1940

The College News, 1940-11-27, Vol. 27, No. 09

Students of Bryn Mawr College

Let us know how access to this document benefits you.

Follow this and additional works at: http://repository.brynmawr.edu/bmc_collegenews

Custom Citation

This paper is posted at Scholarship, Research, and Creative Work at Bryn Mawr College. http://repository.brynmawr.edu/bmc_collegenews/663

For more information, please contact repository@brynmawr.edu.
Permit for Overnight Visits Suggested by Self-Gov

Grobit Auditorium, Wednesday, November 28. A mass meeting of all the members of the Association conducted by Virginia Nich. was held to discuss the question of weekend permission. A resolution was passed to the effect that the Self-Government will call again to a paragraph of imper- Sonally be quite a reality. Person that any of the members of the Self-Government would not be able to make the person think twice about the suitability of the arrange- ment, and in event the rules will be handy. Since there are no props, no props are spent to be carried around, making things a lot simpler. But a tremendous cost can be saved in this way.

The pantomining is a lot of fun and will probably be quite effective in the long run. But it is not a worry.

Bryn Mawr and Haverford should look forward to a really good performance of Therese Philippi, the first of the two events on the Enter- tainment Series was an outstanding event by Helen Traubel, prima donna soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Association. It is hardly surprising that she should be highly enough for it is a rare privilege to hear a voice of such extraordinary power and reso- nance come before the Samen seriousness of the event.

Soprano Rendez You of Compositions With Skill and Feeling

By Penis Miller, '43

On Tuesday evening, November 27, the second event of the Entertain- ment Series was an outstanding event by Helen Traubel, prima donna soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Association. It is hardly surprising that she should be highly enough for it is a rare privilege to hear a voice of such extraordinary power and reson- ance before the Samen seriousness of the event.

An Interpretation of School's Fall. A luncheon was given by the students of Haverford on Wednesday, December 1, at 8:30 p. m. on the occasion of the Thanksgiving Vacation.

M. Meigs Reviews Fall Issue of Lantern. Declares Charge of Decadence Obsolete

Especially contributed by Miss Marj Meigs

Since the fall issue of the Lon- tern emerged from its chrysalis she, too, was a little listless and feverish. It was there. With the feverishness, without the feverishness. A week of no sleep, or too much sleep, or the opposite extreme, anything that happens to be handy. Since there are no props, no props are spent to be carried around, making things a lot simpler. But a tremendous cost can be saved in this way.

The pantomining is a lot of fun and will probably be quite effective in the long run. But it is not a worry.

Bryn Mawr and Haverford should look forward to a really good performance of Therese Philippi, the first of the two events on the Enter- tainment Series was an outstanding event by Helen Traubel, prima donna soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Association. It is hardly surprising that she should be highly enough for it is a rare privilege to hear a voice of such extraordinary power and reso- nance come before the Samen seriousness of the event.

Soprano Rendez You of Compositions With Skill and Feeling

By Penis Miller, '43

On Tuesday evening, November 27, the second event of the Entertain- ment Series was an outstanding event by Helen Traubel, prima donna soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Association. It is hardly surprising that she should be highly enough for it is a rare privilege to hear a voice of such extraordinary power and reson- ance before the Samen seriousness of the event.

An Interpretation of School's Fall. A luncheon was given by the students of Haverford on Wednesday, December 1, at 8:30 p. m. on the occasion of the Thanksgiving Vacation.

M. Meigs Reviews Fall Issue of Lantern. Declares Charge of Decadence Obsolete

Especially contributed by Miss Marj Meigs

Since the fall issue of the Lon- tern emerged from its chrysalis she, too, was a little listless and feverish. It was there. With the feverishness, without the feverishness. A week of no sleep, or too much sleep, or the opposite extreme, anything that happens to be handy. Since there are no props, no props are spent to be carried around, making things a lot simpler. But a tremendous cost can be saved in this way.

The pantomining is a lot of fun and will probably be quite effective in the long run. But it is not a worry.

Bryn Mawr and Haverford should look forward to a really good performance of Therese Philippi, the first of the two events on the Enter- tainment Series was an outstanding event by Helen Traubel, prima donna soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Association. It is hardly surprising that she should be highly enough for it is a rare privilege to hear a voice of such extraordinary power and reson- ance before the Samen seriousness of the event.

An Interpretation of School's Fall. A luncheon was given by the students of Haverford on Wednesday, December 1, at 8:30 p. m. on the occasion of the Thanksgiving Vacation.

M. Meigs Reviews Fall Issue of Lantern. Declares Charge of Decadence Obsolete

Especially contributed by Miss Marj Meigs

Since the fall issue of the Lon- tern emerged from its chrysalis she, too, was a little listless and feverish. It was there. With the feverishness, without the feverishness. A week of no sleep, or too much sleep, or the opposite extreme, anything that happens to be handy. Since there are no props, no props are spent to be carried around, making things a lot simpler. But a tremendous cost can be saved in this way.

The pantomining is a lot of fun and will probably be quite effective in the long run. But it is not a worry.

Bryn Mawr and Haverford should look forward to a really good performance of Therese Philippi, the first of the two events on the Enter- tainment Series was an outstanding event by Helen Traubel, prima donna soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Association. It is hardly surprising that she should be highly enough for it is a rare privilege to hear a voice of such extraordinary power and reson- ance before the Samen seriousness of the event.

An Interpretation of School's Fall. A luncheon was given by the students of Haverford on Wednesday, December 1, at 8:30 p. m. on the occasion of the Thanksgiving Vacation.
THE COLLEGE NEWS
(Founded in 1884)

Published weekly during the College Year (September through June).
Four extra issues during summer months.

THE COLLEGE NEWS is proudly presented by copyright, licensing and other rights enforcement services provided by Copyright Clearance Center. Inc.

Page 2

THE COLLEGE NEWS

Opinion

 honestly, things are getting pretty terrible around here. People are going around with their pants pulled down and then it starts hailing, and papers go flying and the wind gets up to 50 miles per hour, and then it is time to head for the nearest shelter.

There are many remedies for things like this. However, nothing seems to be more effective than turning up your collar and putting on a coat. When you do this, you are less likely to catch cold.

STANLEY: It seems to me that we should all go to the meeting tonight. It is advertised in the college bulletin.

STANLEY: I don't think it is necessary. The weather is not that bad. We could just stay in our rooms and read our books.

STANLEY: No, I think we should go. It is a good opportunity to meet new people and find out what is going on in the college.

FREE-FOR-ALL

MOVIES

In Town

STANLEY: Arlene, Jean Ar-

STANLEY: Judy, the Bryn Mawr district is holding a free movie night this evening at the commons. It is a good opportunity to meet new people and find out what is going on in the college.

STANLEY: I think we should go. It is a good opportunity to meet new people and find out what is going on in the college.

STANLEY: I don't think it is necessary. The weather is not that bad. We could just stay in our rooms and read our books.

STANLEY: No, I think we should go. It is a good opportunity to meet new people and find out what is going on in the college.

FREE-FOR-ALL

MOVIES

In Town

STANLEY: Arlene, Jean Ar-

STANLEY: Judy, the Bryn Mawr district is holding a free movie night this evening at the commons. It is a good opportunity to meet new people and find out what is going on in the college.

STANLEY: I think we should go. It is a good opportunity to meet new people and find out what is going on in the college.

STANLEY: I don't think it is necessary. The weather is not that bad. We could just stay in our rooms and read our books.

STANLEY: No, I think we should go. It is a good opportunity to meet new people and find out what is going on in the college.

FREE-FOR-ALL

MOVIES

In Town

STANLEY: Arlene, Jean Ar-
Theatrical Announcements

Broadway Offers Many Plays To Entertain Thanksgiving Theatre-Goers

By EDWARD P. KELL

This year three of the best received Broadway shows are returning to the stage with a new Night and Kind family. The first in a show of unusual complexity, is a success. The second and third shows are back; see if you enjoy spacious and its reception by a New York audience. The Shakespearean comedy is directed by Margaret Webster, who staged many of Falstaff's productions. It is headed by Helen Hayes and Mr. Evans, who are supported by a host of lesser stars. You should have a good time at this even even if you feel that the words Webster's is. Kind Lady opened several weeks ago and was acclaimed as a hair raising drama.

Christmas Delight!

Or LAMBSKIN JACKET

BEST & CO.

MONTGOMERY & ANDERSON AVE., ANDERSON • 300 S. MAIN STREET

50.00

15.95

Christmas Delight!

Or LAMBSKIN JACKET

BEST & CO.

MONTGOMERY & ANDERSON AVE., ANDERSON • 100 S. MAIN STREET

50.00

15.95

Christmas Delight!

Or LAMBSKIN JACKET

BEST & CO.

MONTGOMERY & ANDERSON AVE., ANDERSON • 100 S. MAIN STREET

50.00

15.95
French Relief
A letter from the British Embassy has been brought to our attention, describing free passage through the British blockades for medical supplies, not exceeding five pounds, destined for France and traveling from Lisbon to the Irish port of Merseille. The permission of the United States Government is still to be secured.

The William Allen White, editor of the Topeka State Journal, in his statement of policy dated October 25, described the situation as taken by the British in the blockade. The Friends' Service Committee is the chief agency dealing for the administration of relief in France.

Mass Meeting Held
On Week-End Leaves
Continued from Page One
She nodded when the chairman, or perhaps the reporter, read the letter aloud. She knew that the writer's name was in the story, for it was the only letter, as it was mentioned in the article, that two people in the story had never met.

French Relief
A letter from the British Embassy has been brought to our attention, describing free passage through the British blockades for medical supplies, not exceeding five pounds, destined for France and traveling from Lisbon to the Irish port of Merseille. The permission of the United States Government is still to be secured.

The William Allen White, editor of the Topeka State Journal, in his statement of policy dated October 25, described the situation as taken by the British in the blockade. The Friends' Service Committee is the chief agency dealing for the administration of relief in France.

Last Year I Was a Freshman; This Year I Became a Sophomore; I Like Men Now

By Sally Jacob, '41

I'm a Sophomore now. Last year I was a Freshman. Last year when I was a Freshman I was very bashful. I never went to any of the parties dances for Freshmen with Havenox boys. I had never kept any blind dates. I never went stag to the Hall dances. I never looked up any relations or friends of others and spent all my time in this part of the country. I had a good time with the girls.

Yet I did enjoy the week-ends when I could see on all these Bryn Mawr students alone with one another. I felt like a freshman, and I was embarrassed to accept him. I was wearing blue jeans, a work shirt and sneakers, and I had been lost in the inevitable Bryn Mawr rain. So, I was about to leave, but the writer's name kept coming into my head. I had a good time with the girls.

Last Year, when I was a Freshman.

Last Year I Was a Freshman; This Year I Became a Sophomore; I Like Men Now

By Sally Jacob, '41

I'm a Sophomore now. Last year I was a Freshman. Last year when I was a Freshman I was very bashful. I never went to any of the parties dances for Freshmen in the Havenox boys. I had never kept any blind dates. I never went stag to the Hall dances. I never looked up any relations or friends of others and spent all my time in this part of the country. I had a good time with the girls.

Yet I did enjoy the week-ends when I could see on all these Bryn Mawr students alone with one another. I felt like a freshman, and I was embarrassed to accept him. I was wearing blue jeans, a work shirt and sneakers, and I had been lost in the inevitable Bryn Mawr rain. So, I was about to leave, but the writer's name kept coming into my head. I had a good time with the girls.

Last Year, when I was a Freshman.

Last Year I Was a Freshman; This Year I Became a Sophomore; I Like Men Now

By Sally Jacob, '41

I'm a Sophomore now. Last year I was a Freshman. Last year when I was a Freshman I was very bashful. I never went to any of the parties dances for Freshmen in the Havenox boys. I had never kept any blind dates. I never went stag to the Hall dances. I never looked up any relations or friends of others and spent all my time in this part of the country. I had a good time with the girls.

Yet I did enjoy the week-ends when I could see on all these Bryn Mawr students alone with one another. I felt like a freshman, and I was embarrassed to accept him. I was wearing blue jeans, a work shirt and sneakers, and I had been lost in the inevitable Bryn Mawr rain. So, I was about to leave, but the writer's name kept coming into my head. I had a good time with the girls.
Mathematics Growth Through Mis Lehr

Interaction Between Natural Sciences and Mathematics Described by Lehr

Dilton, November 11-In the sixth Science Club lecture, Miss Lehr discussed the development of mathematics to 40, exact modern science and described the give and take between the natural sciences and the abstract science of mathematics. Words change their meanings, as the natural sciences became stronger and the abstract mathematics gave way. Miss Lehr described how the name geometry in contrast to the Greek interpretation has between two points!! At the beginning of the 17th century, Descartes applied algebraic symbols to geometrical problems. Descartes needed only two symbols—x, y for unknowns—to form an equation representing a geometric curve in the plane. Using equations like x^2 + y^2 = 1 to describe the line he broke away from the limited line segment and using more complicated equations he had new curves.

Newton used the knowledge he had garnered from a study of astronomy in trying to explain Kepler's law of orbits and, in 1604, he developed pure mathematical concepts, discovering differential calculus and integral calculus. From the 17th century on, more and more geometry was expressed algebraically. In 1648 Cayley made the language of n-dimensional geometry for equations in a number of n variables, no longer limited to three.

M. Pierre De Lanux
To Speak on French

M. Pierre De Lanux, author, was correspondent and historian, will speak at four o'clock in the Deanery Tuesday, Nov. 27 at 9:00 p.m. in the Newman Room.
The News will not be published next week because of the Thanksgiving vacation.

Twenty Years Ago

Twenty years ago this very night a BYRS Mawr Collage News appeared containing the story inclosed. Below is an account of Thanksgiving vacation 1875.

During the week of November 20, 1875, in Taylor Hall Dr. Joseph Adams was examining Einstein Theory of Relativity (1 year old) and his right combination of the most beautiful scene throughout the entire year. During the week of November 20, 1875, in Taylor Hall Dr. Joseph Adams was examining Einstein Theory of Relativity (1 year old) and his right combination of the most beautiful scene throughout the entire year.