Brynn Mawr Named Sole Culprit in Blackout; Situation Tense as Officialdom Takes Over

Brynn Mawr, Feb. 10, P. M. — Last Friday night, Mayor H. C. Graham put a stop to the tension by publicly stating that the town was not to blame for the defect of power that resulted in the blackout which occurred in Brynn Mawr and adjacent towns.

Mayor Graham, in his speech, stated that the blackout was caused by the town's electrical system, and that efforts were being made to prevent any recurrence of such an occurrence.

The mayor also expressed his appreciation to the residents of the town for their patience and understanding during the blackout.

Due to the sudden outage of Mr. Mudge’s switchboard, many of the city’s street lights were darkened. Several of the residents complained about the lack of light, and some stated that they had difficulty seeing their way home.

The mayor assured the public that steps were being taken to ensure the safety and efficiency of the city’s electrical system.

THE COLLEGE NEWS

City Hall, January 14, 1361 – The Seventeenth Century was a time of great change, as evidenced by the development of new ideas and attitudes. One of the most significant changes was the shift from a theological to a more secular outlook.

During this time, attitudes towards religion and spirituality were evolving, leading to a greater emphasis on individualism and personal expression. This change was reflected in the arts, literature, and philosophy, as well as in the political and social spheres.

The Seventeenth Century was a period of transition and experimentation, as society grappled with the challenges of the modern world. It was a time of both opportunity and uncertainty, as people sought to navigate a rapidly changing landscape.

This evolution of attitudes and ideas continues to influence our world today, as we confront new challenges and seek to shape a better future for all.

You can help speed this vital War-Time Service!

Every telephone user can help keep lines open and speed the service by following a few simple rules:

1. Be sure you have the right number before you make a call.
2. Don’t ask “information” for numbers that are listed in the directory.
3. Answer all calls as quickly as possible.
4. Be sure to “hang up” after each call. Don’t let a conversation or anything else hold the telephone “off the hook.”
5. If you can conveniently call at other times, try to avoid making calls during the peak periods of telephone traffic — 9:30 to 11:30 a.m., 2 to 4 p.m., and 7 to 9 p.m.

Thank You.

Williamson from Page One Choir artist: the superb voice, one of the finest the public can hear today, expresses the camaraderie and accuracy of interest in emotional intensity of international law.

The daughter of a Norfolk priest, Miss Maynor received her first training in the choir of her father's church. She is a graduate of Hampton and toured Europe with that Institute's famous choir. Afterwards, she studied at the Westminster Choir school in Princeton, N. J., and in New York City.

Miss Maynor's chief interest outside of music seem to be domestic and athletic. But also, her German lessons, voice lessons and practice do not have much time for such diversions.

Hudson States Scope of International Law

The relations between states." He cautioned against the danger of a close analogy between private and international law, stating that "private ownership in private law does not hold in international law." What he termed this "international law." The difficulty here is that States are being born and frequently dying as "that line which you could make of states under international law must always be changing."

Recent years have seen the death of such states as Hawaii, Puerto Rico, and Montenegro and the creation of new ones, as the Baltic states of Poland, the United States, the Philippines, and Indonesia.

Dr. Hudson cited four sources of international law. One of the most important is international conventions. Other forms of law and treaties have been registered with the Secretariat of the League of Nations in the last twenty years. Most states have bilateral treaties with their neighbors, and the number of multiple treaties is large also. Another chief source is custom. That a nation can act in a matter, Dr. Hudson pointed out, "and then say 'this is international law.' The latter portion the air raid office, wardens have caused increased prices. Harvard Conference Studies Settlements; Discusses Problems

Specially contributed by Victor French, '43.

The Intercollegiate Conference on Settlement Service held last weekend at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology brought together representatives from several eastern and mid-western colleges to discuss the types of settlement houses in the country and possibilities of improving them.

On Friday evening the college representatives met at the Holyoke, a home for children, and the Charles Brown Center, the settlement house of the Boston University Settlement. Early Saturday morning the conference adjourned for a tour of the Freshman Handbook, and the chairman of the committee, Mr. J. C. A. Brown, who is responsible for working together on the Freshman Handbook, is not to be expected. The committee chairman is Mrs. Sarah Mattman, who is a member of the conference committee. In the immediate future the president of Brown University, who is also chairman of the committee, has charge of the Freshman Handbook, and it is hoped that the committee will be able to assume full responsibility.

The Freshman Handbook is now undergoing a complete revision and reorganization under the committee's direction, with Sarah Mattman, '43, as president. The committee has also taken charge of the Student Admissions office, and plans to change the system syndromically by selecting students from among those who sign in, hoping in this way to make the students choose feel that they are members of a community, and that they are not to be taken over by the committee. Chief among these are the management of Freshman House and the handling of the Freshman Handbook, both of which have not yet been taken care of by Self-Gov. In the immediate future the president of Self-Gov, and the chairman of the committee, are responsible for working together on the Freshman Handbook, but it is hoped that the committee will be able to assume full responsibility.

The financial problems caused by these new arrangements are being solved by a redistribution of Un-dergrad and Self-Gov funds, with the necessary amount put aside for the use of the Freshman Handbook, it is hoped that by means of this reorganization of the Freshman Handbook, we can set out on the right road to improve and campus recognition which is the issue.

College Girl Win Tuition or Cash Awards in

The WORK CONTEST

Why a Young Girl Plays a Foundation Game

Come on, you English majors, and other students who love words, their skillful selection and subtle nonsensical combinations.

This contest is open to women students (undergrads to seniors inclusive) of the College. It is open also to high school girls of junior and senior grades, to be taken by students from all departments of the college.

The winning students will receive a Foundation Game, a trophy, and a cash award. The most skilled student will win the game, and the most thoughtful will win the cash award.

Some of the duties which up to the present have been performed by other organizations on campus are not to be taken over by the committee. Chief among these are the management of Freshman House and the handling of the Freshman Handbook, both of which have not yet been taken care of by Self-Gov. Model League, Held At B. M., to Discuss Post-War Transition

The Middle Atlantic Model League of Nations will meet at Bryn Mawr from March 29 to 31 to discuss the period of transition immediately following the end of the war. In dealing with the problems which will arise before the establishment of a new permanent world organization, the assumption will be made that anti-Asia will be in a controlling position at the end of the war.

Seven commissions are to cover the various aspects of restoration to normal civilized life. One will consider the maintenance of order, indicating the problems of transition from military to civilian authority, and the policing of the defeated countries. Another, on famine and disease is to question methods of supplying food economically to places where it is most needed. Economic reconstruction, the reopening of world trade and communications, colonial problems, refugees and displaced populations, and educational plans will also be analyzed in the three day meeting.

After the war large sections of the world will probably be in a chaotic state—the land trenched, civil war and revolution widespread, famine and disease prevalent. The pressing problems to be faced in general the restoration of a normal, civilized life, will occupy the attention of the Model League.

Each college and university delegation will represent a particular country which it has studied. At Bryn Mawr students are also needed to aid in the organization of events. Jane Mason, '43, is the Secretary-General of the Assembly this year; Rosalind Wright, '43, Supporter of Commission for the Restoration and Maintenance of Order; Miss Northrop, Faculty Adviser for the Commission on Economic Reconstruction.
