Present System Of Library Rules To Be Enforced

The Books on Reserve Must Be Used In Library

Student complaints concerning the increased carelessness in the use of reserved books has led to a meeting with the Undergraduate Council and college authorities to determine whether the existing library rules were adequate or whether stricter measures were called for. The meeting decided that the present system, if coop- erated with, would fulfill the needs of the college.

The Undergraduate Council has decided to use student channels such as the College News and hall meetings to publicize the library rules. The College authorities also propose to use additional library rules and will continue to publicize them as they see fit, since the library is used but poorly and not exclusively by student workmen.

Reserve books are to be used in the Reading Room unless special permission is received to take them elsewhere. If books from the reserve are not returned within a week where else in the library a note on the shelf stating its whereabouts must be posted. It may be removed at any time. Books are not to be removed except when signed out for over-night use.

In moving with the college authorities and the Undergraduate Council of which Bryn Mawr is one of the few colleges to have open reserve privileges to the students, may reserve books, but in high解决了三个库的需要，该市场之间的联系是必然的，而这种联系的强度越强，对经济的影响越大。因此，对这三个市场的研究可以有效地分析经济关系，从而实现对经济关系的深入理解。

Current Events

Common Room, Jan. 6. In discussion of American foreign policy, Dr. Felix Gilbert, Lecturer in History, presented his views on the work of the American System from G. R. M. compared with the policies of the other Allied powers involved in the situation.

The de-Nazification feature of the American occupation policy, opposed by some of the other nations, has prevented all those who are accused as to Goering party activities from being brought before the Justice, commencing any office. This system has not been tried out in the other zones in the same way.

The Russian view the de-Nazification against the former In- Knowledge, up-against class, in- stead of against individuals.

Democratization

Our position is that, the de-Nazification of German life. In allowing Germans in our zone to conduct foreign and domestic policy, in per- forming the legal duties to extort a more than mere political power, they have more been liberal than any of the other occupying powers. We have also permitted the publication of German new- spapers, but not for circulation to in- dividuals with no record of prev- ious Nazi activity. This is similar to the French, who, through the French do not investigate the back- ground of the publishers. In the British zone, the democratic forces are still of an official nature, and in the Italian zone, Communism is still the exclusive policy.

In regard to the economic recon- struction of Germany, however, we have been less lenient than the other powers. This is primarily be- cause the reconstruction of Germany requires resources conducive to industrial development, and partly because we wanted to limit the influence of indi- vidualism.

The system of dividing Germany into zones was decided upon at the Potsdam Conference, in accordance with the recommendations of the de- centralized government. Each of the zones has an equal influence over the others. and, although none has succeeded in so far, if we wish to avoid any mistrust, some kind of agreement is necessary.

Observation of Rules In Reserve Room Urged

To the Editor:

There has been an increase of carelessness in the use of the Reserve books. In order that everyone understands the rules, I would like to have the following announcement in the College News.

All books taken from the Res- erve Book Room must be signed for. It is necessary in order to locate a book at any time. The penalty for tak- ing a book from the Reserve Room without previous permission from College.

Reserve books are to be used in the Reading Room, unless special permission is given to take them elsewhere.

If the students will observe these rules, it will be necessary to have the student to a body as a whole. Very truly yours,

Librarian

Message of Directors Refuses To Allow Cars On Campus

Common Room, Jan. 13: "...is the question, whether they can put before the American people what they are for?" declared Miss Stapleton, in a discussion of the development of Germany. "It is the hour of U.S."

The failure of the Democrats in the last election, Miss Stapleton thinks, was largely due to the fact that they did not have a bright and good group of men capable of meeting the public opinion or social changes which are taking place, both in domestic policy and in the economic implementation of foreign policy.

The southern reactionaries are an obstacle to the development of liberalism in the Democratic Party, Miss Stapleton feels. The "un- intellectuals" which are active in the PAC and similar groups have not paid sufficient attention to the structure of such organisations. Their failure to eliminate communists influences the usefulness of such groups.

Tragedy

Turning to the recently formed Americans for Democratic Action, Miss Stapleton described it as "the most hopeful liberal organization that I have ever worked with." At the recent conference in Washington, Mrs. Roosevelt and Chester Burdick expressed a hope that the movement would help to revive genuine liberalism in the Democratic Party, although the organisation is in its infancy. Such a movement in the future has not been ignored.

In the domestic field the AIDA aims at the expansion of the New Deal's field of work in industrial, health, housing, and education. It seeks the protection of rights and liberties from the power of concentrated wealth and overcentralized government, and sound democratic economy. In foreign affairs it sup- ports the United Nations and the American plan for international control of atomic energy, and action to support dem- ocratic political and economic development throughout the world.

If the AIDA is a member of the Committee of the Whole of the ADA, and was in Washington dur- ing the meeting at a time when a new group to initiate its organisa- tion was formed. This group has among its members many not liberal, including Mrs. Roosevelt, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., Andrew Jackson C. AIA and F. L. of Charles Deering, the Executive Secretary of the United Business Association, and many form- er members of the Roosevelt adminis- tration.

Arts Night Planned To Aid M. C. F. Fund

Arts Night will be held in the form of a play. The play will be presented in two parts. The first part will be the "The Eagle Has Two Heads," which has been acclaimed by the critics. The second part will be "The Queen of the Air," which has been equally acclaimed by the critics.

The play will be presented by the Drama Club, which has been rehearsing for several weeks. The play will be presented in two acts, with an intermission between them. The first act will be presented at 8 p.m., and the second act will be presented at 9 p.m.

The play will be presented in the College Auditorium, and admission will be free to all friends of the College.

Last night's play, "The Eagle Has Two Heads," was received with great enthusiasm by the audience. The play was well received by the critics, who praised the acting and the production.

Alliance Angles

The Alliance thinks that the following letter, received by Aliaun Barbour, will be of interest to everyone, who heard Senator Hebachy's lecture on December 12th.

"Dear President,

I want to thank you for your kind letter and to acknowledge receipt of the cheque to cover my traveling expenses.

One thing I should like to mention, and this is that over and above my appreciation of the honor you did me, I got far more pleasure from talking to and with everyone who heard Senator Hebachy's lecture on December 12th, and to acknowledge receipt of the cheque to cover my traveling expenses. Make a chorus feel what he himself feels, and that is no mean achievement. If the experience becomes exhausting at times, it is only because we are seldom forced to go through such rapid transitions. He is almost a human dynamo in that his energy never stops."

"I have the ability to carry people with me. In other words, one feels as if an electric shock had run through the room. It comes exha&ling at times, it is not correct at first, but it is satisfactorily agreed upon that the NSO should co-operate with the Alliance on the activities of your association."
There was a surprise this week at Bryn Mawr. When Valentine Day arrived, a box was delivered to the office of the Junior Prom Committee. It contained about 3000 cards, addressed to everyone on campus, and intended for all the junior students. The Junior Prom Committee had arranged in advance to send a card to each of the juniors, but they had not expected the cards to be so numerous. The cards were all addressed to the junior students, and each contained a message of encouragement and congratulations on their accomplishment in obtaining the necessary lists of names for the junior prom. The cards were beautifully decorated, and each student was delighted to receive a personal message from the Junior Prom Committee.

The Junior Prom Committee was pleased with the response to their cards, and they are looking forward to a successful junior prom. They have made plans for a dancing party on the second floor of Taylor Hall, and they are planning to have a large turnout of students. The Junior Prom Committee is very grateful to the students who have supported their efforts, and they hope that everyone will attend the junior prom and have a great time.
