOND YEAR.

1st Semester. (Given in each year.)

Megascopic Petrology, Mr. Bissell. Three hours a week.

Field Work and Laboratory Work, Mr. Bissell. Six hours a week.

The lectures discuss the materials which constitute the earth's crust; the principal rock-forming minerals and others of special economic importance are first described; the important rock types, sedimentary, igneous, and metamorphic are described and their relations shown. The course closes with a discussion of the phenomena and principles of vulcanism and seismonology. The lectures are illustrated by mineral and rock specimens, photographs, lantern slides, and wooden models. Private reading and outside preparation amounting to at least three and a half hours a week are required.

In the laboratory the students become familiar with methods for the rapid determination of the most common and most important rock forming and ore minerals; this is followed by a systematic study of the principal rock types.

Field excursions are made to mineral localities in the vicinity of the college.

2nd Semester.

Glaciology and Structural Geology, Dr. Bascom. Three hours a week.

Field Work and Laboratory Work, Dr. Bascom. Six hours a week.

The lectures treat of the evidences, conditions, and causes of the glacial period; the development of man; the causes and effects of earth movements; the origin and age of the earth. The course is illustrated with models, photographs, and lantern slides.

In the laboratory topographic maps, geologic folios, and models illustrating features due to glacialion and other folios, maps, and models illustrating geologic structures are studied. Practice is given in topographic mapping from models, in modeling from topographic maps, and in drawing structure sections.

The field work of the first semester is continued and training in topographic mapping may also be given.
Courses of Study. Geology. 143

Group: Geology with Economics and Politics, or with Philosophy, or with Mathematics, or with Physics, or with Chemistry, or with Biology.

Free Elective Courses.

Cosmogony, Dr. Bascom. One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1918-19 and in 1920-21 if the time of the department permits.)

The work of the course is conducted by means of lectures, required reading, and classroom discussion. The lectures treat of the origin of the earth, the growth of the continents and the development of landscape, and are illustrated by lantern slides. The reading is intended to supplement the lectures and to furnish further material for discussion. The course is intended to give a survey of the more important results reached by geological research. It will be given only if elected by a sufficient number of students.

Economic Geology, Mr. Bissell. Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1918-19.)

This course is devoted to a broad treatment of our mineral industry. The nature, mode of occurrence, distribution, and uses of the various mineral products are considered. Among the non-metallic substances coal and building stones receive chief attention; among the metals iron, copper, lead, zinc, gold and silver.

Mineral Resources of the World, Mr. Bissell. Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1919-20 and again in 1921-22.)

The course consists of a non-technical discussion of the world's mineral resources: their nature, mode of occurrence, geographical distribution, extent and uses. The metallic ores are first discussed, particularly iron, copper, gold, silver, lead and zinc, but the rarer elements also receive attention. Among the non-metals, coal, oil and gas, and water supply are the most important topics treated. The emphasis throughout the course is placed mainly on the geographic, economic and political significance of mineral resources rather than the technical aspects, and particular attention is paid to the problems of the United States.

Principles of Modern Geography, Mr. Bissell. Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1920-21 and again in 1922-23.)

In this course the scope of the modern science of geography and the fundamental principles upon which it is based will be discussed and illustrated. The physical environment of man will be first considered, and the manner in which this environment has influenced the growth and expansion of races and nations, the development of systems of government and philosophy, and the rise of commerce and industry will then be illustrated. The logical sequence of cause and effect will be particularly emphasized, and every effort will be made to encourage independent thought on the part of the student. Considerable outside reading will be required.

Post-major Courses.

The post-major courses are designed to bridge over the interval between the ordinary undergraduate studies and graduate work. As the amount of time given to undergraduate subjects differs in different colleges graduate students frequently find it advisable to elect some of these courses.
Determinative Mineralogy, Dr. Bascom.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1918-19 and again in 1920-21.)

In this course lectures and laboratory practice deal with the determination of minerals by means of physical tests and by blow-pipe analysis. Special emphasis is placed on crystal forms and practice is given in the use of the two-circle contact goniometer.

Petrography, Dr. Bascom.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1919-20 and again in 1921-22.)

During the first semester the lectures deal with the principles of optical crystallography, the optical means of mineral determination, and the petrographic characters of rock-forming minerals. In the second semester the textures, constitution, origin, geographic distribution, and geologic associations of igneous rocks are treated. Practice is given in the quantitative system of classification. Special field problems may be given to the students for independent solution.

Stratigraphy and Paleontology, Mr. Bissell.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1918-19 and again in 1920-21.)

The work of the first semester consists largely of lectures and outside reading, and is devoted to a thorough study of the principles of sedimentation. This is followed by a consideration of the laws governing the distribution of organisms in time and space.

In the second semester the lectures deal with the evolution of the continents and seas as shown by the record of the sedimentary rocks and their fossils. The successive formations of North America are studied in order, and ancient physiographic conditions deduced as accurately as possible. Particular attention is paid to the evolution of life through the different geological periods and the changes of environment controlling it. In the laboratory the typical fossils of each formation are studied, and the student is required to learn the guide fossils of the more important geological horizons.

Economic Geology, Mr. Bissell.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1919-20 and again in 1921-22.)

The origin and geological occurrence of the useful minerals are treated in considerable detail, particular attention being given to the metallic ores.

Graduate Courses.

The seminary in petrology and crystallography should be preceded by the major and post-major courses or their equivalents and is intended primarily for graduate students wishing to make inorganic geology a major subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. The graduate seminary in crystallography is also intended to meet the needs of graduate students in chemistry who wish to make crystallography a minor subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. The graduate seminary in physiography is designed primarily for graduate students wishing to make physiography a major subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. Further graduate seminars in petrology and physiography will be arranged to suit the requirements of candidates for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy and research problems will be assigned.

Students may specialize either in petrology and crystallography, under the direction of Dr. Bascom, or in stratigraphic geology and physiography, under the direction of Mr. Bissell, but students who make inorganic geology the major subject of examination must take either physiographic geology, inorganic chemistry, or crystallography as the associated minor and students who elect physiographic geology as the major subject, must take either inorganic geology or biology as the associated minor. A list of approved independent minors will be found in the Regulations of the Academic Council.

No undergraduates are admitted to the graduate courses.

Seminary in Petrology and Crystallography, Dr. Bascom.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

This seminary is conducted by means of informal discussions, required reading, laboratory work, and formal reports. The selection of subjects in petrology is dependent upon the needs of the individual students. In crystallography direction is given in crystal measurement with the two-circle goniometer, in crystal projection, and crystal drawing. The seminary involves as much laboratory work as the time of the student permits.

Seminary in Physiography, Mr. Bissell.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

A broad study of the physiographic cycle forms the basis of this course. The general principles governing the development of land forms are applied to various physiographic types, and the evolution of surface features under the control of climate and geologic structure is studied in considerable detail. This is followed by a study of definite regions illustrating the application of physiographic principles to problems of structural, economic and stratigraphical geology. Lectures, outside reading, reports, map work and field excursions are the methods of instruction. Research problems will be taken up if time permits.

Geological Journal Club, Dr. Bascom and Mr. Bissell.

Two hours once a fortnight throughout the year.

The graduate students and the instructors meet for the presentation and discussion of recent geological literature.

Biology.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. David Hilt Tennent, Professor of Biology, Dr. Florence Peebles, Associate Professor of Physiology, and Miss Mary Jane Guthrie and Miss Hope Hibbard, Assistant Demonstrators in Biology.

The instruction offered in biology covers twenty-three hours of lectures a week; it includes the equivalent of ten hours a week of undergraduate minor and major work; one hour a week of free elective work; six hours a week of post-major work, open to graduates and to undergraduates that have completed the major course in biology, and six hours a week of graduate lectures and seminary work. The post-major work may be further extended by special laboratory courses.

The work of the first year, or minor course, forms a general introduction to the subject through a broad, comparative study of living things (general biology). In the second year the foundation of a minuter knowledge of animal morphology and physiology is laid. The third year's work, or post-major course, is devoted to the study of more advanced subjects and the practical investigation of simple problems. A knowledge of the elements of chemistry and physics is desirable for students entering any course in biology, and is necessary for advanced work in the subject.

First Year.

1st Semester.

(Minor Course.)

Major Course.

Lectures on General Biology, Dr. Tennent. Three hours a week.

Laboratory Work, Dr. Tennent, Miss Guthrie and Miss Hibbard. Six hours a week.

2nd Semester.

Lectures on General Biology, Dr. Tennent and Dr. Peebles. Three hours a week.

Laboratory Work, Dr. Tennent, Dr. Peebles, Miss Guthrie and Miss Hibbard. Six hours a week.

The first nine weeks of the semester are devoted to the morphology and physiology of vertebrates. The lectures on embryology of vertebrates follow, and are given three hours a week throughout the remainder of the semester.

It is the object of this course to give the student clear conceptions of the fundamental principles of morphology and physiology and of the relations of the biological sciences to one another and to other branches of science. The laboratory practice is designed to enable the student, as far as possible, to examine for herself the facts discussed in the lectures, to encourage the habit of exact observation, and to impart a knowledge of methods of practical work.

The general subject is treated in two courses which supplement each other and must be taken together. The course in the first semester deals especially with the lower forms of life, the relations of plants and animals, and the more general principles of the science. The course in the second semester is devoted more largely to the higher forms of animal life, with special reference to physiology.

The work is designed not simply to teach the elements of zoology and botany, as commonly understood, but in addition to this to treat plants and animals with constant reference to one another, both in their structure and in their mode of action. Stress is therefore laid on the essential facts of comparative morphology and physiology (general biology) as illustrated by the thorough study of a few types, rather than on the minutiae of classification. At the same time the work is arranged with reference to subsequent special work in zoology, botany, and physiology.

In the first semester the student studies a number of animals and plants, so arranged as to form a natural progressive introduction to the general principles of biology. The student makes a detailed examination of unicellular organisms, and from these proceeds gradually to the complex conditions of structure and function found in higher plants and animals. In the second semester attention is given mainly to the biology of the higher animals. The course ends with a study of the embryology of the frog and, in greater detail, that of the chick.

Second Year.

1st Semester.

(Given in each year.)

General Physiology, Dr. Peebles. Three hours a week.

Laboratory Work, Dr. Peebles, Miss Guthrie and Miss Hibbard. Six hours a week.

The instruction in general physiology consists of a systematic course of lectures upon the properties of living matter supplemented by experiments in the laboratory, and frequent oral or written quizzes.
In the laboratory the student becomes acquainted with the reactions of simple protoplasm and methods of analysis of such reactions, and performs a number of fundamental physiological experiments using vertebrates and invertebrates as material. The aim of the laboratory work is to develop the power of accurate observation and description, having in view the solution of problems rather than merely checking preconceived notions. To this end all experiments are carefully written up and handed in with the graphic record, if any, for criticism, after which they are returned for correction. Any serious errors are discussed personally with the student.

2nd Semester.

General Zoology, Dr. Tennent and Dr. Peebles. Three hours a week.

Laboratory Work, Dr. Tennent, Dr. Peebles, Miss Guthrie and Miss Hibbard. Six hours a week.

The course in general zoology extends the work of the first year so as to include a survey of the phenomena of animal life, the first nine weeks being devoted to a consideration of the morphology of the invertebrates and the remainder of the semester to a study of selected topics in physiology. Part of the course is devoted to a critical analysis of the theory of evolution and discussions of the broader philosophical problems of biology such as heredity, variation, adaptation, and kindred topics. These lectures vary somewhat from year to year, and are intended to be suggestive rather than exhaustive in character.

Group: Biology with Psychology, or with Mathematics, or with Physics, or with Chemistry, or with Geology.

Free Elective Course.

Theoretical Biology, Dr. Tennent. One hour a week throughout the year. (Given in each year.)

This is an historical course dealing with the development of the theories of biology. The course is open to students who have had one year's training in science. Special attention is given to theories of evolution and heredity. A considerable amount of assigned reading is required.

Post-Major Courses.

Embryology of Vertebrates, Dr. Tennent. One hour a week throughout the year. (Given in 1918–19 and again in 1920–21.)

This course consists of lectures, assigned reading, and laboratory work on the embryology of vertebrates. The lectures deal with the development of specific forms and with theoretical questions of embryological interest. The department has material for the study of the development of Amphioxus, Ascidian, Amin, Lepidosus, Squalus, Ctenolabus, Necturus, Rana, Chrysemys, Chick, and Fig. At least four hours of laboratory work are required.

The course is divided as follows: First semester, Early stages of development. Second semester, Organogeny.

Protoplasm, the Cell, and Cytological Technique, Dr. Tennent. One hour a week during the first semester. (Given in 1919–20 and again in 1921–22.)

This course consists of a study of the structure of protoplasm, the structure of the cell, the phenomena of cell division, maturation, and fertilization. Both plant and animal cells will be studied, and instruction will be given in methods of preparing cytological material for microscopical examination. This course is to be taken with four hours laboratory work as a two-hour course.
Experimental Morphology, Dr. Tennent.

(Given 1919-20 and again in 1921-22.)

The object of this course is to give a general historical view of experimental morphology of both plants and animals, to discuss some of the methods employed, to point out the results already obtained, and to indicate the nature of the work now being done in the subject. This course is to be taken with four hours laboratory work as a two-hour course.

Physiology of the Central Nervous System, Dr. Peebles.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1918-19 and again in 1920-21.)

This course consists of lectures and reports on assigned reading and laboratory work. A specific problem is taken up and studied by physiological methods. The lectures deal with the functions of the nervous system from a comparative standpoint.

Physiology of Microorganisms. *

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1919-20 and again in 1921-22.)

During the first semester the time is devoted to the study of yeasts, molds and bacteria. In the second semester problems of growth, cell division, regeneration and reproduction in Protozoa are treated. A specific problem is given to each student.

Physiological Chemistry. *

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1919-20.)

This course consists of lectures, and laboratory work. At least six and a half hours a week of laboratory work are required. The laboratory work includes a study of certain proteins; fats and carbohydrates. A preliminary training in chemistry at least equivalent to that obtained in the minor course is desirable.

Laboratory Work, Dr. Tennent and Dr. Peebles.

It is desirable that as much laboratory work as possible should be done in connection with the courses offered above. The object of the laboratory work is to give the student experience in the use of apparatus and in its adaptation to research. Some special problem is assigned to each student; at the end of the year the results of the work are presented in writing.

Graduate Courses.

Nine hours a week of seminary work and graduate lectures are offered each year to graduate students of biology accompanied by the direction of private reading, laboratory work and original research. The books needed by the graduate students are collected in the library of the department. No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses, but the post-major courses of the department amounting to six hours a week may be elected by graduate students. The advanced courses are varied from year to year, so as to form a consecutive course for students that wish to make biology one of the chief subjects of the examination for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. Such students may specialise either in animal morphology under the guidance of Dr. Tennent, or in physiology under the guidance of Dr. Peebles.

This course will be given by an instructor whose appointment will be announced later.
Seminary in Zoology, Dr. Tennent. Three hours a week throughout the year.

Special attention is given to the phenomena of spermatogenesis and oogenesis and the theories connected therewith.

In 1918–19 Embryology of Invertebrates is the subject of the seminar. The work includes a systematic survey of the normal development of invertebrates, of the problems of germinal organization, cleavage and differentiation, and a discussion of the bearing of these questions on evolution and inheritance.

In 1919–20 Genetics is the subject of the seminar. The work includes a discussion of biometrical methods and results; of investigations on "pure lines;" of the effectiveness of selection; of the relation between chromosomes and heredity; of various theories of heredity and of the application of these ideas in animal and plant breeding.

In 1920–21 Cytology will be the subject of the seminar. The work deals with the anatomy of the cell and the relations and functions of its various structures in unicellular and multicellular organisms.

Seminary in Physiology, Dr. Peebles. Three hours a week throughout the year.

In 1918–19 Internal Secretions is the subject of the seminar.
In 1919–20 Animal Instincts and Tropisms will be treated.
In 1920–21 the Development of Modern Physiology will be studied. The work consists of reports by the students and discussion of recent advances in the subject.

Seminary in Physiological Chemistry.* Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1919–20.)

Students taking this seminar are required to have a preparation in physiological chemistry at least equivalent to that given in the post-major course. Research work will be begun in the seminar.

Biological Journal Club, Dr. Tennent and Dr. Peebles.

One hour a week throughout the year.

The advanced students and the instructors meet for the presentation and discussion of topics of current biological literature.

Laboratory Work, Dr. Tennent and Dr. Peebles.

There is no regular course of laboratory instruction for graduates. Each student desiring to devote a considerable portion of her time to such work is given an experimental problem for verification or extension. The nature of the work depends in each case on the qualifications of the student.

Department of Health and Hygiene.

The health of the students is under the care of a Health Committee consisting of the President of the College, the Dean of the College, Committee Chairman, the Director of Gymnastics and Athletics, and the Physicians of the College.

Every undergraduate student and hearer must be examined each year by the Assistant Resident Physician of the College, and twice each year by the Director of Athletics and Gymnastics with reference to physical development, strength of heart and lungs, and general health. The Physician in Chief of the College acts as consultant and is referred to in all unusual cases. The eyes of students are examined by the Examining Oculist of the College during the first semester after entering the college and again during the first semester of the junior year. Students who cannot furnish evidence of successful vaccination within a period of two years are vaccinated by the college physicians.

*This seminar will be given in 1919–20 by an instructor whose appointment will be announced later.

Eminent specialists practising in Philadelphia whose names may be found in the list of academic appointments have consented to serve as consulting physicians of the college. The Assistant Resident Physician will be in her college office during the hours from eight to eight-thirty a.m. and from four to half past five of every day except Sunday and may be consulted by the students without charge.

Graduate students elected to fellowships or scholarships and also all other graduate students who are admitted to the college are medically examined and are required to comply with the health directions of the college physicians and register regular exercise. Holders of fellowships and scholarships who are found to be suffering from uncorrected eye trouble will be expected to follow the oculist's advice.

All students who are not on the medical supervision list of the attending physicians on account of illness are under the immediate care of the Director of Athletics and Gymnastics. She receives the reports of students on the medical supervision list, keeps careful records of the health of all students and endeavours by lectures, interviews, required exercise, and advice on general hygiene to maintain and improve the health of the students. A course of six lectures on personal and community hygiene is given each year which freshmen are required to attend. A more advanced course of eight lectures on social hygiene is given each year by a woman physician which seniors are required to attend.

The infirmary fee of $10.00 paid by every resident student entitles her to be cared for in the infirmary for four days (not necessarily consecutive) during the year without paying extra fees for nurses or for attendance by the college physicians, and also to the services of the nurses employed by the college during other temporary illness, provided one of the regular nurses is free at the time. In the case of an illness of more than four days' duration and also in the case of all diseases of an infectious character the student must meet, or in case of two or more students with the same infectious disease must share, the expense of a special nurse, the infirmary fees, and also hospital or sanitarium charges should she be removed from the college by order of the Physician in Chief. During the four days specified above the attendance fees of the college physicians are paid by the college. All fees after this time must be paid by the student.

A special nurse for one student costs $5.30 per day (nurse's fee $4.00, board $1.00, laundry $0.30) or $34.10 per week (nurse's fee $25.00 per week, board $7.00, laundry $2.10). In the case of infectious diseases the special nurse costs $6.50 a day or $44.10 per week (nurse's fee $35 per week). The infirmary fee is $3.00 per day. It is often possible for two or three students to be nursed by one extra nurse at the same time, thus reducing the fee for nursing. When a student has not an infectious disease the infirmary fee of $3.00 per day will include the nurse's fee provided it is possible for one of the college nurses to care for the student. The attendance fees of the college physician are $2.00 per visit. The fees of the consulting physicians and surgeons and other specialists recommended by the college will be furnished on request.

All communications concerning the health of the students from parents and guardians, outside physicians, and others should be addressed to the Dean of the College, who will excuse students for absence before and after vacations on account of serious illness and from attendance on academic work during the time that they are in the infirmary or seriously ill at home.

Physical Training.

The Physical Training of the students is under the direction of Miss Constance M. K. Applebee, Director of Gymnastics and Athletics, and Miss Helen Reed Kirk, Assistant to the Director of Gymnastics and Athletics.

Physical Training amounting to three hours a week throughout the year, divided into five periods a week, is required of all resident and non-resident undergraduates and hearers. During the year the following classes and games are organized by the Department of Physical Training in co-operation with the Athletic Association of the students:

In the Autumn: Company drills, hockey, tennis, swimming.

In the Winter: Classes in fencing, gymnastics, interpretative and folk dancing, community singing, swimming and water polo, soccer.

In the Spring: Basketball, tennis, track, out-of-door dancing.

All undergraduates must take part in some of the classes and games mentioned above, and every undergraduate is required to take weekly swimming lessons until able to pass the required swimming test. For certain students corrective exercises are prescribed and must be taken under the direction of an instructor trained in medical corrective work. No undergraduate will be excused from any of the requirements except by order of the Director. The regulation gymnasium suit or athletic costume must be worn for all gymnastics or athletics.

A fee of three dollars a year is charged to each resident undergraduate, and seventy-five cents a semester to each non-resident undergraduate and to each resident graduate student for the up-keep of the athletic fields.

Opportunities for Public Worship.

In the vicinity of the college there are churches of almost all the various religious denominations. Coaches are provided by the college on Sundays to enable students to attend the churches in the neighbourhood.

Religious services are held in the college every Sunday evening by prominent clergymen of different denominations. A vesper service is held every Sunday afternoon and there is daily morning chapel. Attendance on all the religious exercises of the college is voluntary.

COLLEGE BUILDINGS.

The college buildings are situated at Bryn Mawr, in the suburbs of Philadelphia, five miles west of the city, on the main line of the Pennsylvania Railroad. Bryn Mawr is connected with Philadelphia by frequent electric trains on the Pennsylvania Railroad and by an electric trolley running every twenty minutes. The site of the college is four hundred and twenty feet above sea level in the midst of a beautiful rolling country made accessible by good roads in every direction. The college grounds cover fifty-two acres, and include lawns, tennis-courts, and three large athletic fields.

Taylor Hall (named after the founder), a large building of Port Deposit stone, contains a general assembly room, eleven lecture-rooms, and the offices of administration.

The Donors’ Library, the gift of the friends, graduates, and students of the college, was begun in April, 1903, and completed in February, 1907. It is built of gray stone in the Jacobean Gothic style of architecture of the period of 1630 and forms three sides of a closed quadrangle. The main building, devoted to the library proper, faces east and is opposite and parallel to Taylor Hall at a distance of about fifty yards; the principal entrances of the two buildings face each other and are connected by a broad cement path. The east front is one hundred and seventy-four feet long and contains a three-story stack with accommodation for 88,000 volumes, and above this a large reading-room with desks for one hundred and thirty-six readers, each desk screened to a height of two feet as in the British Museum reading-room to secure privacy to the reader. No books of reference are kept in the main reading-room. Beyond the reading-room on the south side are the newspaper and magazine rooms. On the north side is the Art and Archaeological Seminary, containing collections of photographs, vases, and coins. The main building contains the Stack, the New Book Room, Reference Book Room, the Carola Woerishoffer Memorial Room, the Reserved Book Room, the Christian Association Library, two professors’ offices, and four cloak rooms. The wings of the building, running symmetrically about two hundred feet in length from the north and south ends of the main building, contain twelve seminary rooms and thirty-one professors’ offices. The books needed for graduate study and research are kept in the seminary rooms and graduate lectures are held in them. The seminaries are arranged as follows: Greek, Latin, English, Art and Archaeology, French and Italian and Spanish, German, Semitic Languages, Philosophy and Education in the north wing; Mathematics, History, Buildings.

Economics, Carola Woerishoffer Department of Social Economy and Social Research, and Psychology in the south wing, where are also offices for the librarians and cataloguers. The total book capacity of the library, including the seminary libraries and the books for general study which are kept in the stack, is 168,449 volumes. The building is absolutely fireproof. Professors' offices for the two senior professors in each department adjoin the seminary rooms. There are also a general lecture-room accommodating forty-two students, and three interview rooms. On the first floor of the south wing the department of experimental psychology has two large laboratories, one for general work and one for research. On the first floor of the north wing the department of Education has an experimental research laboratory. The basement of the north wing contains another experimental laboratory of the department of Education, two interview rooms, a room for the Monograph Committee of the Faculty, and fireproof safe rooms for the records and archives of the college. The quadrangular court enclosed by the building is surrounded by cloisters and in the centre of the grass enclosure is a fountain, the gift of the class of 1901.

The library is open for students on week-days from 8 A. M. till 10 P. M. and on Sundays from 2 P. M. till 10 P. M. It is open for the faculty at all hours.

In January, 1893, the scientific departments of the college were transferred to Dalton Hall, a stone building erected by the trustees out of funds in large part contributed by the generosity of friends of the college. Dalton Hall is entirely occupied by the scientific departments, the special scientific libraries, and the consultation-rooms of the professors of science. The first floor and the basement are reserved for physics, the second floor is reserved for biology, the third floor for chemistry, and the fourth and fifth floors for geology. In December, 1893, a greenhouse designed for the use of the botanical department was added to Dalton Hall as the gift of the alumnae and students.

The new gymnasium, erected on the site of the first gymnasium as a gift of the Athletic Association, the alumnae and thirteen neighbours of the college, was completed in February, 1909. It is open to the students from 8 A. M. till 10 P. M., daily, contains a large hall for gymnastic exercises, with a running or walking track for use in rainy weather; a room for the director and an adjoining room for the examination and record of the physical development of the students, a waiting-room, and cloak rooms. The roof, 50 feet wide by 90 feet long, is used for gymnastic drills and students' entertainments. In the basement are dressing-rooms and shower-baths for use after exercise and a swimming-tank, seventy feet long, twenty feet wide, and from four to seven and a half feet deep, given in 1894 by the alumnae, students, and friends of the college, and well supplied with apparatus for the teaching of swimming. The gymnasium is under the charge of a director and an assistant.
Buildings.

On the grounds, separated from other buildings, is the 1905 Infirmary. It was opened in October, 1913, with accommodation for patients and nurses, doctors' offices and consultation rooms, diet kitchens, bathrooms, wards and private rooms, sun parlour, sun terrace, and two isolation wards.

Plans and descriptions of Taylor Hall, Donors' Library, Dalton Hall, the Gymnasium, the 1905 Infirmary and the six halls of residence, are published in Part 4 of the Bryn Mawr College Calendar and may be obtained from the Secretary and Registrar of the College.

Music-rooms with sound-proof walls and ceilings are provided in Pembroke Hall East. There is a club-room for non-resident students in Rockefeller Hall and also rooms where the students can have hairdressing and dressmaking done.

The Phebe Anna Thorne Open Air Model School of the department of Education is situated on the campus and has its own school building with out-of-door class rooms and athletic ground.

A central power-house, which was erected in 1902 as part of the gift of Mr. John D. Rockefeller, furnishes heat, electric light, and hot water for all the college buildings. Steam is conducted through tunnels underground to coils in the basement of each building. Air brought in from the outside is blown through the heaters by powerful fans and distributed to the various rooms, and the system is so adjusted as to change the air completely in every room once in every ten minutes throughout the day and night. The temperature is regulated by thermostats in the heating coils and every room in the college has separate thermostatic control. The electric lights, including electric reading-lamps for each student, are installed in the most approved manner and the voltage is kept constant so that there is no fluctuation. A constant and abundant supply of hot water is laid on and maintained at a temperature of 180 degrees day and night in all the bathrooms and stationary wash-stands and tea pantries.

Telephone pay stations by means of which the students may be reached at any time are maintained in the library, gymnasium, infirmary and in each of the halls of residence.
The Western Union Telegraph and Cable Company delivers telegrams between the hours of 6 A. M. and 12 P. M. Near the college there are a United States money-order office, two banks and an office of the American Railroad Express.

LIBRARIES.

The fact that the college is situated in the suburbs of Philadelphia enables the student to make use of all the resources of the libraries of Philadelphia, as well as those of the college proper.

The college library has been collected within the past thirty-three years, and is designed to be, as far as possible, a library for special study. There are at present on its shelves about ninety thousand bound volumes, and ten thousand dissertations and pamphlets, the collection including the classical library of the late Professor Sauppe, of Göttingen, which was presented to the college in 1894, and the Semitic library of the late Professor Amiaud, of Paris, acquired in 1892. A more detailed description of these two collections may be found on pages 53 and 88.

The sum of about seven thousand dollars is expended yearly for books under the direction of the heads of the several collegiate departments, and, in addition to many gifts of books, about twenty thousand dollars has been presented to the library during the past ten years for expenditure in special departments.
Over four hundred publications and reviews in the English, Greek, French, Italian, Spanish, German, and Swedish languages, are taken by the library, as follows:

* Presented by the publishers.
The library is open daily from eight A. M. to ten P. M. Books may be taken out by the students unless specially reserved for library reference use.

There are in Philadelphia the following important libraries which are available for students:

The Library Company of Philadelphia, which contains about 275,000 volumes, divided between the Locust Street Building and the Ridgway Branch. Its valuable collection of pamphlets is included in the number of volumes as given above. The Library is open from nine A. M. to five-thirty P. M., and is open to students for consultation freely during these hours. To take books from the building a deposit must be made or subscriptions will be received as follows: Twelve dollars for one year, six dollars for six months, four dollars for three months.

The Mercantile Library, which contains about 214,078 volumes. Private subscription, $5.00 a year for two separate works at a time.

The Library of the Academy of Natural Sciences, which contains about 81,000 volumes. The Council of the Academy has generously conceded the use of its library and of its museum to the students of Bryn Mawr College.

The Library of the University of Pennsylvania, which contains about 475,000 volumes and 50,000 pamphlets. The custodians of this library have always shown great courtesy in placing rare volumes at the disposal of the college.

The Free Library of Philadelphia, which contains about 550,000 volumes and 265,000 pamphlets, and is at all times open to the students for consultation.

*Presented by the publishers.
The American Philosophical Society Library, which contains over 67,000 volumes, admission by card.

The Historical Society of Pennsylvania Library, which contains over 140,000 bound volumes, and 300,000 pamphlets, is for reference only. Every courtesy is extended to members of the college.

EXAMINATION FOR MATRICULATION.

The examination for matriculation must be taken by everyone who wishes to study in the undergraduate department of Bryn Mawr College as a candidate for a degree or as a special student following selected courses.*†

The examination for matriculation may be taken also as a test of proficiency in elementary studies by candidates who have no intention of entering the college.

A matriculation certificate will be given to everyone who is successful in passing the examination.

*† The examinations of the College Entrance Examination Board which are designated by Bryn Mawr College as equivalent to the matriculation examination of the college will be accepted, subject to certain conditions. For details see pages 181-183.

† When there is sufficient room in the college classrooms and halls of residence after the freshman class entering on examination has been provided for, two exceptions may, in special circumstances, be made to the above rule, and two classes of students may be admitted to the college without passing the examination for matriculation:

(a) Students who present a certificate of honourable dismissal from an approved college. (See fifth paragraph of this note.)

(b) Women over twenty-five years of age who can furnish satisfactory proof that they have at some time studied the subjects required for admission to Bryn Mawr College may be admitted as "Hearers."

In the admission of students, however, preference will in all cases be given to candidates who have taken the regular examination for matriculation.

Students who have attended other colleges or universities must present a certificate of honourable dismissal, together with an official statement that they have studied in regular college classes for one college year exclusive of the summer vacation and have received the grade of passed on examinations covering at least one year of academic work in one of the regular college courses leading to the bachelor's degree of liberal arts, and are in good standing in said college, and able to take their degree there in due course. In addition to this year of college work such students must present credits fully equivalent to the Bryn Mawr College examination for matriculation.

Students who have failed to satisfy the requirements at other colleges, who have outstanding conditions, or have otherwise failed to meet prescribed college standards of academic work or conduct, or who have been put on probation, suspended, or excluded will under no circumstances be admitted to Bryn Mawr College. Such students will not be permitted to cancel their college work elsewhere, take the Bryn Mawr College examination for matriculation, and enter Bryn Mawr as regular freshmen.

Candidates who wish to be admitted to Bryn Mawr College on presentation of a certificate of honourable dismissal from a college or university the graduates of which are eligible for membership in the Association of Collegiate Alumnae are not required to pass the Bryn Mawr College examination for matriculation, provided they can present the required number of entrance credits. Students presenting certificates of honourable dismissal from all other colleges and universities must take the regular examination for matriculation.
Matriculation certificates stating that candidates have passed the examination for matriculation and are qualified for admission to Bryn Mawr College will be issued to those candidates only who have been examined in all of the subjects required for matriculation and have shown by their examination that all of the subjects required for matriculation have been studied for a reasonable length of time. These subjects are counted as equivalent to twenty points. No certificate will be given unless the candidate has received the grade of "passed" in at least fifteen of the required twenty points.*† Matriculation certificates may be presented at any time for admission to the college. There is no time limit.

Candidates holding matriculation certificates who wish to study in Bryn Mawr College must make application for admission on prescribed forms obtained in advance from the office of the Secretary and Registrar of the College. Such candidates will receive from the Secretary and Registrar formal admission given by Bryn Mawr College. Such students are not permitted to take the examination for matriculation without informing the Secretary and Registrar of the College, in advance, at the time that they file their application to be examined, that they have studied at another college. Unless this rule is observed they will not receive a matriculation certificate.

In June, 1918, graduates of the following colleges and universities were eligible for admission to the Association of Collegiate Alumnae: Barnard College; Bates College; Beloit College; Boston University; Women's College in Brown University; Bryn Mawr College; University of California; Carleton College; University of Chicago; University of Cincinnati; Colorado College; University of Colorado; Cornell University; DePauw University; Drake University; Earlham College; Elmhora College; Goucher College; Grinnell College; University of Illinois; Indiana University; The State University of Iowa; University of Kansas; Knox College; Lake Erie College; Lake Forest College; Lawrence College; Leland Stanford Jr. University; Massachusetts Institute of Technology; University of Michigan; Mills College; Milwaukee-Downer College; University of Minnesota; University of Missouri; Mount Holyoke College; The University of Nebraska; University of North Dakota; Northwestern University; Oberlin College; Ohio State University; Ohio Wesleyan University; Pomona College; Purdue University; Radcliffe College; University of Rochester; Rockf ord College; Smith College; Swarthmore College; Syracuse University; University of Texas; Trinity College; Vassar College; Washington University (St. Louis); University of Washington (Seattle); Wellesley College; Wells College; Western Reserve University; University of Wisconsin.

* Matriculation certificates must contain a complete record of the marks received in all of the twenty points. Candidates who have cancelled the First Division, the Second Division, or the Preliminary Division of the examination for matriculation must be examined again in all of the points of the cancelled division. It is not sufficient that the candidates at some previous time should have offered certain subjects, or points, in a division of the examination that has been cancelled. They must offer all cancelled points again except those points which have been offered and passed in the division which is to be counted. Neglect to comply with this rule will prevent candidates from receiving matriculation certificates.

† Matriculation certificates will not be issued to candidates who have failed completely in any one of the twenty points offered for the final matriculation certificate when such failure is of a character to indicate that the subject has been presented as a mere form, unless they can produce satisfactory evidence that the subject in question has been faithfully studied for a reasonable length of time.
Matriculation certificates qualify for admission but do not in themselves entitle candidates to study in Bryn Mawr College.

In the admission of students preference will be given to candidates of the highest promise, due regard being paid to examination grades, including the number of points passed, and also to evidence as to character, health, and general ability.

The examination for matriculation may be taken in three ways:—first, the whole examination, including all the twenty points, may be taken in one examination period (this examination being known as the Combined First and Second Division); second, the examination may be divided between two examination periods and may be taken in two parts known as the First Division and the Second Division; and third, the examination under certain specified conditions which must be strictly observed may be divided among three examination periods and may be taken in three parts known as the Preliminary Division, the First Division, and the Second Division. Not more than one calendar year and a summer vacation may elapse between the First Division and the Second Division. Not more than two calendar years and a summer vacation and not less than two years may elapse between the Preliminary Division and Second Division. Unless these rules as to time are strictly observed the First Division, or the Preliminary Division, respectively, will be automatically cancelled.

The Preliminary Division of the examination for matriculation was opened to candidates for the first time in the spring of 1916. This examination is planned to meet the wish of the preparatory schools for an examination in which to test the progress made by their pupils two years before completing their preparation for the final examination for matriculation; and

* Students who have been admitted to the college will be permitted to choose rooms in the halls of residence in order of application for rooms and are urged to make such application as early as possible. Application for rooms may be made at any time. It is not necessary to wait until the examination for matriculation has been taken.

Applications for rooms made by students studying at other colleges, or entering other colleges after applying for rooms at Bryn Mawr College, will not entitle them to an early choice of rooms. Such students will be admitted to the college only when there is sufficient room in the college classrooms and halls of residence after the freshman class entering on examination has been provided for. Under no circumstances will students be admitted to Bryn Mawr College who have not made good at other colleges. (See footnote, page 165, seventh paragraph.) also to relieve them from the strain of crowding all their preparatory work into the last two years before the final examination. This Preliminary Division of the examination for matriculation is regarded as an experiment the working of which should be carefully observed by the faculty of the college. It may therefore be taken only in the Bryn Mawr College examination for matriculation. The examinations of the College Entrance Examination Board may not be substituted for this Preliminary Division.

In the Preliminary Division candidates may be examined only in the following subjects:

The examinations in the above subjects are the regular matriculation examinations given for admission to Bryn Mawr College. § There is no restriction as to the number of points to be passed.

Any point or points passed will be credited in the Preliminary Division Certificate. || This Preliminary Division may be counted as part of the First Division of the examination for matriculation. The points passed in the Preliminary Division and in the First Division, provided their total number amounts to four points, may be added together and credited in the First Division Certificate. Candidates, are not, however, required to count the Preliminary Division as any part of the examination for matriculation. Candidates who have received the Preliminary Division Certificate in the Bryn Mawr

---

* Candidates may not be examined in both Algebra and Geometry in the Preliminary Division except under certain conditions, see footnote, page 180.
† For two point language examinations, see pages 180–190.
‡ American History may be substituted for English History by special permission.
§ For further description and details, see pages 183–190.
|| Preliminary Certificates may be exchanged for First Division Certificates in the following special case:—Candidates who have already received the Preliminary Division Certificate and find that they are able to complete the examination for matriculation within one calendar year and the summer vacation, instead of in two years time as was their original intention, may exchange their Preliminary Certificates for First Division Certificates, provided that at least four points have been passed; otherwise the Preliminary Division must be cancelled and the examination for matriculation taken in the usual way, i.e., in two divisions (First Division and Second Division).
College Examination for Matriculation may complete their examination either in the Bryn Mawr College examination or in the examinations of the College Entrance Examination Board and receive the First Division Certificate, the Second Division Certificate, and the final Matriculation Certificate from Bryn Mawr College. Candidates may not try the examinations of the Preliminary Division more than once except in the special case of candidates who wish to cancel the Preliminary Division which they have taken and repeat it in the spring or autumn (not winter) examination for matriculation of the following year with the intention (stated in writing) of completing the whole examination for matriculation two years later.

Candidates who are not preparing for college may take the Preliminary Division as a test of proficiency in elementary studies.

In the First Division of the examination for matriculation candidates may offer any subjects, or points, they please and as many points as they please, provided, however, that they take care to offer a sufficient number of points (at least four) to secure a certificate. First Division Certificates will be given to those candidates who have passed in at least four points. The examination of candidates failing to pass in four points will be cancelled and must be repeated. Candidates are, therefore, advised to offer as many more than four points as possible in order to allow for the possibility of failure in one or more points.

Candidates holding a First Division Certificate must take the Second Division of the Examination for Matriculation within one calendar year and a summer vacation from the time of taking the First Division of the examination for matriculation; otherwise the First Division will be cancelled.*

* First Division Certificates may be exchanged for Preliminary Certificates in the following special case: candidates who have intended to take the matriculation examination of Bryn Mawr in two divisions only (the First Division and the Second Division) and have already received the First Division Certificate but are unable, on account of illness or for some other reason satisfactory to the Entrance Examination Committee of Bryn Mawr College, to take the Second Division of the examination for matriculation within one calendar year and the summer vacation from the time of taking the First Division, may, by consent of the Committee, be permitted to exchange their First Division Certificate for a Preliminary Certificate provided the First Division has been taken in the Bryn Mawr
In the Second Division of the examination for matriculation candidates must be examined in all the points in which they were not examined in the First Division including the Preliminary when taken and must receive the grade of “passed” in at least fifteen of the twenty points required for matriculation in order to receive a complete Matriculation Certificate. In calculating these points all the points credited in the First Division Certificate will be counted. Candidates who have failed in five points may receive a Matriculation Certificate, they must, however, have been examined in all of these five points, either in the First Division or in the Second Division, i.e., the final Matriculation Certificate must contain the grade received by candidates on all the required twenty points.

Not more than one calendar year and a summer vacation may elapse between the First Division and Second Division of the examination for matriculation; otherwise the First Division Certificate will be cancelled.

The whole examination for matriculation, i.e., the Combined First and Second Division, including all the twenty points, may be taken in one examination period, but, unless the circumstances are exceptional, candidates are advised to avoid the strain of taking so many examinations at one time.

Candidates must be examined in all of the required twenty points and must receive the grade of “passed” in at least fifteen of the twenty points required for matriculation in order to receive a Matriculation Certificate.

The examination is held at Bryn Mawr College in the spring, autumn, and winter of every year and is also held in the spring of every year in Baltimore, Boston, Chicago, New York, Pittsburgh, Portland (Oregon), Richmond, St. Louis, and London (England). A fee of five dollars for the whole or any part of the examination must be paid by each candidate taking the examination at the above mentioned regular examination centres.

College examination and not in the examinations of the College Entrance Examination Board. Such candidates may accordingly take their examination for matriculation in three divisions like candidates who have planned in advance to take the Preliminary Division two years before completing their matriculation examination.
The examination for matriculation may be arranged by the College at other places in the spring, but not in the autumn or winter, in which case the usual fee of five dollars per person will be charged.

The examination for matriculation may be held in the spring at yet other places by special request for the benefit of certain schools or groups of candidates who are willing to meet the whole expense of the conduct of the examination by the College. The fee per candidate may be more but will not be less than five dollars for the whole or any part of such examination.*

The complete time schedule of the matriculation examination is printed at the end of this volume.

Application to take the whole or any part of the examination for matriculation must be made in advance to the Secretary and Registrar of Bryn Mawr College, in accordance with prescribed regulations which differ according to the way in which the examination for matriculation is to be taken, whether at one time or in one of the three divisions (Preliminary Division, First Division or Second Division) into which it may be divided; and also according to the time and place of the examination. For this reason candidates and principals of preparatory schools are requested to read carefully the following regulations which are not subject to alteration:

A fee of five dollars is charged for the whole or any part of the examination. Candidates holding a matriculation certificate must pay three dollars for each condition examination except punctuation for which the fee is one dollar.

*In the past ten years examinations have been held by request at the following places: Alabama: Gadsden; California: Bonita, Los Angeles, Piedmont, Redlands, San Francisco, Santa Barbara; Colorado: Denver; Connecticut: Greenwich, Washington, Waterbury; Georgia: Athens; Illinois: Springfield; Indiana: Fort Wayne, Indianapolis; Terre Haute; Iowa: Council Bluffs, Davenport, Dubuque, Keokuk; Kentucky: Louisville; Maine: Portland; Maryland: Catonsville, Cumberland; Massachusetts: Fall River, Lowell; Michigan: Bay City, Detroit, Houghton; Minnesota: Faribault, Minneapolis; Missouri: Hannibal; Montana: Helena; Nebraska: Omaha; New Jersey: Lakewood, Princeton, Trenton; New York: Clinton, Cooperstown, Garden City, Glens Falls, Lake George, New Rochelle, Rochester, Rye, Saratoga Springs, Tarrytown; North Carolina: Bilmore; Ohio: Cincinnati, Cleveland, Columbus; Pennsylvania: Altoona, Bellefonte, Bradford, Greensburg, Harrisburg, Hazleton, Johnstown, Lancaster, Oxford, Scranton, Wilkes-Barre, York; Rhode Island: Providence; South Carolina: Charleston; South Dakota: Yankton; Tennessee: Memphis, Nashville; Texas: Dallas; Utah: Salt Lake City; Washington: Seattle; Wisconsin: Fond du Lac, Milwaukee; District of Columbia, Washington; France: Paris; Germany: Berlin, Munich; Asia Minor: Tarsus.
Candidates who intend to take the spring examination at Bryn Mawr College are required to make application for this examination to the Secretary and Registrar on or before May 15th on a prescribed form obtained in advance from the office of the Secretary and Registrar and to send with their application a fee of five dollars. Candidates who apply for examination after May 15th will be charged an additional fee of five dollars, or ten dollars in all.

Candidates who intend to take the Bryn Mawr College examination for matriculation elsewhere than at Bryn Mawr are required to make application for this examination to the Secretary and Registrar of the College on or before April 15th and to follow the same procedure as in the case of candidates taking the spring examination at Bryn Mawr.*

Candidates who intend to take the examination for matriculation at Bryn Mawr in the autumn or winter are required to make application for this examination to the Secretary and Registrar on or before September 15th, or January 1st, respectively, on a prescribed form obtained in advance from the office of the Secretary and Registrar and to send with their application a fee of five dollars. Candidates who apply for examination after September 15th and January 1st, respectively, will be charged an additional fee of five dollars, or ten dollars in all.

Attention is called to the fact that the examination for matriculation is given in the autumn and winter at Bryn Mawr College only.

The Preliminary Division of the examination for matriculation may not be taken in the winter, but only in the spring and autumn.

Candidates who intend to take the Preliminary Division, or the First Division, or to pass off conditions imposed in a previous examination for matriculation, must follow the procedure outlined under the heading Application for Spring Examination, or Application for Autumn and Winter Examinations according to the time at which they wish to be examined. They must state in their application whether they intend to take the Preliminary Division or the First Division or to pass off conditions. Candidates wishing to take the Preliminary Division must send with their application a statement in writing made by their school principal, their private tutor, or by themselves that they are taking the Preliminary division two years before they expect to complete the examination for the matriculation certificate.

* When the examination for matriculation is specially conducted by the College at the request of schools or groups of candidates the charge per candidate taking the examination may be more than five dollars but in no case will it be less, see page 171.

Candidates who intend to complete the examination and thus become eligible to receive the Matriculation Certificate must follow the procedure outlined under the heading Application for Spring Examination or Application for Autumn and Winter Examinations according to the time at which they wish to be examined. They must state in their application whether they intend to take the whole examination for matriculation at one time, i.e., the Combined First and Second Division, or the Second Division. They must in addition to the application to take the examination for matriculation which is required of all candidates, make a special application to receive the final Matriculation Certificate on prescribed forms obtained in advance from the Secretary and Registrar of the College. These forms must be filled in and returned to the office of the Secretary and Registrar before candidates intending to complete their examination for matriculation present themselves for examination. Until this rule is complied with candidates will not receive matriculation certificates.*

Four competitive matriculation scholarships, of the value of $100 each, are awarded annually to candidates receiving their final matriculation certificates in the spring matriculation examinations of Bryn Mawr College. One scholarship is awarded in each of the following districts: (a) The New England States; (b) New York, New Jersey, and Delaware; (c) Ohio.

* For regulations governing those candidates who substitute for the Bryn Mawr College Examination for Matriculation the examination held by the College Entrance Examination Board, see pages 181-183.
Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, and Wisconsin, and the States west of the Mississippi River; (d) Pennsylvania and all places not included in (a), (b), and (c). The district to which a candidate is considered to belong is determined by the school at which she receives her final preparation, or in case of preparation by private study by the place of residence during the year preceding the final examination; but candidates may present themselves for examination at any place where the Bryn Mawr College examination for matriculation is held. These scholarships, which are to be held for one year only, are awarded in each of the above-named districts on the basis of the sum total of marks obtained by the candidate, but no one is eligible for a scholarship who has received more than two conditions in the twenty sections of the examination. When the examination has been divided no account is taken of those conditions incurred in the first division which have been passed off in the final examination. The competition is limited to those who intend to spend at least one year in residence at Bryn Mawr College, who have not studied at any other college, and have not cancelled any division of the Bryn Mawr College matriculation examinations. All those who present themselves are ipso facto candidates for these scholarships, no formal declaration of candidacy being required. The candidate in each district whose grades are next highest to the winner of the scholarship for that district will receive Honourable Mention.

Examinations for Advanced Standing.

Candidates who wish to enter the college with advanced standing may offer the following subjects in addition to the twenty points required for the Matriculation Certificate: the Minor Course in Latin, Section A and Section B, counting as three and two hours throughout one year;* matriculation

The minor course in Latin may be offered for examination by candidates for matriculation that desire to enter the college with advanced standing, and, at their discretion, by matriculated students without attendance on the college classes, provided it is offered before the close of the matriculation examinations at the beginning of the student's junior year. The minor course is considered for this purpose as comprising two sections. No substitutions are allowed for any part of the following requirements, except in the case of students entering with advanced standing from other colleges:
Greek, French or German (provided this was not taken in the examination for matriculation), counting as five hours throughout one year; trigonometry,* counting as two hours throughout one semester; Solid Geometry* counting as two hours throughout one semester. All of these subjects are not necessarily included in the requirements for the degree of Bachelor of Arts, but students that have passed these examinations are credited with the equivalent number of hours of free elective work.

Such advanced standing examinations will enable the student to lighten her work in college or to enlarge her choice of elective studies but will not enable her to shorten the time of obtaining the bachelor’s degree which represents in every case four years of study in collegiate classes.

Candidates holding Matriculation Certificates may remove conditions at any time before entering the college by passing the corresponding examinations in any of the regular periods at which the examination for matriculation is given. The usual fee of three dollars must be paid for each condition examination. Candidates are advised whenever it is at all possible to remove their conditions before entering the college, as the penalties imposed on freshmen for failing to pass off matriculation conditions are serious, and the time that must be

The examination in Livy and Composition is given only when the candidate furnishes proof that she was unable to secure preparation in Terence.

There are two examinations, one in Section A and one in Section B, each three hours in length. These examinations may be taken in different years, and in the order preferred by the candidate; or one section may be studied in the corresponding college class, and the other offered for examination without attending the class. Examinations in Minor Latin are held only at the time of the regular matriculation examinations at the beginning and end of the college year, and in February.

spent in the necessary reviewing interferes materially with their college work.†

Matriculation conditions also may seriously disarrange their college course. Students with matriculation conditions in Greek, Latin, English, French, German, or Mathematics are not permitted to attend college courses in these subjects until the conditions have been passed off. As these courses run throughout the year conditioned students are prevented from taking them in their freshman year. Conditions in history or in science do not exclude students from college classes in history or science.

Point System.

Assuming the usual amount of preparatory work, the number of points allotted to each subject in the examination for matriculation indicates approximately the time which pupils should devote to preparation in that subject during the last six years of their preparatory school course if a point is regarded as four or five recitation periods a week throughout one school year. If, for example, candidates take their matriculation examination under the New Requirements and study five subjects a year during the last six years of preparation for college, then Mathematics, Latin, and English should be studied four or five periods a week for four years each since each counts as four points in the examination; Ancient History and English History should each be studied for four or five periods a week for one year, since each counts as one point; Physics and Elementary Science should be studied for two or if possible for three years, since together they count as three points; and one of the three languages Greek or French or German should be studied for five periods a week for at least three years,

† Students must pass off all matriculation conditions within the first semester after entering the college under penalty of exclusion from full college work during the second semester. Students who have not passed off all their matriculation conditions at the end of the second semester after entering the college will be required to withdraw from the college for one year (an exception being made in the case of students conditioned in one point only, such students being permitted to take an examination in this point in the following September, the penalty for failure to pass being in this case also withdrawal from the college for one year). Students must pay a fee of three dollars for each conditioned matriculation examination with the exception of conditions in punctuation for which one dollar is charged.

since each counts as three points. The minimum time, therefore, that should be spent in preparing for the matriculation examination under the new Requirements is nineteen school periods a week for six years, leaving free for a daily study period and other non-college preparatory subjects eleven periods a week throughout these six years. The point system assumes that the school work in the last six years before entering the college rests on a foundation of solid work in the elementary school.

Matriculation Subjects.

The examination for matriculation in Bryn Mawr College is planned to furnish the best possible foundation for the work required of all candidates for the bachelor's degree in the college and at the same time to give the best possible mental discipline and liberal training both to candidates entering the college and to those who are unable to continue their studies beyond the preparatory school. Certain subjects, such as Latin, Mathematics, English, Physics, Ancient History, one additional ancient or modern foreign language are regarded as essential elements of a thorough school course. Certain other subjects are regarded as less essential to be taken before entering the college and between such subjects certain options are permitted. The New Matriculation Requirements (which came into effect for the first time as optional examinations in 1918 and which will become obligatory in and after the spring of 1923) throw more emphasis on history and science and less on language although an optional examination in a fourth language in addition to Latin and English and the third language required of all candidates may still be taken if preferred. Such candidates must, however, supplement their lack of preparation in history and science by electing courses in these subjects during their college course.* The New Requirements also permit examinations in Italian and Spanish to be offered for matriculation under certain conditions. Attention is called to the fact that candidates who do not wish to study German may offer for the matriculation examination and also later in their college course Greek or French or Italian or Spanish.

* In this connection it should be noted that if a fourth language is offered in the examination for matriculation and kept up during the freshman and sophomore years it will greatly lighten the work of preparing for the language examination required of all students at the beginning of the junior year.

Matriculation Examination.

The examination known as the Old Requirements will be accepted until the winter of 1923, but candidates may also offer the examination known as the New Requirements. The Old Requirements and the New Requirements may not, however, be combined, except in case of the new English examinations which are advised for all candidates. Candidates intending to complete their examination for matriculation in 1923 must take the New Requirements examination in the Preliminary Division and in the First Division of the examination for matriculation.

For a full explanation of this examination, see pages 167–168 and 173.

* Candidates offering Group Two must not select for examination a language which they have offered, or intend to offer, for the three-point examination in language required of all candidates. Candidates who select Group Two and offer for examination the two-point option in Greek, French, Italian, Spanish, or German must pass a supplementary examination after entering the college, provided they wish to enter one of the regular minor courses in this language. All the minor courses in language are based on the amount of preparation required for a three-point matriculation examination, except Latin and English, which assume preparation equivalent to at least four points.

† If Algebra and Geometry are offered in this examination, the candidate must undertake to offer Solid Geometry or Trigonometry before entrance, and at least one of the four papers Algebra, Plane Geometry, Solid Geometry and Trigonometry must be offered by the candidate in the first or second division of the examination.

‡ This subject is included in the hope that the schools will be able to readjust their work so as to offer it in this examination.

§ American History may be substituted for English History when the school preparing the candidate submits satisfactory proof that English History cannot be included in the school course and also when the school prefers to prepare in American History but can furnish a certificate that the candidate had had a good course in English History within four years before entering college.

|| For the two-point language examinations, see pages 189–190.
Examination of the College Entrance Examination Board.

The Examinations of the College Entrance Examination Board which are designated below as equivalent to the matriculation examinations of the college will be accepted for admission to the college, subject to the same conditions which govern the Bryn Mawr College examinations.

The passing mark for both sets of examinations is the same, sixty per cent.

The Preliminary Division must be taken in the Bryn Mawr College examination, but candidates may take either the First Division or the Second Division or both in the Bryn Mawr College examination, or in the examinations of the College Entrance Examination Board.

Not more than one calendar year and a summer vacation may elapse between the First Division and Second Division of the examination for matriculation. There is no other restriction as to time; for example, candidates may present themselves for the First Division of their examination in the spring examination of Bryn Mawr College, held during the last week in May and the first week in June, and for the Second Division in the examination held by the College Entrance Examination Board in the third week of June of the same year; or if they fail in the spring examination of Bryn Mawr College they may try the same subjects again in the examination of the College Entrance Board three weeks later.

In case a sufficient number of points to secure a Matriculation Certificate is not passed in two divisions of the examination the points taken in one division must be cancelled, and all the points offered in the cancelled division (except those points which have been also offered in the division which is to be counted), must be offered again, together with a sufficient number of the points in which the candidate has been conditioned to ensure her passing in the required number of points.

Candidates who have passed the fifteen points necessary to receive a Matriculation Certificate may remove conditions by passing the corresponding examinations in the Bryn Mawr College examination for matriculation or in the examination of the College Entrance Examination Board.
Candidates taking the College Entrance Examination Board's examinations will not be considered in the awarding of the four Bryn Mawr competitive entrance examination scholarships, unless the final division of the examination be taken in the spring Bryn Mawr College examination. Candidates are not eligible for these scholarships when the finals are taken in the autumn examination.

Examinations for Advanced Standing.

Mathematics: D. = Solid Geometry.
Mathematics: E. = Trigonometry.
No Equivalent = Minor Latin.

Definition and Description of Subjects of Examination for Matriculation.

I. Mathematics.—Algebra. (Counting as two points.) Plane Geometry. Mathematics. (Counting as two points.)

The examination in Algebra comprises Elementary Operations, Quadratic Equations, Problems, Ratio, Proportion, Variation, Arithmetical and Geometrical Progressions, the Binomial Theorem for Positive Integral Exponents.

While there is no formal examination in Arithmetic, an adequate knowledge of the subject is required throughout the mathematical examinations; in all the papers there are some numerical problems, and the correct solution of a fair number of these is regarded as essential. So many good text-books are available in both Algebra and Plane Geometry that no special books are recommended. The following are mentioned simply as an indication of the preparation required for these examinations: C. Smith’s Elementary Algebra (American edition, revised by Irving Stringham); Phillips and Fisher’s Elements of Geometry (abridged edition); Wentworth’s Geometry.

II. Latin.—Grammar and Composition. (Counting as one point.) Translation at sight of simple passages in Latin prose. (Counting as two points.) Translation at sight of simple passages of Latin poetry. (Counting as one point.) Due allowance is made for unusual words, and there are questions testing the candidate’s practical knowledge of grammar and prosody.

The Latin read in preparation may be selected from Cesar (Gallic War and Civil War), Nepos (Lives), Cicero (Orations, Letters, and De senectute), Sallust (Catilina and Jugurtha), Vergil (Aeneid, Bucolics, and Georgics), and Ovid (Metamorphoses, Fasti, and Tristia). The amount to be read should not be less than that contained in Cesar, Gallic War, I–IV, Cicero, Manilian Law, Archias, and four Orations against Catiline, and Vergil, Aeneid, I–VI. The vocabulary, syntax, and thought of the sight passages will be adapted as closely as possible to the knowledge gained by a careful reading of the required amount of Latin. The paper in Grammar and Composition demands a knowledge of all regular inflections, all common irregular forms, and the ordinary syntax and vocabulary of the prose authors read in schools.

* Since the comprehensive examinations are not graded students offering these will receive in case they pass only the passing mark 60 per cent.
III. English.—New type of Examination, optional until the winter of 1921 and obligatory in and after the spring of 1921.

English Literature. (Counting as two points.) English Composition. (Counting as two points.) In consequence of changes recently made in the college course in English Composition and after consultation with a number of preparatory schools, the college has modified the matriculation examinations in English. This new type of examination will be optional until the winter of 1921 and will be obligatory in and after the spring of 1921. Papers illustrative of the new examination may be obtained from the Secretary and Registrar of the College.

The English examination will be in two parts, neither of which may be taken as a preliminary: Part I, Literature; Part II, Composition. As a basis for the examination a list of books is prescribed chosen from the list agreed on by the Associations of the Colleges and Schools of the New England States, the Middle States and Maryland, the North Central States, and the Southern States. From the Bryn Mawr list such a selection should be made as will give the candidate a fair idea of the progress of English literature from the time of Shakespeare to the Nineteenth Century. An intelligent reading, not a detailed knowledge of these books is expected, though it is hoped that the candidate will commit to memory some of the best passages of prose and poetry. For the better understanding of her reading she should be familiar with the important events in the lives of the authors that she studies and with the general character of the periods to which they belong. In Part I of the examination passages outside the prescribed reading will also be given to test the candidate’s ability to read intelligently, and the definition of words and the explanation of well-known references and allusions will be asked for.

The candidate’s ability to write English will be judged by the form and quality of her work in both parts of the examination and, in particular, by a composition of 350 words which will constitute Part II of the examination. In this composition the candidate will be asked to develop a theme through several paragraphs to its conclusion. Of three or four subjects assigned for the choice of the candidate, one will be on the reading prescribed for the examination and two or three will relate to matters of general knowledge or personal experience.

No separate paper on Grammar and Punctuation is set, but the candidate’s knowledge of these subjects will be judged by her practice. Ability to punctuate her own sentences correctly is expected, and a knowledge of grammar and good usage—for example, of the different kinds of sentences and the relation of clauses within the sentence, of the sequence of tenses, and of the use of auxiliaries, prepositions, conjunctions and verbs.

In grammar and rhetoric no text-books are prescribed, but the following will suggest the preparation required: Robins and Perkins, Introduction to the Study of Rhetoric (Macmillan); Manual of Composition and Rhetoric, Gardiner, Kittredge, and Arnold (Ginn and Co.); Boynton, Principles of Composition (Ginn and Co.).

The Department of English will be glad to consider comments and suggestions from the schools relative to the examination. Such com-
A. All selections in this group are to be read, due regard being paid to the alternatives offered among Shakespeare's plays. Shakespeare: 3 plays—1 comedy, 1 tragedy, and 1 history—are to be chosen from the following list. A Midsummer Night's Dream, The Merchant of Venice, As You Like It; Julius Caesar, Macbeth; Richard II, Henry V, Richard III. Addison and Steele, The Sir Roger de Coverley Papers; Burke, Speech on Conciliation with America; The Golden Treasury (first series), Book IV, with special attention to Wordsworth, Keats and Shelley; Coleridge, The Ancient Mariner.

B. Two selections are to be made from each of the following four groups: 1. A Collection of English and Scottish Ballads, as, for example, some Robin Hood ballads, The Battle of Otterburn, King Estmere, Young Beichan, Bewick and Grahame, Sir Patrick Spens, and a selection from later ballads. Milton, L'Allegro, Il Penseroso, and either Lydidas or Comus; The Golden Treasury (first series), Books II and III; Pope, The Rape of the Lock; Macaulay, Lays of Ancient Rome, The Battle of Naseby, The Armada, Itery.

3. Lamb, Essays of Elia (about 200 pages); Macaulay, Life of Johnson or Essay on Milton; Ruskin, Sesame and Lilies; Stevenson, An Inland Voyage or Travels with a Donkey; Huxley, Autobiography and Selections from Lay Sermons including the addresses on Improving Natural Knowledge, A Liberal Education, and A Piece of Chalk.

4. Bunyan, Pilgrim's Progress, Part I; Swift, Gulliver's Travels (Lilliput and Brobdingnag); Defoe, Robinson Crusoe; Scott's Novels, any one; Jane Austen's Novels, any one; Dickens' Novels, any one; Thackeray's Novels, any one; George Eliot's Novels, any one; Stevenson, Treasure Island, Kidnapped, Master of Ballantrae; Hawthorne, House of the Seven Gables.

The old type of examination as follows may be offered instead of the new type up to and including the spring of 1921:

English Grammar. (Counting as one point.) English Composition. (Counting as three points.) The examinations in grammar and composition may be divided and may be taken in either division of the entrance examination. The examination in English Grammar may be taken in the Preliminary Examination and consists of the correction of passages of incorrect English. Questions will be asked to test the candidate's knowledge of the grammatical principles involved in the corrections, in especial concerning the details of sentence structure. The examination in English Composition consists of a critical composition of 350 words, and in addition, of one or two paragraphs in which the candidate is asked to give in a descriptive or narrative form the substance of important parts of the required reading.

Candidates must be familiar with the following books agreed on by the Associations of the Colleges and Schools of the New England States, the Middle States and Maryland, the North Central States, and the Southern States: Shakespeare's As You Like It, The Merchant of Venice, Julius Caesar, and Macbeth; Milton's L'AlLEGRO, Il Penseroso, and Comus; the Sir Roger de Coverley Papers in the Spectator; Gray's Elegy in a Country Churchyard; Burke's Speech on Conciliation with America; Palgrave's Golden Treasury (first series), Book IV, with special attention to Wordsworth, Keats, and Shelley; Coleridge's Ancient Mariner; Scott's Ivanhoe; Thackeray's Henry Esmond; Hawthorne's House of the Seven Gables; Macaulay's Essay on Milton; Tennyson's Passing of Arthur; Arnold's Sobah and Rustum; Browning's Cavalier Tunes, The Lost Leader, How They Brought the Good News from Ghent to Aix, Home Thoughts from Abroad, Home Thoughts from the Sea, Incident of the French Camp, Herib Riel, Philellipides, My Last Duchess, Up at a Villa—Down in the City; Stevenson's Inland Voyage and Travels with a Donkey.

In preparing for this examination special attention should be given to the structure of the whole composition, and the analysis of model essays, for example Arnold's Essay on Gray, is recommended. Robins and Perkins's Introduction to the Study of Rhetoric, Hill's Foundations of Rhetoric, Abbott's How to Write Clearly, and Bigelow's Handbook of Punctuation, will serve to indicate the preparation required for paragraph structure, sentence structure, and punctuation.

History. The outlines of Ancient History. (Counting as one point.)

In Ancient History the period covered will extend from the rise of Egypt and Babylonia to the coronation of Charlemagne in 800 A.D. Most attention will be given to the history of Greece and Rome, less to the history of the oriental empires and to the time following the Germanic invasions. Knowledge of the geographical setting of events will be tested by questions referring to an outline map furnished in the examination. It will be assumed that more instruction has been given in narrative than in constitutional history. The latter can best be taught by showing the character of developed constitutions rather than by requiring a knowledge of all steps through which constitutions came into being. Questions will be asked about the social life of the ancient world as well as about the general development of its thought and art. Standard texts, such as Goodspeed-Ferguson's History of the Ancient World, Webster's Ancient History, Botsford's History of the Ancient World, and West's Ancient History (revised) should serve as a suitable basis for instruction. Supplementary reading on selected topics and the writing of papers relating to this reading are desirable exercises. Teachers will find useful such interpretations as Zimmern's Greek Commonwealth, Ferguson's Greek Imperialism, Dickinson's Greek View of Life, Fowler's Social Life at Rome in the Age of Cicero, Frank's Roman Imperialism, and Dill's Roman Society from Nero to Marcus Aurelius.

Physics. For candidates offering the matriculation examination (New Requirements) Physics will count as two points, and for those offering the matriculation examination (Old Requirements) a different examination paper will be set and the subject will count as one point. Physics should be studied in one or both of the last two years of preparation for college, the equivalent of at least one year being devoted to the subject with five periods weekly of at least forty minutes each for recitations and demonstrations. Two additional periods of laboratory work should be required and regarded as part of the outside preparation. A brief statement of the laboratory work of each candidate should be prepared by the teacher or tutor and submitted at the time of the examination. It should include an estimate of the quality as well as of the amount of work done by the candidate. A specimen examination paper, to be obtained from the Secretary and Registrar of the College, may be taken as fairly typical of the papers that will be sent.

No particular text-books are prescribed, but among books that may be recommended are Millikan and Gale's A First Course in Physics and Laboratory Manual, Black and
VI. Two of the following languages:

Greek.—Grammar and Composition. Very simple prose composition with words and construction taken from Xenophon's Anabasis, with questions to test the knowledge of regular forms and the rules of elementary syntax. (Counting as one point.) Translation at sight of simple passages in Attic prose, such as Xenophon's Anabasis or Memorabilia, with questions on the parts of verbs and syntax involved. (Counting as one point.) Translation at sight of passages of average difficulty from Homer. (Counting as one point.) Due allowance is made for unusual words and there are questions testing the candidate's practical knowledge of grammar and prosody.

White's First Greek Book will serve to indicate the preparation required in prose composition.

French.—Grammar and Composition. (Counting as one point.) This examination is to test the candidate's knowledge of ordinary grammatical forms and ability to write simple French. There will be a passage of English to be translated into French accompanied by questions on grammatical forms and constructions. Prose and Verse Translation. (Counting as two points.) This examination is a test of the candidate's power to read at sight ordinary French prose and verse.

For the examination in reading no texts are assigned. The passages for translation given in the New Plan Examinations will be somewhat more difficult than those given under the old requirements. They will be accompanied by questions in grammar and syntax based on the text.

Teachers preparing students who wish to elect French in the college are advised to train their pupils to write French from dictation in order to enable them to understand lectures delivered in French.

German.—Grammar and Composition. (Counting as one point.) This examination is to test the candidate's knowledge of ordinary grammatical forms and ability to write simple German. There will be a passage of English to be translated into German accompanied by questions on grammatical forms and constructions. Prose and Verse Translation. (Counting as two points.) This is a test of the candidate's power to read at sight ordinary German prose and verse.

For the examination in reading no texts are assigned. The passages for translation given in the New Plan Examinations will be somewhat more difficult than those given under the old requirements. They will be accompanied by questions in grammar and syntax based on the text.

Candidates who intend to continue the study of German in the college should be prepared to understand lectures delivered in German.
New Requirements Examinations.

These examinations are optional until the winter of 1923. In and after the spring of 1923 they will be obligatory for all candidates taking the examination for matriculation. Candidates completing their examination for matriculation in 1923 are required to take the Preliminary Division and the First Division according to the New Requirements. Both in the Old Requirements and in the New Requirements all candidates must take Mathematics, Latin, English, Ancient History, and Physics. There is no change in these subjects or in the points they represent except that in the New Requirements Physics counts two points instead of one point as in the Old Requirements. Both in the Old Requirements and in the New Requirements all candidates must take an examination counting three points in Greek, or French, or German, known as the language three-point examination, but the three-point examination in the fourth language which was obligatory in the Old Requirements is done away with in the New Requirements and two examinations, each counting one point, in English History (or American History), and in one of the four sciences (Physiology and Hygiene, Chemistry, Physical Geography, or Botany) are substituted for it.

Science.—The elements of one of the following sciences:*—Physiology and Hygiene, or Chemistry, or Physical Geography, or Botany. (Counting as one point.) Stiles's Human Physiology and Nutritional Physiology or Hough and Sedgwick's Human Mechanism supplemented by demonstration and laboratory work; Remsen's Introduction to the Study of Chemistry (Briefer Course) or Alexander Smith's Text-book of Elementary Chemistry; Davis's Elementary Physical Geography, Gilbert and Brigham's Introduction to Physical Geography, Dryer's Lessons in Physical Geography, and Salisbury's Physiography. Atkinson's Elementary Botany or Barnes's Plant Life or Bergen and Davis's Principles of Botany used in connection with Spalding's Introduction to Botany or Caldwell's Plant Morphology will serve to indicate the preparation required.

* In and after the spring examinations, 1919, these subjects will no longer be included in the matriculation examination, old requirements; all candidates will be required to offer Physics. Students offering the new matriculation examinations must offer in addition to Physics either Chemistry or Botany or Physical Geography or Physiology and Hygiene, unless they avail themselves of the option of a two-point foreign language.
EXAMINATION FOR MATRICULATION.

Two-Point Option in Language.

For the above examinations in History and Science, counting one point each, candidates may substitute an examination counting two points in a fourth language (in addition to Latin and English and the third language required of all candidates) and may choose for this examination any one of the five languages, Greek, French, Italian, Spanish, or German which has not been offered, or will not be offered, for the third examination in Language.

Greek.—Candidates may offer two of the three points, Grammar and Composition, one point; Prose Authors, one point, and Poets, one point. The two examinations must be taken in the same examination period.

The examination will test the knowledge of Greek that can be acquired by a good pupil in four or five periods a week during two school years.

Attention is called to the fact that students who have offered a two point option in Greek in the examination for matriculation will not be permitted to enter the minor course in Greek given in the college without a supplementary examination.

French.—Grammar and Composition and Prose and Verse Translation. (Counting as two points.) This examination is to test the candidate's knowledge of ordinary grammatical forms and ability to write simple French, and also the candidate's power to read at sight simple French prose and verse.

The examination will test the knowledge of French that can be acquired by a good pupil in four or five periods a week during two school years.

Attention is called to the fact that students who have offered a two-point option in French in the examination for matriculation will not be permitted to enter the minor course in French given in the college without passing a supplementary examination.

Italian.—Grammar and Composition and Translation at sight of simple passages in Italian prose and verse. (Counting as two points.)

The examination will test the knowledge of Italian that can be acquired by a good pupil in four or five periods a week during two school years.

Attention is called to the fact that students who have offered a two point option in Italian in the examination for matriculation will not be admitted to the major course in Italian given in the college without passing a supplementary examination.

Italian Grammar—Grandgent (Heath and Co.); Italian Grammar—Phelps (Ginn and Co.); Italian Short Stories, ed. Wilkins and Altrochelli (Heath and Co.); An Italian Reader, ed. A. Marioni (W. R. Jenkins Co., N. Y.), are recommended as text-books.

Spanish.—Grammar and Composition and Translation at sight of simple passages in Spanish prose and verse. (Counting as two points.)

The examination will test the knowledge of Spanish that can be acquired by a good pupil in four or five periods a week during two school years.

Attention is called to the fact that students who have offered the two-point option in Spanish in the examination for matriculation will not be permitted to enter the major course in Spanish given in the college without passing a supplementary examination.

Coester's Spanish Grammar (First 21 lessons), (Ginn and Co.); Crawford's Spanish Composition (Holt and Co.); Marcial Dorado's Reader, España Pintoresco (Ginn and Co.), are recommended as text-books.

† Only Greek or French or German may be offered for the three-point language examination. Italian or Spanish may not be offered.
German. — Grammar and Composition and Prose and Verse Translation. (Counting as two points.) This examination is to test the candidate's knowledge of ordinary grammatical forms and ability to write simple German, and also the candidate's power to read at sight simple German prose and verse.

The examination will test the knowledge of German that can be acquired by a good pupil in four or five periods a week during two school years.

Attention is called to the fact that students who have offered a two-point option in German in the examination for matriculation will not be permitted to enter the minor course in German given in the college without passing a supplementary examination.

Requirements for Degrees.

Every candidate for the degree of Bachelor of Arts must have passed examinations on work amounting to one hundred and twenty hours* and must have obtained an examination grade above that of "passed," that is, the grade of merit,† (seventy per cent) or over, on half of these one hundred and twenty hours; she must also possess at the time of graduation a reading knowledge of two of the five languages, Greek, French, Italian, Spanish or German‡ and must have passed the matriculation examination in Latin. She must have attended college classes in Bryn Mawr College, or in some other college of high standing, for a period of four years;§ she must have fulfilled the requirements of the departments of health, athletics and gymnastics.

If, at the end of her junior year, or in February of her senior year, a student has received a grade below seventy per cent in as many as one-half the one hundred and twenty hours required for her degree that she has offered for examination, she will be required to withdraw from the college; and students who have not obtained merit in as many as one-half of the

---

* The word hour here means one hour a week for one semester. In calculating the standing of students under this rule every course offered for examination (including Minor Latin and Matriculation Greek when taken in the examination for matriculation and advanced standing examinations in foreign languages) and also trigonometry, and solid geometry when offered for advanced standing must be counted. A grade once received may not be cancelled.

† Since this merit law went into effect in 1907 no student who has not fulfilled the requirements as above stated has received a degree.

‡ If Greek is the language offered for entrance French or German must be offered for examination at the beginning of the junior year.

§ Work in summer schools of colleges and universities may not be substituted for work of the regular college year.
hours offered for examination, or have been conditioned in five or more hours, are liable to be asked to withdraw at the end of any semester and are to be regarded as on probation.

No student who has received a grade below seventy per cent in as many as one-half of the hours that she has taken of the 120 hours required for her degree will be permitted to hold office in any of the organizations of the college, or of the student body, to take part in any entertainment requiring preparation, to undertake any paid work or to compete for, or hold any college scholarship.

The following course of study must be pursued by every candidate for the degree of Bachelor of Arts:

Elementary Greek or Minor Latin, five hours a week for one year. Those students, however, who offered Greek in the examination for matriculation may substitute for the elementary course in Greek the minor course in Greek or the minor course in Latin. These courses may not be taken later than the junior year.

English, five hours a week for two years.

Philosophy and Psychology, five hours a week for one year.

Science, five hours a week for one year.

Post-major courses in one or both group subjects, five hours a week for one year; or Any other subject, five hours a week for one year.

Two Major Courses, of five hours a week for two years each, constituting one of the following groups: any Language with any Language;† History with Economics and Politics, or with French, or Italian, or Spanish or German or History of Art; Economics and Politics with Philosophy, or with Psychology, or with Geology; Philosophy or Psychology, or Philosophy and Psychology‡ with Greek, or English, or Economics and Poli-

* A student choosing Greek as one of the subjects of her group, and not wishing to study Latin, may substitute for the year of Greek five hours a week for one year of post-major Greek, or a year of French, or Italian, or Spanish, or German.
A student choosing Latin as one of the subjects of her group and not wishing to study Greek may substitute for the year of minor Latin five hours a week for one year of post major Latin, or a year of French, or Italian, or Spanish, or German.
† For the purpose of forming a group, Italian and Spanish may count as one language;
they may be combined as to form a course of five hours a week for two years.
‡ For the purpose of forming a group, philosophy and psychology may be combined so as to form a course of five hours a week for two years.
ties, or Mathematics, or Physics; Philosophy with Latin or Psychology or Geology; Psychology with Biology; Classical Archeology with Greek or Latin; History of Art with French, or Italian, or Spanish, or German; Mathematics with Greek, or Latin, or Physics, or Chemistry, or Geology, or Biology; any Science with any Science.

Free Elective Courses.

Free Elective Courses,* amounting to five hours a week for two years (10 hours in all), to be chosen by the student. It should be noted that any minor course may be taken as a free elective without electing the group that includes it, and any courses open as free electives may be chosen without taking the remainder of the minor course of which they may form a part.

Reading Knowledge of Two Languages. At the beginning of each college year every undergraduate student is required to take a written examination of one hour in length in the language, Greek, or French, or German, that she has offered for matriculation. If she fails to pass this examination she is required to attend, and pay for, special classes in the language one or two hours a week throughout the year in question. If she fails to pass this examination at the beginning of her senior year she must take another examination on the Saturday preceding the final examinations of the year in question. Failure to pass will defer her degree until the following year.

At the beginning of the junior year every member of the junior class is required to take a written examination of one hour in length in one of the languages Greek, or French, or Italian, or Spanish, or German, but the language selected may not be the one offered for matriculation, and students who have offered Greek for matriculation must offer for their junior examination either French or German. If the student fails to pass this examination she is required to attend during her junior year the elementary course in the language in which she has failed, unless she has already taken this course. In this case she must attend a special class in the language two hours a week throughout the year and must pass an examination in it at the beginning of her senior year. The examination must be passed before the degree is conferred.

* Students who have offered in the examination for matriculation the two-point option in foreign languages permitted in the New Requirements in place of history, one point, and science, one point, are required to take five hours of free elective in history and science as follows: history, five hours a week for one semester and science (in addition to the year of required science), five hours a week for one semester; or history, five hours a week for one year, provided history has not been selected as a group subject; or science, five hours a week for one year, provided science has not been selected as a group subject.
The studies required for a degree may for convenience be tabulated as follows:

Free Elective Courses.*

Ten hours a week for one year in any subject, or subjects, the student may elect.

The following may serve as examples of some of the many combinations of studies that may be made by those candidates for a degree who wish to specialise as far as possible in particular departments: Matriculation Greek, and Minor Latin are bracketed as being subjects that may be included in the examination for matriculation. These bracketed courses may be offered for examination before the beginning of the junior year without attendance on the college classes, but this is not advised on account of their difficulty.

Classics. As Required Studies, [Matriculation Greek or Minor Latin], English, Philosophy, Science (Physics, or Chemistry, or Geology, or Biology), another Science, or Modern, or Ancient History, or Post-major Greek or Latin, or Minor Philosophy, or Minor Mathematics. As a Group, Greek and Latin. As Free Electives, Post-major Greek and Latin, or Classical Archaeology, ten hours a week for one year.

Modern Languages (other than English). As Required Studies, [Matriculation Greek, or Minor Latin], English, Philosophy, Science (Physics, or Chemistry, or Geology, or Biology), another Science, or Modern, or Ancient History, or Minor English or Minor Philosophy. As Group, French and Italian, or French and Spanish, or French and Italian and Spanish, or Italian and Spanish, or French and German. As Free Electives, Italian or Post-major Spanish, or French or German, ten hours a week for one year.

English. As Required Studies, [Matriculation Greek, or Minor Latin], English, Philosophy, Science (Physics, or Chemistry, or Geology, or Biology), another Science, (or Modern, or Ancient History, or Minor Economics and Politics, or Minor Philosophy). As a Group, Greek and English, or Latin and English, or English and French, or English and Italian and Spanish, or English and Spanish, or English and German, or English and Philosophy. As Free Electives, Latin or Greek and English, ten hours a week for one year.

Mathematics (with Greek). As Required Studies, [Matriculation Greek], English, Philosophy, Physics, Post-major Mathematics or Modern or Ancient History, or Major Latin. As a Group, Mathematics and Greek. As Free Electives, Post-major Mathematics and Post-major Greek, ten hours a week for one year.

Mathematics (with Physics). As Required Studies, [Matriculation Greek, or Minor Latin], English, Philosophy, Chemistry, another Science (Geology, or Biology), or Post-major Mathematics. As a Group, Mathematics and Physics. As Free Electives, Post-major Mathematics and Post-major Physics, ten hours a week for one year.

Modern History. As Required Studies, [Matriculation Greek, or Minor Latin], English, Philosophy, any Science, any Language, or Post-major History, or Economics and Politics, or Minor Philosophy, or Mathematics). As a Group, Modern History and Economics and Politics. As Free Electives, Post-major Modern History and Post-major Economics and Politics, ten hours a week for one year.

Philosophy (with Greek). As Required Studies, [Matriculation Greek], English, Philosophy, Science, (Physics, or Chemistry, or Geology, or Biology), Minor Latin, or Post-major Greek, or Modern, or Ancient History, or Minor Mathematics. As a Group, Greek and Philosophy. As Free Electives, Minor English and Minor Psychology ten hours a week for one year.

Philosophy (with English). As Required Studies, [Matriculation Greek, or Minor Latin], English, Philosophy, Science, (Physics, or Chemistry, or Geology, or Biology), any Language, or Modern, or Ancient History, or Minor Economics and Politics. As a Group, English and Philosophy. As Free Electives, Psychology and English, ten hours a week for one year.

Modern European History (with French). As Required Studies, [Matriculation Greek, or Minor Latin], English, Philosophy, Science, (Physics, or Chemistry, or Geology, or Biology), Minor Spanish or Italian, or Minor Economics and Politics, or Minor Philosophy, or Elective Education. As a Group, Modern European History and French. As Free Electives, Post-major French and Post-major Modern History.

Philosophy or Psychology (with Economics and Politics, or with Mathematics, or with Physics). As Required Studies, [Matriculation Greek, or Minor Latin], English, Philosophy, Science, (Physics, or Chemistry, or Geology, or Biology), another Science, (or Modern, or Ancient History). As a Group, Philosophy or Psychology with Economics and Politics, or with Mathematics, or with Physics. As Free Electives, Post-major Economics, and Politics, or Mathematics, or Physics, ten hours a week for one year.

Classical Archeology (with Greek). As Required Studies, [Matriculation Greek], English, Philosophy, Science (Physics, or Chemistry, or Biology, or Geology), any Modern Language or Ancient History, or Minor Philosophy, or Mathematics. As a Group, Greek and Classical Archaeology. As Free Electives, Elective or Post-major Greek, or Minor Latin, ten hours a week for one year.

Science. As Required Studies, [Matriculation Greek, or Minor Latin] English, Philosophy, Science, (Physics, or Chemistry, or Geology, or Biology), another Science, (or Modern or Ancient History, or Minor Economics and Politics, or Minor Philosophy, or Minor Mathematics, or Elective Mathematics). As a Group, Physics and Chemistry, or Physics and Geology, or Physics and Biology, or Chemistry and Geology, or Chemistry and Biology, or Geology and Biology. As Free Electives, Mathematics and Physics, or Chemistry, or Geology, or Biology, ten hours a week for one year.

Preliminary Medical Course. As Required Studies, [Matriculation Greek, or Minor Latin] English, Philosophy, Minor Physics, Major Physics. As a Group, Chemistry and Biology. As Free Electives, Post-major Biology and Post-major Chemistry, or Minor Latin (if not taken as a required study), ten hours a week for one year.

Preparation for Social Service. As Required Studies, [Matriculation Greek, or Minor Latin] English, Philosophy, Minor and Major Biology. As a Group, Economics and Politics and Philosophy, or Psychology. As Free Electives, Elective Social Economy, or Education, or Philosophy, or Psychology.

The following combinations may be adopted by those who wish to pursue a three years' course in history, economics and politics, or science, or English, yet do not wish to elect an historical, or economic, or a scientific or language group.

I. As Required Studies, [Matriculation Greek, or Minor Latin], English, Philosophy, any Science, Modern History. As a Group, any language with any language, or Chemistry and Biology. As Free Electives, Major History, five hours a week for one year, and Post-major History, or Oriental History five hours a week for one year.

II. As above, but for Modern History substitute Minor Economics and Politics, and for Major History, Major Economics and Politics, and for Oriental History, Post-major Economics and Politics, or Elective Social Economy.

III. As Required Studies, [Matriculation Greek, or Minor Latin], English, Philosophy, Physics and Chemistry, or Geology, or Biology. As a Group, any language with any language. As Free Electives, Major and Post-major Physics, or Chemistry, or Geology, or Biology, five hours a week for two years.
IV. As Required Studies, [Matriculation Greek, or Minor Latin], English, Philosophy, Science, (Physics, or Chemistry, or Geology, or Biology), another Science, (or Modern, or Oriental History, or Minor Economics and Politics, or Minor Philosophy, or Minor Mathematics). As a Group, Greek and Latin. As Free Electives, Minor and Major English, five hours a week for two years.

Every undergraduate student is expected to consult the Dean of the College in regard to the details and best arrangement of her various studies, and to register her course of study in the president’s office before entering upon college work. Regular attendance at classes is required.

The studies leading to the degree of Bachelor of Arts may, as a rule, be taken in any order preferred by the student, but students are advised to plan their work carefully in advance with reference to the lecture schedule in order that a conflict of hours may not later in their course prevent them from electing all the studies which they desire. Students who elect English as a major study, for example, should take the general English literature lectures and composition in their first and second years in the college because they are required to complete this work before entering the major course in English. Students choosing a scientific group, such as chemistry and biology, must arrange their courses so as to avoid conflicts in the hours for laboratory work. Trigonometry is required for the work of the major year of the group course in physics.

Those students who have not decided on their group may in the first year pursue required studies only, or may elect one of the courses belonging to the group to which they most incline, with the understanding that if they should desire to change their group that course will be counted as a free elective; those students whose tastes are already fully formed, or who are uncertain how many years they shall remain in college, may enter at once on free elective studies and on the study of both subjects of their group. There are obvious advantages for the student in deferring as long as possible the choice of her free electives and her group, inasmuch as the required studies, by accustoming her to the methods of laboratory work and to the study of languages, literature, and history, afford her every opportunity of ascertaining her true tastes and aptitudes.
The students are not divided into the traditional college classes and there is no limit of time for graduation; in order to pursue a wider course of reading in connection with single subjects, or to attend a greater variety of lectures, the ablest students may choose to defer graduation; personal considerations only determine the time spent in completing the studies required for a degree. Nevertheless these requirements constitute strictly a four years' course; that is to say, if the time given to lectures and class work be, as is usual, fifteen hours a week, a student passing the ordinary matriculation examination, and availing herself of the preliminary courses of the college in the subjects which that examination did not include, in all cases requires precisely four years. To give more time for advanced studies and to lighten the college course, students are permitted to take examinations in certain subjects included in the course without attending the college classes in these subjects. Trigonometry, solid geometry, and Matriculation Greek, French, or German, or Minor Latin may be taken in this way if offered not later than the beginning of the junior year. A student who can furnish proof that she has acquired advanced knowledge of French, Italian, or Spanish, or German by attendance on advanced school or college classes, or by residence abroad, or by study under instructors or governesses at home, is permitted to take examinations for advanced standing in reading and composition in these languages, but only in the first three weeks after entering college. Students entering college at the beginning of the second semester are not permitted to register, for more than fifteen hours of college work, or to offer advanced standing examinations in order to complete the work required for a degree in less than four years.

Graduates of Bryn Mawr College, and graduates of other colleges who shall have satisfied the Academic Council that the course of study for which they have received a degree is equivalent to that for which the degree of Bachelor of Arts is given by Bryn Mawr College, or who shall have attended such additional courses of lectures as may be prescribed, may apply to the Academic Council to be enrolled as candidates for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy and Master of Arts; admission to the graduate school does not in itself qualify a student to become a candidate for this degree. A separate degree of Master of Arts is open to graduates of Bryn Mawr College, but to them only.

The candidate for the degree of Master of Arts must be a Bachelor of Arts of Bryn Mawr College and must have worked as a graduate student at Bryn Mawr College for a full year during which at least two-thirds of her time must have been devoted to advanced work in closely related lines according to a course of study approved by the Graduate Committee of the Academic Council. The candidate must submit her proposed course of study for the approval of this committee before the third week in October. She must pass a special written examination on each subject to the satisfaction of the department in which she has studied, and must announce her candidacy for the degree to the President not later than the first day of May in the academic year in which the degree is to be conferred.

The degree of Doctor of Philosophy and Master of Arts may be conferred upon graduates of Bryn Mawr College, and upon graduates of other colleges who shall have satisfied the Academic Council either that the course of study for which they received a degree is equivalent to that for which the degree of Bachelor of Arts is given by Bryn Mawr College, or that it has been adequately supplemented by subsequent study. The degree is given to no one who cannot read French and German, or who is unacquainted with Latin. The degree of Doctor of Philosophy will in no case be conferred by the College as an honorary degree.

Requirements.

1. Time.—The earliest date at which the Ph.D. degree may be taken is three years after graduation, but the element of time is subordinate to the other requirements. The minimum of three years will usually be exceeded.

2. Residence.—The candidate must devote to graduate work the equivalent of three full years, of which at least two must be at Bryn Mawr, and the third if not at Bryn Mawr at some other college or university approved by the Graduate Committee.

It is understood that the work done for the degree of Master of Arts does not necessarily count as a full year towards the degree of Doctor of Philosophy and Master of Arts.
3. Subjects.—The course of study shall consist of one major subject and two minor subjects, of which one (the associated minor) shall be in the same department as the major subject, or in a closely allied department specified in the printed requirements; the other (the independent minor) shall complete a combination authorised in the printed requirements. Certain combinations will permit the independent minor to be taken in the same department as the associated minor, when this is not in the same department as the major subject. The printed list of independent minors shall consist of subjects that are recommended, and the Graduate Committee shall have power to accept subjects not specified in the list.

4. Courses.—During the three years devoted to graduate work the candidate shall take a certain number of seminars stated below; in case any part of the three years is spent at some other college or university, the Graduate Committee shall determine the Bryn Mawr equivalents of the courses there taken.

In the major subject together with the associated minor the candidate shall take during each of three years one journal club and two seminars, or graduate courses recognised by the Graduate Committee as seminars;* in the independent minor she shall take for one year two seminars, or graduate courses recognised as seminars. The division of the seminars between the major and the associated minor shall be subject to the approval of the Supervising Committee. In no case shall less than two seminars and one journal club for two years be taken in the major subject.

The required courses may be spread over more than three years; but the student may not take four required seminars with one instructor unless authorized by the Graduate Committee.

No post-major work or work equivalent to post-major shall count towards the degree, even though a candidate may be obliged to take such work in order to supplement her preparation in her subjects, except in the case of such courses in science as shall be designated in the calendar and accepted by the Graduate Committee as equivalent to graduate seminars in virtue of assigned supplementary reading or laboratory work or both.

Of the courses required in the major and associated minor, two seminars and one journal club for at least two years must be taken before the Preliminary Examination, as well as the whole of the work in the independent minor. All must be completed before the Final Examination.

5. Dissertation.—The dissertation must be the result of independent investigation in the field covered by the major subject, under such direction as may be necessary; it must contain new results, arguments, or conclusions, or it must present accepted results in a new light. It must be published within three years from the Commencement after the candidate has passed the Final Examination, unless a special extension of time is granted by the Graduate Committee; and 150 copies (including the vita),

* A course will not be regarded as equivalent to a seminar unless it requires about one-third of the student's time.
of which two must be bound in a specified manner, must then be supplied to the College. The candidate shall not be entitled to use the degree until her dissertation shall have been published in approved form.

6. Examinations.—The progress and attainments of the candidate shall be tested by examinations as explained in the printed regulations.

Registration.—Before an applicant for the degree of Ph.D. can be admitted as a candidate she must submit* to the Graduate Committee in writing an account of her general preparation, stating in particular the extent of her knowledge of Latin, French, and German; stating also the subjects she wishes to offer as major and minors for the degree, and the amount and character of the work already done in these subjects. If this statement is satisfactory she will be registered as a candidate. When the Graduate Committee decides that the candidate's preparation is in any way insufficient she will be required to undertake suitable extra work.

Fees for Residence and Tuition.

For undergraduate students and hearers the charge for tuition is two hundred dollars a year, payable in advance.† An emergency fee of $100 a year payable in advance by every undergraduate student, resident or non-resident, has been added to meet the increased cost of wages, coal, and the labour and materials for the necessary routine repairs to buildings. This emergency fee is not applied to any increases in the cost of tuition or food. Undergraduate students holding scholarships given for financial need are exempt from this charge. The average cost of teaching each undergraduate student was $428 a year in 1917–18 and will be in excess of $475 in 1919–20. The tuition fee has been fixed at two hundred dollars in order not to exclude those unable to pay the entire amount but the difference between the actual cost and the price of tuition must be met from the small endowment funds of the college and from outside gifts. Voluntary contributions from parents or students able and willing to pay the whole or any part of this additional two hundred and seventy-five dollars will be credited as a gift towards the college salaries for teaching. No reduction of the charge of three hundred dollars can be made

---

* Using the application blank issued by the Graduate Committee.
† Students that intend to take the degree of Bachelor of Arts in February will be charged only one-half the regular tuition fee if they register this intention in the comptroller's office before beginning their college work, provided their entire academic work can be completed in the first semester.

on account of absence, illness, dismissal during the currency of a semester, term, or year, or for any other reason whatever and no refunding will be made on account of any said causes in case of a payment in advance.

Every student who enters the college must register immediately at the comptroller's office, and must register her courses in the president's office within two weeks after entrance under penalty of exclusion from the college. Any change made later in the courses registered must be reported immediately to the president's office, or the courses will not be permitted to count, and a charge of one dollar will be made for each change made in the course after it has been definitely registered.

For undergraduate students there is an additional charge of ten dollars a semester for materials and apparatus for every laboratory course of four or more hours a week, and of five dollars a semester for every laboratory course of less than four hours a week.

In courses in Geology each hour of field work is counted as one hour of laboratory work. Not more than one laboratory course is required of candidates for a degree.

Residence in the college buildings is required of all undergraduate students except those who reside with their families in Philadelphia or in the neighbourhood. The expense of board and residence in the college halls for undergraduate students is four hundred dollars a year and upwards, according to the room or rooms occupied by the student; in about one-third of the college rooms the expense of board and residence is four hundred or four hundred and seventy-five dollars. Of this charge three hundred dollars is the charge for board, and is payable half-yearly in advance; the remainder is room-rent, and is payable yearly in advance. Every student has a separate bedroom. Room-rent includes all expense of furnishing, service, heating, and light.*

The health of the students is under the charge of a Health Committee consisting of the President, the Dean of the College, the Director of Athletics, and the Physicians of the College. See pages 149 to 151 of this Calendar.

Every student entering the college will be vaccinated unless she can furnish satisfactory proof that she has been successfully vaccinated not more than two years previously.

The conduct of the students in all matters not purely academic, or affecting the management of the halls of residence, or the student body as a whole, is in the hands of the Students Association for Self-Government, which was organized in 1892. All persons studying in Bryn Mawr College, whether graduates or undergraduates, are members of this association.

* Rugs and towels must be furnished by the students themselves.
The College reserves the right to exclude at any time students whose conduct or academic standing it regards as undesirable, and in such cases the fees due or which may have been paid in advance to the college will not be refunded or remitted in whole or in part.

Plans and descriptions of the academic buildings and of the halls of residence, Merion Hall, Radnor Hall, Denbigh Hall, Pembroke Hall West, Pembroke Hall East, and Rockefeller Hall, with a full account of the halls and tariff of rooms, are published as Part 4 of the Bryn Mawr College Calendar and may be obtained by application to the Secretary and Registrar of the College. Each of the halls of residence (except Pembroke, which has a common dining-hall and kitchen for the two wings) has its separate kitchen and dining-hall, provides accommodation for from sixty to seventy students, and is under the charge of a resident warden. Application for rooms should be made as early as possible. The demand for rooms is very great and since reserving a room unnecessarily may prevent some other student from entering the college, every application for a room or suite of rooms, whether made by a student already in residence or by a candidate for admission to the college, must be accompanied by a deposit of fifteen dollars, otherwise the application will not be registered. The amount of this deposit will be deducted from the rent if the room or suite of rooms assigned be occupied by the applicant. The amount of this deposit will be refunded only in the following cases. In all other cases the deposit will be forfeited to the college.

a. If an applicant who is a student of the college gives formal notice to the Secretary and Registrar of the College before the first of May preceding the academic year for which the application is made that she wishes to withdraw her application.

b. If a candidate who has applied for admission to the college in October gives formal notice to the Secretary and Registrar of the College before the fifteenth of July preceding the academic year for which the application is made that she wishes to withdraw her application.

c. If a candidate who has applied for admission to the college in February gives formal notice to the Secretary and Registrar of the College before the first of December preceding the semester for which the application is made that she wishes to withdraw her application.
The above mentioned deposit of fifteen dollars must also be made by each student in residence in order to insure the tenure of her room for the following academic year.*

Every applicant giving up later than the first of September the room or suite of rooms assigned to her for the ensuing academic year is responsible for the rent thereof for the whole year; exception will be made only in the case of applicants that take, and fail to pass, the autumn examinations for matriculation, but even in this case the deposit cannot be refunded. Every applicant for a room for the second semester will be responsible for the rent of the room or suite of rooms assigned to her for this semester, unless she gives formal notice of withdrawal to the Secretary and Registrar before the first of January. The charges for room-rent are not subject to remission or deduction under any circumstances, or in case of withdrawal after September first of any given year for any cause whatsoever, even though during the currency of a semester, term, or year paid for in advance the student shall be dismissed. The applicant is not entitled to dispose of the rooms thus left vacant, this right being reserved exclusively by the college.

In case of prolonged illness and absence from the college extending over six weeks or withdrawal from the college for a period of six weeks or more, there will be a special proportionate reduction in the charge for board, provided that written notice be given to the Dean of the College and to the Comptroller at the time of withdrawal, or, in case the student is ill at home, as soon as possible after her illness is known. Verbal notice to wardens or instructors is not sufficient to secure the above allowance.

Rooms are assigned to members of the entering class who have already received their Matriculation Certificate and their Certificate of Admission to the College during the summer preceding the academic year for which application is made. Candidates who do not complete their examinations until the autumn and are admitted to the college will be assigned rooms

* Every student except a member of the freshman class who moves from one hall to another is charged a fee of ten dollars for moving, and every student except a member of the freshman class who moves from one room to another in the same hall is charged a fee of five dollars. This fee entitles a student to have five pieces moved free of charge.
then if any rooms are vacant. No particular room or set of rooms may be applied for. Candidates who are admitted are allowed to choose in turn from among all the rooms left vacant, the order of choice being determined by the date at which the application is registered. Cheques should be drawn payable to Bryn Mawr College.

Students are expected to provide their own rugs, curtains and towels, but in every other respect the rooms are completely furnished. Electric reading lamps, table napkins, sheets, etc., are provided by the college. No part whatever need be taken by the students in the care of their own rooms.

There are open fire-places in nearly all the studies and in many single rooms, but the rooms are sufficiently heated by steam; the air in each room is changed every ten minutes, and the temperature is regulated by a thermostat in each room. Electric reading lamps are provided in every room. The student's personal washing may be done by any laundry recommended by the college for one dollar a dozen, or about $10 a half-year for one dozen pieces a week. On account of the danger of infectious diseases students in residence are not permitted to send their washing to private laundresses.

Accommodation is provided for students that wish to remain at the college during the Christmas and Easter vacations at $1.50 a day or $10.50 a week. During the Christmas vacation the halls of residence are closed but accommodation is provided on or near the college campus. During the Easter vacation the halls of residence are in general kept open and undergraduate and graduate students may occupy their own rooms at the above rates.

Students remaining during any part of the Christmas or Easter vacations in Bryn Mawr, or the immediate neighbourhood, not in their own homes, are required to take advantage of these arrangements and will be charged at the above rates for the period of the vacation. Students not going to their own homes are required to inform the Secretary and Registrar in advance of their intention to spend the vacation elsewhere and to register their addresses in the college office.

* In about one-sixth of the college rooms the rent is $100, making the cost of board, residence, and tuition for undergraduate students $710, but students desiring to apply for rooms at $100 must file a statement at the president's office that they are unable to afford rooms at a higher price.
The fees are due on the first day of each semester and students whose fees are not paid before November first in the first semester or before March first in the second semester are not permitted to continue in residence or in attendance on their classes.

The Students' Loan Fund of Bryn Mawr College was founded by the Class of 1890 for the purpose of receiving contributions, however small, from those who are interested in aiding students to obtain an education. The money thus contributed is distributed in the form of partial aid, and as a loan. It is as a rule applied to the assistance of those students only who have attended courses in the college for at least one year. The fund is managed by a committee consisting of the President of the College and representatives of the Alumnae Association of Bryn Mawr College. The committee reports yearly to the Board of Trustees and to the Alumnae Association. The committee consists of the following members: President M. Carey Thomas; Miss Martha G. Thomas, Secretary and Treasurer, Bryn Mawr College; Miss Doris Earle, Chestnut Hill, Philadelphia, Miss Mary Christine Smith, 1108 Spruce Street, Philadelphia, Miss Alice Dudley Patterson, Chestnut Hill, Philadelphia, and Miss Elizabeth Yarnall Maguire, 3813 Spruce Street, Philadelphia. Contributions may be sent to any member of the committee. Applications for loans should be sent to the Treasurer of the committee, and all applications for loans for any given year should be made before May 1st of the preceding academic year.

Scholarships.—Four competitive entrance scholarships, of the value of $100 each, are awarded annually to candidates receiving their final certificates in the spring matriculation examinations of Bryn Mawr College. One is open to candidates from each of the following districts:—(a) The New England States; (b) New York, New Jersey, and Delaware; (c) Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, and Wisconsin, and the States west of the Mississippi River; (d) Pennsylvania and all places not included in (a), (b), and (c). The district to which a candidate is considered to belong is determined by the school at which she receives her final preparation, or in case of preparation by private study by the place of residence during the year preceding the final examination; but candidates may present themselves for examination at any place where such examination is held. These scholarships, which are to be held for one year only, are awarded in each of the above named districts on the basis of the sum total of marks obtained by the candidate, but no one is eligible for a scholarship who has received more than two conditions in the twenty sections of the examination. When the examination has been divided no account is taken of those conditions incurred in the first division which have been passed off in the final examination. The competition is limited to those who intend to spend at least one year in residence at Bryn Mawr College, who have not studied at any other college, and have not cancelled any division of the Bryn Mawr College matriculation examinations. All those who present themselves are ipso facto candidates for these scholarships, no formal declaration of candidacy being required.

Eight scholarships for non-resident students of $200 each, entitling the holder to free tuition, renewable for four consecutive years, were founded by the College in 1893, and were presented to the public schools of Philadelphia through Dr. Brooks, the Superintendent of the Public Schools of Philadelphia, on the following terms: 1. The candidate shall have complied with the requirements for admission to Bryn Mawr College, and shall have received all her preparation for the entrance examination of Bryn Mawr College in the High School for Girls, Philadelphia; 2. She shall have been recommended by the Board of Education of Philadelphia, and their recommendation shall have been approved by the Directors of Bryn Mawr College; 3. The Scholarship shall be renewed annually by the Directors, until the holder has completed her fourth year at college, provided her conduct and academic work have been satisfactory to the authorities of the college.

every four years to the graduate of the Girls' High School who passes the matriculation examination of Bryn Mawr College for that year with the highest credit. In 1904 the scholarship was renamed the L. C. B. Saul Memorial Scholarship.

One scholarship of $200 entitling the holder to one year's free tuition, was founded by the College in 1895, and was presented to the School Board of Education of Lower Merion Township, Montgomery County, Pa., for the benefit of graduates of the High School of Lower Merion Township, Ardmore, Pa., on the following terms: 1. The candidate shall have complied with the requirements for admission to Bryn Mawr College, and shall have received all her preparation for the entrance examinations in the Lower Merion High School; 2. She shall have been recommended by the School Board of Education of Lower Merion Township, and their recommendation shall have been approved by the Directors of Bryn Mawr College; 3. If in any year there shall be, in the judgement of the School Board of Education of Lower Merion Township, no satisfactory candidate in the graduating class, the scholarship may be renewed during the following year for the benefit of a former holder, provided her conduct and academic work have been satisfactory to the authorities of the college.

One scholarship of $200 entitling the holder to one year's free tuition was founded by the Directors in 1909 and was presented to the School Board of Education of Norristown, Pa., for the benefit of graduates of Norristown High School, on the following terms: 1. That the candidate shall have received all her preparation for Bryn Mawr College in the Norristown High School; 2. That she shall have successfully passed the entrance examinations of Bryn Mawr College not later than the June preceding the autumn in which she wishes to enter the college; 3. That this scholarship shall not be awarded twice to the same person unless the Superintendent of Schools shall file in the office of the President of the College a statement to the effect that no other member of the graduating class is able to compete for the scholarship; 4. That the candidate shall have been nominated to the Board of Directors of Bryn Mawr College by the Superintendent of Schools or by the Board of Education and that such nomination shall have been duly approved by the Board of Directors of Bryn Mawr College.

One competitive scholarship of the value of $300, renewable till graduation, is open annually for competition to members of the Society of Friends who are unable to pay the full charge for tuition and residence. This scholarship is awarded, as far as possible, under the same rules as those governing the award of the competitive entrance scholarships of Bryn Mawr College. Two additional scholarships of the value of $200 each are open for competition to graduate students who are members of the Society of Friends and need financial assistance. Three scholarships, of $400 each, for one year, are open to those graduates of Earlham, Penn, and Guilford Colleges respectively, who in the preceding year have completed the course of their several colleges with most distinction. These scholarships have been established by the Trustees in accordance with the desire of the Founder of the College to promote the advanced education of women in the Society of Friends, of which he was a member.

Scholarships of the value of $500 each were founded in 1855 by the Board of Managers of the Bryn Mawr School, of Baltimore, Maryland. One of these scholarships is open annually to the graduate of the Bryn Mawr School who has completed the school course with most distinction.

The James E. Rhoads Memorial Scholarships, two in number, each of the value of $250 for one year, were founded in 1897 by the Alumni Association of Bryn Mawr College, in memory of the first President of the College, Dr. James E. Rhoads. The first of these scholarships is the James E. Rhoads Sophomore Scholarship, and is open to those students only who have completed college work amounting to not less than twenty and not more than forty-five hours (three semesters' work) for a year, and have been in attendance upon lectures at Bryn Mawr College not less than one semester. The second of these scholarships is the James E. Rhoads Junior Scholarship, and is open to those students only who have completed college work amounting to not less than forty and not more than seventy-five hours (five semesters' work) for a year, and have been in attendance upon lectures at Bryn Mawr College not less than three semesters. To be eligible for either of these two scholarships a student shall have attained a high degree of excellence in her work, shall express her intention of fulfilling the requirements for the degree of A.B. at Bryn Mawr College, and shall prove her need of financial aid to the satisfaction of the nominating committee. In case either scholarship is awarded to a non-resident student, its value shall not exceed $150. The nominating committee consists of the President of Bryn Mawr College, two members of the Faculty of the College, appointed annually by the Council, the President of the Alumni Association of Bryn Mawr College and three other members of the Alumni Association appointed by the executive committee of the Alumni Association. Application for the scholarships should be addressed to the Recording Dean and Assistant to the President, Bryn Mawr College, to be forwarded to the Chairman of the Committee.

The Mary E. Stevens Scholarship of the value of $160 founded in 1896 by former pupils of Miss Mary E. Stevens's School is awarded to a member of the Sophomore class who needs financial assistance, to be held at Bryn Mawr College, during the junior year. It is open to those students only who have registered for college work amounting to not less than forty and not more than sixty-five hours for a semester and have been in attendance upon lectures at Bryn Mawr College not less than three semesters. Applications for this scholarship should be addressed to the President of Bryn Mawr College.

Two Maria Hopper Scholarships of the value of $200 each were founded in 1901 by the bequest of the late Maria Hopper of Philadelphia. They are awarded, on the ground of excellence in scholarship, to two members of the freshman class who need financial assistance, to be held at Bryn Mawr College during the sophomore year. They are open to those students only who have registered for college work amounting to not less than twenty and not more than forty-five hours for a semester and have been in attendance upon lectures at Bryn Mawr College not less than one semester. Applications for these scholarships should be addressed to the President of Bryn Mawr College.

The Maria L. Eastman Brooke Hall Memorial Scholarship of the value of $100 was founded in 1901, in memory of Maria L. Eastman, Principal of Brooke Hall School for Girls, Media, Pa., by the Alumnae and former pupils of the school. It is awarded each year on the ground of scholarship, irrespective of the need of financial aid, to a member of the junior class to be held during the senior year. No application for the scholarship is necessary.

The Anna M. Powers Memorial Scholarship of the value of $200 was founded in 1902 by Mrs. J. Campbell Harris in memory of her mother, Anna M. Powers. The scholarship is open to members of the junior class who need financial aid in order to complete the work for the degree and is to be held in the senior year. The holder is nominated by the donor subject to the approval of the President and Faculty of the College.

The Charles E. Ellis Scholarships of the value of $200 each were founded in 1909 by the bequest of the late Charles E. Ellis and are awarded on the recommendation of the Superintendent of the Public Schools of the City of Philadelphia to students educated in the public schools of Philadelphia who have passed the entrance examinations of Bryn Mawr College and whose nomination has been approved by the Board of Directors of the Trustees of Bryn Mawr College.

A special Thomas H. Powers Memorial Scholarship of the value of $200 was given in 1910 by Mrs. J. Campbell Harris in memory of her father, Thomas H. Powers. The holder is nominated by the donor subject to the approval of the President and Faculty of the College.

The Anna Hallowell Memorial Scholarship of the value of $100 was founded in 1912 by the family of the late Anna Hallowell. It is awarded to a member of the sophomore class in need of financial assistance to enable her to continue her studies during her junior year, and is to be given by the faculty to the student satisfying the above requirement who has the highest academic record provided that this student does not hold any other scholarship. This provision may, however, be disregarded in case of great financial need.
The Frances Marion Simpson Scholarships, four in number, each of the value of $200, were founded in 1912 by Mr. Alexander Simpson, Jr., in memory of Frances Simpson Pfahler, of the class of 1906; one scholarship to be awarded in each October, to a candidate who receives her final certificate in the preceding spring matriculation examination. Competition for these scholarships is open in the first place to residents of Philadelphia and Montgomery counties who have been prepared for Bryn Mawr College in the public schools of the said counties, or at home by their parents and guardians, or in the model school of the Department of Education of Bryn Mawr College, or in Miss S. Janet Sayward's School at Overbrook, Pennsylvania, so long as she shall be conducting the same; or in default thereof to residents of other counties in Pennsylvania; and only those students who are unable or whose parents are unable to afford to pay the fees for tuition or if living at a distance, the fees for tuition and board, in Bryn Mawr College are entitled to compete. In special cases the scholarship may be awarded to a candidate from some other locality, in which case the restriction to preparation in public schools may also be relaxed, or it may be awarded to some one who can pay part of the charge for her tuition, or for her tuition and board, but not the whole thereof.

The scholarships are renewable for four successive years, and are meant for those students only who take the full college course. Students holding the scholarships who become able to pay the tuition fees of Bryn Mawr College in whole or in part are required to do so, and all holders of the scholarships are required to promise to repay for the benefit of other students in need of the scholarship, the advances made to them, when they can do so without oppressing themselves or neglecting their duties to others.

The Mary Anna Longstreth Memorial Scholarship of the value of $200 was founded in 1913 by the Alumnae of the Mary Anna Longstreth School, the children of Alumnae, and a few of her friends in grateful memory of Mary Anna Longstreth. The scholarship, which provides free tuition for one student, is to be awarded each year to a student who needs financial aid to begin or continue her college course.

The Elizabeth Duane Gillespie Scholarship in American History of the value of $60 was founded in 1903 by the Pennsylvania Society of Colonial Dames of America, in memory of Elizabeth Duane Gillespie. It is awarded annually to a member of the sophomore or junior class, on condition that the holder of the scholarship devote to the study of American history at least four hours a week for one year during the last two years of her college course. The candidate is to be selected by the Faculty of Bryn Mawr College on the ground of excellence in scholarship.

The Woman's Medical College of Pennsylvania presented to Bryn Mawr College in 1910 a scholarship to be awarded to a graduate of the college recommended by the President and Faculty as in their opinion qualified to take up the study of medicine. The holder is given free tuition for one year at the Woman's Medical College of Pennsylvania and the scholarship will be renewed for the three remaining years of the medical course if the holder's record prove satisfactory.

The Chicago Bryn Mawr Club has presented annually since 1914 the sum of $100 to be used as a scholarship for a student in financial need. This scholarship may be awarded, if necessity arise, for use during the second semester to enable the holder to remain in college.

The Pittsburgh Bryn Mawr Club founded in 1917 a competitive entrance scholarship of the value of $200. The applicant for this scholarship must have received her last two years of preparation for college in Allegheny County, Pennsylvania, and the scholarship will be awarded to the candidate satisfying this requirement who has received the highest average grade in the examinations for matriculation. Application for this scholarship must be addressed to the Bryn Mawr Club of Pittsburgh before June 1st of the year in which the applicant desires to enter the college.

The Charles S. Hinchman Memorial Scholarship of the value of $500 was founded in 1917 in memory of the late Charles S. Hinchman of Philadelphia by his family. The holder will be nominated to the Faculty by the Undergraduate Scholarships Committee of the Faculty which will be guided in its selection by (1) the student's record in her group subjects, (2) written recommendations from the instructors in these subjects, (3) evidence of the student's ability as shown by written work in her group subject together with a written estimate of the same by the instructor most directly concerned, such work to be submitted not later than March 15th of the year preceding the one in which the scholarship is to be awarded.

The Elizabeth S. Shippen Scholarships were founded in 1917 by the bequest of the late Elizabeth S. Shippen of Philadelphia. Three scholarships will be awarded each year, one to a member of the senior class and two to members of the junior class, as follows:

The Shippen Foreign Scholarship of the value of $200 will be awarded each year to the member of the senior class who is elected to the Bryn Mawr European Fellowship.

The Shippen Scholarship in Science of the value of $100 will be awarded annually to the member of the junior class, one or both of whose major subjects lie in one of the Scientific Departments, viz., Physics, Chemistry, Geology, Biology, who among those of her class so majoring shall have attained the highest average grade in courses taken in one of these departments.

The Shippen Scholarship in Foreign Languages of the value of $100 will be awarded annually to the member of the junior class, one or both of whose major subjects lie in one of the Departments of Foreign Languages, viz., Greek, Latin, German, French, Italian, Spanish, who among those of her class so majoring shall have attained the highest average grade in courses taken in one of these departments.

The computation of the average grades will be based on the grades received during the Freshman, Sophomore, and the first semester of the Junior years. Grades on elementary courses shall not be included. No student shall be considered eligible for the Science or Foreign Language Scholarship who has not completed at least fifteen hours of work in the subject on which the computation is based. The winner of the Charles S. Hinchman Memorial Scholarship will not be eligible for the Shippen Scholarship in Science or in Foreign Language.

Foundation of Scholarships.—The sum of five thousand dollars given or left by will to the Directors of Bryn Mawr College, will found a perpetual scholarship giving free tuition to one student every year. The scholarship may be given in memory of and named after any person designated by the donor.

Form of Bequest.

I give and bequeath to The Trustees of Bryn Mawr College, a corporation established by law in the State of Pennsylvania, the sum of ..............................................................to be invested and preserved inviolably for the endowment* of Bryn Mawr College, located at Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania.

Dated..............................................................

* The bequest may be made, if desired, for foundation of professors' chairs, scholarships, fellowships, or for some other specified purpose.
For graduate students attending six or more hours a week of lectures, and for fellows and graduate scholars the tuition fee is one hundred and twenty-five dollars a year, payable half-yearly in advance. An emergency fee of $100 has been added to meet the increased cost of food, coal, and of the labour and materials for the necessary routine repairs to buildings. Holders of fellowships and graduate scholarships and graduate students taking less than eight hours of lectures are exempt from this charge. For other graduate students* who do not wish to devote all their time to graduate work the fees are as follows, payable in advance: for one hour a week of lectures, ten dollars a semester; for two hours a week of lectures, twenty dollars a semester; for three hours a week of lectures, thirty dollars a semester; and for four or five hours a week of lectures forty dollars a semester.† This arrangement is made especially for non-resident graduate students, but those who wish to take five hours a week of lectures or less may live in the college halls on the understanding that they must give up their rooms if needed for students who are taking the full amount of graduate work and paying the regular tuition fee. The tuition fee for the semester becomes due as soon as the student is registered in the college office. No reduction of this fee can be made on account of absence, dismissal during the currency of the semester, term, or year covered by the fee in question, or for any other reason whatsoever. Graduate students are admitted to residence or to attendance on lectures at any time during the year, and in this case a proportionate reduction is made in the charges for board and room-rent and for tuition. Every student who enters the college must register immediately at the comptroller's office, and must register her courses at the president's

* Doctors of Philosophy of Bryn Mawr College may attend lectures or work in the laboratories without payment of any fee except for material used in the laboratory.

† The fees charged are reckoned on the basis of the actual hours of conference or lecture, irrespective of the number of undergraduate hours to which the course is regarded as equivalent.

In counting the number of hours for which a graduate student is registered the following special arrangements are made in regard to laboratory courses: payment for a one hour lecture course in a scientific department entitles the student to four hours of laboratory work in addition with no extra charge except the laboratory fee. Students registered for laboratory work only, are charged the following tuition fee: for each two and one-half hours of undergraduate laboratory course and for each five hours of graduate laboratory course the same fee as for a one hour lecture course. The laboratory fees as stated below are charged in addition to the charge for tuition.
Residence of Graduate Students.

office within two weeks after entrance under penalty of exclusion from the college. Any change made later in the courses registered must be reported immediately to the president's office, or the courses will not be permitted to count, and a charge of one dollar will be made for each change made in the course after it has been definitely registered.

Graduate students taking courses in scientific departments (Physics, Chemistry, Geology, Biology, and Psychology) amounting to six or more hours a week of lecture courses or its equivalent in laboratory courses are charged a laboratory fee of eighteen dollars a semester, with the following exceptions: if the student takes, as a regular student, courses in subjects not enumerated above amounting to six hours a week the laboratory fee is reduced to twelve dollars a semester; and if she takes, as a regular student, courses in subjects not enumerated above amounting to ten hours a week the laboratory fee is reduced to six dollars a semester.

The fee for the graduate laboratory course in applied psychology is $5 a semester.

Graduate students taking less than six hours a week of lectures, or its equivalent in laboratory work, and graduate students taking one undergraduate laboratory course only are charged a laboratory fee of ten dollars a semester for every laboratory course of four or more hours a week, and of five dollars a semester for every laboratory course of less than four hours a week.

Graduate students taking courses in the department of Social Economy and Social Research are charged a laboratory fee of $5 a semester and are also required to provide themselves with two 50 trip tickets between Bryn Mawr and Philadelphia costing $15.30. Any extra expenses for train fares or car fares or other charges in connection with the work required by the department will be defrayed by the department.

Residence in the college buildings is optional except for holders of resident fellowships and scholarships. In each hall of residence, except Merion Hall, a special wing or corridor is reserved for graduate students, and in order to secure entire quiet no undergraduate students are permitted to engage rooms in the graduate wings. The expense of board and residence in the graduate wings of the college halls is four hundred dollars. Of this amount three hundred dollars is the charge for board, and is payable half-yearly in advance; the remainder is room-rent, and is payable yearly in advance.* Every student has a separate bedroom. Room-rent includes all expenses of furnishing, service, heating, and light.†

A deposit of fifteen dollars is required from each graduate student, fellow, or scholar who desires to reserve a room in a hall of residence. The amount of this deposit will be deducted from the rent if the room is occupied by the student; it will be refunded if the student gives formal notice to the Secretary of the College before the fifteenth of July preceding the academic year for which the application is made that she wishes to withdraw her application. If for any reason whatever the change or withdrawal be made later than July fifteenth, the deposit will be forfeited to the College.

For graduate students the fees are as follows:

Students whose fees are not paid by November first in the first semester or by March first in the second semester are not permitted to continue in residence or in attendance on their classes.

The Bryn Mawr European Fellowship of the value of $500 was founded in 1889. It is awarded annually to a member of the graduating class of Bryn Mawr College on the ground of excellence in scholarship. The fellowship is intended to defray the expenses of one year’s study and residence at some foreign university, English or Continental. The choice of a university may be determined by the holder’s own preference, subject to the approval of the Faculty.

The President M. Carey Thomas European Fellowship of the value of $500 was founded in 1896 by Miss Garrett of Baltimore and is awarded annually on the ground of excellence in scholarship to a student in her first year of graduate work at Bryn Mawr College. The fellowship is intended to defray the exp-expenses of one year's study and residence at some foreign university, English or Continental. The choice of a university may be determined by the holder's own preference, subject to the approval of the Faculty.

The Mary Elizabeth Garrett European Fellowship of the value of $500 was founded in 1894 by Miss Garrett of Baltimore and is awarded annually on the ground of excellence in scholarship to a student still in residence who has for two years pursued graduate studies at Bryn Mawr College. The fellowship is intended to defray the expenses of one year's study and residence at some foreign university, English or Continental. The choice of a university may be determined by the holder's own preference, subject to the approval of the Faculty.

These fellowships are awarded to assist candidates for the Doctor's degree at Bryn Mawr College to complete their preparation. It is therefore understood that holders of the President M. Carey Thomas and Mary Elizabeth Garrett Fellowships will not present themselves as candidates for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy elsewhere than at Bryn Mawr College.

The Anna Ottendorfer Memorial Research Fellowship in German and Teutonic Philology of the value of $700 was founded in 1907 by Mrs. Anna Woerishoffer of New York City in memory of her mother. It is intended to defray the expenses of one year's study and residence at some German university and is awarded annually to a graduate student who has completed at least one year of graduate study at Bryn Mawr College but is not necessarily still in residence when making application for the fellowship. The fellowship will be awarded to the candidate who shows such proficiency in her studies or in independent work as to furnish reason to believe that she will be able to conduct independent investigations in the field of Teutonic Philology or German. The choice of a university may be determined by the holder's own preference subject to the approval of the Faculty. Application for the fellowship should be addressed to the President.

The Helen Schaeffer Huff Memorial Research Fellowship in Physics or Chemistry of the value of $750, and eighteen resident fellowships, of the value of $525 each, are awarded annually in Greek, Latin, English, Romance Languages, Semitic Languages and Biblical Literature, History, Philosophy, Psychology, Education, Archeology, Mathematics, Physics, Chemistry, Geology and Biology, in Economics and Politics named the Justus C. Strawbridge Fellowship, and two in Social Economy and Social Research named the Carola Woerishoffer Memorial Fellowships. They are open for competition to graduates of Bryn Mawr College, or of any other college of good standing, and will be awarded only to candidates who have completed at least one year of graduate work at some college of good standing after obtaining their first degree. The fellowships are intended as an honour, and are awarded in recognition of previous attainments; generally speaking, they will be awarded to the candidates that have studied longest or to those whose work gives most promise of future success. All fellows may study for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, the fellowship being counted, for this purpose, as equivalent to the degree of Bachelor of Arts. Fellows that continue their studies at the college after the expiration of the fellowship, may, by a vote of the directors, receive the rank of Fellows by Courtesy.

Duties of Resident Fellows.

Fellows are expected to attend all college functions, to wear academic dress, to assist in the conduct of examinations, and to give about an hour a week to the care of special libraries in the halls of residence and in the seminaries, but no such service may be required of them except by a written request from the president’s office; they are not permitted while holding the fellowship to teach, or to undertake any other duties in addition to their college work. They are expected to uphold the college standards of scholarship and conduct and to give loyal support to the Students’ Association for Self-Government. They are required to reside in the college and are assigned rooms by the Secretary of the College. They are charged the usual fee of five hundred and thirty dollars for tuition, board, room-rent, and infirmary care.

The holder of a fellowship is expected to devote at least one half her time to the department in which the fellowship is awarded, and to show by the presentation of a thesis or in some other manner that her studies have not been without result.
A resident Intercollegiate Community Service Association and Bryn Mawr College joint fellowship* was established in 1915 and is offered by the Intercollegiate Community Service Association and by some alumnae of Bryn Mawr College to a Bryn Mawr College graduate who wishes to prepare herself for settlement work. The value of the fellowship is $525, $125 of which is given by the College to meet the tuition fee. The holder of the fellowship is required to live in the Philadelphia College Settlement and pay the usual charges for board and lodging of $7 per week, and the usual fees for full time graduate instruction in Bryn Mawr College amounting to $125 per year, and in addition the usual laboratory and transportation fees. Two additional joint fellowships of the value of $450, are offered by the Intercollegiate Community Service Association in conjunction with Smith and Wellesley Colleges to graduates of Smith College and Wellsley College, respectively, who wish to prepare themselves for community service. By special arrangement with the Committee on Scholarships these scholarships may be held in connection with the College Settlement of Philadelphia and Bryn Mawr College. Smith and Wellesley alumnae are referred for further information to Miss Hilda Worthington Smith, Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania.

Two graduate scholarships entitling the holders to free residence and a nominal rate for board in the Settlement are offered by the College Settlement of Philadelphia to candidates who wish to study in the Carola Woerishoffer Department on condition that they will give at least six hours a week to work in the Settlement.

Twenty Graduate Scholarships, of the value of two hundred dollars each, may be awarded to candidates next in merit to the successful candidates for the fellowships; they are also open for competition to graduates of Bryn Mawr College, or of any other college of good standing.

The Margaret Kingsland Haskell resident scholarship in English composition of the value of seven hundred and fifty dollars is offered in 1918–19 and in each succeeding year and in

* The term fellowship is used here because adopted by the Intercollegiate Community Service Association. The condition of one year's graduate study required of candidates for Bryn Mawr College resident fellowships does not apply.
1920-21 and every third year thereafter two scholarships in English composition of the same value will be offered. These scholarships are open to graduates of Bryn Mawr College or of any college of good standing under the same conditions as the twenty graduate scholarships mentioned above.

The Susan B. Anthony Memorial Scholarship in Social Economy and Social Research or in Politics was founded by the Executors of the late Susan B. Anthony, Dr. Anna Howard Shaw and Miss Lucy E. Anthony, in memory of Susan B. Anthony's work for women's college education. The holder is expected to devote one-third of her time to the study of politics and must investigate educational, social, or industrial conditions affecting women.

The Robert G. Valentine Memorial Scholarship in Social Economy and Social Research of the value of two hundred dollars is offered by Mrs. Frank W. Hallowell of Chestnut Hill, Massachusetts, to be awarded by the President and Faculty of Bryn Mawr College on the recommendation of the Director of the Carola Woerishoffer Department of Social Economy and Social Research to a candidate approved by the donor. It is open to graduates of Bryn Mawr College or of any other college of good standing.

Twelve graduate scholarships of the value of five hundred and thirty dollars each are offered, four for English, Scotch, or Irish women, four for French women, two for Italian women, one for Swiss women and one for women from Scandinavia or the Netherlands. They are open for competition to all women of the prescribed nationality whose academic work has reached a standard equivalent to that denoted by the Bachelor's degree of any American college or university of acknowledged standing. The amount of the scholarship, five hundred and thirty dollars covers the fees for tuition, board, room-rent, including light, heat, and service, and infirmary care for the academic year. A furnished single room in the graduate wing of one of the halls of residence is assigned to each scholar, but this is not available in the Christmas and Easter vacations.
when scholars who remain at the college have to pay the expenses of board and residence.*

Scholars are expected to reside in the college, to attend all college functions, to wear academic dress and to assist in the conduct of examinations. It is understood that they will uphold the college standards of scholarship and conduct and give loyal support to the Students' Association for Self-Government.

Application for resident fellowships or scholarships should be made to the President of the College on a form obtained from the President’s office, as early as possible, and not later than the first* of April preceding the academic year for which the fellowship or scholarship is desired. A definite answer will be given within two weeks from the latest date set for receiving applications. Any original papers, printed or in manuscript, which have been prepared by the applicant and sent in support of her application will be returned when stamps for that purpose are enclosed, or specific directions for return by express are given. Letters or testimonials will be filed for reference.

* Applications for the Scholarships open to British, French, Italian, Swiss, Dutch, and Scandinavian women must be received by April the first, they should be accompanied by full particulars of the candidate's academic work, by diplomas or certificates and by letters of recommendation from professors and should be addressed to the Recording Dean of Bryn Mawr College, Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania, U. S. A., or in the case of French scholars they may be addressed to M. Petit Dutaillis, Office National des Ecoles et Universités Françaises, 96 Boulevard Raspail, Paris.

EXAMINATION FOR MATRICULATON.

The examination for matriculation must be taken by everyone who wishes to study in the undergraduate department of Bryn Mawr College as a candidate for a degree or as a special student following selected courses.*†

The examination for matriculation may be taken also as a test of proficiency in elementary studies by candidates who have no intention of entering the college.

A matriculation certificate will be given to everyone who is successful in passing the examination.

* The examinations of the College Entrance Examination Board which are designated by Bryn Mawr College as equivalent to the matriculation examination of the college will be accepted, subject to certain conditions. For details see pages 26-27.
† When there is sufficient room in the college classrooms and halls of residence after the freshman class entering on examination has been provided for, two exceptions may, in special circumstances, be made to the above rule, and two classes of students may be admitted to the college without passing the examination for matriculation:

(a) Students who present a certificate of honourable dismissal from an approved college. (See fifth paragraph of this note.)

(b) Women over twenty-five years of age who can furnish satisfactory proof that they have at some time studied the subjects required for admission to Bryn Mawr College may be admitted as "Hearers."

In the admission of students, however, preference will in all cases be given to candidates who have taken the regular examination for matriculation.

Students who have attended other colleges or universities must present a certificate of honourable dismissal, together with an official statement that they have studied in regular college classes for one college year exclusive of the summer vacation and have received the grade of passed on examinations covering at least one year of academic work in one of the regular college courses leading to the bachelor's degree of liberal arts, and are in good standing in said college, and able to take their degree there in due course. In addition to this year of college work such students must present credits fully equivalent to the Bryn Mawr College examination for matriculation.

Students who have failed to satisfy the requirements at other colleges, who have outstanding conditions, or have otherwise failed to meet prescribed college standards of academic work or conduct, or who have been put on probation, suspended, or excluded will under no circumstances be admitted to Bryn Mawr College. Such students will not be permitted to cancel their college work elsewhere, take the Bryn Mawr College examination for matriculation, and enter Bryn Mawr as regular freshmen.

Candidates who wish to be admitted to Bryn Mawr College on presentation of a certificate of honourable dismissal from a college or university the graduates of which are eligible for membership in the Association of Collegiate Alumnae are not required to pass the Bryn Mawr College examination for matriculation, provided they can present the required number of entrance credits. Students presenting certificates of honourable dismissal from all other colleges and universities must take the regular examination for matriculation given by Bryn Mawr College. Such students are not permitted to take the examination for matriculation without informing the Secretary and Registrar of the College, in advance, at the time that they file their application to be examined, that they have studied at another college. Unless this rule is observed they will not receive a matriculation certificate.

In June, 1918, graduates of the following colleges and universities were eligible for admission to the Association of Collegiate Alumnae: Barnard College; Bates College;
Matriculation certificates stating that candidates have passed the examination for matriculation and are qualified for admission to Bryn Mawr College will be issued to those candidates only who have been examined in all of the subjects required for matriculation and have shown by their examination that all of the subjects required for matriculation have been studied for a reasonable length of time. These subjects are counted as equivalent to twenty points. No certificate will be given unless the candidate has received the grade of "passed" in at least fifteen of the required twenty points.*† Matriculation certificates may be presented at any time for admission to the college. There is no time limit.

Candidates holding matriculation certificates who wish to study in Bryn Mawr College must make definite application for admission as a student to the Secretary and Registrar of the College. Such candidates will receive from the Secretary and Registrar formal admission certificates.‡ Matriculation certi-

* Matriculation certificates must contain a complete record of the marks received in all of the twenty points. Candidates who have cancelled the First Division, the Second Division, or the Preliminary Division of the examination for matriculation must be examined again in all of the points of the cancelled division. It is not sufficient that the candidates at some previous time should have offered certain subjects, or points, in a division of the examination that has been cancelled. They must offer all cancelled points again except those points which have been offered and passed in the division which is to be counted. Neglect to comply with this rule will prevent candidates from receiving matriculation certificates.

† Matriculation certificates will not be issued to candidates who have failed completely in any one of the twenty points offered for the final matriculation certificate when such failure is of a character to indicate that the subject has been presented as a mere form, unless they can produce satisfactory evidence that the subject in question has been faithfully studied for a reasonable length of time.

‡ Students who have been admitted to the college will be permitted to choose rooms in the halls of residence in order of application for rooms and are urged to make such appliicates qualify for admission but do not in themselves entitle candidates to study in Bryn Mawr College. It is therefore necessary for holders of matriculation certificates to make definite application to the Secretary and Registrar for admission to the college. This application must be formally approved before the candidate will be admitted.

In the admission of students preference will be given to candidates of the highest promise, due regard being paid to examination grades, including the number of points passed, and also to evidence as to character, health, and general ability.

The examination for matriculation may be taken in three ways:—first, the whole examination, including all the twenty points, may be taken in one examination period (this examination being known as the Combined First and Second Division); second, the examination may be divided between two examination periods and may be taken in two parts known as the First Division and the Second Division; and third, the examination under certain specified conditions which must be strictly observed may be divided among three examination periods and may be taken in three parts known as the Preliminary Division, the First Division, and the Second Division. Not more than one calendar year and a summer vacation may elapse between the First Division and the Second Division. Not more than two calendar years and a summer vacation and not less than two years may elapse between the Preliminary Division and Second Division. Unless these rules as to time are strictly observed the First Division, or the Preliminary Division, respectively, will be automatically cancelled.

The Preliminary Division of the examination for matriculation was opened to candidates for the first time in the spring of 1916. This examination is planned to meet the wish of the preparatory schools for an examination in which to test the Application for rooms may be made at any time. It is not necessary to wait until the examination for matriculation has been taken.

Applications for rooms made by students studying at other colleges, or entering other colleges after applying for rooms at Bryn Mawr College, will not entitle them to an early choice of rooms. Such students will be admitted to the college only when there is sufficient room in the college classrooms and halls of residence after the freshman class entering on examination has been provided for. Under no circumstances will students be admitted to Bryn Mawr College who have not made good at other colleges. (See footnote, page 9, seventh paragraph.) progress made by their pupils two years before completing their preparation for the final examination for matriculation; and also to relieve them from the strain of crowding all their preparatory work into the last two years before the final examination. This Preliminary Division of the examination for matriculation is regarded as an experiment the working of which should be carefully observed by the faculty of the college. It may therefore be taken only in the Bryn Mawr College examination for matriculation. The examinations of the College Entrance Examination Board may not be substituted for this Preliminary Division.

In the Preliminary Division candidates may be examined only in the following subjects:

The examinations in the above subjects are the regular matriculation examinations given for admission to Bryn Mawr College.§ There is no restriction as to the number of points to be passed.

Any point or points passed will be credited in the Preliminary Division Certificate.|| This Preliminary Division may be counted as part of the First Division of the examination for matriculation. The points passed in the Preliminary Division and in the First Division, provided their total number amounts to four points, may be added together and credited in the First Division Certificate. Candidates are not, however, required to count the Preliminary Division as any part of

* Candidates may not be examined in both Algebra and Geometry in the Preliminary Division except under certain conditions, see footnote, page 24.
† For two point language examinations, see pages 32-33.
§ For further description and details, see page 24.
|| Preliminary Certificates may be exchanged for First Division Certificates in the following special case—Candidates who have already received the Preliminary Division Certificate and find that they are able to complete the examination for matriculation within one calendar year and the summer vacation, instead of in two years time as was their original intention, may exchange their Preliminary Certificates for First Division Certificates, provided that at least four points have been passed; otherwise the Preliminary Division must be cancelled and the examination for matriculation taken in the usual way, i.e., in two divisions (First Division and Second Division).
the examination for matriculation. Candidates who have received the Preliminary Division Certificate in the Bryn Mawr College Examination for Matriculation may complete their examination either in the Bryn Mawr College examination or in the examinations of the College Entrance Examination Board and receive the First Division Certificate, the Second Division Certificate, and the final Matriculation Certificate from Bryn Mawr College. Candidates may not try the examinations of the Preliminary Division more than once except in the special case of candidates who wish to cancel the Preliminary Division which they have taken and repeat it in the spring or autumn (not winter) examination for matriculation of the following year with the intention (stated in writing) of completing the whole examination for matriculation two years later.

Candidates who are not preparing for college may take the Preliminary Division as a test of proficiency in elementary studies.

In the First Division of the examination for matriculation candidates may offer any subjects, or points, they please and as many points as they please, provided, however, that they take care to offer a sufficient number of points (at least four) to secure a certificate. First Division Certificates will be given to those candidates who have passed in at least four points. The examination of candidates failing to pass in four points will be cancelled and must be repeated. Candidates are, therefore, advised to offer as many more than four points as possible in order to allow for the possibility of failure in one or more points.

Candidates holding a First Division Certificate must take the Second Division of the Examination for Matriculation within one calendar year and a summer vacation from the time of taking the First Division of the examination for matriculation; otherwise the First Division will be cancelled.*

* First Division Certificates may be exchanged for Preliminary Certificates in the following special case: candidates who have intended to take the matriculation examination of Bryn Mawr in two divisions only (the First Division and the Second Division) and have already received the First Division Certificate but are unable, on account of illness or for some other reason satisfactory to the Entrance Examination Committee of Bryn Mawr College, to take the Second Division of the examination for matriculation within one calendar year and the summer vacation from the time of taking the First Division, may, by
In the Second Division of the examination for matriculation candidates must be examined in all the points in which they were not examined in the First Division including the Preliminary when taken and must receive the grade of "passed" in at least fifteen of the twenty points required for matriculation in order to receive a complete Matriculation Certificate. In calculating these points all the points credited in the First Division Certificate will be counted. Candidates who have failed in five points may receive a Matriculation Certificate, they must, however, have been examined in all of these five points, either in the First Division or in the Second Division, i.e., the final Matriculation Certificate must contain the grade received by candidates on all the required twenty points.

Not more than one calendar year and a summer vacation may elapse between the First Division and Second Division of the examination for matriculation; otherwise the First Division Certificate will be cancelled.

The whole examination for matriculation, i.e., the Combined First and Second Division, including all the twenty points, may be taken in one examination period, but, unless the circumstances are exceptional, candidates are advised to avoid the strain of taking so many examinations at one time.

Candidates must be examined in all of the required twenty points and must receive the grade of "passed" in at least fifteen of the twenty points required for matriculation in order to receive a Matriculation Certificate.

The examination is held at Bryn Mawr College in the spring, autumn, and winter of every year and is also held in the spring of every year in Baltimore, Boston, Chicago, New York, Pittsburgh, Portland (Oregon), Richmond, St. Louis, and London (England). A fee of six dollars for the whole or any part of the examination must be paid by each candidate taking the examination at the above mentioned regular examination centres.

consent of the Committee, be permitted to exchange their First Division Certificate for a Preliminary Certificate provided the First Division has been taken in the Bryn Mawr College examination and not in the examinations of the College Entrance Examination Board. Such candidates may accordingly take their examination for matriculation in three divisions like candidates who have planned in advance to take the Preliminary Division two years before completing their matriculation examination.
The examination for matriculation may be arranged by the College at other places in the spring, but not in the autumn or winter, in which case the usual fee of six dollars per person will be charged.

The examination for matriculation may be held in the spring at yet other places by special request for the benefit of certain schools or groups of candidates who are willing to meet the whole expense of the conduct of the examination by the College. The fee per candidate may be more but will not be less than six dollars for the whole or any part of such examination.*

The complete time schedule of the matriculation examination is printed at the beginning of this volume.

Application to take either the whole or any part of the examination for matriculation must be made in advance to the Secretary and Registrar of Bryn Mawr College, in accordance with prescribed regulations which differ according to the way in which the examination for matriculation is to be taken, whether at one time or in one of the three divisions (Preliminary Division, First Division or Second Division) into which it may be divided; and also according to the time and place of the examination. For this reason candidates and principals of preparatory schools are requested to read carefully the following regulations which are not subject to alteration:

A fee of six dollars is charged for the whole or any part of the examination. Candidates holding a matriculation certificate must pay three dollars for each condition examination except punctuation for which the fee is one dollar.

* In the past ten years examinations have been held by request at the following places: Alabama: Gadsden; California: Bonita, Los Angeles, Piedmont, Redlands, San Francisco, Santa Barbara; Colorado: Denver; Connecticut: Greenwich, Hartford, Simsbury, Washington, Waterbury; Georgia: Athens; Illinois: Springfield; Indiana: Fort Wayne, Indianapolis, Terre Haute; Iowa: Council Bluffs, Davenport, Dubuque, Keokuk; Kansas: Kansas City; Kentucky: Louisville; Maine: Portland; Maryland: Catonsville, Cumberland; Massachusetts: Fall River, Lowell; Michigan: Bay City, Detroit, Grand Rapids, Houghton; Minnesota: Faribault, Minneapolis; Missouri: Hannibal; Montana: Helena; Nebraska: Omaha, New Jersey: Lakewood, Princeton, Trenton; New York: Albany, Clinton, Cooperstown, Garden City, Glens Falls, Lake George, New Rochelle, Rochester, Rye, Saratoga Springs, Tarrytown; North Carolina: Biltmore; Ohio: Cincinnati, Cleveland, Columbus; Pennsylvania: Altoona, Bellefonte, Bradford, Greensburg, Harrisburg, Hazleton, Johnstown, Lancaster, Oxford, Scranton, Wilkes-Barre, York; Rhode Island: Providence; South Carolina: Charleston; South Dakota: Yankton; Tennessee: Memphis, Nashville; Texas: Dallas, Houston; Utah: Salt Lake City; Washington: Seattle; West Virginia: Wheeling; Wisconsin: Fond du Lac, Milwaukee; District of Columbia, Washington; France: Paris; Germany: Berlin, Munich; Asia Minor: Tarsus.
Candidates who intend to take the spring examination at Bryn Mawr College are required to make application for this examination to the Secretary and Registrar on or before May 15th on a prescribed form obtained in advance from the office of the Secretary and Registrar and to send with their application a fee of six dollars. Candidates who apply for examination after May 15th will be charged an additional fee of six dollars, or twelve dollars in all.

Candidates who intend to take the Bryn Mawr College examination for matriculation elsewhere than at Bryn Mawr are required to make application for this examination to the Secretary and Registrar of the College on or before April 15th and to follow the same procedure as in the case of candidates taking the spring examination at Bryn Mawr.*†

Candidates who intend to take the examination for matriculation at Bryn Mawr in the autumn or winter are required to make application for this examination to the Secretary and Registrar on or before September 15th, or January 1st, respectively, on a prescribed form obtained in advance from the office of the Secretary and Registrar and to send with their application a fee of six dollars. Candidates who apply for examination after September 15th and January 1st, respectively, will be charged an additional fee of six dollars, or twelve dollars in all.

Attention is called to the fact that the examination for matriculation is given in the autumn and winter at Bryn Mawr College only.

The Preliminary Division of the examination for matriculation may not be taken in the winter, but only in the spring and autumn.

Candidates who intend to take the Preliminary Division, or the First Division, or to pass off conditions imposed in a previous examination for matriculation, must follow the procedure outlined under the heading Application for Spring Examination, or Application for Autumn and Winter Examinations according to the time at which they wish to be examined. They must state in their application whether they intend to take the Preliminary Division or the First Division or to pass off conditions. Candidates wishing to take the Preliminary Division must send with their application a statement in writing made by their school principal, their private tutor, or by themselves that they are taking the Preliminary division two years before they expect to complete the examination for the matriculation certificate.

Candidates who intend to complete the examination and thus become eligible to receive the Matriculation Certificate must follow the procedure outlined under the heading Application for Spring Examination or Application for Autumn and Winter Examinations according to the time at which they wish to be examined. They must state in their application whether they intend to take the whole examination for matriculation at one time, i. e., the Combined First and Second Division, or the Second Division. If the examinations are being offered for admission to the college the candidate must also send to the Secretary and Registrar a request for a certificate of admission.

Four competitive matriculation scholarships, of the value of $100 each, are awarded annually to candidates receiving their final matriculation certificates in the spring matriculation examinations of Bryn Mawr College. One scholarship is awarded in each of the following districts: (a) The New England States; (b) New York, New Jersey, and Delaware; (c) Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, and Wisconsin, and the States west of the Mississippi River; (d) Pennsylvania and all places not included in (a), (b), and (c). The district to which a candidate is considered to belong is determined by the school at which she receives her final preparation, or in case of preparation by private study by the place of residence during the year preceding the final examination; but candidates may present them—selves for examination at any place where the Bryn Mawr College examination for matriculation is held. These scholarships, which are to be held for one year only, are awarded in each of the above-named districts on the basis of the sum total of marks obtained by the candidate, but no one is eligible for a scholarship who has received more than two conditions in the twenty sections of the examination. When the examination has been divided no account is taken of those conditions incurred in the first division which have been passed off in the final examination. The competition is limited to those who intend to spend at least one year at Bryn Mawr College, who have not studied at any other college, and have not cancelled any division of the Bryn Mawr College matriculation examinations. All those who present themselves are ipso facto candidates for these scholarships, no formal declaration of candidacy being required. The candidate in each district whose grades are next highest to the winner of the scholarship for that district will receive Honourable Mention.

* For regulations governing those candidates who substitute for the Bryn Mawr College Examination for Matriculation the examination held by the College Entrance Examination Board, see pages 25-27.

Examinations for Advanced Standing.

Candidates who wish to enter the college with advanced standing may offer the following subjects in addition to the twenty points required for the Matriculation Certificate: the Minor Course in Latin, Section A and Section B, counting as three and two hours throughout one year;* matriculation

* The minor course in Latin may be offered for examination by candidates for matriculation that desire to enter the college with advanced standing, and, at their discretion, by matriculated students without attendance on the college classes, provided it is offered before the close of the matriculation examinations at the beginning of the student's junior year. The minor course is considered for this purpose as comprising two sections. No substitutions are allowed for any part of the following requirements, except in the case of students entering with advanced standing from other colleges:

A. Cicero, Selected Letters, 1, 2, 3, 5, 6, 7, 8, 10, 11, 16, 17, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 30, 31, 33, 37, 38, 39, 42, 44, 45, 47, 49, 52, 75, 76, 91, 92 (Letters of Cicero, edited by F. F. Abbott, Boston, Ginn and Company), Terence, Phormio, Adelphoe and Andria or by special request registered three months before the examination, Livy, Book xxi, and Latin Prose Composition, including a detailed knowledge of the more abstruse Latin constructions and some facility in turning simple English narrative into Latin. The examination in Livy and Composition is given only when the candidate furnishes proof that she was unable to secure preparation in Terence.

B. Horace, Odes, except i, 25, 27, 33, 36; ii, 5; iii, 6, 15, 20; iv, 1, 10, 13; Epodes except 3, 5, 8, 11, 12, 15, 17; Carmen Saeculare; Satires i, 1, 5, 6, 9; ii, 6; Epistles i, 1, 5, 6, 7, 8, 10, 14, 20.

There are two examinations, one in Section A and one in Section B, each three hours in Greek, French or German (provided this was not taken in the examination for matriculation), counting as five hours throughout one year; trigonometry,* counting as two hours throughout one semester; Solid Geometry* counting as two hours throughout one semester. All of these subjects are not necessarily included in the requirements for the degree of Bachelor of Arts, but students that have passed these examinations are credited with the equivalent number of hours of free elective work.

Such advanced standing examinations will enable the student to lighten her work in college or to enlarge her choice of elective studies but will not enable her to shorten the time of obtaining the bachelor's degree which represents in every case four years of study in collegiate classes.

Candidates holding Matriculation Certificates may remove conditions at any time before entering the college by passing the corresponding examinations in any of the regular periods at which the examination for matriculation is given. The usual fee of three dollars must be paid for each condition examination. Candidates are advised whenever it is at all possible to remove their conditions before entering the college, as the penalties imposed on freshmen for failing to pass off matriculation conditions are serious, and the time that must be spent in the necessary reviewing interferes materially with their college work.†

---

* For examinations in the College Entrance Examination Board equivalent to those which may be offered for advanced standing, see page 27.

† Students must pass off all matriculation conditions within the first semester after entering the college under penalty of exclusion from full college work during the second semester. Students who have not passed off all their matriculation conditions at the end of the second semester after entering the college will be required to withdraw from the college for one year (an exception being made in the case of students conditioned in one point only, such students being permitted to take an examination in this point in the following September, the penalty for failure to pass being in this case also withdrawal from the college for one year). Students must pay a fee of three dollars for each conditioned matriculation examination with the exception of conditions in punctuation for which one dollar is charged.
Candidates who have taken only the preliminary or first division examinations and have not received the complete matriculation certificate may pass off conditions only when offering a later division of examination, \textit{e.g.}, conditions received in the first division may be passed off only with the second division examination or after the matriculation certificate has been received.

Matriculation conditions also may seriously disarrange their college course. Students with matriculation conditions in Greek, Latin, English, French, German, or Mathematics are not permitted to attend college courses in these subjects until the conditions have been passed off. As these courses run throughout the year conditioned students are prevented from taking them in their freshman year. Conditions in history or in science do not exclude students from college classes in history or science.

Point System.

Assuming the usual amount of preparatory work, the number of points allotted to each subject in the examination for matriculation indicates approximately the time which pupils should devote to preparation in that subject during the last six years of their preparatory school course if a point is regarded as four or five recitation periods a week throughout one school year. If, for example, candidates take their matriculation examination under the New Requirements and study five subjects a year during the last six years of preparation for college, then Mathematics, Latin, and English should be studied four or five periods a week for \textit{four} years each since each counts as four points in the examination; Ancient History and English History should each be studied for four or five periods a week for one year, since each counts as one point; Physics and Elementary Science should be studied for two or if possible for three years, since together they count as three points; and one of the three languages Greek or French or German should be studied for five periods a week for at least three years, since each counts as three points. The minimum time, therefore, that should be spent in preparing for the matriculation examination under the new Requirements is nineteen school periods a week for six years, leaving free for a daily study period and other non-college preparatory subjects eleven periods a week throughout these six years. The point system assumes that the school work in the last six years before entering the college rests on a foundation of solid work in the elementary school.

Matriculation Subjects.

The examination for matriculation in Bryn Mawr College is planned to furnish the best possible foundation for the work required of all candidates for the bachelor's degree in the college and at the same time to give the best possible mental discipline and liberal training both to candidates entering the college and to those who are unable to continue their studies beyond the preparatory school. Certain subjects, such as Latin, Mathematics, English, Physics, Ancient History, one additional ancient or modern foreign language are regarded as essential elements of a thorough school course. Certain other subjects are regarded as less essential to be taken before entering the college and between such subjects certain options are permitted. The New Matriculation Requirements (which came into effect for the first time as optional examinations in 1918 and which will become obligatory in and after the spring of 1923) throw more emphasis on history and science and less on language although an optional examination in a fourth language in addition to Latin and English and the third language required of all candidates may still be taken if preferred. Such candidates must, however, supplement their lack of preparation in history and science by electing courses in these subjects during their college course.* The New Requirements also permit examinations in Italian and Spanish to be offered for matriculation under certain conditions. Attention is called to the fact that candidates who do not wish to study German may offer for the matriculation examination and also later in their college course Greek or French or Italian or Spanish.

* In this connection it should be noted that if a fourth language is offered in the examination for matriculation and kept up during the freshman and sophomore years it will greatly lighten the work of preparing for the language examination required of all students at the beginning of the junior year.
Examination for Matriculation.

The examination* known as the Old Requirements will be accepted until the winter of 1923, but candidates may also offer the examination known as the New Requirements. The Old Requirements and the New Requirements may not, however, be combined, except in case of the new English examinations which are advised for all candidates. Candidates intending to complete their examination for matriculation in 1923 must take the New Requirements examination in the Preliminary Division and in the First Division of the examination for matriculation.

*Candidates are advised to select Group One whenever possible. Candidates who select Group Two are required to make good their deficiency in history and science after they enter the college by electing as courses required for the bachelor’s degree history, five hours a week for one semester and science (in addition to the year of required science and not counting as a second year of science), five hours a week for one semester; or history, five hours a week for one year, provided history has not been selected as a group subject; or science, five hours a week for one year, provided science has not been selected as a group subject.
The Preliminary Division.

Candidates who wish to take some of their examinations two years before entering the college may avail themselves of the Preliminary Division which may be taken only in the Bryn Mawr College Examinations either in the spring or autumn of any given year. The subjects that may be offered in this Division are as follows:

For a full explanation of this examination, see pages 11-13 and 16-17.

* Candidates offering Group Two must not select for examination a language which they have offered, or intend to offer, for the three-point examination in language required of all candidates. Candidates who select Group Two and offer for examination the two-point option in Greek, French, Italian, Spanish, or German must pass a supplementary examination after entering the college, provided they wish to enter one of the regular minor courses in this language. All the minor courses in language are based on the amount of preparation required for a three-point matriculation examination, except Latin and English, which assume preparation equivalent to at least four points.

† If Algebra and Geometry are offered in this examination, the candidate must undertake to offer Solid Geometry or Trigonometry before entrance, and at least one of the four papers Algebra, Plane Geometry, Solid Geometry and Trigonometry must be offered by the candidate in the first or second division of the examination.

‡ This subject is included in the hope that the schools will be able to readjust their work so as to offer it in this examination.

One of these languages...2
Examination of the College Entrance Examination Board.

The Examinations of the College Entrance Examination Board which are designated below as equivalent to the matriculation examinations of the college will be accepted for admission to the college, subject to the same conditions which govern the Bryn Mawr College examinations.

The passing mark for both sets of examinations is the same, sixty per cent.

The Preliminary Division must be taken in the Bryn Mawr College examination, but candidates may take either the First Division or the Second Division or both in the Bryn Mawr College examination, or in the examinations of the College Entrance Examination Board.

Not more than one calendar year and a summer vacation may elapse between the First Division and Second Division of the examination for matriculation. There is no other restriction as to time; for example, candidates may present themselves for the First Division of their examination in the spring examination of Bryn Mawr College, held during the last week in May and the first week in June, and for the Second Division in the examination held by the College Entrance Examination Board in the third week of June of the same year; or if they fail in the spring examination of Bryn Mawr College they may try the same subjects again in the examination of the College Entrance Board three weeks later.

In case a sufficient number of points to secure a Matriculation Certificate is not passed in two divisions of the examination the points taken in one division must be cancelled, and all the points offered in the cancelled division (except those points which have been also offered in the division which is to be counted), must be offered again, together with a sufficient number of the points in which the candidate has been conditioned to ensure her passing in the required number of points.

Candidates who have passed the fifteen points necessary to receive a Matriculation Certificate may remove conditions by passing the corresponding examinations in the Bryn Mawr College examination for matriculation or in the examination of the College Entrance Examination Board.
Candidates taking the College Entrance Examination Board's examinations will not be considered in the awarding of the four Bryn Mawr competitive entrance examination scholarships, unless the final division of the examination be taken in the spring Bryn Mawr College examination. Candidates are not eligible for these scholarships when the finals are taken in the autumn examination.

Definition and Description of Subjects of Examination for Matriculation.

(Counting as two points.)

The examination in Algebra comprises Elementary Operations, Quadratic Equations, Problems, Ratio, Proportion, Variation, Arithmetical and Geometrical Progressions, the Binomial Theorem for Positive Integral Exponents.

While there is no formal examination in Arithmetic, an adequate knowledge of the subject is required throughout the mathematical examinations; in all the papers there are some numerical problems, and the correct solution of a fair number of these is regarded as essential. So many good text-books are available in both Algebra and Plane Geometry that no special books are recommended. The following are mentioned simply as an indication of the preparation required for these examinations: C. Smith’s Elementary Algebra (American edition, revised by Irving Stringham); Phillips and Fisher’s Elements of Geometry (abridged edition); Wentworth’s Geometry.

II. Latin. — Grammar and Composition.  (Counting as one point.)  Translation at sight of simple passages in Latin prose.  (Counting as two points.)  Translation at sight of simple passages of Latin poetry.  (Counting as one point.)  Due allowance is made for unusual words, and there are questions testing the candidate’s practical knowledge of grammar and prosody.

The Latin read in preparation may be selected from Caesar (Gallic War and Civil War), Nepos (Lives), Cicero (Orations, Letters, and De senectute), Sallust (Cai tine and Jugurtha), Vergil (Aeneid, Bucolics, and Georgics), and Ovid (Metaphors, Fasti, and Tristia).
The amount to be read should not be less than that contained in Caesar, Gallic War,
I-IV, Cicero, Manilian Law, Archias, and four Orations against Catiline, and Vergil, Aeneid, I-VI. The vocabulary, syntax, and thought of the sight passages will be adopted as closely as possible to the knowledge gained by a careful reading of the required amount of Latin. The paper in Grammar and Composition demands a knowledge of all regular inflections, all common irregular forms, and the ordinary syntax and vocabulary of the prose authors read in schools.

* Since the comprehensive examinations are not graded students offering these will receive in case they pass only the passing mark 60 per cent.
English. III. English.—New type of Examination, optional until the winter of 1921 and obligatory in and after the spring of 1921.

English Literature. (Counting as two points.) English Composition. (Counting as two points.) In consequence of changes recently made in the college course in English Composition and after consultation with a number of preparatory schools, the college has modified the matriculation examinations in English. This new type of examination will be optional until the winter of 1921 and will be obligatory in and after the spring of 1921. Papers illustrative of the new examination may be obtained from the Secretary and Registrar of the College.

The English examination will be in two parts, neither of which may be taken as a preliminary: Part I, Literature; Part II, Composition. As a basis for the examination a list of books is prescribed chosen from the list agreed on by the Associations of the Colleges and Schools of the New England States, the Middle States and Maryland, the North Central States, and the Southern States. From the Bryn Mawr list such a selection should be made as will give the candidate a fair idea of the progress of English literature from the time of Shakespeare to the Nineteenth Century. An intelligent reading, not a detailed knowledge of these books is expected, though it is hoped that the candidate will commit to memory some of the best passages of prose and poetry. For the better understanding of her reading she should be familiar with the important events in the lives of the authors that she studies and with the general character of the periods to which they belong. In Part I of the examination passages outside the prescribed reading will also be given to test the candidate's ability to read intelligently, and the definition of words and the explanation of well-known references and allusions will be asked for.

The candidate's ability to write English will be judged by the form and quality of her work in both parts of the examination and, in particular, by a composition of 350 words which will constitute Part II of the examination. In this composition the candidate will be asked to develop a theme through several paragraphs to its conclusion. Of three or four subjects assigned for the choice of the candidate, one will be on the reading prescribed for the examination and two or three will relate to matters of general knowledge or personal experience.

No separate paper on Grammar and Punctuation is set, but the candidate's knowledge of these subjects will be judged by her practice. Ability to punctuate her own sentences correctly is expected, and a knowledge of grammar and good usage—for example, of the different kinds of sentences and the relation of clauses within the sentence, of the sequence of tenses, and of the use of auxiliaries, prepositions, conjunctions and verbs.

In grammar and rhetoric no text-books are prescribed, but the following will suggest the preparation required: Robins and Perkins, Introduction to the Study of Rhetoric (Macmillan); Manual of Composition and Rhetoric, Gardiner, Kittredge, and Arnold (Ginn and Co.); Boynton Principles of Composition (Ginn and Co.).

The Department of English will be glad to consider comments and suggestions from the schools relative to the examination. Such communications should be sent to the office of the Secretary and Registrar of the College.

Reading. The English examination will be based on the following books chosen from the list of books prepared by the Associations of the Colleges and Schools of the New England States, the Middle States and Maryland, the North Central States, and the Southern States.

A. All selections in this group are to be read, due regard being paid to the alternatives offered among Shakespeare’s plays. Shakespeare: 3 plays—1 comedy, 1 tragedy, and 1 history—are to be chosen from the following list. A Midsummer Night’s Dream, The Merchant of Venice, As You Like It; Julius Caesar, Macbeth; Richard II, Henry V, Richard III. Addison and Steele, The Sir Roger de Coverley Papers; Burke, Speech on Conciliation with America; The Golden Treasury (first series), Book IV, with special attention to Wordsworth, Keats and Shelley; Coleridge, The Ancient Mariner.

B. Two selections are to be made from each of the following four groups: 1. A Collection of English and Scottish Ballads, as, for example, some Robin Hood ballads, The Battle of Otterburn, King Estmere, Young Brician, Bewich and Grahame, Sir Patrick Spens, and a selection from later ballads: Milton, L’Allegro, Il Penseroso, and either Lycidas or Comus; The Golden Treasury (first series), Books II and III; Pope, The Rape of the Lock; Macaulay, Lays of Ancient Rome, The Battle of Naseby, The Armada, Iry.

3. Lamb, Essays of Elia (about 200 pages); Macaulay, Life of Johnson or Essay on Milton; Ruskin, Sesame and Lilies; Stevenson, An Inland Voyage or Travels with a Donkey; Huxley, Autobiography and Selections from Lay Sermons including the addresses on Improving Natural Knowledge, A Liberal Education, and A Piece of Chalk.

4. Bunyan, Pilgrim’s Progress, Part I; Swift, Gulliver’s Travels (Lilliput and Brobdingnag); Defoe, Robinson Crusoe; Scott’s Novels, any one; Jane Austen’s Novels, any one; Dickens’ Novels, any one; Thackeray’s Novels, any one; George Eliot’s Novels, any one; Stevenson, Treasure Island; Kidnapped, Master of Ballantrae; Hawthorne, House of the Seven Gables.

The old type of examination as follows may be offered instead of the new type up to and including the spring of 1921:

English Grammar. (Counting as one point.) English Composition. (Counting as three points.) The examinations in grammar and composition may be divided and may be taken in either division of the entrance examination. The examination in English Grammar may be taken in the Preliminary Examination and consists of the correction of passages of incorrect English. Questions will be asked to test the candidate’s knowledge of the grammatical principles involved in the corrections, in especial concerning the details of sentence structure. The examination in English Composition consists of a critical composition of 350 words, and in addition, of one or two paragraphs in which the candidate is asked to give in a descriptive or narrative form the substance of important parts of the required reading.

Candidates must be familiar with the following books agreed on by the Associations of the Colleges and Schools of the New England States, the Middle States and Maryland, the North Central States, and the Southern States: Shakespeare's As You Like It, The Merchant of Venice, Julius Caesar, and Macbeth; Milton's L'Allegro, Il Penseroso, and Comus; the Sir Roger de Coverley Papers in the Spectator; Gray's Elegy in a Country Churchyard; Burke's Speech on Conciliation with America; Palgrave's Golden Treasury (first series), Book IV, with special attention to Wordsworth, Keats, and Shelley; Coleridge's Ancient Mariner; Scott's Ivanhoe; Thackeray's Henry Esmond; Hawthorne's House of the Seven Gables; Macaulay's Essay on Milton; Tennyson's Passing of Arthur; Arnold's Sohrab and Rustum; Browning's Catalani Tunes, The Lost Leader, How They Brought the Good News from Ghent to Aix, Home Thoughts from Abroad, Home Thoughts from the Sea, Incident of the French Camp, Heriot Riel, Phidippides, My Last Duchess, Up at a Villa—Down in the City; Stevenson's Inland Voyage and Travels with a Donkey.

In preparing for this examination special attention should be given to the structure of the whole composition, and the analysis of model essays, for example Arnold's Essay on Gray, is recommended. Robins and Perkins's Introduction to the Study of Rhetoric, Hill's Foundations of Rhetoric, Abbott's How to Write Clearly, and Bigelow's Handbook of Punctuation, will serve to indicate the preparation required for paragraph structure, sentence structure, and punctuation.

History.—The outlines of Ancient History. (Counting as one point.)

In Ancient History the period covered will extend from the rise of Egypt and Babylonia to the coronation of Charlemagne in 800 A.D. Most attention will be given to the history of Greece and Rome, less to the history of the oriental empires and to the time following the Germanic invasions. Knowledge of the geographical setting of events will be tested by questions referring to an outline map furnished in the examination. It will be assumed that more instruction has been given in narrative than in constitutional history. The latter can best be taught by showing the character of developed constitutions rather than by requiring a knowledge of all steps through which constitutions came into being. Questions will be asked about the social life of the ancient world as well as about the general development of its thought and art. Standard texts, such as Goodspeed-Ferguson's History of the Ancient World, Webster's Ancient History, Botsford's History of the Ancient World, and West's Ancient History (revised) should serve as a suitable basis for instruction. Supplementary reading on selected topics and the writing of papers relating to this reading are desirable exercises. Teachers will find useful such interpretations as Zimmern's Greek Commonwealth, Ferguson's Greek Imperialism, Dickinson's Greek View of Life, Fowler's Social Life at Rome in the Age of Cicero, Frank's Roman Imperialism, and Dill's Roman Society from Nero to Marcus Aurelius.

Physics.—For candidates offering the matriculation examination (New Requirements) Physics will count as two points, and for those offering the matriculation examination (Old Requirements) a different examination paper will be set and the subject will count as one point.

Physics should be studied in one or both of the last two years of preparation for college, the equivalent of at least one year being devoted to the subject with five periods weekly of at least forty minutes each for recitations and demonstrations. Two additional periods of laboratory work should be required and regarded as part of the outside preparation. A brief statement of the laboratory work of each candidate should be prepared by the teacher or tutor and submitted at the time of the examination. It should include an estimate of the quality as well as of the amount of work done by the candidate. A specimen examination paper, to be obtained from the Secretary and Registrar of the College, may be taken as fairly typical of the papers that will be set.

No particular text-books are prescribed, but among books that may be recommended are Millikan and Gale's A First Course in Physics and Laboratory Manual, Black and
VI. Two of the following languages:

Greek.—Grammar and Composition. Very simple prose composition with words and construction taken from Xenophon’s Anabasis, with questions to test the knowledge of regular forms and the rules of elementary syntax. (Counting as one point.) Translation at sight of simple passages in Attic prose, such as Xenophon’s Anabasis or Memorabilia, with questions on the parts of verbs and syntax involved. (Counting as one point.) Translation at sight of passages of average difficulty from Homer. (Counting as one point.) Due allowance is made for unusual words and there are questions testing the candidate’s practical knowledge of grammar and prosody.

White’s First Greek Book will serve to indicate the preparation required in prose composition.

French.—Grammar and Composition. (Counting as one point.) This examination is to test the candidate’s knowledge of ordinary grammatical forms and ability to write simple French. There will be a passage of English to be translated into French accompanied by questions on grammatical forms and constructions. Prose and Verse Translation. (Counting as two points.) This examination is a test of the candidate’s power to read at sight ordinary French prose and verse.

For the examination in reading no texts are assigned. The passages for translation given in the New Plan Examinations will be somewhat more difficult than those given under the old requirements. They will be accompanied by questions in grammar and syntax based on the text.

Teachers preparing students who wish to elect French in the college are advised to train their pupils to write French from dictation in order to enable them to understand lectures delivered in French.

German.—Grammar and Composition. (Counting as one point.) This examination is to test the candidate’s knowledge of ordinary grammatical forms and ability to write simple German. There will be a passage of English to be translated into German accompanied by questions on grammatical forms and constructions. Prose and Verse Translation. (Counting as two points.) This is a test of the candidate’s power to read at sight ordinary German prose and verse.

For the examination in reading no texts are assigned. The passages for translation given in the New Plan Examinations will be somewhat more difficult than those given under the old requirements. They will be accompanied by questions in grammar and syntax based on the text.

Candidates who intend to continue the study of German in the college should be prepared to understand lectures delivered in German.

New Requirements Examinations.

These examinations are optional until the winter of 1923. In and after the spring of 1923 they will be obligatory for all candidates taking the examination for matriculation. Candidates completing their examination for matriculation in 1923 are required to take the Preliminary Division and the First Division according to the New Requirements. Both in the Old Requirements and in the New Requirements all candidates must take Mathematics, Latin, English, Ancient History, and Physics. There is no change in these subjects or in the points they represent except that in the New Requirements Physics counts two points instead of one point as in the Old Requirements. Both in the Old Requirements and in the New Requirements all candidates must take an examination counting three points in Greek, or French, or German, known as the language three-point examination. This examination is based on a four years' course of preparation, not a three years' course as in the Old Requirements. The three-point examination in the fourth language which was obligatory in the Old Requirements is done away with in the New Requirements and two examinations, each counting one point, in English History or American History and in one of the four sciences (Physiology and Hygiene, Chemistry, Physical Geography, or Botany) are substituted for it.

Science. — The elements of one of the following sciences:—Physiology and Hygiene, or Chemistry, or Physical Geography, or Botany. (Counting as one point.) Stiles's Human Physiology and Nutritional Physiology or Hough and Sedgwick's Human Mechanism supplemented by demonstration and laboratory work; Remsen's Introduction to the Study of Chemistry (Briefer Course) or Alexander Smith's Text-book of Elementary Chemistry; Davis's Elementary Physical Geography, Gilbert and Brigham's Introduction to Physical Geography, Dryer's Lessons in Physical Geography, and Salisbury's Physiography, Atkinson's Elementary Botany or Barnes's Plant Life or Bergen and Davis's Principles of Botany used in connection with Spalding's Introduction to Botany or Caldwell's Plant Morphology serve to indicate the preparation required.

Two-Point Option in Language.

For the above examinations in History and Science, counting one point each, candidates may substitute an examination counting two points in a fourth language (in addition to Latin and English and the third language required of all candidates) and may choose for this examination any one of the five languages, Greek, French, Italian, Spanish, or German which has not been offered, or will not be offered, for the third examination in Language.*

* Only Greek or French or German may be offered for the three-point language examination. Italian or Spanish may not be offered.
Greek.—Candidates may offer two of the three points, Grammar and Composition, one point; Prose Authors, one point, and Poets, one point. The two examinations must be taken in the same examination period.

The examination will test the knowledge of Greek that can be acquired by a good pupil in four or five periods a week during two school years.

Attention is called to the fact that students who have offered a two-point option in Greek in the examination for matriculation will not be permitted to enter the minor course in Greek given in the college without a supplementary examination.

French.—Grammar and Composition and Prose and Verse Translation. (Counting as two points.) This examination is to test the candidate's knowledge of ordinary grammatical forms and ability to write simple French, and also the candidate's power to read at sight simple French prose and verse.

The examination will test the knowledge of French that can be acquired by a good pupil in four or five periods a week during two school years.

Attention is called to the fact that students who have offered a two-point option in French in the examination for matriculation will not be permitted to enter the minor course in French given in the college without passing a supplementary examination.

Italian.—Grammar and Composition and Translation at sight of simple passages in Italian prose and verse. (Counting as two points.)

The examination will test the knowledge of Italian that can be acquired by a good pupil in four or five periods a week during two school years.

Attention is called to the fact that students who have offered a two-point option in Italian in the examination for matriculation will not be admitted to the major course in Italian given in the college without passing a supplementary examination.

Italian Grammar—Grandgent (Heath and Co.); Italian Grammar—Phelps (Ginn and Co.); Italian Short Stories, ed. Wilkins and Alborechi (Heath and Co.); An Italian Reader, ed. A. Marinoni (W. R. Jenkins Co., N. Y.), are recommended as text-books.

Spanish.—Grammar and Composition and Translation at sight of simple passages in Spanish prose and verse. (Counting as two points.)

The examination will test the knowledge of Spanish that can be acquired by a good pupil in four or five periods a week during two school years.

Attention is called to the fact that students who have offered the two-point option in Spanish in the examination for matriculation will not be permitted to enter the major course in Spanish given in the college without passing a supplementary examination.

Coester's Spanish Grammar (First 21 lessons), (Ginn and Co.); Crawford's Spanish Composition (Holt and Co.); Marcia Dorado's Reader, España Pintoresco (Ginn and Co.), are recommended as text-books.

German.—Grammar and Composition and Prose and Verse Translation. (Counting as two points.) This examination is to test the candidate's knowledge of ordinary grammatical forms and ability to write simple German, and also the candidate's power to read at sight simple German prose and verse.

The examination will test the knowledge of German that can be acquired by a good pupil in four or five periods a week during two school years.

Attention is called to the fact that students who have offered a two-point option in German in the examination for matriculation will not be permitted to enter the minor course in German given in the college without passing a supplementary examination.
Residence for Undergraduate Students.

Residence in the college buildings is required of all undergraduate students except those who reside with their families in Philadelphia or in the neighbourhood. The expense of board and residence in the college halls for undergraduate students is four hundred dollars a year and upwards, according to the room or rooms occupied by the student; in about one-third of the college rooms the expense of board and residence is four hundred or four hundred and seventy-five dollars. Of this charge three hundred dollars is the charge for board, and is payable half-yearly in advance; the remainder is room-rent, and is payable yearly in advance. Every student has a separate bedroom. Room-rent includes all expense of furnishing, service, heating, and light.*

The health of the students is under the charge of a Health Committee consisting of the President, the Dean of the College, the Director of Athletics, and the Physicians of the College. See pages 149 to 151 of this Calendar.

Every student entering the college will be vaccinated unless she can furnish satisfactory proof that she has been successfully vaccinated not more than two years previously.

The conduct of the students in all matters not purely academic, or affecting the management of the halls of residence, or the student body as a whole, is in the hands of the Students Association for Self-Government, which was organized in 1892. All persons studying in Bryn Mawr College, whether graduates or undergraduates, are members of this association.

The College reserves the right to exclude at any time students whose conduct or academic standing it regards as undesirable, and in such cases the fees due or which may have been paid in advance to the college will not be refunded or remitted in whole or in part.

Plans and descriptions of the academic buildings and of the halls of residence, Merion Hall, Radnor Hall, Denbigh Hall, Pembroke Hall West, Pembroke Hall East, and Rockefeller Hall, with a full account of the halls and tariff of rooms, are published as Part 4 of the Bryn Mawr College Calendar and may be obtained by application to the Secretary and Registrar.

* Rugs and towels must be furnished by the students themselves.
of the College. Each of the halls of residence (except Pembroke, which has a common dining-hall and kitchen for the two wings) has its separate kitchen and dining-hall, provides accommodation for from sixty to seventy students, and is under the charge of a resident warden. Application for rooms should be made as early as possible. If there is any doubt about the date of entry it is suggested that application for two consecutive years may be made by deposit of a double fee, thus ensuring a better choice of rooms in the second year, if entrance in the year first planned proves impossible. The demand for rooms is very great and since reserving a room unnecessarily may prevent some other student from entering the college, every application for a room or suite of rooms, whether made by a student already in residence or by a candidate for admission to the college, must be accompanied by a deposit of fifteen dollars, otherwise the application will not be registered. The amount of this deposit will be deducted from the rent if the room or suite of rooms assigned be occupied by the applicant. The amount of this deposit will be refunded only in the following cases. In all other cases the deposit will be forfeited to the college.

a. If an applicant who is a student of the college gives formal notice to the Secretary and Registrar of the College before the first of May preceding the academic year for which the application is made that she wishes to withdraw her application.

b. If a candidate who has applied for admission to the college in October gives formal notice to the Secretary and Registrar of the College before the fifteenth of July preceding the academic year for which the application is made that she wishes to withdraw her application.

c. If a candidate who has applied for admission to the college in February gives formal notice to the Secretary and Registrar of the College before the first of December preceding the semester for which the application is made that she wishes to withdraw her application.

The above mentioned deposit of fifteen dollars must also be made by each student in residence in order to insure the tenure of her room for the following academic year.*

Every applicant giving up later than the first of September

---

* Every student except a member of the freshman class who moves from one hall to another is charged a fee of ten dollars for moving, and every student except a member of the freshman class who moves from one room to another in the same hall is charged a fee of five dollars. This fee entitles a student to have five pieces moved free of charge.
the room or suite of rooms assigned to her for the ensuing academic year is responsible for the rent thereof for the whole year;
exception will be made only in the case of applicants that take, and fail to pass, the autumn examinations for matriculation, but even in this case the deposit cannot be refunded. Every applicant for a room for the second semester will be responsible for the rent of the room or suite of rooms assigned to her for this semester, unless she gives formal notice of withdrawal to the Secretary and Registrar before the first of January. The charges for room-rent are not subject to remission or deduction under any circumstances, or in case of withdrawal after September first of any given year for any cause whatsoever, even though during the currency of a semester, term, or year paid for in advance the student shall be dismissed. The applicant is not entitled to dispose of the rooms thus left vacant-this right being reserved exclusively by the college.

In case of prolonged illness and absence from the college extending over six weeks or withdrawal from the college for a period of six weeks or more, there will be a special proportionate reduction in the charge for board, provided that written notice be given to the Dean of the College and to the Comptroller at the time of withdrawal, or, in case the student is ill at home, as soon as possible after her illness is known. Verbal notice to wardens or instructors is not sufficient to secure the above allowance.

Rooms are assigned to members of the entering class who have already received their Matriculation Certificate and their Certificate of Admission to the College during the summer preceding the academic year for which application is made.
Candidates who do not complete their examinations until the autumn and are admitted to the college will be assigned rooms then if any rooms are vacant. No particular room or set of rooms may be applied for. Candidates who are admitted are allowed to choose in turn from among all the rooms left vacant, the order of choice being determined by the date at which the application is registered. Cheques should be drawn payable to Bryn Mawr College.

Students are expected to provide their own rugs, curtains and towels, but in every other respect the rooms are completely furnished. Electric reading lamps, table napkins, sheets, etc., are provided by the college. No part whatever need be taken by the students in the care of their own rooms.
There are open fire-places in nearly all the studies and in many single rooms, but the rooms are sufficiently heated by steam; the air in each room is changed every ten minutes, and the temperature is regulated by a thermostat in each room. Electric reading lamps are provided in every room. The student's personal washing may be done by any laundry recommended by the college for one dollar a dozen, or about $15 a half-year for one dozen pieces a week. On account of the danger of infectious diseases students in residence are not permitted to send their washing to private laundresses.

Students who wish to remain at the college during the Christmas and Easter vacations should apply to the Secretary and Registrar for information in regard to rooms and rates. During the Christmas vacation the halls of residence are closed but accommodation is provided on or near the college campus. During the Easter vacation the halls of residence are in general kept open and undergraduate and graduate students may occupy their own rooms at a fixed rate.

Students remaining during any part of the Christmas or Easter vacations in Bryn Mawr, or the immediate neighborhood, not in their own homes, are required to take advantage of the arrangements made by the College and will be charged for the period of the vacation. Students not going to their own homes are required to inform the Secretary and Registrar in advance of their intention to spend the vacation elsewhere and to register their addresses in the college office.

For undergraduate students the fees are as follows:

- Tuition for the academic year, payable October 1st.......................... $200.00
- Room-rent for the academic year, payable October 1st.................. 100.00* or $175, $250, $275, $300, $325, $350, $400, $450, $525, depending on the room or rooms occupied.
- Infirmary fee for the academic year, payable October 1st.............. 10.00
- Board for the academic year, payable in equal installments, October 1st and February 1st................................................. 300.00
- Emergency fee.......................................................... 100.00

Total for tuition, residence, and infirmary fee for the academic year with minimum room-rent............................................. $710.00

Laboratory fees, for laboratory course of less than four hours a week for the academic year................................................ 10.00
For laboratory course of four or more hours a week for the academic year.................................................................................. 20.00
Graduation fee........................................................................ 20.00

The fees are due on the first day of each semester and students whose fees are not paid before November first in the first semester or before March first in the second semester are not permitted to continue in residence or in attendance on their classes.

The Students' Loan Fund of Bryn Mawr College was founded by the Class of 1890 for the purpose of receiving contributions, however small, from those who are interested in aiding students to obtain an education. The money thus contributed is distributed in the form of partial aid, and as a loan. It is as a rule applied to the assistance of those students only who have attended courses in the college for at least one year. The fund is managed by a committee consisting of the President of the College and representatives of the Alumni Association of Bryn Mawr College. The committee reports yearly to the Board of Trustees and to the Alumni Association. The committee consists of the following members: President M. Carey Thomas; Miss Martha G. Thomas, Secretary and Treasurer, Bryn Mawr College; Miss Doris Earle, Chestnut Hill, Philadelphia, Miss Mary
Christine Smith, 1105 Spruce Street, Philadelphia, Mrs. Allen Bensinger, 30 W. Ashmead Place South, Germantown, Philadelphia.

* In about one-sixth of the college rooms the rent is $100, making the cost of board, residence, and tuition for undergraduate students $710, but students desiring to apply for rooms at $100 must file a statement at the office of the Secretary and Registrar that they are unable to afford rooms at a higher price.

and Miss Elizabeth Yarnall Maguire, 3813 Spruce Street, Philadelphia. Contributions may be sent to any member of the committee. Applications for loans should be sent to the Treasurer of the committee, and all applications for loans for any given year should be made before May 1st of the preceding academic year.

Scholarships.—Four competitive entrance scholarships, of the value of $100 each, are awarded annually to candidates receiving their final certificates in the spring matriculation examinations of Bryn Mawr College. One is open to candidates from each of the following districts:—(a) The New England States; (b) New York, New Jersey, and Delaware; (c) Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, and Wisconsin, and the States west of the Mississippi River; (d) Pennsylvania and all places not included in (a), (b), and (c): The district to which a candidate is considered to belong is determined by the school at which she receives her final preparation, or in case of preparation by private study by the place of residence during the year preceding the final examination; but candidates may present themselves for examination at any place where such examination is held. These scholarships, which are to be held for one year only, are awarded in each of the above named districts on the basis of the sum total of marks obtained by the candidate, but no one is eligible for a scholarship who has received more than two conditions in the twenty sections of the examination. When the examination has been divided no account is taken of those conditions incurred in the first division which have been passed off in the final examination. The competition is limited to those who intend to spend at least one year at Bryn Mawr College, who have not studied at any other college, and have not cancelled any division of the Bryn Mawr College matriculation examinations. All those who present themselves are ipso facto candidates for these scholarships, no formal declaration of candidacy being required.

Eight scholarships for non-resident students of $200 each, entitling the holder to free tuition, renewable for four consecutive years, were founded by the College in 1893, and were presented to the public schools of Philadelphia through Dr. Brooks, the Superintendent of the Public Schools of Philadelphia, on the following terms: 1. The candidate shall have complied with the requirements for admission to Bryn Mawr College, and shall have received all her preparation for the entrance examination of Bryn Mawr College in the High School for Girls, Philadelphia; 2. She shall have been recommended by the Board of Education of Philadelphia, and their recommendation shall have been approved by the Directors of Bryn Mawr College; 3. The Scholarship shall be renewed annually by the Directors, until the holder has completed her fourth year at college, provided her conduct and academic work have been satisfactory to the authorities of the college.

The L. C. B. Saul Memorial Scholarship. In 1893 the Alumni Association of the Girls' High and Normal School of Philadelphia founded at Bryn Mawr College a scholarship entitling the holder to free tuition, renewable for four years. This scholarship is awarded every four years to the graduate of the Girls' High School who passes the matriculation examination of Bryn Mawr College for that year with the highest credit. In 1904 the scholarship was renamed the L. C. B. Saul Memorial Scholarship.

One scholarship of $200 entitling the holder to one year's free tuition, was founded by the College in 1895, and was presented to the School Board of Education of Lower Merion Township, Montgomery County, Pa., for the benefit of graduates of the High School of Lower Merion Township, Ardmore, Pa., on the following terms: 1. The candidate shall have complied with the requirements for admission to Bryn Mawr College, and shall have received all her preparation for the entrance examinations in the Lower Merion High School; 2. She shall have been recommended by the School Board of Education of Lower Merion Township, and their recommendation shall have been approved by the Directors of Bryn Mawr College; 3. If in any year there shall be, in the judgement of the School Board of Education of Lower Merion Township, no satisfactory candidate in the graduating class, the scholarship may be renewed during the following year for the benefit of a former holder, provided her conduct and academic work have been satisfactory to the authorities of the college.

One scholarship of $200 entitling the holder to one year's free tuition was founded by the Directors in 1909 and was presented to the School Board of Education of Norristown, Pa., for the benefit of graduates of Norristown High School, on the following terms: 1. That the candidate shall have received all her preparation for Bryn Mawr College in the Norristown High School; 2. That she shall have successfully passed the entrance examinations of Bryn Mawr College not later than the June preceding the autumn in which she wishes to enter the college; 3. That this scholarship shall not be awarded twice to the same person unless the Superintendent of Schools shall file in the office of the President of the College a statement to the effect that no other member of the graduating class is able to compete for the scholarship; 4. That the candidate shall have been nominated to the Board of Directors of Bryn Mawr College by the Superintendent of Schools or by the Board of Education and that such nomination shall have been duly approved by the Board of Directors of Bryn Mawr College.

One competitive scholarship of the value of $200, renewable till graduation, is open annually for competition to members of the Society of Friends who are unable to pay the full charge for tuition and residence. This scholarship is awarded, as far as possible, under the same rules as those governing the award of the competitive entrance scholarships of Bryn Mawr College. Two additional scholarships of the value of $200 each are open for competition to graduate students who are members of the Society of Friends and need financial assistance. Three scholarships, of $400 each, for one year, are open to those graduates of Earlham, Penn, and Guilford Colleges respectively, who in the preceding year have completed the course of their several colleges with most distinction. These scholarships have been established by the desire of the Founder of the College to promote the advanced education of women in the Society of Friends, of which he was a member.

Scholarships of the value of $500 each were founded in 1885 by the Board of Managers of the Bryn Mawr School, of Baltimore, Maryland. One of these scholarships is open annually to the graduate of the Bryn Mawr School who has completed the school course with most distinction.

The James E. Rhoads Memorial Scholarships, two in number, each of the value of $250 for one year, were founded in 1897 by the Alumnae Association of Bryn Mawr College, in memory of the first President of the College, Dr. James E. Rhoads. The first of these scholarships is the James E. Rhoads Sophomore Scholarship, and is open to those students only who have completed college work amounting to not less than twenty and not more than forty-five hours (three semesters' work) for a year, and have been in attendance upon lectures at Bryn Mawr College not less than one semester. The second of these scholarships is the James E. Rhoads Junior Scholarship, and is open to those students only who have completed college work amounting to not less than forty and not more than seventy-five hours (five semesters' work) for a year, and have been in attendance upon lectures at Bryn Mawr College not less than three semesters. To be eligible for either of these two scholarships a student shall have attained a high degree of excellence in her work, shall express her intention of fulfilling the requirements for the degree of A.B. at Bryn Mawr College, and shall prove her need of financial aid to the satisfaction of the nominating committee. In case either scholarship is awarded to a non-resident student, its value shall not exceed $150. The nominating committee consists of the President of Bryn Mawr College, two members of the Faculty of the College, appointed annually by the Council, the President of the Alumnae Association of Bryn Mawr College and three other members of the Alumnae Association appointed by the executive committee of the Alumnae Association. Application for the scholarships should be addressed to the Recording Dean and Assistant to the President, Bryn Mawr College, to be forwarded to the Chairman of the Committee.

The Mary E. Stevens Scholarship of the value of $100 founded in 1896 by former pupils of Miss Mary E. Stevens's School is awarded to a member of the Sophomore class who needs financial assistance, to be held at Bryn Mawr College, during the junior year. It is open to those students only who have registered for college work amounting to not less than forty and not more than sixty-five hours for a semester and have been in attendance upon lectures at Bryn Mawr College not less than three semesters. Applications for this scholarship should be addressed to the President of Bryn Mawr College.

Two Maria Hopper Scholarships of the value of $200 each were founded in 1901 by the bequest of the late Maria Hopper of Philadelphia. They are awarded, on the ground of excellence in scholarship, to two members of the freshman class who need financial assistance, to be held at Bryn Mawr College during the sophomore year. They are open to those students only who have registered for college work amounting to not less than twenty and not more than forty-five hours for a semester and have been in attendance upon lectures at Bryn Mawr College not less than one semester. Applications for these scholarships should be addressed to the President of Bryn Mawr College.

The Maria L. Eastman Brooke Hall Memorial Scholarship of the value of $100 was founded in 1901, in memory of Maria L. Eastman, Principal of Brooke Hall School for Girls, Media, Pa., by the Alumnae and former pupils of the school. It is awarded each year on the ground of scholarship, irrespective of the need of financial aid, to a member of the junior class to be held during the senior year. No application for the scholarship is necessary.

The Anna M. Powers Memorial Scholarship of the value of $200 was founded in 1902 by Mrs. J. Campbell Harris in memory of her mother, Anna M. Powers. The scholarship is open to members of the junior class who need financial aid in order to complete the work for the degree and is to be held in the senior year. The holder is nominated by the donor subject to the approval of the President and Faculty of the College.

The Charles E. Ellis Scholarships of the value of $200 each were founded in 1909 by the bequest of the late Charles E. Ellis and are awarded on the recommendation of the Superintendent of the Public Schools of the City of Philadelphia to students educated in the public schools of Philadelphia who have passed the entrance examinations of Bryn Mawr College and whose nomination has been approved by the Board of Directors of the Trustees of Bryn Mawr College.

A special Thomas H. Powers Memorial Scholarship of the value of $200 was given in 1910 by Mrs. J. Campbell Harris in memory of her father, Thomas H. Powers. The holder is nominated by the donor subject to the approval of the President and Faculty of the College.

The Anna Hallowell Memorial Scholarship of the value of $100 was founded in 1912 by the family of the late Anna Hallowell. It is awarded to a member of the sophomore class in need of financial assistance to enable her to continue her studies during her junior year, and is to be given by the faculty to the student satisfying the above requirement who has the highest academic record provided that this student does not hold any other scholarship.
This provision may, however, be disregarded in case of great financial need.

The Frances Marion Simpson Scholarships, four in number, each of the value of $200, were founded in 1912 by Mr. Alexander Simpson, Jr., in memory of Frances Simpson Pfahler, of the class of 1906; one scholarship to be awarded in each October, to a candidate who receives her final certificate in the preceding spring matriculation examination.
Competition for these scholarships is open in the first place to residents of Philadelphia and Montgomery counties who have been prepared for Bryn Mawr College in the public schools of the said counties, or at home by their parents and guardians, or in the model school of the Department of Education of Bryn Mawr College, or in Miss S. Janet Say-ward's School at Overbrook, Pennsylvania, so long as she shall be conducting the same; or in default thereof to residents of other counties in Pennsylvania; and only those students who are unable or whose parents are unable to afford to pay the fees for tuition or if living at a distance, the fees for tuition and board, in Bryn Mawr College are entitled to compete. In special cases the scholarship may be awarded to a candidate from some other locality, in which case the restriction to preparation in public schools may also be relaxed, or it may be awarded to some one who can pay part of the charge for her tuition, or for her tuition and board, but not the whole thereof.

The scholarships are renewable for four successive years, and are meant for those students only who take the full college course. Students holding the scholarships who become able to pay the tuition fees of Bryn Mawr College in whole or in part are required to do so, and all holders of the scholarships are required to promise to repay for the benefit of other students in need of the scholarship, the advances made to them, when they can do so without oppressing themselves or neglecting their duties to others.

The Mary Anna Longstreth Memorial Scholarship of the value of $300 was founded in 1913 by the Alumnae of the Mary Anna Longstreth School, the children of Alumnae, and a few of her friends in grateful memory of Mary Anna Longstreth. The scholarship, which provides free tuition for one student, is to be awarded each year to a student who needs financial aid to begin or continue her college course.
The Elizabeth Duane Gillespie Scholarship in American History of the value of $60 was founded in 1903 by the Pennsylvania Society of Colonial Dames of America, in memory of Elizabeth Duane Gillespie. It is awarded annually to a member of the sophomore or junior class, on condition that the holder of the scholarship devote to the study of American history at least four hours a week for one year during the last two years of her college course. The candidate is to be selected by the Faculty of Bryn Mawr College on the ground of excellence in scholarship.

The Woman's Medical College of Pennsylvania presented to Bryn Mawr College in 1910 a scholarship to be awarded to a graduate of the college recommended by the President and Faculty as in their opinion qualified to take up the study of medicine. The holder is given free tuition for one year at the Woman's Medical College of Pennsylvania and the scholarship will be renewed for the three remaining years of the medical course if the holder's record prove satisfactory.

The Chicago Bryn Mawr Club has presented annually since 1914 the sum of $100 to be used as a scholarship for a student in financial need. This scholarship may be awarded, if necessity arise, for use during the second semester to enable the holder to remain in college.

The Pittsburgh Bryn Mawr Club founded in 1917 a competitive entrance scholarship of the value of $200. The applicant for this scholarship must have received her last two years of preparation for college in Allegheny County, Pennsylvania, and the scholarship will be awarded to the candidate satisfying this requirement who has received the highest average grade in the examinations for matriculation. Application for this scholarship must be addressed to the Bryn Mawr Club of Pittsburgh before June 1st of the year in which the applicant desires to enter the college.

The Charles S. Hinchman Memorial Scholarship of the value of $500 was founded in 1917 in memory of the late Charles S. Hinchman of Philadelphia by his family. The holder will be nominated to the Faculty by the Undergraduate Scholarships Committee of the Faculty which will be guided in its selection by (1) the student's record in her group subjects, (2) written recommendations from the instructors in these subjects, (3) evidence of the student's ability as shown by written work in her group subject together with a written estimate of the same by the instructor most directly concerned, such work to be submitted not later than March 15th of the year preceding the one in which the scholarship is to be awarded.

The Elizabeth S. Shippen Scholarships were founded in 1917 by the bequest of the late Elizabeth S. Shippen of Philadelphia. Three scholarships will be awarded each year, one to a member of the senior class and two to members of the junior class, as follows:

The Shippen Foreign Scholarship of the value of $200 will be awarded each year to the member of the senior class who is elected to the Bryn Mawr European Fellowship. The Shippen Scholarship in Science of the value of $100 will be awarded annually to the member of the junior class, one or both of whose major subjects lie in one of the Scientific Departments, viz., Physics, Chemistry, Geology, Biology, who among those of her class so majoring shall have attained the highest average grade in courses taken in one of these departments.

The Shippen Scholarship in Foreign Languages of the value of $100 will be awarded annually to the member of the junior class, one or both of whose major subjects lie in one of the Departments of Foreign Languages, viz., Greek, Latin, German, French, Italian, Spanish, who among those of her class so majoring shall have attained the highest average grade in courses taken in one of these departments.

The computation of the average grades will be based on the grades received during the Freshman, Sophomore, and the first semester of the Junior years. Grades on elementary courses shall not be included. No student shall be considered eligible for the Science or Foreign Language Scholarship who has not completed at least fifteen hours of work in the subject on which the computation is based. The winner of the Charles S. Hinchman Memorial Scholarship will not be eligible for the Shippen Scholarship in Science or in Foreign Language.

Foundation of Scholarships.—The sum of five thousand dollars given or left by will to the Directors of Bryn Mawr College, will found a perpetual scholarship giving free tuition to one student every year. The scholarship may be given in memory of and named after any person designated by the donor.

The Carola Woerishoffer Graduate Department of Social Economy and Social Research was opened in the autumn of 1915 in order to afford women an opportunity to obtain an advanced scientific training in Social Economy which it is hoped will compare favorably with the best preparation in any profession. It is known as the Carola Woerishoffer Graduate Department in order that the name of Carola Woerishoffer, who devoted her life to social service, may be associated in a fitting and lasting way with Bryn Mawr College which she so generously endowed.

The experience of the war has developed new and pressing social needs and, in consequence, has made necessary new social programmes with new and enlarged courses of education.

These social programmes fall into six groups: (1) responsibility for the families and children of civilians and soldiers; (2) responsibility for health and sanitation; (3) responsibility for morals through education and guardianship; (4) responsibility for the organization and use of community forces; (5) responsibility for the human relations in industry and for conditions of employment and non-employment; (6) responsibility for expert knowledge of social and industrial conditions.

The demands made upon social workers during these years of war have shown that social diagnosis and social therapy, adjustment of social and of industrial relations, and social training of adult and child groups require knowledge, power of analysis, and technical skill differing very little in quality or quantity from the requirements in medicine, law, ministry, or education. The principles of education for social work as a profession follow closely the well recognized method of education for the so-called older professions. The trend of today is toward postgraduate professional schools connected with colleges and universities, but it is at the same time clearly recognized that certain fundamental subjects should be studied.
in undergraduate courses so that the student may be prepared in the essential sciences. As to methods, theory and practice are deemed essential parts of one whole. Laboratory discussion and lecture must go hand in hand. Practice in the medical school, law school, theological school, and school of education, consists in the first years of demonstration and observation; later on, of practical work under immediate direction; and, finally, of real experience, but still under close supervision.

In the Carola Woershoffer Graduate Department the principles upon which the programmes are based are those which have been developed in the older professional schools:

1. The training is distinctly postgraduate.

2. Instruction in the fundamental principles underlying the social and industrial structure is regarded as prerequisite to the graduate courses or must accompany them; for example, elementary economic and social theory, politics, psychology, statistics, social and industrial problems.

3. Courses embodying the theory of social and industrial relations and the technique of social case work, of community organization and leadership and of industrial supervision and employment management accompany the field practice, and the field practice accompanies the courses embodying theory and technique.

4. Theory and technique are presented in such a way as to provide a foundation of experience and of method which may be scientifically adapted to problems and situations as they arise and not applied by rule of thumb.

5. All observation, field practice, or non-resident experience is carefully and closely supervised by an Instructor well grounded in theory, familiar with and experienced in technique, who actually conducts for the benefit of the students the courses embodying the theory of such work.

The different fields of work may be subdivided into four main groups: I, Social Relief and Social Guardianship with its subdivisions: I-a—Family Care and Child Welfare, I-b—Hospital and Psychiatric Social Service, and I-c—Social Guardianship and Custody; II, Community Work; III, Industrial Supervision and Employment Management; IV, Social and Industrial Research.
The programmes on pages 25-31 are presented in order to afford the student a panoramic view of the work which is open to her (see the successive programmes), the agencies which carry on work in each field (see the last column of each programme), and the types of positions open in the various agencies (see next to the last column of each programme).

It will be noted that the same types of positions and problems are found in several fields of work. In the first column of each programme are placed, therefore those subjects which provide the foundation for all types of positions. These subjects are selected from the group courses given in economics, politics, psychology, philosophy, biology, or history in Bryn Mawr College. In the second and third columns are given only those subjects which bear directly on the special field of work under consideration. The elementary and advanced undergraduate courses are cultural and not professional, but are recommended as courses of the greatest value for the student who wishes to direct some part of her college studies toward this specialized field. The courses given under "graduate courses" are essential to the fullest preparation for the field of work indicated.

While one year may afford sufficient training for entering upon professional work, the student is urged to study for at least two years unless she has had previous training or experience. Students properly fitted and expecting to give three years to the course may, if they so desire, complete the residence work for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in Social Economy. In the first year the student will probably pursue a course in the theory and technique applied to her chosen field, as for example: Social Treatment of Dependents and Delinquents, or Community Organization, or Industrial Supervision and Employment Management. She will also give 9 or 14 hours, according to preference, to the seminary in Social Economy including the practice or field work in an institution or with a social agency or in a business firm chosen in relation to her selected field; she will take the seminary in theory most closely related to her special interests; unless already qualified she will take the course in statistics, and she may elect a third seminary or course and in addition all students attend the Journal Club. Each seminary requires about 14 hours, and each course about 5 hours of work each week, including hours of lecture, discussion, and conference. Full graduate work involves about 43 hours of work per week. Practice work in each field consists of three types: (1) observation, through excursions to social institutions, agencies, business firms, or manufacturing plants; (2) field work consisting of 7 or 12 hours (as may be elected by the student), 1 hour of individual conference each week, and 2 hours of seminary discussion in alternate weeks; (3) non-resident experience with social institutions, agencies, or business firms obtained during the summer following the eight months' of work in Bryn Mawr College.

The wide range of choice in fields of work and in agencies, necessitates careful thought on the part of the student as to her natural fitness for any particular work, and the amount of time she can give to training herself for it. The student may write for advice and suggestion, or may wait until after arrival at Bryn Mawr for conference with the Director and Instructors before selecting the field in which she may work. The descriptions of the various programmes, together with the charts which follow, are presented in an endeavor to assist the student to wise specialization although the fields will necessarily supplement one another and overlap as, for example, between industrial supervision and community work and industrial research, and seminaries may be so chosen as to combine work in two or more fields. The purpose of the outline is to suggest the content of an adequate preparation for the types of work considered and the range of opportunities in each field as they now exist. While many of the graduate courses are professional, the undergraduate courses are general in character but give at the same time fundamental training for social service. The courses scheduled in the charts are not in every case described in this pamphlet but may be found in the Bryn Mawr College Graduate Calendar, from which the description of courses given below (pages 32-45) are reprinted.

I. Social Relief and Social Guardianship.

The student who is deciding whether to enter the fields of Social Relief and Family Care, Hospital and Psychiatric Social Service, Child Welfare, or Social Guardianship and Custody may find helpful the following brief statement of the agencies and the institutions she might work with in each of these fields and the positions she might hold.

In the field of Social Relief and Family Care and in the field of Hospital Social Service the agencies are, in general, the following: Societies for Organizing Charity, Public Boards of Charity, Red Cross Home Service, Mother's Assistance Fund or Widow's Pension Fund Associations, Social Service Departments of the Hospitals. The positions are: Chief Executives, District Secretaries and Supervisors, Commissioners of Charity, Investigators, family case workers, and the like.

In the field of Child Welfare, the agencies and institutions are: Children’s Bureaus, Societies for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, Child Placing Agencies, Orphanages, Schools for the Crippled, etc. The positions are: Executives, Investigators, Placing Out Agents, State Inspectors of the homes in which children are placed.

In the field of Social Guardianship and Custody, the agencies and institutions are: Courts, Prisons, Reformatories, Industrial Schools, Truant Farms, Detention Houses, Big Brothers and Big Sisters Associations to help discharged prisoners. The positions are: Probation or Parole Officers, Supervisors of Probation Officers, Commissioners of Correction, Psychologists in the prison or court laboratory, Executives, Teachers in reformatories and prisons.

The practice work of each student is obtained with the Charity Organization Society, the Children’s Bureau, the Children’s Aid, Red Cross Home Service, Hospital Social Service Departments, the Municipal Court or one of the other agencies named above, according to the field chosen.

In addition every student takes observation trips to orphanages, almshouses, schools for the crippled, the blind, the deaf and dumb, custodials for the feeble-minded, asylums for the insane, colonies for the epileptic, eleemosynary hospitals, courts, prisons, reformatories, detention houses and the like.

I-a. FAMILY CARE AND CHILD WELFARE

In the fields of Social Relief and Family Care, Hospital Social Service and Child Welfare the student attends for practice, in order that the best principles and methods may be discovered and made use of, the conferences of the agencies with which she is working, such as the district conferences of the Society for Organizing Charity, of the Red Cross Home Service, of the Children's Bureau and of the Children's Aid Society, etc., where the problems of particular families and particular children are discussed in their economic, occupational, social, educational, health, and recreational aspects; and conferences on parenthood where, in particular, the problems of unmarried mothers are considered.

The student field worker has access to the case records of these agencies; and as a preliminary to her more independent activities later accompanies case workers in their visits and investigations and "follow-up" work. Her actual training in case work may begin perhaps with her assignment to case work tasks where she has opportunity to apply the theory she has been studying. In doing this she is under the careful direction of the district supervisor of the agency or department who guides and criticizes her methods of investigation, her diagnoses, plans, and reports. She is also supervised in this technical work by an Instructor in the Social Economy Department who discusses with her one hour each week the theory and practice of case work as illustrated in the actual cases with which she is dealing.

I-b. HOSPITAL AND PSYCHIATRIC SOCIAL SERVICE

The opportunities for training are similar to those in the fields of Social Relief and Family Care and Child Welfare in that the student attends the conferences of the Department of Social Service of the hospital with which she is working, where the problems of the health of patients are considered in their various aspects, medical, physical, recreational, occupational, social, and educational.

The student has access to the records of the Department of Social Service and for purposes of observation accompanies experienced case workers in their visits to the homes of patients, investigations and "follow-up" work. She also accompanies these workers through the variously classified wards of the hospital, acquiring thus and through discussion and assigned readings a working knowledge of various diseased conditions.

Her actual training in case work begins with the assignment of tasks to her where she may apply the principles of investigation and treatment which she has been studying. The Supervisor of the hospital department criticizes her diagnoses, plans of treatment and reports, and the Instructor in the Social Economy Department discusses with her in a weekly conference of one hour the principles and practice of hospital social case work as met in the concrete cases with which she is dealing.

The courses on Abnormal Psychology and Mental Tests given in the Department of Psychology, and on Intelligence Tests given in the Department of Education, afford the student interested in the psychiatric phases of hospital social service unusual opportunity to acquire the theory essential for practice training in psychiatric clinics, field investigations, and "follow-up" work.

I-c. Social Guardianship and Custody

In order to give students specializing in criminology many and varied opportunities for practice training in court work, an official connection has been established during the past year between the Carola Woerishoffer Graduate Department of Social Economy and Social Research and the Municipal Court of Philadelphia under the direction of Presiding Judge Charles N. Brown and Chief Probation Officer, Dr. Louis N. Robinson. By this arrangement the Instructor in charge of the courses in the Carola Woerishoffer Graduate Department dealing with adult and juvenile delinquency has become an official of the court, and is thus enabled to secure close contact with the problems and procedure of the court and to maintain careful supervision of the practice work of the student, and the student has also the additional advantage of the interest and direction of the Chief Probation Officer of the court.

Under the court are several criminal divisions, such as the Juvenile, Youths (male and female), and Misdemeanants, the Domestic Relations Division, and the Criminal Division which has to do with unmarried mothers. In connection with these divisions are Probation, Psychological, Medical, Employment, and Statistical Departments. In order to secure the most efficient service, the officials of the court maintain among themselves conferences conducted by expert case workers, psychiatrists, and doctors, and also hold conferences with representatives of various social agencies of Philadelphia.

Presence at the court hearings and at these conferences, access to the records of cases, and attendance upon probation officers and investigators in their routine visits afford the student opportunities of observing the social and the legal procedure followed in dealing with delinquents, such as placing them under orders to support their dependents, placing them on probation, sending them to reformatories, or committing them to institutions for the feeble-minded, the epileptic, or the insane delinquent.

Students also may be given practice in probation work, social investigation, and vocational guidance. With a proper foundation of knowledge and experience they may be trained in mental testing of the delinquent, in conducting educational conferences, and the like. The opportunities to study criminology are also extensive. The medical department enables the students who are interested, to study the effects of venereal disease, physical defects, and stigmata; the psychological department enables students interested to observe the mentally abnormal, subnormal or normal; while the social data recorded are available for students interested in the effects upon behavior of home and neighborhood conditions, schooling, recreation, religion, occupation, and the like.

Every student entering any one of the fields outlined above under I-a, I-b, or I-c, should take in the Social Economy Department the courses in Social Treatment of Dependents, and Social Treatment of Delinquents and Defectives, and the Seminary in Social Economy applied to Social Relief and Social Guardianship, which affords the field practice work. It is also advisable for her to take the seminars in The Family as a Social Institution and in Races and Peoples. For combinations to be made in other divisions of the Social Economy Department and other graduate departments programmes
II, III, and IV should be studied, and for content of courses the descriptions on pages 33 to 45 should be consulted.

The student in deciding which of the above fields of social work she will enter might also ask for a descriptive differentiation of one field from another. But in any such attempt at differentiation there is grave danger of distorting the truth by making it appear that the conditions of one field of activity are isolated from those of another. Thus one may choose work in the field of Social Relief and Family Care, or in the field of Social Guardianship and Custody, or that of Child Welfare. But, as a matter of fact, dependency and delinquency have so many causative factors in common; and exercise such an aggravating interaction upon each other; and the conditions making for the prevention or the cure of the one so resemble and so depend on the conditions for the prevention or the cure of the other, that the purposes, standards, methods, and theoretical and technical training requisite in each field are similar in ideal if not in reality. For example, the Society for Organizing Charity has developed the technique of the so-called family case work from the principle that the interests of individuals and of society are best furthered by taking the family group into account. But the courts are also recognizing this principle and the conception determining their reorganization, their keeping of records, and their treatment of individuals is that of a Family Court and family case work.

By way of exemplifying the inseparableness of the preparations for these four fields one has but to refer to feeble-mindedness as a factor making for both dependency and delinquency. A knowledge of the causes and control of mental defectives is essential in each of the three fields therefore and, further, a knowledge of systems of mental tests, if understood in the light of educational psychology and social and physical findings would be very illuminating. But to understand subnormal mentality it is necessary to understand normal. The problems of child welfare which the child placing agencies, the Societies for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children and other children's societies encounter are those of adolescent psychology, normal and subnormal, and of adult psychology as well, if there is any dividing line. Every problem of Social Relief, Child Welfare,
Hospital Social Service, or Social Guardianship is again not only a problem of the individual understanding which involves a study of the psychology of the feelings, emotions and will; but is a problem of an individual in a group, understanding of which involves a knowledge of social psychology; and all are problems of education, understanding of which involves a knowledge of educational psychology.

Again, each problem has its legal aspects. There is a legal authority, coercion, type of evidence admissible, fact, range of disposition of the case, and procedure whether it is a problem of dependency, child welfare, delinquency, or defectiveness, so that the successful social practitioner needs at least a knowledge of when and how to inform herself on such legal matters.

Again, in every family problem, the questions of health, sanitation, proper housing are apt to appear, and knowledge of physical upkeep and preventive medicine is equally essential whether the case originates through a Social Service Department of a hospital or through the court.

And finally as the disposition of any and every case has an influence for good or evil on our moral and social customs and ideals, and on our institutions, courses in social philosophy, ethics, and social theory in which customs, mores, and institutions are studied in process of evolution would seem highly desirable if we are to profit by the experience of the race.

There should be little differentiation as far as general preparation is concerned but one cannot study every subject. Programmes I, II, and III and IV are given as guides for selection, although what has been said above should be constantly borne in mind.

II. Community Work.

The need for community work carried on by trained workers has never before been so urgent. Community problems during the war have assumed a more insistent character. Questions of public health, Americanization, and readjustment in industry, recreation, vocational education, and training for citizenship have taken on new meanings, and are making demands for workers of an almost incalculable urgency. Also the movement for the construction of community houses as memorials on behalf of the men of the community who have made large sacrifices in the world war, is resulting in a call for community secretaries, group leaders and specifically trained teachers of vital subjects which must be taught, if at all, outside of school hours and school periods, more urgent than any similar call for social workers in recent times, a call only comparable to the demand which went out for Red Cross home service workers during the period of the war.

Unless trained workers are provided in sufficient numbers to aid communities to become living expressions of the ideals for which the world has offered up its youth, this great social movement will come to naught, and these community "monuments will become mausolea."

For four years the Carola Woerishoffer Graduate Department has offered courses in this type of social work as part of its training, but it now proposes to expand these courses and presents a new plan which it believes will afford adequate preparation in the theory and technique of community work in its various phases, and will provide the necessary practice in community activities in close connection with the theoretical training. This plan is the outgrowth of the experiments which the Department has been making during these past years through its courses in theory and their application in connection with the Bryn Mawr Community Center, Philadelphia College Settlement, and other Philadelphia community movements.

The recent development of the Bryn Mawr Community Center affords an unusual and unique opportunity for training in Community Work. A Community House will probably be erected by the citizens of Bryn Mawr as a memorial to the men of Bryn Mawr who have devoted their lives and their energies to the defense of freedom. It will house the activities of the Bryn Mawr Community Center and from it will also be directed the work of the Preston Center at Haverford. There are now under the center well-developed activities of almost every type.

The different classes of community workers needing special training include: (1) workers preparing for general community administration such as secretaries of community associations or directors of community centers, or head workers in settlements;
(2) workers preparing to specialize in some phase or branch of community work such as playgrounds, boys' clubs, girls' clubs, children's work, general advertising and publicity, teaching of vocational subjects, instruction in dramatics and athletics; (3) social workers who have specialized in other phases of the profession, but who have come to realize the need for closer cooperation with modern forms of community activities, as, for example, college women who have studied nursing, parish visitors, teachers, librarians, directors of specialized institutions and employment managers.

The organization of a community or social center or settlement seems to require: (1) an executive secretary, director, leader or supervisor with assistants the number and character of which are to be determined by the size of the community and the quality and extent of the work to be supervised; (2) one or more adult workers whose chief function is the organization of groups of adults who may secure for themselves through such organization, instruction, recreation, and entertainment; (3) one or more girls' workers whose duties are the organization and leadership of groups of girls of different ages in clubs such as are included in the Federation of Working Girls' Clubs, Girl Scout Troops, Camp-fire Girls' groups, and through which girls may learn group organization and activities such as athletic teams, basket-ball, hockey; debating teams, and may attain group consciousness and secure opportunities for recreation, and education in vocational art and dramatics; (4) one or more boys' workers whose duties are the organization and leadership of boys' clubs and boys' activities such as Boy Scout Troops, athletic teams, baseball, basketball, debating teams and such other groups through which boys can be given a knowledge of group organization and the spirit of group consciousness and provided with the opportunity for education, recreation, and exercise; (5) one or more children's workers whose duties shall be the supervision of playground activities, occupation clubs, classes, handicrafts and other activities for children.

All of these workers and activities cannot be secured in the early development of any community association. It is, therefore, necessary for community workers to be trained to direct several community activities and to be expert in at least one special activity. A large amount of volunteer service should be utilized and the director must be able to supervise the work of the volunteers. The movement of sharing trained community workers is already fairly well advanced. Neighboring communities often unite in the employment of specialized workers who give different days to different communities, or settlements, as, for example, a girls' worker or a boys' worker may be employed for afternoon and evening work to give two or three days a week to different neighborhood communities. On the other hand, in some communities, better service has been obtained by employing an assistant for certain types of work, such as children's work or girls' or boys' work, in each of several communities so as to provide these activities every day of the week, and engaging one or more expert supervisors by joint community cooperation to supervise the work in the several community centres. It is evident that the student preparing for community work should have a thorough training in the theory of community work, a knowledge of the technical requirements of the various branches of community work and special technical training in one or more phases of community activities. With such preparation the worker will be fitted to begin work as assistant, general worker or assistant specialized worker, and to be promoted to the position of general director of a community association or director of some phase of community activity or supervisor of some form of specialized activity.

Among preliminary courses which are especially valuable for preparation in Community Work are educational psychology and the psychology of adolescence, personal and public hygiene, labour problems, social legislation, public speaking, and in addition, the more specialized courses which are offered in some colleges, of social betterment (frequently entitled charities and corrections) and of statistics.

The following outline groups the graduate professional courses so as to indicate the general course of study which the student should follow for a one-year, two-year, or three-year course. The field practice work is arranged for at the community centre of Bryn Mawr or at the Philadelphia College Settlement, or may be planned with other community organizations in Philadelphia or neighboring communities; observation trips also are taken in Philadelphia and New York. Summer practice work is arranged in the best settlements and under the best community organizations in various parts of the country according to the specialized interest of the student.

The courses recommended for the first year include (1) Seminary in Social Economy (Practicum in Community Organization or Service); (2) Course in Community Organization; (3) Course in Community Art; (4) Course in Statistics; (5) Seminary in Social Education (Principles of Education applied to Community Work) and Seminary in Social Psychology, one being given the first semester and one the second; (6) an elective seminary may be chosen in place of the above courses or seminars with the consent of the Director of the Department from the seminaries and courses offered by this and allied departments. The student is referred to programme number V for an outline of the seminaries and courses recommended.

During the second year the student is recommended to (1) the Seminary in Social Economy, that is, the Practicum in Community Organization and Service; (2) Course in Social Treatment, or Course in the Technique of the Drama; (3) Two elective seminars to be chosen from those suggested under programme V. The following seminaries are especially commended: Seminary in Races and Peoples, Social Philosophy, the Family as a Social Institution, Social Research, Municipal Government and Labor Questions.

The elective for the third year will be conditioned by the choice of the associated or independent minor.

III. Industrial Supervision and Employment Management.

The complexity of the past decade has emphasized the need of specialized study in all branches of industry and nowhere so much as in the problems connected with labor. The employment management movement is only the most obvious and direct of the various ways of dealing with the situation; to be really successful it must call to its aid the findings of many investigations such as the study of wage payment, standards of living, industrial housing, occupational disease, accident prevention and safety engineering, sanitation, health, fatigue, and the effect of noise, lighting, and ventilation on the human mind and body.

The employment department is the meeting-place of all these and many other lines of effort. It is the vantage point from which we may view on the one hand, the economy of business organization and production management; and on the other, the economy of labor and the distribution not only of wealth, but of well-being. But above and beyond all else the employment department is the chief agent of the new social economy which is interested not only in the price of the product but also in the development and maintenance of the worker as an efficient, healthy, intelligent citizen.

Every effort is now made to give workers opportunity and self-expression and to adjust worker to the work. Attention is centred upon training and instruction instead of the former trial and error methods of adaptation. A wholly new opportunity is open to women who acquire a knowledge of processes and study laws of promotion in an industry to become industrial instructors.

But the study of employment management forms also a stimulating introduction to fields as varied as the interests of the individuals. Already students who have completed the courses of study are working, with industrial plants on wage investigation, and with social agencies on research into living conditions; one student finds her chief interest in shop sanitation, another in factory inspection; others have specialized in psychological examinations and selection, the installation of training methods, and the legal problems of employment of labor. Employment management comprises interviewing and engaging labor for offices and plants in consultation with heads of departments; the investigation of all matters concerning rates of wages, conditions, and hours of work; the recommendation and suggestion of employees for promotion, the investigation of complaints, and the review of dismissals. Not only should the employment supervisors be directly responsible for educational work and for the arrangement of general courses of instruction, but they should also link up the training and supervision of new employees and apprentices, with the follow-up and instruction of workers who have been longer with the organization.

In order that the Carola Woerishoffer Graduate Department might train women to meet the immediate problems of women in industry due to the war and the larger problems of reconstruction, the War Work Council of the National Board of the Young Women's Christian Association contributed to Bryn Mawr College for the year 1918–19 a substantial sum of money to be used for scholarships and for instruction in Industrial Supervision and Employment Management and will continue the contribution for the year 1919–20.

The programme in Industrial Supervision and Employment Management is planned to give a wide opportunity for field experience as well as to give instruction in and to discuss problems concerning industrial relations. In the first year students must study at the College during the academic year and in the summer following must give three months full time work to a manufacturing or mercantile establishment. During the eight months at the College the student must combine with the Seminary including the Field work and with the Course in Employment Management, a Seminary in Labor Organization or in Industrial Organization and a Course in Statistics. A third seminary, elected by consent of the Director of the Department and the Instructor in charge of Industrial Courses, fulfills the necessary theoretical training. In a second year, the student may elect a Seminary in Labor or in Industry, and may make selection from the seminaries and courses offered in the Carola Woerishoffer Department and allied Departments, as suggested in the College Catalogue, and described in the following pages. During the college year one day a week is spent in actual work in the employment offices of a Philadelphia firm in order to give opportunity to observe theories in operation and to see that changes in industry must be worked out slowly, and that such changes as are made must be made not only with the assent of the management but with the cooperation of the workers.

In working out the plan of the field work, it has been found best to place every student first in a well organized industrial relations department in order for her to become familiar with the scope of the work and the office routine and forms. After this experience her training is specialized in fairly separate divisions, as employment management in the textile industry, in the boot and shoe industry, in the metal industry or commercial offices. A series of lectures by experts in various subjects allied to employment, and by persons actually conducting employment departments accompanies the regular courses and the classroom discussion.

Arrangements have been made by the Carola Woerishoffer Department with many industries for training in this specialized field. The aim of the training has been not only for the students to work in the employment office, but to work under the direction of the employment manager in various operations in the plant, the students being frequently transferred according to the difficulty of the processes and the facility of the student. In working out this plan, the instructor has had the cordial cooperation of many firms. The present scheme has been adopted with the advice of plant executives who have routed students through the processes of their shops and in consideration of suggestions and experience of former students.

Some of the firms who have heartily cooperated in giving real experience to students either in the employment office or in the factory are enumerated in the following partial list:

Company, Philadelphia; Slatersville Dyeing and Finishing Company, Slatersville, R. I.; Sutro Hosiery Company, Philadelphia.

(3) Bureaus of Investigation and Government Commissions:

(6) Commercial: John Wanamaker, Philadelphia; William Filene's Sons Company, Boston; Bell Telephone Company, Philadelphia.

This partial list includes only those firms which offer a considerable observation or training—usually of numbers of students. Many other firms have assisted and supervised students, and provided observation or short experience in some phase of employment which they had worked out in a specially technical or expert way, such as absentee visiting, safety campaigns, corporation schools, or plant instruction.

The field experience is calculated to keep before the student a view of the labor situation and the educational adjustments necessary to benefit the individual worker as well as to make for more efficient production. In this training, it has been found that one cannot train in general but must specialize in one type of industry or in one branch of study. An effort is made to utilize the past experience and training of students taking the course.

Whether one prefers employment or some specialized activity, the training has a profound interest and is the best introduction to general industrial work. The employment interests are varied and yet offer as much opportunity for intensive study as any one can give. The employment management programme, then, is an end in itself or an entrance to fields which command the attention and the efforts of the most able and the most varied talents. In view of the many-sidedness of the work and its fundamental emphasis on human relations any experience in education or industry, or any training in social service, research, or statistical analysis is an invaluable preparation. A good knowledge of economics and industrial conditions is essential.

IV. Social and Industrial Research.

Every phase of social work demands investigators trained to gather data, analyze them, make interpretation and present the findings with constructive conclusions and recommendations. Every social organization also is feeling increasingly the necessity of having on its staff experts capable of planning and maintaining systems of records and especially educated workers trained to analyze and interpret the material acquired by the organization, not only in order to outline reports of its accomplishment, but also in order to formulate social programmes which may result in social betterment through social legislation and social education.

Federal and state departments, as well as private foundations have properly assumed the responsibility of studying the social conditions of the country and from these departments and organizations comes the constant demand for expert statisticians, investigators, and research directors and assistants. Workers for such departments and organizations must possess wide knowledge of social conditions, social organizations and processes for organized social betterment.

Industries are also demanding experts who may be able to determine through surveys the special needs of industrial groups or of definite plants in relation to labor supply and labor efficiency. Communities are seeking workers trained to make surveys through which the resources and special needs of the community may be discovered, deleterious conditions removed, and the forces of the community organized for the attainment of higher community standards.

The types of workers demanded by social organizations, social agencies, federal and state departments, national social foundations, industries and communities fall into several groups.

1. Secretaries in charge of the keeping and filing of records.
2. Statisticians in charge of the analysis and interpretation of current records.
3. Special investigators.
4. Directors, assistant directors, and supervisors of regular investigations and surveys.
5. Visitors and enumerators for the collection of data.
6. Statistical clerks for the tabulation of data and graphic presentation of results.
7. Directors of exhibits.

Students wishing to prepare for such positions will find it necessary to pursue a two or three year course. Not only is it necessary to master the technique of schedule making, tabulation, interpretations, and exhibitions, but this technical training must be based on a broad knowledge of social, industrial and economic questions. The following arrangement of studies is recommended to students: in the first year of the course special preparation in Statistics, Record Keeping, and Methods of Social Investigation, the Seminary in Social and Industrial Research, the Seminary in Social Psychology and Social Philosophy, a Course in Social Betterment; in the second year, the Seminary in Advanced Statistics and a second seminary in Social and Industrial Research, in which will be completed a piece of research undertaken in the seminary during the first year, and which may then become the material for the Doctor's thesis, and a third seminary in Labor Organization, Social Theory, or Psychology selected from those suggested under Programme VII. Elections for the third year will depend upon the choice by the student of the associated and independent minors leading to the Doctor's degree.

Courses Offered in Bryn Mawr College.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Susan Myra Kingsbury, Carola Woerishoffer Professor of Social Economy and Director of the Carola Woerishoffer Department of Social Economy and Social Research, Miss Angie Lillian Kellogg, Instructor (and Associate elect) in Social Economy and Social Research, Miss Anna Bezanson, Instructor in Social Economy and Social Research, and Miss Glady Louise Palmer, Secretary (and Reader-elect) to the Department of Social Economy and Social Research, with the co-operation of the following members of the closely allied departments of Economics and Politics, Psychology, Education, and Philosophy: Dr. Marion Parris Smith, Professor of Economics; Dr. Charles Ghequiere Fenwick, Professor of Political Science; Miss Marjorie Lorne Franklin, Instructor in Economics and Politics, Dr. Theodore de Leo de Laguna, Professor of Philosophy; Dr. James H. Leuba, Professor of Psychology; Dr. Clarence Errol Ferree, Professor of Experimental Psychology; Dr. Gertrude Rand, Associate in Experimental and Applied Psychology; Dr. Matilde Castro, Professor of Education; Dr. Ada Hart Arlitt, Associate in Educational Psychology; Miss Georgiana Goddard King, Professor of the History of Art; Dr. Howard James Savage, Associate Professor of Rhetoric and Director of the Work in English Composition; Dr. David Hilt Tennent, Professor of Biology, and Dr. Ellen C. Potter, Lecturer in Social Hygiene. The seminars and courses given by these instructors and enumerated below are specially adapted for students of Social Economy and Social Research.

Six seminars, three including practicums, and five graduate courses, are given each year in the Carola Woerishoffer Graduate Department in addition to seminars and courses in economics, politics, education, philosophy, psychology, literature, and art. Direction of investigation and research in special fields, and supervision of the practicum in social and industrial welfare accompanies the seminars and courses. The seminars and courses announced by the department are given in rotation so that different courses may be taken in consecutive years. The selection of courses depends upon the field of Social Economy which the student may choose. A seminary in Social Economy or a seminary in Social Theory, and, unless previously taken, undergraduate courses in Elements of Statistics and Methods of Social Research are required of all students of the department.

Graduate Courses.

The following graduate seminaries and courses may be elected subject to the approval of the Director of the Department by students working for the first and second year certificates as well as by candidates for the degree of Master of Arts or of Doctor of Philosophy in Social Economy and Social Research, or may be offered as the associated or independent minor with the approval of the Director of the Department when the major is taken in certain other departments according to the regulations of the Academic Council.

Dr. Kingsbury offers in each year the following graduate seminary:

Seminary in Social Research. Three hours a week throughout the year

In 1918–19 the subject of the seminary is married women in industry, with special reference to mothers in industry.

In 1919–20 the subject of the seminary will be Community and Industrial Surveys.

In 1920–21 the seminary will be selected from the following aspects of Social and Industrial Problems: (1) social relations, (2) vocational opportunities and demands, (3) standards of living, including income and wages, (4) the relation of health and industry, (5) industrial relations of women and minors. Research including field work with conferences will be required of research fellows and will be offered to every student. A group of students may co-operate to produce a study which, it is hoped, will prove a contribution to our knowledge of the social or industrial conditions investigated.

As the chief subjects of investigation will vary from year to year, as noted above, it will be possible for students to follow the work of the seminary for three consecutive years.

Miss Kellogg offers in 1918–19 and again in 1920–21 the following graduate seminary:

Seminary in Races and Peoples. Two hours a week throughout the year.

A study is made of the definitions of race, of theories regarding the origin and evolution of races, and of sociological characterizations of peoples.

Miss Kellogg offers in 1919–1920 and again in 1921–22 the following graduate seminary:

Seminary in the Family as a Social Institution. Two hours a week throughout the year.

A study is made of theories regarding the origin and evolution of the family as a social institution; such as the patriarchal theory, the theory of the horde and mother-right, and the theory of the monogamous or pairing family. In connection with these theories are considered the questions of original communism, polygamy, polyandry, monogamy, exogamy, endogamy, wife-capture, wife-purchase, marriage contracts, and divorce, and finally modern theories as to the future of the family.
Miss Bezanson offers in 1918–19 and again in 1920–21 the following graduate seminary:

Seminary in Labour Organization. Two hours a week throughout the year.

Assuming on the part of students a knowledge of the general concepts of labour economy this seminary discusses questions dealing with trade unionism, employers' associations, wage systems, scientific management, and unemployment. The modern problem of industrial democracy is traced through the various stages of collective bargaining, shop agreements, co-operative management and the recent developments of the British National Industrial Councils.

Miss Bezanson offers in 1919–20 and again in 1921–22 the following graduate seminary:

Seminary in Industrial Organization. Two hours a week throughout the year.

This seminary undertakes a study of business organization as an element in industrial society. It especially emphasizes the aspects of the industrial combination in its effects upon efficiency and wages.

The purpose is also to present the standard practice in industrial organizations and management. It gives a conception of the entire plant structure in order to suggest possibilities of co-operation between departments, and to insure an understanding of their difficulties. It will concern itself with the location and equipment of a plant and its administration, including functions of the officials and departments and their inter-relations in all stages from purchasing and employing to marketing.

Dr. Castro offers in 1919–20 and in each succeeding year the following graduate seminary:

Seminary in Social Education. Two hours a week during the second semester.

The Essentials of Educational Theory and Practice for Community Workers are studied in this seminary. The subjects dealt with serve as an introduction to the educational principles involved in the intelligent direction of such activities as community centres, settlement classes, clubs, etc. Among the subjects studied will be the characteristic mental and physical development of childhood, adolescence, youth, and maturity. This study will be used as a basis for the selection of the educational materials and methods appropriate to the needs and capacities of different groups of varying ages and differing educational opportunities.

Dr. Castro offers in 1918–19 and in each succeeding year the following graduate seminaries:

Seminary in Educational Methods and Measurements. Two hours a week throughout the year.

The seminary takes up the principles of educational methods and teaching technique. The latter part of the work deals with the theory and practice of educational measurements. The special subjects considered vary from year to year.

Dr. Arlitt offers in each year the following graduate seminary:

Seminary in Intelligence Tests. Two hours a week throughout the year.

Laboratory Work in Intelligence Tests. Four hours a week throughout the year.

The work of the seminary is devoted to a critical survey of the field of mental tests. The laboratory work includes training in the use of tests followed by the practical application of them in schools.
Dr. Kingsbury offers in each year the following graduate seminary:

Seminary in Social Economy Applied to Community Organization and Administration. Two hours a week throughout the year.

This seminary includes the Practicum in Community Organization and Administration. It combines practical work in social and community education with reports and discussions. It must be accompanied by the course in Community Organization and must be preceded or accompanied by the seminary in Social Education—Essentials of Educational Theory and Practice for Social Workers—or its equivalent. In addition to reports and conferences, seven or twelve hours a week, according to election, are devoted to active work in a social center or settlement by which the student gains a vital illustration of the principles and organization of community work.

The practice work is so arranged as to give to the student training in the following activities:

1. Direction and teaching of clubs and classes as observers, visitors, helpers and assistants.
2. Regular daily management as assistants and later as directors, and as block organizers.
3. General administrative assistance in office work, including record-keeping, in library work, in activities to secure publicity, in preparation of newspaper articles, reports, posters, exhibits, parades, dramatics, plays, festivals, demonstrations, concerts, and lectures, in public speaking and writing, and in conducting financial campaigns and special studies.
4. Teaching in night schools of classes in civics and elementary subjects, and conducting special classes in handwork, games, dramatics, gymnastics, playgrounds and kindergarten activities.
5. Co-operation with civic movements, community campaigns and emergency activities, school programs and propagandist efforts.

Training in the theory and supervision of practice in Physical Education may accompany this seminary.

Two or three months of non-resident practice in social centers and settlements, playgrounds or fresh-air camps may be arranged for the summer following the resident work at Bryn Mawr.

The fields from which the subject for the practicum may be chosen are community, civic and social centers, settlements, playgrounds, and health and recreation centers, and have included the Bryn Mawr Community Center, The Philadelphia College Settlement and work in smaller neighboring communities.

Miss Kellogg offers in each year the following graduate seminary:

Seminary in Social Economy Applied to Social Relief and Social Guardianship. Two hours a week throughout the year.

This seminary includes the Practicum in Social Relief and Social Guardianship. It must be accompanied by the course in Social Treatment of Dependents, Delinquents, and Defectives or the course in Legal Procedure in Cases Involving Women and Children. Field work is carried on 7 to 12 hours per week according to election with such agencies as the following: The Philadelphia Society for Organizing Charities; The Home Service Department of the Red Cross; The Children's Bureau, an agency which investigates all complaints concerning children; The Children's Aid Society, a child-placing agency; The Girl's Aid; The Vocational Guidance Bureau; Hospital Social Service Departments and the various departments of the Municipal Court, such as the Probation, Statistical, Employment Agency and Psychological Departments.

The field work with these agencies is under the supervision of Miss Kellogg and of the director of the particular agency or department. In addition to the regular practice work, students are taken on observation trips to courts, almshouses, orphanages, asylums, institutions for the feebleminded, the blind, the crippled, hospitals, etc.
Miss Bezanson offers in each year the following graduate seminary:

Seminary in Social Economy Applied to Industrial Supervision and Employment Management.  Two hours a week throughout the year.

This seminary includes a practicum in Industrial Supervision and Employment Management, and consists of 7 or 12 hours field work per week in industrial experience in or near Philadelphia and four months of non-resident industrial experience. During the period of residence at Bryn Mawr, the field work is devoted to assisting in an employment office, while group observation trips are regularly arranged. In the non-resident period the student, in addition to experience in the employment office, by being transferred from process to process, is enabled by plant supervision to see not only the conditions of work but the adjustment of employment problems to the other factors of industry. Experience may also be afforded in the federal employment service and in factory inspection. In connection with this seminary each student must take the course in Industrial Supervision and Employment Management, and must precede or accompany it by the Seminary in Labour Organization or Industrial Organization or the equivalent.

In 1918–19 this seminary met two hours a week during the first semester, and was repeated during the second semester.

Miss Kellogg offers in each year the following graduate courses:

Social Treatment of Dependents.  Three hours a week during the first semester.

This course involves a study of the principles, methods, and agencies employed for the prevention, relief and cure of dependency, defectiveness, and delinquency, such as family case-work, outdoor relief, and institutional care. This course must be accompanied by the seminary in Social Economy including the practicum in Social Relief or Community Organization and Administration. The following outline in very brief form presents the topics considered: (1) Causes of Dependency; (2) The Poor Laws; (3) The Principles and Methods in Family Case Work; (4) Outdoor Relief; (5) Agencies and Institutions Caring for Dependents, for dependent adults and for dependent children.

Social Treatment of Delinquents and Defectives.  Three hours a week during the second semester.

This course involves a study of the principles, methods, agencies and institutions employed for the prevention, care and cure of defectives and delinquents, such as juvenile courts, probation and parole systems, the indeterminate sentence and psychological laboratories in connection with the courts. This course must be accompanied by the seminary in Social Economy applied to Social Guardianship.

During the semester the following topics are considered:

I. Delinquents: (1) Causation Theories of Delinquency; (2) Theories of Punishment; (3) Penal Codes; (4) Criminal Courts; (5) Treatment of Criminals: Suspended sentences, Probation, Institutional Custody and Care, Parole; (6) Psychological laboratories in connection with Courts, Detention Homes and Correctional Institutions.

II. Defectiveness: (1) Causes of defectiveness; (2) Clinical types of defectives; (3) Educational classification of defectives; (4) Eugenic problems; (5) Criminal problems; (6) Institutional treatment of defectives; (7) Non-institutional treatment of defectives.

Legal Procedure in Cases involving Women and Children.  Two hours a week throughout the year.

The administrative side of the law affecting women and children is presented in this course. It includes a study of the law as applied in juvenile courts, domestic relations courts, and other municipal courts.
The following courses are open to graduate students by special arrangement:

Criminal Law. Two hours a week throughout the year.
By special arrangement with the Law School of the University of Pennsylvania students in this department may pursue the course in Criminal Law offered by Dean Mikell at the Law School, Thirty-fourth and Spruce Streets, Philadelphia.
This course may accompany the course in Social Treatment of Delinquents and Detectives (Criminology) and the course in Legal Procedure in Cases involving Women and Children.

Criminal Procedure. Two hours a week throughout the year.
By special arrangement with the Law School of the University of Pennsylvania students in this department may pursue the course in Criminal Procedure offered by Dean Mikell at the Law School, Thirty-fourth and Spruce Streets, Philadelphia.
This course must be preceded by the course in Criminal Law.

Miss Bezanson offers in each year the following graduate courses:

Industrial Supervision and Employment Management. Two hours a week throughout the year.
The course presents the problems and methods of personnel administration. It includes, besides the consideration of the organization and functions of personnel departments, such practical problems as the selection of the worker, his physical and mental capabilities, his placement, rating and promotion. Intensive study is devoted to the instability of employees through the proper analysis of labour turnover. Other subjects considered in the course are questions arising in the equipment, technique and conduct of the Federal Employment office or labour exchange, the principles and procedure of factory inspection and the approved methods of supervision of workers in industrial processes. Any outline of the specialized course in Employment must be or less tentative, as material must needs be brought together from trade and technical magazines, government bulletins, and the experiences and surveys of industrial firms and organizations. The following is a partial outline of the scope of discussion in the course in Industrial Supervision and Employment Management:
I. Employment Management: Function; Scope; Fundamental Problems—Stabilization of Employment.
II. Selecting Employees: Sources of Labor Supply; Applications and Interviews; Tests; Physical Examinations; Job Analysis; Standard Practice.
III. Training and Instruction: For New Employees: For Promotion; For Minor Executive; For Foreman.
IV. Employment Organization: Plan of Organization; Survey of Plant; Employment Office Equipment; Statistical Data; Records.
V. Relations to Workers in the Shops: Follow-up; Health Supervision; Absenteeism and Tardiness; Discipline and Complaints; Shop Committees; Terminations.
VI. Relation to Other Executives: Production Manager; Foremen; Industrial Engineer; Safety Engineer; Sanitary Expert; Fatigue Expert; Service Supervisor; Sales Manager.
VII. Relations with Community: Americanization; Schools; Social Organizations; Social and Industrial Insurance; Industrial Education; Legal Problems; Government Boards; Industrial Housing and Transportation; Industrial Commissions.
The course must be preceded or accompanied by the seminary in Labour Organization or Industrial Organization or the equivalent, and by the seminary in Social Economy including the Practicum in Industrial Supervision and Employment Management.

Advanced Statistics. Two hours a week throughout the year.
This course attempts to study intensively the subjects of correlation and causation, or the functional relationships between series of facts. The main considerations of the course are the method of least squares, the theory of linear correlation, skew distribution, partial correlation, and the theory of contingency.

The course must be preceded by the course in Elements of Statistics or its equivalent, and a foundation in mathematics including the Calculus is desirable to facilitate ease in comprehension.

If accompanied by the Special Research in Statistics the course becomes equivalent to a seminary.

Special Research in Statistics.

Seven hours of laboratory a week throughout the year.

This course including laboratory analysis and reports is offered in each year in connection with the course in Advanced Statistics and the two courses taken together are equivalent to a seminary.

The following graduate course will be offered in each year by an instructor whose appointment will be announced later:

Community Organization.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

The theory upon which community work is based and the technique used in its conduct are presented in this course to accompany the field practice which is carried on under the Seminary in Social Economy Applied to Community Organization. Experience of the student in the field is constantly used to exemplify the principles formulated. In the first semester the discussion pertains to the initiation and organization of community centres or associations, block organizations and settlements, and covers the following subjects:

1. A study of the history of the community, of its physical aspects and its political and social organization.
2. First steps in community organization including the methods of approach to strategic groups and to strategic individuals to secure co-operation, plans for financial support, organization of the governing body representative of the community, selection of responsible workers, and beginnings of activities.
3. Community housekeeping, including selection of location and site, building plans, equipment, furnishings and decorations, and care of property.
4. General management including preparation of budgets, staff organization, committee organization, activity records, office systems and selection, training, and supervision of volunteers.
5. A study of other community and social agencies and co-operation with social, civic and political groups in the community.
6. Co-operation with the schools, especially in relation to teachers, use of equipment, janitor service, and consideration of school problems such as home visiting, conduct of playgrounds, night schools, school lunches, school libraries, school gardens, etc.

The second semester is given to a study of the kind of activities which may be included in a community centre and settlement program. It devotes some weeks to consideration of the principles of individual education or the so-called community case work corresponding to what is known as social case work. This discussion considers the methods of conducting the first interview and the acquisition of data concerning the individual through school records or other means, the establishment of friendly relations, the assignment of the individual to proper groups and proper positions in the groups, the various means of observation and analysis of ability and character, and the procedure in home visiting. Having completed the study of investigation and analysis of the social qualities and needs of the individual, the course proceeds to consider the plan for personal development through an individual program of activities and relations.

The course next takes up the question of group education or social development of the group and through the group, and deals with the purpose of organization and the methods and procedure of club organization and leadership. It discusses educational courses suited to children (both boys and girls) and to adults (both men and women) and the kinds of classes which may be introduced together with a consideration of necessary equipment and teachers and the principles of maintaining attendance and discipline.

The other subjects considered, include Americanization programs, types of recreational activity, the study of community art, including pageants, festivals, music, architectural design and city planning, the function of lectures and forums. The course concludes with a discussion of the adaptation of community work to varying community types and conditions, with special reference to community work in rural districts.

An instructor, whose appointment will be announced later, will offer in 1919–20, and Miss King in each succeeding year the following graduate course:

Community Art. Two hours a week throughout the year.

A special course will be given in Community Art, to show the methods of developing group expression in music, dramatics, pageantry, dancing, literary expression, architecture, graphic and plastic arts. This course prepares the student of artistic ability to use her best gifts in bringing out the artistic expression of the community. The purposes of educational dramatics, pageant and festivals forms, qualifications of directors, principles of casting, costuming and stage direction are included in the division on community dramatics. In a similar way the movement for community music, civic architecture, writing, painting or sculpture which are spontaneous expressions of the people are included in other divisions of the course.

Dr. Savage offers in 1919–20 the following graduate course:

Technical and Advanced Criticism. Two hours a week during the first semester.

In this course attention will be given to bibliography, the tabulating of critical data, the planning and writing of papers, reports, and dissertations, critical usage, and other matters. Materials collected for other courses in research are available for use in this work.

Mr. King offers in each year the following course in English Diction for graduate students:

General Course in Articulation and Voice Production. One half hour a week throughout the year.

The object of this course is to train speakers in accurate and distinct articulation and to eliminate the faults of bad production. Speech is resolved into its phonetic elements which are made the basis of practical exercises so arranged as to be progressive in their difficulties.

Dr. Potter offers in 1918–19 and in each succeeding year the following graduate course, open to students working in the department:

Social Hygiene. One hour a week during the first semester.

Dr. Kingsbury, Miss Kellogg and Miss Bezanson conduct in each year the Social Economy Journal Club.

Social Economy Journal Club. Two hours once a fortnight throughout the year.

Current books and articles are reviewed, recent reports, surveys and investigations are criticized, and the results of important research are presented for discussion.
Dr. Marion Parris Smith offers in each year the following graduate seminary:

Economic Seminary.
Two hours a week throughout the year.

In 1918-19 the tariff, currency and banking in the United States are the subjects of the seminary.
In 1919-20* the subject of the seminary will be Taxation, Banking and Railroad Finance since 1900.
In 1920-21 the Theories and Problems of Distribution and the agencies in modern social life that affect the distribution of wealth will be studied. Special attention will be paid to wage problems, profit sharing, various plans for controlling large scale production, land reforms, and income and excess profits taxation.
In 1921-22 Economic Theory and Economic History in the United States from 1790 to 1850 will be studied.

Dr. Fenwick offers in each year the following graduate seminary:

Political Seminary.
Three hours a week throughout the year.

In 1918-19 Constitutional questions involved in modern economic and social problems are the subject of the seminary. The chief economic and social problems of the United States are studied from the point of view of the restrictions placed by the Constitution on the legislative powers of Congress and of the several states in dealing with those subjects. As an introduction the various theories relating to the proper functions of the State are discussed.
In 1919-20 Comparative Constitutional Government will be the subject of the seminary. The object will be to compare and contrast the several forms of constitutional government represented by the United States, Great Britain, France and Germany, together with a study of the new constitutional governments of Russia, Czecho-Slovakia, and China, if proper material be available. Among the questions raised will be the location of sovereign power, the authority of the constitution, the restrictions placed by the constitution upon the governing bodies, and the protection afforded by the constitution to the rights of individuals and minorities.
In 1920-21 Constitutional Law of the United States will be the subject of the seminary. The decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States will form the basis of the work. Special stress will be laid upon the relations between the federal and state governments, interstate commerce, and due process of law under the Fourteenth Amendment. Students are required to present brief reports upon assigned cases in the first semester and to prepare a longer report upon a group of cases in the second semester.

Miss Franklin conducts in each year the following seminary:

Seminary in Municipal Government.
Three hours a week throughout the year.

This seminary deals with the structure and functions of modern municipal government. The legal relation of the city to the state, city charters, various types of city government, including the commission and city manager forms, are considered in the early part of the course. A study of modern municipal administration follows including municipal finance and budgetary problems, city planning, housing, public health and sanitation, franchises and public utilities. The discussion of modern agencies for research in city government is supplemented by practical field work at the Philadelphia Bureau of Municipal Research.

Dr. Marion Parris Smith has been granted leave of absence for the year 1919-20 and during her absence the courses offered by her will be given by an instructor whose appointment will be announced later.
Dr. Leuba offers in each year the following graduate seminary:

Psychological Seminary.
Two hours a week throughout the year.

As the foundation of the work of the seminary one or two of the following subjects will be chosen each year: instinct, feeling, and emotion; the psychology of religion and of ethics; social psychology; abnormal psychology (mental disorders, the Freudian psychology, arrested mental development, and its social and educational implications, etc.); animal behaviour.

Dr. Leuba offers in each year the following graduate seminary:

Seminary in Social Psychology.
Two hours a week during the first semester.

In 1918-19 and again in 1920-21 the principles of social psychology and their applications to social problems are the subject of the seminary.

In 1919-20 and again in 1921-22 abnormal psychology, chiefly mental deficiency, and its social implications, or Temperament and Character, their instinctive and emotional foundation, will be the subject of the seminary.

This seminary is open to students who have pursued an elementary course in psychology. It may be elected separately or may be combined with the seminary in Social and Political Philosophy given in the second semester to count as a seminar in the Department of Social Economy and Social Research.

Dr. Theodore de Laguna offers in each year the following graduate seminary:

Seminary in Social and Political Philosophy.
Two hours a week during the second semester.

The topics chosen for discussion will vary from year to year. Among them will be such subjects as: the general nature of law; sovereignty and allegiance; the conception of personal liberty; property; punishment; marriage and the family; moral education. This seminar is open to students who have pursued an elementary course in philosophy. It may be elected separately or may be combined with the seminar in Social Psychology given in the first semester to count as a seminar in the Department of Social Economy and Social Research.

Dr. Rand offers in each year the following graduate seminary:

Seminary in Applied Psychology.
Laboratory Work.
Two hours a week throughout the year.
Four hours a week throughout the year.

This course combines seminary, laboratory drill and research features, and covers the psychological aspects of mental testing with special application to problems of vocational guidance and to the testing of normal adults, adult and juvenile delinquents and defectives.

In the seminar work, the requirements of mental tests, their standardization and statistical treatment are considered. The laboratory drill work consists of training in the application of general intelligence and diagnostic tests to normal children and adults. This furnishes a standard of the normal reaction to the tests as well as practice in giving the tests. Later the work will be with delinquents and defectives. The research work will be done in connection with Vocational Guidance Bureaus. Two problems will be considered here: (a) the devising and standardizing of specific tests for diagnosing ability for different vocations; and (b) the determination of the average level of intelligence needed to meet the demands of different vocations. The course is open only to graduate students who have had training in experimental psychology.

Special Laboratory Problems in Applied Psychology.
Four hours a week throughout the year.

This course is offered in connection with the course in Applied Psychology to students who wish to pursue more advanced work.
The following advanced undergraduate courses are offered to students in the department:

Dr. Kingsbury offers in each year the following courses, open to graduate students:

Social Betterment. \hspace{1cm} Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course presents the principles and methods used in the Charity Organization Society and the principles of case work are carefully considered and various case records both from the Charity Organizations Society and from Home Service experiences are studied in the class. Opportunity to attend case conferences are offered to the students, and observation excursions made to various social institutions and agencies of Philadelphia and the surrounding country. The course includes a survey of the origin, growth, and present methods of the most important social service and social welfare organizations in order to acquaint the student with the fields of activity in which social work is being carried on: (1) social education, through settlements, civic centres or other neighbourhood organizations; (2) improvement of industrial conditions, through associations for labour legislation, labour organizations, or consumers' efforts; (3) vocational guidance, through vocational advising, through placement, or through adjustment of employment; (4) child welfare, through societies for care and protection of children; (5) family care, through organizations for the reduction and prevention of poverty; (6) social guardianship, through the probation work in the juvenile courts or corrective institutions.

This course is open to students who have attended or are attending courses equivalent to the course in Minor Economics or in General Psychology.

Record Keeping and Social Investigation. \hspace{1cm} Two hours a week during the second semester.

The object of the course is to acquaint the student with the principles and methods of record keeping and filing which are applicable to municipal, state, and federal offices, to business organizations, and to social organizations and investigation, and with the methods of securing, analyzing, interpreting and presenting social data. The best systems in use will be analyzed and studied. Formulation of the various types of schedules, tabulation of information secured, and the framing of tables are among the subjects considered. The course concludes with a critical study of the methods used in social economic investigations, of sources of social statistical information, and of reports by federal and state departments and by private organizations. This course must be accompanied by the course in Elements of Statistics.

Miss Bezanson offers in each year the following free elective course, open to graduate students:

Elements of Statistics. \hspace{1cm} One hour a week throughout the year.

This course deals with the elementary principles of statistics and their application. Among the topics are the array, frequency distributions, averages, measures of variation, probability and theory of errors, theory of sampling, index numbers, logarithmic curves, graphic methods, comparisons, and the elements of linear correlation.

The course is recommended to students of social economy and of economics. No knowledge of mathematics beyond the requirements for matriculation is presupposed.

Dr. Marion Parris Smith offers in 1918–19 and again in 1920–21 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

American Economic and Social Problems. \hspace{1cm} Two hours a week throughout the year.

The object of this course is to trace certain social movements in the United States from 1855 to the present time. Special studies are made of the changes in rural and urban population; immigration, the race problem; the development of city life; the problems of country life; problems of food distribution and marketing, cost of living, etc. Special topics are assigned to students for reports and attention is given to the use of original source material.

Dr. Marion Parris Smith offers in 1919-20* and again in 1921-22 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Economic and Social Legislation in England and America since 1890. Three hours a week throughout the year.

The first semester is devoted to a review of recent English legislation dealing with trade unions, workmen's compensation, minimum wage, the sweated trades, old age pensions, unemployed, child-welfare, and the land system. In the second semester American legislation on these subjects is reviewed, as well as recent Anti-Trust legislation. Special topics are assigned to students for reports, and attention is given to the use of original source material.

Dr. Marion Parris Smith* offers in each year the following major course, open to graduate students:

History of Economic Thought and Recent Economic Problems. Five hours a week during the second semester.

The course is divided into two parts: Part I aims to give students an historical introduction as a basis for a critical study of modern economic problems. The students read in connection with this section parts of Adam Smith's Wealth of Nation; Ricardo's Principles of Political Economy and Taxation; Malthus's Principles of Population; and selections from the writings of John Stuart Mill, Jevons, Wicksteed, Boehm-Bawerk, and Pantaleoni.

In part II certain modern economic problems are considered in some detail: distribution under socialism, co-operation, profit sharing, the minimum wage, the eight-hour day, tax reforms, price fixing, etc. Numerous short papers in connection with the reading, and one long report on some specially assigned subject are required.

Dr. Fenwick offers in each year the following major course, open to graduate students:

Present Political Problems. Five hours a week during the first semester.

The object of this course is to present the chief political problems that have arisen in recent years. The study of practical problems is preceded by a study of theories relating to the origin and nature of the state, its end or object, and the proper sphere of state activities, under which last heading the various theories of individualism, liberalism, and socialism will be studied. Modern reforms in federal, state, and city government are next studied, and particular stress is laid upon the extension of federal power in the United States and the relation between the Fourteenth Amendment and modern social and economic legislation adopted in the exercise of the police powers of the several states.

Dr. Fenwick offers in each year the following free elective course, open to graduate students:

Elements of Private Law. One hour a week throughout the year.

The object of the course is to familiarize the student with the principles and technical terms of those branches of private law with which the ordinary citizen is brought into contact. The subjects covered include Persons and Domestic Relations, Contracts,

* Absent on leave, 1919-20.
Torts, Real and Personal Property, and the chief forms of Procedure. The lectures are supplemented by a study and discussion of judicial decisions bearing on the subject.

Dr. Rand offers in each year the following major course, open to graduate students:

Applied Psychology. Five hours a week during the second semester.

The specific applications of psychology form the subject matter of this course. An important feature is the application to the work of the clinic. Demonstrations are made of mental equipment and individual practice is given in mental testing. The applications of psychology to law, medicine, vocational guidance, advertising, etc., are briefly considered. Four hours a week of laboratory work is required from students taking the course. A knowledge of psychology equivalent to that obtained in the minor experimental course is presupposed.

Dr. Ferree and Dr. Rand offer in each year the following minor course:

Experimental Psychology.

Laboratory Work. Five hours a week during the first semester. Four hours a week during the first semester.

(Open only to those students who have taken the required course in psychology or its equivalent.)

The lectures constitute an abbreviated course in systematic psychology in which the historical, critical, and theoretical features of the subjects covered are discussed and the experimental features demonstrated. Special stress is laid on the comparative study of method. The laboratory work consists of individual practice in selected topics.

Dr. Grace de Laguna offers in 1918–19 and Dr. Sabin offers in 1919–20 the following minor course, open to graduate students:

Elementary Logic and Ethics. Five hours a week during the second semester.

The equivalent of two hours a week for a semester is devoted to logic and the remainder to ethics. The instruction in logic covers the topics of definition, classification, the interpretation of propositions, the syllogism, the inductive methods, analogy and the use of hypotheses. In the lectures on ethics special attention will be given to the relations between moral standards and the persistent and developing requirements of social organization.

Dr. Leuba offers in each year the following major course, open to graduate students:

Social Psychology: The Psychology of Group Life and the Origin and the Nature of Magic, Religion, Ethics, Science and Art. Five hours a week during the first semester.

Psychology has so far been concerned almost exclusively with individuals, human or animal, normal or abnormal. But a community, a crowd, a clique, an industrial trust, do not behave as the individuals composing them would behave if they acted independently. For this reason the study of the laws of social interrelation and of social action has become a separate branch of psychology. The social institutions magic, religion, ethics, science, art, industry, and commerce are the most important forms which social life has assumed in the course of human development.
Dr. Castro gives in each year the following undergraduate course, open to graduate students:

Education. Two hours a week throughout the year.

The course interprets modern educational problems from the standpoint of their social setting; develops the psychological principles underlying the technique of teaching and demonstrates their application; sketches the mental, moral, and physical development of children from infancy through adolescence; and discusses the treatment of children individually and in groups in school and extra-school activities.

It is conducted as a general survey course covering the subject-matter indicated, or various topics are stressed and studied more intensively according as the interests of the class vary from teaching to social work or to a more general interest in educational problems.

Dr. Arlitt offers in 1918–19 and in each succeeding year the following undergraduate course, open to graduate students:

Experimental Educational Psychology. Three hours a week throughout the year.

Laboratory Work. Two hours a week throughout the year.

In the first semester a study is made of sensori-motor learning, perceptual learning, and learning of the problem-solving type. Particular emphasis is laid on the conditions and methods of efficient study and on the training of memory.

In the second semester the course takes up the study of school subjects from the point of view of laboratory experimentation and a survey of the field of group and individual tests and educational scales and measurements.

Dr. Savage offers in 1919–20 and again in 1921–22 the following free elective course:

The Technique of the Drama. Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course is open only to those students who can assure the instructor that they can pursue the work with profit. It deals with the making of scenarios, adaptation, and the writing of original longer and shorter plays; and with the observation of dramatic technique in plays read and seen.

Dr. Tennent offers in each year the following free elective course, open to graduate students:

Theoretical Biology. One hour a week throughout the year.

This is an historical course dealing with the development of the theories of biology. The course is open to students who have had one year's training in science. A considerable amount of assigned reading is required.

General Statement.

The courses in Social Economy and Social Research are intended for graduate students who may present a diploma from some college of acknowledged standing. No undergraduate students are admitted although graduate students in the department may elect, subject to the approval of the Director of the Department, undergraduate courses in other subjects.
Students of this department should offer for admission to their graduate work a preliminary course in economics, and more advanced courses equivalent to the Bryn Mawr College major course* in economics, politics, psychology, philosophy, or history, and also preliminary work in psychology† or biology, or should follow such courses while taking the work of the department.

The courses are planned for one, two, and three years, on the principle that about two-thirds of the student’s time shall be given to the study of theory and the remaining one-third to practical work and investigation in her chosen field. Students entering the department are expected to pursue the work throughout one year at least. After one year of work in this department one-half year may be given to a practicum in residence in a social service institution, in connection with a social welfare or community organization, in a federal or state department of labour and industry, in a federal or state employment office, or in a manufacturing or mercantile establishment in Philadelphia, New York, New England, or elsewhere, during which time the practical work and special reading and research will be supervised by the instructor in charge of the practicum and the head of the institution, department or business firm.

Practicum.

The fields from which a subject for the practicum may be chosen are as wide as are the organized activities for social welfare. Advantage has been taken by the department of the very generous interest and co-operation of the Philadelphia social agencies, federal and state department and manufacturers and merchants to secure for its students definite affiliations with practical work in the fields chosen by them. This has led in the years of 1915–18 to an arrangement for co-operative work with the College Settlement, the Municipal Court, the Society for Organizing Charity, the Women’s Trade Union League, the Social Service Department of the

* In all fully organized departments of Bryn Mawr College there is a course of five hours a week for two years, called a Major Course. Whenever one year of this course is of such a nature that it may be taken separately, it is designated as a Minor Course. Every candidate for the A.B. degree is required to take two such courses as shall be homogeneous, or shall complete each other, and major courses which fulfil this condition are designated as Groups. The object of these major courses is to enable students to acquire the foundations of a subject.

† The importance of psychology may make it necessary to advise students without adequate preparation in this subject to take certain psychological courses as a part of their required work. In some fields of work laboratory courses should be included in the preparation.
University of Pennsylvania Hospital, the Bryn Mawr Community Center, the Massachusetts Minimum Wage Commission, the Federal Children's Bureau, the Children's Aid Society, the Consumers' League, the Seybert Institution, the White-Williams Foundation, the U. S. Employment Service, and the State Department of Labour and Industry.

The following business firms are a few of those who have afforded opportunity for practical work in industrial supervision and employment management. A full list of the co-operating firms is found on page 21.

Graduates of colleges other than Bryn Mawr College that have completed the required preliminary work in Economics, Political Science and Psychology and are able to study for one year only will receive Certificates in Social Economy stating courses they have satisfactorily completed. As the degree of Master of Arts is conferred only on graduates of Bryn Mawr College it is hoped that this certificate will in many cases be accepted for the master's degree in the colleges and universities from which students have received their bachelor's degree. Graduates of Bryn Mawr College may receive the degree of Master of Arts in Social Economy and Social Research under the conditions prescribed for this degree.*

Graduate students that have completed the required preliminary work who are able to study for two years will receive Certificates in Social Economy stating the courses they have satisfactorily completed.

The degree of Doctor of Philosophy in Social Economy and Social Research is open to graduates of all colleges of high standing under the conditions prescribed for this degree in Bryn Mawr College.†

Candidates for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in Social Economy and Social Research may select the associated or independent minor from the foregoing seminaries and from other graduate seminaries or courses, subject to the approval of the Graduate Committee. Candidates for this degree in other departments may elect, with the approval of the Director of the Department, the following seminaries for the associated or the independent minor according to the regulations of the Academic Council of Bryn Mawr College.

Graduates of Bryn Mawr College, and graduates of other colleges who shall have satisfied the Academic Council that the course of study for which they have received a degree is equivalent to that for which the degree of Bachelor of Arts is given by Bryn Mawr College, or who shall have attended such additional courses of lectures as may be prescribed, may apply to the Academic Council to be enrolled as candidates for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy; admission to the graduate school does not in itself qualify a student to become a candidate for this degree.

The Appointment Bureau of Bryn Mawr College is under the direct supervision of the dean of the College and co-operates with the Carola Woerishoffer department in recommending to social agencies and institutions and to manufacturing and mercantile establishments women trained in this department.

Fellowships and Scholarships.

The most distinguished place among graduate students is held by the fellows and graduate scholars, who must reside in the college during the academic year. Fellowships and scholarships available in the department of social economy are as follows:

The President M. Carey Thomas European Fellowship of the value of $500 was founded in 1896 by Miss Mary E. Garrett of Baltimore and is awarded annually on the ground of excellence in scholarship to a student in any department in her first year of graduate work at Bryn Mawr College. The fellowship is intended to defray the expenses of one year's study and residence at some foreign university, English or Continental. The choice of a university may be determined by the holder's own preference, subject to the approval of the Faculty.

The Mary E. Garrett European Fellowship of the value of $500 was founded in 1894 by Miss Mary E. Garrett of Baltimore and is awarded annually on the ground of excellence in scholarship to a student in any department still in residence who has for two years pursued graduate studies at Bryn Mawr College. The fellowship is intended to defray the expenses of one year's study and residence at some foreign university, English or Continental. The choice of a university may be determined by the holder's own preference, subject to the approval of the Faculty.

Two Carola Woerishoffer Memorial Fellowships in Social Economy and Social Research of the value of $525 are awarded annually on the ground of excellence in scholarship to candidates who have completed at least one year of graduate work at some college of good standing after obtaining their first degree.

A resident Intercollegiate Community Service Association joint fellowship was established in 1915 and is offered by the Intercollegiate Community Service Association and by some Bryn Mawr College alumnae to a Bryn Mawr College graduate who wishes to prepare herself for settlement work. The value of the fellowship is $625, $125 of which is given by the College to meet the tuition fee. The holder of the fellowship is required to live in the College Settlement in Philadelphia and to give her entire time to the work of the Department of Social Economy, the practicum, carried on in the Settlement under the direction of the head worker and the director of the department, occupying one-third of her time. There is a charge of $7.00 a week for board and lodging in the Settlement and in addition to the usual charge of $125 for the graduate tuition fee in Bryn Mawr College, the usual laboratory and transportation fees. Applications may be sent either to Miss Hilda W. Smith, Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania, or to the President of the College.

Two additional joint fellowships of the value of $450, are offered by the Intercollegiate Community Service Association in conjunction with Smith College and Wellesley College, respectively, who wish to prepare themselves for community service. By special arrangement with the Committee on Scholarships these scholarships may be held in connection with the College Settlement of Philadelphia and Bryn Mawr College. Smith and Wellesley alumnae are referred for further information to Miss Hilda Worthington Smith, Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania.
Several Graduate Scholarships in Social Economy, of the value of $200 each, may be awarded to candidates next in merit to the successful candidates for the fellowships; they are open for competition to graduates of Bryn Mawr College, or of any other college of good standing.

Several Graduate Scholarships in Social Economy in preparation for Industrial Supervision and Employment Management, of the value of $300 each, have been offered by the National War Council of the Young Women's Christian Association for the year 1918–19, and 1919–20, and are open for competition to graduates of Bryn Mawr College, or of any other college of good standing.

Several Graduate Scholarships in Social Economy in preparation for Community Work, of the value of $300 each, have been offered for the year 1919–20, and are open for competition to graduates of Bryn Mawr College or of any other college of good standing.

The Susan B. Anthony Memorial Research Scholarship in Social Economy and Social Research and in Politics, of the value of four hundred and fifty dollars, was founded by the Executors of the late Susan B. Anthony, Dr. Anna Howard Shaw and Miss Lucy E. Anthony, in memory of Susan B. Anthony's work for women's college education. The holder is expected to devote one-third of her time to the study of politics and must investigate, educational, social or industrial conditions affecting women.

The Robert G. Valentine Memorial Scholarship in Social Economy and Social Research of the value of two hundred dollars is offered by Mrs. Frank W. Hallowell of Chestnut Hill, Massachusetts, to be awarded by the President and Faculty of Bryn Mawr College on the recommendation of the Director of the Carola Woerishoffer Department of Social Economy and Social Research to a candidate approved by the donor. It is open to graduates of Bryn Mawr College or of any other college of good standing.

Two special graduate scholarships in Social Economy are offered to French women, in memory of one who loved France, by two anonymous donors for the year 1919–20. These scholarships are of the value of $575, each, a sum sufficient to meet expenses for the fees of the course, personal expenses and board and room at the College during the college year. An additional sum has been placed at the disposal of the Carola Woerishoffer Department to defray expenses of the journey to and from America, etc. These scholarships are intended for women who wish to devote themselves to preparation in Industrial Supervision and Employment Management under the Carola Woerishoffer Graduate Department of Social Economy and Social Research. They are open for competition to all French women who have received the Baccalaureate degree, who are especially fitted by temperament and character for supervision of groups of industrial workers or of workers in industry, and who have, since the completion of their college course, studied for one or more years in a university or have carried on study especially fitting them for direction in industrial establishments or whose vocational experience has been of special value for such work. Information with regard to these scholarships may be secured from Mlle. de Saint-Exupéry, 39 Rue Pierre Belou, Le Mans, Sarthe, who will also receive applications from candidates. Applications of candidates may also be addressed to M. Petit Dutaillis, Office Nationale des Ecoles et Universités Francaises, 96 Boulevard Raspail, Paris, or to The Recording Dean of Bryn Mawr College, Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania, U. S. A.

The fellowships and scholarships are intended as an honour, and are awarded in recognition of previous attainments; generally speaking, they will be awarded to the candidates that have studied longest or to those whose work gives most promise of future success. All fellows may study for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, the fellowship being counted, for this purpose, as equivalent to the degree of Bachelor of Arts. Fellows that continue their studies at the college after the expiration of the fellowship, may, by a vote of the directors, receive the rank of Fellows by Courtesy.

Fellows are expected to attend all college functions, including commencement exercises, to wear academic dress, to assist in the conduct of examinations, and to give about an hour a week to the care of special libraries in the halls of residence and in the seminaries, but no such service may be required of them except by a written request from the president's office; they are not permitted while holding the fellowship to teach, or to undertake any other duties in addition to their college work. They are expected to uphold the college standards of scholarship and conduct and to give loyal support to the Students’ Association for Self-Government. They are required to reside in the college and are assigned rooms by the Secretary of the College. They are charged the usual fee of five hundred and thirty dollars for tuition, board, room-rent, and infirmary care.

The holder of a fellowship is expected to devote at least one-half her time to the department in which the fellowship is awarded, and to show by the presentation of a thesis or in some other manner that her studies have not been without result.

Opportunity is offered by the College Settlement of Philadelphia for two graduate students to reside at the settlement, paying a minimum rate of board, to take at least six hours of practice work at the settlement, and to pursue courses in the Carola Woerishoffer Graduate Department.

Scholars are expected to reside in the college, to attend all college functions, including commencement exercises, to wear academic dress and to assist in the conduct of examinations. It is understood that they will uphold the college standards of scholarship and conduct and give loyal support to the Students’ Association for Self-Government.

Application for resident fellowships or scholarships should be made to the President of the College on a form obtained from the President’s office, as early as possible, and not later than the first of April preceding the academic year for which the fellowship or scholarship is desired. A definite answer will be given within two weeks from the latest date set for receiving applications. Any original papers, printed or in manuscript, which have been prepared by the applicant and sent in support of her application will be returned when stamps for that purpose are enclosed, or specific directions for return by express are given. Letters or testimonials will be filed for reference.

For graduate students attending six or more hours a week of lectures and for fellows and graduate scholars the tuition fee is one hundred and twenty-five dollars a year, payable half-yearly in advance. An emergency fee of one hundred dollars payable in advance is charged in addition all students with the exception of fellows and graduate scholars and graduate students taking less than eight hours a week of lectures. For other graduate students* who do not wish to devote all their time to graduate work

*Diploma of Philosophy of Bryn Mawr College may attend lectures or work in the laboratories without payment of any fee except for material used in the laboratory.
the fees are as follows, payable in advance: for one hour a week of lectures, ten dollars a semester; for two hours a week of lectures, twenty dollars a semester; for three hours a week of lectures, thirty dollars a semester; and for four or five hours a week of lectures, forty dollars a semester.* This arrangement is made especially for non-resident graduate students, but those who wish to take five hours a week of lectures or less may live in the college halls on the understanding that they must give up their rooms if needed for students who are taking the full amount of graduate work and paying the regular tuition fee. The tuition fee for the semester becomes due as soon as the student is registered in the college office. No reduction of this fee can be made on account of absence, dismissal during the currency of the semester, term, or year covered by the fee in question, or for any other reason whatsoever.

Graduate students taking courses in the department of Social Economy and Social Research are charged a laboratory fee of $5 a semester and may also be required to provide themselves with two 50-trip tickets between Bryn Mawr and Philadelphia costing $15.30. Any extra expenses for train fares or car fares or other charges in connection with the work required by the department will be defrayed by the department.

Residence in the college buildings is optional except for holders of resident fellowships and scholarships. In each hall of residence, except Merion Hall, a special wing or corridor is reserved for graduate students, and in order to secure entire quiet no undergraduate students are permitted to engage rooms in the graduate wings. The expense of board and residence in the graduate wings of the college halls is four hundred dollars. Of this amount three hundred dollars is the charge for board, and is payable half-yearly in advance; the remainder is room-rent, and is payable yearly in advance. Room-rent includes all expenses of furnishing, service, heating, and light.†

A deposit of fifteen dollars is required from each graduate student, fellow, or scholar who desires to reserve a room in a hall of residence. The amount of this deposit will be deducted from the rent if the room is occupied by the student; it will be refunded if the student gives formal notice to the Secretary of the College before the fifteenth of July preceding the academic year for which the application is made that she wishes to

* The fees charged are reckoned on the basis of the actual hours of conference or lecture, irrespective of the number of undergraduate hours to which the course is regarded as equivalent.

In counting the number of hours for which a graduate student is registered the following special arrangements are made in regard to laboratory courses: payment for a one-hour lecture course in a scientific department entitles the student to four hours of laboratory work in addition with no extra charge except the laboratory fee. Students registered for laboratory work only, are charged the following tuition fee: for each two and one-half hours of undergraduate laboratory course and for each five hours of graduate laboratory course the same fee as for a one-hour lecture course. The laboratory fee is charged in addition to the charge for tuition.

† Rugs and towels must be furnished by the students themselves. Graduate students will, upon request, be supplied with rugs.
