1949

The College News, 1949-10-01, Vol. 36, No. 01

Students of Bryn Mawr College

Let us know how access to this document benefits you.

Follow this and additional works at: http://repository.brynmawr.edu/bmc_collegenews

Custom Citation

This paper is posted at Scholarship, Research, and Creative Work at Bryn Mawr College. http://repository.brynmawr.edu/bmc_collegenews/798

For more information, please contact repository@brynmawr.edu.
NEWS Reviews
Greater Events
At BM '48-49

Eliot, Stassen Spoke; Campus Constantly Agitated

18-49 at Bryn Mawr consisted of a mixture of egalitarians, radicals, and the varied intellectual and social mix that makes up the American college in the 1940's. The group included the College President himself, who sat with his students, and a professor who attended the meeting to observe the proceedings. The atmosphere was one of excitement and anticipation, with everyone eager to see what would happen next. The meeting was held in the Alumni Hall, which was filled to capacity with students and faculty members from Bryn Mawr and other nearby colleges.

Freshmen Soaked But Unruffled, Take College Quickly In Stride

by Hanna Holbrock, '50

106 drenched freshmen arrived at Bryn Mawr last Thursday, and immediately took over the campus. This year's freshman is a more advanced student than in the past, and is not afraid to show it. The freshmen are more independent and less willing to be dictated to by anyone else. They are also more likely to take their studies seriously, and are less inclined to take part in extracurricular activities. The freshmen have a greater sense of responsibility and a more mature outlook on life.

Local Shops Fill Freshman Needs

However slowly you may have planted all your college years at home, there are still some things which you cannot be bought before you arrive, so here is a brief guide to the nearby shopping district. For the furniture, bedsheets and pillows that you will probably need to decorate your room, Strawbridge and Clothier in Ardmore, and Rowan and Greyw in Bryn Mawr may have what you want. There are several hardware stores in Bryn Mawr, so at Suburban or Jake's hardware store you can get things like nails and flashlights. If the clothes you bring with you just don't seem to be what you need, try the Tree Shop on the corner of Main and Addison, or Miss Nis-rot, in the village, for skirts, sweaters, and shoes. For those who are knitting fans, Dick Frost's has everything you could possibly need in the way of wool.

Firemen Will Escort Freshmen Victims To Flames

The first question that is raised in connection with the students who come to college is "Can the freshmen keep a secret?" The class of '53 will find out the text of Tuesday, October 4. The confusion of the first days of college will be climaxed that night by a spastic and incomprehensible orgy known as Parade Night.

During the preceding week the effect of the freshmen, under their temporary song mates, are concentrating their attention and efforts on an effort to break a melody which must be hidden from the Sophomores. The choice of the melody is home limited to "Boola, Boola", "Beer Barrel Polka", "Oyez", and one or two others, which makes '53's task more difficult.

Dancing with Rivals

The Sophomores are a dangerous lot and will stop at nothing to prevent the Freshmen from attending the hockey hockey.

Firemen Will Escort Freshmen Victims To Flames

FIREME WILL ESCORT FRESHMEN VICTIMS TO FLAMES

The Sophomore class is determined to show the Freshmen the true meaning of "Bryn Mawr College." The Sophomore class, under the leadership of the Sophomore Council, is planning to take the Freshmen on a tour of the city, where they will be shown all the sights and sounds of the town. The Freshmen will be guided by the Sophomore class, who will be their hosts and escorts, and will show them all the sights and sounds of the town.

Chaperons and Wine In Rooms Vanish From Bryn Mawr Rules

by Elizabeth Nelson, '39

Men seem to have been the chief, pre-occupation of Sophomore in 1932. "Men's clubs" were flourishing on the campus and in the public. The chaperons and wine in rooms were considered to be scandalous, and were an embarrassment to the college. The chaperons were a necessary evil, but they were also a source of trouble for the students.

Dancing against men seemed to be the lowest form of degradation, and there was no "unwritten rule" against it. But now the chaperons and wine in rooms have vanished, and the students are free to do as they please. The students are now free to dance, drink, and have fun as they please. The students are now free to celebrate their freedom, and to enjoy the life of college.
List of Freshmen Helps To Locate Missing rieNDS

Merlon Han
Mansfield, M. 1 12
Breid, S. 36-28
Chui, Y. W. 23
Panzler, M. 17
Freeman, C. 46
Geringer, N. 6
Green, J. 33
Grewe, A. 45
Maloney, F. 11
Hassid, E. 12
James, D. 29
Keller, A. A. 19
Lawson, W. 17
Ludington, C. 7
Maude, B. 47-12
Mccabe, C. 30-30
McDonald, J. 30-30
Picotte, L. 65-AB
Simmons, D. 70-25
Singler, M. 55-12
Stocktemper, N. 65-AB
Tong, L. 10

Radar Hall
Delangley, N. 7
Pfaffman, H. 4
Ciblo, G. 10
Koerner, W. 11
Limbach, L. 8
Orlib, G. 13
Leist, M. 10
Shapley, A. 22
Wallis, C. 10
Wast, J. 12
Yost, H. 8

Geophag Hall
Abrams, M. 44
Becker, M. 38
Bunkoff, M. L. 10
Halada, A. 69
Balser, H. 25
Brown, H. 37
Burdock, N. C. 22
Chesnut, C. 66-08
Cousens, C. 66-08
Cross, S. 39
Culver, L. 60-40
Dieter, B. 51
Frey, J. 42
Hess, J. 35
Kent, M. 56-25
Leeds, Z. 25
Lemnman, K. 10-11
Luker, K. 16-20
Martin, A. 23
McCaw, N. 43-47
McColloch, M. 11
Mcginnity, H. 10-16
Nemasteka, M. 23
Bane, S. 47
Raves, S. L. 97
Rathlemhon, B. 38
Smith, E. 58
Schenberg, A. 13
van Meter, W. 16-20
Wiener, J. 07
Wood, E. Y. 33
Dunip, A. M. 34
(German Expert)

Pennsmoke East
Arrat, A. 39-41
Atwood, L. 44-44
Balditt, D. 4-06
Bowen, L. 43
Britt, K. 60-09
Carpenter, G. 34
Colgan, G. 4-16
Coffrey, H. 38
Coxsey, L. 33
Ehlers, H. 19-19
Harrison, W. 41-41
Hausman, J. 11-R.
Herman, P. 10-12
Hurst, M. B. 24
James, M. A. 23
Kate, H. 29
Kune, P. 33
Shadlow, A. 18
Leach, A. 16-20
Leonard, S. 34
Leomin, C. 35
March, B. 19-13
Marion, J. 10
Miller, C. 18-18
Oliver, C. 18-18
Palonica, L. 48
Smith, L. E. 12

Source: The College News, Volume 1953, Number 4, October 1, 1949
An hour and a half is a very short time in which to prepare oneself for the necessary emotional transition between the Paris and the London of today. We left Paris on a bright sunny day at the beginning of September. The city was bustling with life—streets crowded with people of all nationalities (Americans strongly prevalent), shops windows filled with goods, sidewalks crowded during a booming business, and all of Paris pervaded with the bustling atmosphere of reviving prosperity.

The plane took off at noon, and in ten minutes Paris was out of sight, lost in the smoke of the factories on her outskirts. A few minutes and we were above the scattered clouds, getting a magnificent view from the air. The Rond point was no longer in sight, nor any green fields, bordered by darker forests. Along the more practical line of the road, there was an invisible Mendon horse in Andover, while the Main Line had vanished (in Boston) and the Wilton Laundry in Bryn Mawr can make cars of that kind of problem. Should you seriously and drastically break your rules, Lamburn’s in the Village will fix you up.

But last very far from Paris there are several places which can give you the edge of an appetite that just can’t wait for the next meal. Hamburger and the Greek (the Bryn Mawr Cigarette Store in its official name) are the old stand-bys, as well as the Community Kitchen, which gives you a tremendous and marvelous tea, as well as taking special orders for cakes and cookies.

For dancing and dining, the Covered Wagon has a juke box, and an orchestra Saturday nights, and the Covered Wagon itself, the General Mawr, and the Covered Wagon in West Philadelphia, try the Bellevue Stratford for dinner dancing, and the Roxy Franklins and the Barclay also have good dance bands. Book lender in the famous for its wonderful seafood, while at the Russian Inn on Locust Street you can have Pan-Italien said over tea. These are only a few suggestions for a starter, and as neither is always open, but this guide may be useful in case of emergency.

Here is the liveliest textbook in the whole curriculum and it can help you make better grades in practically every course you’re taking.

First thing any smart student does is to arrange to get a copy of The New York Times every day. It’s the daily newspaper.

College NEWS Views '48-'49 In Retrospect

Continued from Page 1

myth. It soared unannounced before Bryn Mawr twice covered itself with glory in International Quizzes against Princeton and Swarthmore. The height of fame was reached when a Bryn Mawr senior appeared as Queen of Comus at the Marigold. Of those who lectured to us, the summer has erased from our memory the faces of some, the names of more. Mr. T. E. Elliot came and read us some excerpts from his portfolio Joseph C. Hareth spoke on "Our Foreign Policy," Harold E. Blumen discussed the "Future of the United Nations" and Max Lezer proposed the question "What Can a Liberal Do?" Dr. Erwin Panovsky read us a paper entitled "It in Aresia Ego: Pius XI and the Evangelic Tradition," Miss Helen M. Cain re-evaluated the "Medieval-English Parliament," and Marian Edwards Park, President Emeritus of Bryn Mawr, returned to the college to speak on graduates and undergraduates on "Graduate Work in Administrative." The year ended with Newman Thomas as Baccalaureate speaker.

The first freshman to identify his popular facuties will be given a free subscription to True Detective Magazine by the COLLEGE NEWS.

Welcome

Class of ’53

FROM Richard Stockton’s Gifts for all occasions in Bryn Mawr

DINAH FROSCH'S

DRESSES - SUITS - JUNKIES

FOR FLOWERS

Everyone Comes to JEANETT'S

Charger Accounts

Lancaster Ave.

Bryn Mawr

Welcome

TO THE

Class of ’53

FOR THE

"Best Teas in Town"

COME TO THE

Community Kitchen

102 Lancaster Ave.

Here's the liveliest textbook in the whole curriculum and it can help you make better grades in practically every course you’re taking.

First thing any smart student does is to arrange to get a copy of The New York Times every day. It’s the daily newspaper.

College NEWS Views '48-'49 In Retrospect

Continued from Page 1

myth. It soared unannounced before Bryn Mawr twice covered itself with glory in International Quizzes against Princeton and Swarthmore. The height of fame was reached when a Bryn Mawr senior appeared as Queen of Comus at the Marigold. Of those who lectured to us, the summer has erased from our memory the faces of some, the names of more. Mr. T. E. Elliot came and read us some excerpts from his portfolio Joseph C. Hareth spoke on "Our Foreign Policy," Harold E. Blumen discussed the "Future of the United Nations" and Max Lezer proposed the question "What Can a Liberal Do?" Dr. Erwin Panovsky read us a paper entitled "It in Aresia Ego: Pius XI and the Evangelic Tradition," Miss Helen M. Cain re-evaluated the "Medieval-English Parliament," and Marian Edwards Park, President Emeritus of Bryn Mawr, returned to the college to speak on graduates and undergraduates on "Graduate Work in Administrative." The year ended with Newman Thomas as Baccalaureate speaker.

The first freshman to identify his popular facuties will be given a free subscription to True Detective Magazine by the COLLEGE NEWS.

Welcome

Class of ’53

FROM Richard Stockton’s Gifts for all occasions in Bryn Mawr

DINAH FROSCH'S

DRESSES - SUITS - JUNKIES

FOR FLOWERS

Everyone Comes to JEANETT'S

Charger Accounts

Lancaster Ave.

Bryn Mawr

Welcome

TO THE

Class of ’53

FOR THE

"Best Teas in Town"

COME TO THE

Community Kitchen

102 Lancaster Ave.

Here's the liveliest textbook in the whole curriculum and it can help you make better grades in practically every course you’re taking.

First thing any smart student does is to arrange to get a copy of The New York Times every day. It’s the daily newspaper.

College NEWS Views '48-'49 In Retrospect

Continued from Page 1

myth. It soared unannounced before Bryn Mawr twice covered itself with glory in International Quizzes against Princeton and Swarthmore. The height of fame was reached when a Bryn Mawr senior appeared as Queen of Comus at the Marigold. Of those who lectured to us, the summer has erased from our memory the faces of some, the names of more. Mr. T. E. Elliot came and read us some excerpts from his portfolio Joseph C. Hareth spoke on "Our Foreign Policy," Harold E. Blumen discussed the "Future of the United Nations" and Max Lezer proposed the question "What Can a Liberal Do?" Dr. Erwin Panovsky read us a paper entitled "It in Aresia Ego: Pius XI and the Evangelic Tradition," Miss Helen M. Cain re-evaluated the "Medieval-English Parliament," and Marian Edwards Park, President Emeritus of Bryn Mawr, returned to the college to speak on graduates and undergraduates on "Graduate Work in Administrative." The year ended with Newman Thomas as Baccalaureate speaker.

The first freshman to identify his popular facuties will be given a free subscription to True Detective Magazine by the COLLEGE NEWS.

Welcome

Class of ’53

FROM Richard Stockton’s Gifts for all occasions in Bryn Mawr

DINAH FROSCH'S

DRESSES - SUITS - JUNKIES

FOR FLOWERS

Everyone Comes to JEANETT'S

Charger Accounts

Lancaster Ave.

Bryn Mawr

Welcome

TO THE

Class of ’53

FOR THE

"Best Teas in Town"

COME TO THE

Community Kitchen

102 Lancaster Ave.

Here's the liveliest textbook in the whole curriculum and it can help you make better grades in practically every course you’re taking.

First thing any smart student does is to arrange to get a copy of The New York Times every day. It’s the daily newspaper.

College NEWS Views '48-'49 In Retrospect

Continued from Page 1

myth. It soared unannounced before Bryn Mawr twice covered itself with glory in International Quizzes against Princeton and Swarthmore. The height of fame was reached when a Bryn Mawr senior appeared as Queen of Comus at the Marigold. Of those who lectured to us, the summer has erased from our memory the faces of some, the names of more. Mr. T. E. Elliot came and read us some excerpts from his portfolio Joseph C. Hareth spoke on "Our Foreign Policy," Harold E. Blumen discussed the "Future of the United Nations" and Max Lezer proposed the question "What Can a Liberal Do?" Dr. Erwin Panovsky read us a paper entitled "It in Aresia Ego: Pius XI and the Evangelic Tradition," Miss Helen M. Cain re-evaluated the "Medieval-English Parliament," and Marian Edwards Park, President Emeritus of Bryn Mawr, returned to the college to speak on graduates and undergraduates on "Graduate Work in Administrative." The year ended with Newman Thomas as Baccalaureate speaker.

The first freshman to identify his popular facuties will be given a free subscription to True Detective Magazine by the COLLEGE NEWS.

Welcome

Class of ’53

FROM Richard Stockton’s Gifts for all occasions in Bryn Mawr

DINAH FROSCH'S

DRESSES - SUITS - JUNKIES

FOR FLOWERS

Everyone Comes to JEANETT'S

Charger Accounts

Lancaster Ave.

Bryn Mawr

Welcome

TO THE

Class of ’53

FOR THE

"Best Teas in Town"

COME TO THE

Community Kitchen

102 Lancaster Ave.

Here's the liveliest textbook in the whole curriculum and it can help you make better grades in practically every course you’re taking.

First thing any smart student does is to arrange to get a copy of The New York Times every day. It’s the daily newspaper.

College NEWS Views '48-'49 In Retrospect

Continued from Page 1

myth. It soared unannounced before Bryn Mawr twice covered itself with glory in International Quizzes against Princeton and Swarthmore. The height of fame was reached when a Bryn Mawr senior appeared as Queen of Comus at the Marigold. Of those who lectured to us, the summer has erased from our memory the faces of some, the names of more. Mr. T. E. Elliot came and read us some excerpts from his portfolio Joseph C. Hareth spoke on "Our Foreign Policy," Harold E. Blumen discussed the "Future of the United Nations" and Max Lezer proposed the question "What Can a Liberal Do?" Dr. Erwin Panovsky read us a paper entitled "It in Aresia Ego: Pius XI and the Evangelic Tradition," Miss Helen M. Cain re-evaluated the "Medieval-English Parliament," and Marian Edwards Park, President Emeritus of Bryn Mawr, returned to the college to speak on graduates and undergraduates on "Graduate Work in Administrative." The year ended with Newman Thomas as Baccalaureate speaker.

The first freshman to identify his popular facuties will be given a free subscription to True Detective Magazine by the COLLEGE NEWS.

Welcome

Class of ’53

FROM Richard Stockton’s Gifts for all occasions in Bryn Mawr

DINAH FROSCH'S

DRESSES - SUITS - JUNKIES

FOR FLOWERS

Everyone Comes to JEANETT'S

Charger Accounts

Lancaster Ave.

Bryn Mawr

Welcome

TO THE

Class of ’53

FOR THE

"Best Teas in Town"

COME TO THE

Community Kitchen

102 Lancaster Ave.
First Japanese Scholar To Study English Lit.
Continued from Page 1
Age. Michiko graphically expressed it, "Nobody went to the dining room for two days!"

Michiko studied English at high school and college in Japan and plans to major in English at Bryn Mawr. When asked about the Bryn Mawr on the first rainy day, she exclaimed, "It's simply marvelous, especially the library," and commented wryly that she had to take the required biology and English Composition. When she graduates from Bryn Mawr, Michiko intends to return to Japan and write a graduate course in the Buddhist period at Tokyo College.

Michiko's opinion of the United States is indicative of the fine spirit exhibited by all foreign students attending an American college. "Everything is so wonderful that I must write very long letters every day."

THE POST ON BRYN MAWR
Watch for "Station Wagon College," the article about Bryn Mawr, Swarthmore, and Haverford due to appear in the October 8th Saturday Evening Post, on sale October 8th. Written by Robert M. Yoder, Formerly Associate Editor of the Saturday Evening Post, the article traces the development of these colleges, stressing the joint action which has added three in enlarging their scope. The photographs, some of them taken on the Bryn Mawr campus last spring, are reportedly very good. 160 copies will be on sale in the Bookshop.

Old Bryn Mawr Rules Instructed On Chapernons
Continued from Page 1
A society (Sally-Guy) does not allow its members to use wine in any form in entertaining, and students may not drink wine together except in the single case of two roommates. This seems a little rough on the poor Sally in singles. But bow now a wee nip would be the night before and/or after a mid-semester.

The whole bowl must have been Resolution XI. "That students shall make no social engagements with the men of the Faculty." Whether this might be denominating to the student of the present or was not explained. Sally-Guy was impressed to turn hearts, and even Platonic friendships were impossible.

FRENCH HAIRDRESSER
"RENE MARCEL"
specializing in Shorter Haircuts
(oppoite the 2 & 10 in Bryn Mawr)
FOR APPOINTMENTS
Bryn Mawr 3965