English Novelist will lecture on "Creating a Novel"

How novelists work and gather their material will be the theme of Hugh Walpole's talk in the auditorium at 4 o'clock. The address is un- dispensable, where those whose members will entertain Mr. Wal- pole at tea and dinner in Pembroke.

Mr. Walpole is known for his own methods in novel-writing, the source of his plots, and his adventures while in search of material—such as the time when he was forced to exchange coats with a Bolshevik on the streets of Petro- grad. He will also relate some of his experiences in war-time Russia, where he gathered data for his "The Secret City." Novel-writing is regarded by Mr. Walpole as a serious occupation, not as a pastime. "I am a bookworm," he explains regrettably. His characters are creatures of his own imagination. He maintains that the name of "The Green Mirror," and in "The Golden Scarecrow" he is only trying to embody a little boy brought up in unpleasant surroundings. "The Duchess of Wrexe," "The Doctor's Story," and "The Toys of Mr. Walpole's" other novels.

Dedicated for Service: the War, Mr. Walpole is the son of the Bishop of Edinburgh. He was brought up in a seclusion at the Loose Cross, Kings College, Aberdeen, later took an honor's degree in History at Cam- bridge, and started life as a young man in a school. Then he went to Lon- don, did journalism for a living, and began to write novels. "The Wooden Horse" in 1909, was his first book. Since then he has produced one a year. Mr. Walpole went to Russia first as a soldier and later as special govern- mental commissar to survey conditions in Russia. These years of service in Russia, for which he received the Ger- man medal, made upon him the indelible impression which he transferred to the characters in his books which have been called "Russian novels in English.

Mr. Walpole is also a friend of Henry James, who left him a legacy. Tickets for the lecture may be bought from H. Harrison, Denbigh, -75 for outsiders and $8.50 for members of the corps.

Norwegian Undergraduate Arrives

Walter, a Norwegian under- student to enter Bryn Mawr, was enrolled last week as a member of the class of 1922 and submitted his Russian Law course at the College. Before his arrival in America on October 29, Miss Gade had never heard of Walter. He was the only Norwegian she had known, also she lives in Germanat, she met her husband in Norway.

"Bryn Mawr is wonderful," Miss Gade said to a News reporter, "and I have just met a Norwegian student. Norwegian girls are much nicer than the ones in Norway. It is very common for the Norwegian girls to come to our college. Before the war they went to Government school, and some of our students are in the same one who went there." Miss Gade lived near Bergen and went to the University of Christiania where the student examinations that would admit her to the University of Christiania.

4C. S. C. HOLDS FIRST CONFERENCE ENECKET BRYN MAWR

College Report Increase in Membership and Enthusiasm

The need for community development, its connection with college life, and plans of organization, were among the subjects brought up at the annual meeting of the Intercollegiate Com- munity Service Association, held at Bryn Mawr last weekend. In addition to 33 members of the association, the delegates included Mrs. Harvey, Dean of Adelphi College, and Miss Noble and Mrs. E. W. White, the leaders of the New York city college settlement... (text continues with unidentifiable words and phrases)

New Interest Reports from the I. C. S. A. chapters in the different colleges were read at the close of the conference, and those of Miss Mary Gove Smith, organizing secretary of the National Settlements, interest in social service work had been undergoing a slump in the last few years on the campus of the colleges now, as a result of vigorous publicity campaigns, the membership in the I. C. S. A. chapters is increasing rapidly. Wells College leading with 90 per cent, and Vassar next with 50 per cent.

I. C. S. A. A. RIVAL C. A.

A special meeting of the chapter with $1.00 dues, is organized in most of the colleges, that seems to work in com- munion with the Christian Association. At Bryn Mawr the I. C. S. A. is incor- porated into the Social Service Committee of the Christian Association, the chairman of which automatically be- comes the college elector to the confer- ence. At Vassar, in accordance with the wishes of the President, all social work is carried on by the Christian Association and the I. C. S. A. merely has outside speakers and conferences services to New York settlement houses.

Elmira Teachers in Training School.

One of the students of the school for the most part confined to community centers, college settlements, and hospi- tals, has taken a course in Elmira opened in some places. At Elmira the students started a Teachers' Training School for girls whose parents were too poor to take care of them.

AMY LOWELL READS POEM NOT YET PUBLISHED TO CROWDED AUDIENCE

Says Vers-Libre Needs No Explaining

"I will attempt no explanation of ver- libre," says Miss Lowell, "because its principles are now so well-known," began Miss Amy Lowell imagist poet, who read a programme of poems from a packet of Chap- book Yesterday in the auditorium of the Reeling and Whirling Club. If you want to hear any of the poems, she added, "just yell." Miss Lowell read a long poem, not from a Persian, which will ap- pear in the December Bookman. The poem concerned a fox who traveled to a sacred city to worship the moon. Another of her longer poems was "The House on Main Street," written in Yen- kleese.

The first part of the poem is not from Miss Low- ell's last book, "Floating Islands," but the first selections. They included a poem called "Preparation," which had been which had been returned by Poetry and Sara Teasdale, because they could not understand it. Miss Lowell also read an ode to "Tink" her cat. "She had white background with a coat of many colors, and he made me homesick," she added. The poem was followed by a dramatic poem, "Crossroads," read at Miss Don- sely's request. Miss Lowell read ver- libre poems on request including the well-known "Patterns" and a war poem. "The Bombardment." Miss Lowell was Weeping at Contemplative Club Miss Lowell laughedingly denounced, at the Reeling and Whirling Club, that she had been asked to read a poem by the Club. A debate on verse-libre had taken place under Miss Lowell's discussion on "Whitman and the New Poetry." Miss Lowell has always spoken to the Russian club on condition that there should be no debate, and the discussion, said Miss Lowell, "is not a Boston Herald reporter, merely made her plumb mad.

Miss Lowell's evening classes, she also says, are dinner, at which the members phone phole her in the day-time. She is a small pistol carried in her purse in case of burglars, and goes to bed at 8.00 a. m. to sleep six hours.

Necessity for Human Contact is Pina of Miss White.

"Keeping alive in America, democratic contacts" is the object of the I. C. S. A. as expressed by Mrs. Eva Whiting White, Director of Training of the I. C. S. A. and non-resident lecturer in the Carola Woerdhoffer department at Bryn Mawr, who led the discussion in Rocke- feller Hall Saturday afternoon. Mrs. White pointed out that the methods community service and neighborhood or- ganization made good in the war organ- ization for food conservation, and the same ideas must be used to relax the present tenses in the industrial situa- tion all over the country, that we must learn and sympathy between the different classes and races must be gained by representing human contacts through recre- ational and house programs.

The work of the National Social Unit is sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. E. W. White, Secretary of the Unit, at the meeting held in Taylor Hall Saturday night. The purpose of the association was explained by Mr. Phillips was that the peo- ple, in order to meet their common needs must first understand the "interdependence of the community" is used. Final Vote on May Day Next Week

Alumnae Describe Fete at Mass Meet- ing

In preparation for the final vote to be introduced in the May Day parade, was described by several Alumnae at a mass meeting held in the chapel last night. Miss Louise Reilly, Miss Julia Annesley Vancil (Myra Effi, '88) and Miss Margaret Clapp of the Lantern slides of several May Days were read.

Mrs. Vancil, who took the part of Tithania in the 1906 May Day, described the organization and business side. Touching on rehearsals, she declared that May Day involves no more work for her than any other play, though the impression of more work is be- cause the whole college is working at it.

Miss Lucy Donnelly, speaking of the May Day plays from the point of view of literature, described the charm of May Day as lying in its connection with the past and its revival of old customs. Among the plays given in the past with most success she mentioned "Robin Hood" which had been done by the Old Boys' "Wives" and "The Old Wives' Tale." One or two longer plays given, such as "Campagnes," and "Jerome", are among the shorter ones. "It seems rather Bryn Mawr's part has been, the making of things for old drama. I hope that if May Day is given this year one or two plays may be produced, which have not been tried before." The first May Day 1907, given up in the next week, "Varsity," an old form in the benefit of the Student Building Fund was outlined by Miss Reilly, a member of the first May Day committee. One of the problems which worried the com- mittee at that time, she declared, was whether the Elizabethan fate could be carried with Jacobsen Gothic buildings. The production of "Vivat" from the New York first, on which sixty had been expected. Straits Defeated Landowne,6-3

E. Gool Plays Consistently Good Game Varsity won a scrappy victory over Landowne last Saturday with a score of 6-3. The visiting team, which fought, in spite of the poor condition of the field obviously worried the Varsity players. E. Cecil, '21, at right wing did the best work. Varsity, fouling her op- posing foulback continually, and receiv- ing good support from E. Weaver, '20, found a way to score.

James W. Gerard Addresses Bryn Mawr Club in New York

Former Ambassador James W. Gerard was the speaker at the annual Spring Luncheon given at the Bryn Mawr Club in New York City on November 19. Mr. Gerard was the successor for the part they had played in the war and to the assistance of the United States in the struggle now before the- country—of overthrowing bolshevism.

Mr. Gerard was a member of the New York committee of the class of 1915, told of the plans for raising money for the campaign and ball which will be given at Hotel Plaza on December 8.

NEW GOVERNMENT OF INDUSTRIAL AFFAIRS

Dr. Kallen Says Congress Should Be Placed by Soviet

"Living under the present political or-organization is like wearing a dress that fits ten years ago; industrial conditions compel a new form of government," said Dr. Kallen, professor of the New School of Social Research in New York addressing the Discussion Club Monday evening.

"Education and Industrial Democracy," Dr. Kallen's topic, was discussed in the newspapers, and you will find the remaining 5 per cent. filled with reports of unrest. Dr. Kallen says the Press the representatives of the people who are afraid of change, who are afraid to have their hands dirty in the political life of the country.

The unrest, about which the press laments, will presumably be less a symptom of a definite change in so-structure, called by its believers Industrial Democracy, or by the Soviet Bolshevism." The source of unrest, according to Dr. Kallen, is the conflict between American Democracy and the and the governing political democracy, found on an economy essentially agricultural.

1922 Triumphs on Final

Will Meet 1921 in Finals

The Sophomores won their way into the finals of the conference, and have the game of the first team preliminaries by the score of 8-6.

The Sophomores had a hard first half, making their first score near the end, after a struggle in front of the West Point goal. The opening second half with a rush, the Sophomores

Senior Second to Meet 1922 in Finals

With a score of 7, the Senior second team, playing a strong game, won the preliminaries Monday, 1921, fighting for the second place in the conference. The Senior's steady defense, well organized around I. Arnold, took advantage of the game, and the Sophomore

Requirements for Social Hygiene Licenses Include Examination

Dr. Potter's series of lectures is remended to every student before graduation. Students who have attended only the first lectures in the course of 1921-1922 are required to attend the whole series this year.

An examination will be given covering the whole course some time after the last lecture. Attendance at the lectures will not affect the examination mark. No one except Seniors may take the course before she has had one year of science.

Dean Smith is asking that everyone

JUNIOR FIRST TIES, THEN BEATS LIMEHOUSE FOR PRELIMINARY TITLES. 1921's first team tied 1920 a week ago today with a score of 3-1, and by superior team-play beat them last Friday with a score of 4-0.

In Friday's game, with a strong defense, the juggled forward line of the senior team worked its way through the Blue half-backs—M. Carey and B. Weaver. Both were too much for the Blue team to understand—who failed to see the opportunity that existed. C. Garrisson and E. Taylor, fullbacks, withstanding the Senior forwards, showed good team-play in playing into the hands of the halves.

JUNIOR THIRD CLINICHE VICTORY OVER 1920 AND REACHES FINALS
Battering down the Senior defense on third last Friday, 1921 triumphed into the finals with a score of 5-0.

The impregnable Junior forward line, with a strong defense in the field and against the ball, reached the Senior goal, where M. Fortritt put up a strong defense. Playing the ball to his right and left corners. The team-work between H. Hill, V. L. Riddle, and E. Kales on the red forward line was the feature of the game, and '20's forwards could make little headway against the Junior defense.

1922 SHUTS OUT FRESHMAN SECOND TEAM FROM FINALS
Winning its way into the finals, the Sophomore second team triumphed over the Freshmen with a score of 5-0, in the second game of the preliminaries last Wednesday.

Slow playing with little headwork characterized the game. During the first half, in spite of a muddy field, the Freshmen defense defied all attempts at making a goal, shot more defensively, and finally won an easy victory in the second half.

Students Start Work at Hospitals and Blinds School.
Double the number of last year's volunteer readers for the Blind School at Overbrook have started work this year. Twenty-five students have signed for the reading and for hospital visiting, while thirty-one are working at the Community. All social Service work began last week.

The work of Byns students was reported by Mr. Curley, Director of the Blind School, to be the most satisfactory volunteer work he had ever known.

GRADUATE TENNIS TEAM YIELDS TO VARIETY
Varsity defeated the Graduate tennis team on Saturday, winning two out of three matches. M. Barker, of Cambridge, was defeated by Z. Boynton, '28; L. Richardson, '28, beat K. Gardner, '28; Junior National Champion, and F. I. Smith, '23, a substitute for A. Hawkins, '07, was defeated by H. Rice, '19.
The match between Miss Boynton and Miss Barker was a fight from start to finish—both playing the same cross court, back-line game. In the first set, which finally went to Miss Barker, the rallies seemed interminable—Miss Barker relying on her free back-hand to outwit Miss Boynton's drive. Miss Boynton gained the last two sets by hard and steady hitting.
The scores were: Z. Boyonts vs. M. Barker, 7-9, 6-3, 6-3; L. Richardson vs. K. Gardner, 6-8, 6-4; and H. Rice vs. I. Smith, 6-1, 6-4.

FRESHMEN TRY OUT FOR TRACK
Records to Form Basis of Squads
Track tryouts and practices have been put on a new basis this year by D. McBride, '21, Track Manager, and the Track Committee. To avoid wasting time in the spring, all the Freshmen are being tried out for high and broad jumps, by the Junior track captain and manager, at the time of the apparatus tryouts. Records in running and throwing will be taken at the drills. The track captain keeps the records of each student, and those who come up to a certain standard will be called out on the track squad for intensive training in the spring. Track can be registered as exercise only by those who are on the regular squad. Anyone wishing to change his record may practice during the winter and report improvement to her captain.
The records for high and broad jumping will be included in the Physical Efficiency Tests of all four classes, which the gymnastics department is continuing from last year. Efforts are being made to obtain records of everyone, so that college averages can be compiled.

DR. CHEYNEY COMPARES PRICES TO 18TH CENTURY CRISIS
"Giving up supper twice a week was one measure taken in the crisis of high prices during Queen Elizabeth's reign." Dr. Cheyney, professor of history at the University of Pennsylvania, at the History Club last Thursday, told how Dr. Cheyney compared the high price crisis of 1844 to 1858 with that of the present time.
"Republican governments are more numerous stronger than autocratic at such times," said Dr. Cheyney. "They have fewer complaints about controlling the individual." The Elizabethan government did not raise taxes for establishing the food prices. Wheat was known to rise as high as $400 a bushel. The only hope in the present crisis, according to Dr. Cheyney, lies in hastening peace and pushing social reforms.
"I am sorry," he said, "that men are distracted from reforms because they are too busy damming the river."

ELECT GRADUATES TO C. A. COMMITTEE
The graduate club elected representatives for eight Christian Association committees last week. The other two representatives, M. Gillim, Social Service, and M. Pease, World Mission, were chosen earlier in the year.
Those elected are: Bates House, A. Martin; Employment, C. E. Hoven; World Mission, C. Price; Study, G. Wang; Finance, E. Early; Misses' Sunday School, C. Needham; Church, C. Dorey; Sewing, L. Smith; Library, C. Basche; Publicity, E. Dels; Religious meetings, H. Adair.
Miss Copen was on the cabinet last year. Miss Martin has been familiar with the work of the Bates committee through work at the camp several summers ago. E. Dules was chairman of the Social Service committee in 1915 and 1916.

APPARATUS MEET TAKES PLACE OF GYMNASIUM CONTESTS
The Sophomore-Freshman gymnastic contests have been given up and an indoor apparatus meet between the first and second teams of all four classes has been substituted for it. The gym shield will be given to the winning team.
In the meet some original and some required exercises will be done by the teams on the parallel bars, high bar and ropes. The individual cup will be competed for at this meet.
The apparatus contest is being managed by the Athletic Association as a minor sport, but the gymnastics department organizes the apparatus classes which Freshmen and Sophomores are required to attend.

EDITOR OF "SURVEY" TO SPEAK ON BRITISH LABOR PARTY
Paul Elicko, editor of the Survey, will speak on the British Labor Party this evening in the chapel, giving the sixth lecture in the course on modern social problems.
Mr. Elicko was sent to England last year by the Survey to study the British Labor Party. He has worked on such committees as the New York City Commission on Congestion of Population; the committee to assure a United States Commission on Industrial Relations; and the Executive Committee of the American Association for Labor Legislation.
He spoke at the International Social Service Conference, held at Atlantic City last June. The World Citizenship course is founded on this conference. C. D.

The newsworthy item this week is history in the news.
"Ricardo the Ribal, a pleasantly conceited tragedy of blood and thunder," will be performed for students taking Major English in History of the Drama, next Monday evening, in the Rockefeller Non-Resident Students' Dining Room.

CHALLENGE STATEMENTS, SAYS MRS. ROBINS
Trade Union Activities Described
Mrs. Raymond Robins, president of the Women's National Trade Union League, spent last evening in Taylor Hall on Trade Unions, giving the fourth lecture in the course on social problems.

"You must challenge statements to know who is speaking in the world," Mrs. Robins said, and told of seeing striking girls arrested on false charges. The strike gave her no great surprise, false witness was belied, and policeman were paid $5 for every girl they arrested. Women are afraid for their lives, according to Mrs. Robins, started with the arrival of the revolutionists, who petitioned for a shorter working-day. "The present Trade Union League includes from five to six hundred thousand women, chiefly girls, without opportunities who are eager to share the heritage of the past."

Educational councils have been established by the League in Chicago and other cities. Besides classes in the accepted curriculum subjects, they offer political geography, history of trade unionism, and effective public speaking. Commissary stores for workers are another League institution. Taping a Chicago strike 50,000 unorganized strikers were supplied with four found under the system of puncturing cards. The money to run the stores was mostly supplied by the earnings of the working people. $100 in pennies was brought in.

EXCHANGE PROFESSOR WILL TALK ON EMPIRE PROBLEMS
"Peace Problems and their Solution," will be the subject of a lecture to be given tomorrow to the history and economics students by Professor A. P. Newton, exchange professor from King's College, University of London. Dr. Newton will speak in Taylor Hall at 8 o'clock.

Dr. Newton represents the University Bureau of the British Empire and the Colonial Institute. He will address the graduate students in the afternoon on "Historical Records in England and their Access." The History Club will entertain Dr. Newton at dinner.

DR. GRIFFIN CALLS VISION A NECESSITY FOR FURTHER PROGRESS
Dr. Frederick Griffiths, of the First Unitarian Church in Philadelphia, spoke in chapel Sunday evening on vision, dominating idea that is necessary for progress.

"In life," he said, "there are two great processes, progress and decay. The latter is marked by destruction and change, and the former by single constancy, by faith, but with joy." "The factor," he continued, "lies between the processes, which is called vision." In life this vision is more than a concrete goal. It could be like Buddha's, which overwhelming sense of responsibility to the universal brotherhood.

He spoke of the ethical theories of the world, of ethics, of expediency, politics, utility of a class, a church, or a people. Men and women are actuated by these instead of "by their vision of the very highest," God's will.

He admitted that following this vision would not be successful, at first, as was the case of the first men who died in the past war. But he said "It is better to sacrifice your life for the static conception of what you think is duty than to spend your life in service of what you think is wrong."

MODEL SCHOOL THEATER OPENS
The new theater at the Model School, planned after the model brought by President Thomas from Japan, will be formally opened before Thanksgiving with an exhibition given by the pupils of the school.

The theater will be used for dramatizations of history and English lessons, as well as for plays.

President Thomas was so pleased with "Pagoda Sketch," a magazine issued by the school last spring, and dedicated to her, that she wanted the school to have a theater. The model which was given as a plan for the theater was made by the finest carver in Japan.

According to Tumi Uchida, '20, who has explained the construction of the theater, the actor's skunk in the center is for the common people. It corresponds to the pit in old English theaters. The elevations on the sides at the level of the stage are for musicians in the musical plays and may or may not be used by the actor. The sides of the theater are well raised for boxes, which are the back seats. Between the two elevations on each side is a long aisle down which the actors run when entering from the back.

FACULTY HOECY REORGANIZED
The Faculty played the Junior hockey team in the afternoon and the Sophomore in the evening, with a score of 9-7. Members of the faculty who played were Dr. Brunel, Dr. Fawcett, Dr. Carpenter, Miss Dowd, Mrs. Carpenter (Eleanor Hill, '16), Dr. David, Dr. Creeshaw, Dr. Bisell, Dr. Perry, Dr. Guicci and Dr. Barnes.

The Faculty team which was given up when the captain, Dr. Rhys Carpenter entered war service, has been re-organized by him this year.

REVIEW TO APPEAR AS "SPECIAL FRESHMAN SUPPLEMENT"
A "Special Freshman Supplement" is the form in which the second number of the Bryn Mawr Review will appear a few days before Thanksgiving. "No Junior with spirit of grace or wish to be without this number, in which Freshmen may see themselves as others see them," is the prediction of a Review editor.

A cartoon by Dr. Rhys Carpenter, on the subject of "Sociology," — Faculty Hockey — will be a feature of this number. The table of contents also includes an article by Mr. A. G. Barbey on "The Aeroplane Factory," and a serial by V. Liddell—the first installment of which this month. With the sentiment found that the alley was a blind one and that he feels a bowling mood.
