ANCIENT CHRISTMAS CAROLS SINGED BY MIDDLE SCHOOL

"Shepherd's Scene" Written, Costumed and Acted by Pupils of School

Specially Contributed

A Christmas story from the Galilean, French and Latin carols arranged by Mr. Placido de Monlouli and "A Shepherd's Scene" translated and adapted from a classroom by Mr. Class VII, were given by the Phoebe Anna Thorne Model School, on December 21, in Taylor Hall. Kress interest was shown in the program by a large audience, not only because of the intrinsic beauty of the music, but because the dramatic interpretation given in the songs and the play was entirely the work of the pupils of the school, all the costumes used in the play also being made by the pupils, under the direction of the school art director, Mr. Placido de Monlouli.

"The Shepherd's Scene," which was laid in a Judean shepherd's home on the evening of the birth of Christ, was entirely the work of Miss Kelley, who took the part of the old shepherd in the play. The writing and directing was accomplished, and the color of the shepherd's life, but a sense of mystery, which was admirably interpreted by each actor. The absolute sincerity and reverence of the pupils taking part in the scene lifted it out of the "the ordinary" and made it a rich experience for those who saw it. The interpretation regained all that it may have lost under familiar usage.

Mr. Placido de Monlouli was assisted in arranging the old tunes by Professor J. M. Beck, former professor of Old French at Bryn Mawr, and by Mr. Kurt Schindler.

splendid teamwork of Brown players outdoing tactics of visitors. Frequent stumbles and clever stickwork made possible a 19-16 victory in the hockey game of the season on the Saturday before Christmas vacation. Not so close a match at last year's in which the victory went to Bryn Mawr 6-3, the game was nevertheless packed with interest from the start; the splendid teamwork of Varsity made a turn of the tables imminent, its failure to date most directly perhaps to the mediocre shooting of the forward line.

Taking the visitors by surprise the Brown forward line in the last game of the season, Mr. Placido de Monlouli at once on center scored the first goal of the game, a neat stroke following a combination out of the wing left in spirit. Despite the subsequent worries which the visitors got away with half the ball again and again, hammered at the goal for the near goal. The score stood 1-0 until the second period. When it stillified. A. Noell at right half passed the ball to the left. Mont, left inside, which passed to Noell and Noell glided through with E. W. Wood of Varsity.

Scrapy play opened the second period; Noell scored on Varsity for two. The score was 1-0. Two goals from Varsity, that, in turn, by a long

VOLUNTARY COMPULSORY PLAN FOR CHAPEL WELL SUPPORTED

GIGANTIC DEMONSTRATION OF OPINION PLANNED

To Discuss Plans for Regulating Chapel Attendance Tomorrow Night

The questionnaire submitted to the Collegetown was designed to determine the students' stand in regard to continuing Sunday chapel resulted in a vote of 220 for the voluntary compulsory plan, by which each student pledges herself to attend a given number of Sundays each month. As a result of this vote the average chapel attendance of 102 is assured, exclusive of the choir, faculty and outside students. Twenty-five votes for compulsory chapel, and twenty-five for abolishing chapel. Full reports are given above. A definite plan for regulating chapel Attendance will probably be taken at the meeting of the Christian Association in "Taylor Hall tomorrow evening.

At a mass meeting held before the vote by questionnaires was taken a diversity of opinions were expressed. Reasons for the small attendance at chapel under the present entirely voluntary plan ranged from the ugliness of the chapel to the composition of churches in Bryn Mawr. Some students voted for compulsory chapel and against it as would improve the looks but not the spirit of the chapel. It was noted that the majority should not be obliged to attend chapel because the minority wanted it.

It is conceivable that a voluntary compulsory plan attended or changing the chapel Service nation and the world an expression of the Red Army, and finally made her way through the contest of churches in Bryn Mawr. Compulsory chapel attendance at chapel under the presidency of Mrs. Harrison went on. The students "voted for compulsory chapel, and possible matters for consideration in decisions in Russia..." block the return to normal conditions received strong support.

Possib:e matters for consideration in resolutions are of various sorts, being especially expressions of opinion related to the work of the Conference and matters regarding which it has made decisions for incomplete decisions.

The Bryn Mawr branch of the Student Committee is interested in being planning such a referendum here before mid-years. The Liberal Club will probably co-operate, according to its president, Mr. Fisher, to the delegation to come before President Harding will consist of the student representative from each student body, who will submit a complete file of the original regulations passed by students of thousands of colleges and universities. In this way, the situation in the country will be brought to the attention of the nation and the world an expression of opinion related to the work of the Conference and matters regarding which it has made decisions for incomplete decisions.

RUSTICATED BY COMMITTEE

Tentative plans for a United States Hockey Association, similar to the National Lawn Tennis Association, will be presented by a committee of women in interest of hockey, of which Miss Appleton is chairman, at a meeting on January 21, at the Philadelphia Y. W. C. A.

According to the plans, which were formed during the end of November, the committee hopes, through such an association, not only to organize hockey for women in this country, but also to obtain English coaches for cultivation, and that all sections of the country have been invited to the proposed plan. Only two women, accepted, officers will be elected. Any section with three teams will be eligible for an active position, but directly and colleges could also be allied with the association. Under such an association a section would have the right to choose an overseas team to tour England in February, 1922, and plans are for a national championship tournament to be held in Philadelphia next fall.

On November 15, six Harvard students, nationals of France, England, Japan, China, and Czechoslovakia, discussed the following resolution, before an audience of 200 students; "Resolved: This body believes that there is universal recognition of the Open Door policy; that there be immediate and complete naval holiday; that there be freedom of admission of German and Russian students; that there be an association of all nations to establish and maintain justice."

How can one describe it? That something—that flair—which separates the desirable from the commonplace.

Yet it is very evident at the Blum Store and especially in those styles designed expressly to meet the exacting requirements of college activities.

What Is a Vacuum Furnace?

In an ordinary furnace, materials burn, or combine with the oxygen of the air. Melt zinc, cadmium, or lead in an ordinary furnace and a scum of "dross" appears, an impurity formed by the oxygen. You see it in the lead pots that plumbers use.

In a vacuum furnace, on the contrary, the air is pumped out so that the heated object cannot combine with oxygen. Therefore in the vacuum furnace impurities are not formed.

Clearly, the chemical processes that take place in the two types are different, and the difference is important. Copper, for instance, if impure, loses in electrical conductivity. Vacuum-furnace copper is pure.

So the vacuum furnace has opened up a whole new world of chemical investigation. The Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company have been exploring this new world solely to find out the possibilities under a new series of conditions.

Yet there have followed practical results highly important to industry. The absence of oxidation, for instance, has enabled chemists to combine metals to form new alloys heretofore impossible. Indeed, the vacuum furnace has stimulated the study of metallurgical processes and "has become," indispensable to chemists responsible for the production of metals in quantities.

And this is the result of scientific research.

Discover new facts, add to the sum total of human knowledge, and sooner or later, in many unexpected ways, practical results will follow.

JUNIORS WRING THIRD TEAM CHAMPIONSHIP FROM RED

Pursued from week to week by rain, hail, and snow, the third team battles between the Green and Red could not be played off until the week before the holidays. Then on Tuesday, December 13, with the scores already a game each, the contest which gave the championship to 1923 was finally played, with a score of 3-2.

In spite of the soft and partly snow-covered ground, play was strenuous until the final whistle. Teamwork was rugged on the Junior side, but the continued efforts of the Freshmen, chiefly supported by their fast wings, did not succeed more than twice in breaking through the Green defense.
