1952

Students of Bryn Mawr College

Let us know how access to this document benefits you.

Follow this and additional works at: http://repository.brynmawr.edu/bmc_collegenews

Custom Citation

This paper is posted at Scholarship, Research, and Creative Work at Bryn Mawr College. http://repository.brynmawr.edu/bmc_collegenews/854

For more information, please contact repository@brynmawr.edu.
A.A. Performances Outdazzle 'Stumps,' Spark The Evening
by Hayarda Drysdale, '56

The tear-jerking melodrama and the Shakespearean fare presented last Friday night by A.A. Anonymous proved conclusively that there is the good will of people working together—too, the way will be clear to produce satisfactory performance. Despite the inconvenient obstacles of mid-term assessment and papers—not to mention the bugaboo long paper for Freshman Comp— and the lack of rehearsal work, often held for hours a day, an effortful production emerged and intrigued the audience.

Kind Hearts Are More Than Coronets and Fine Counterpoint

The works of Sibelius and Britten, who never provided a fragile, lyrical effect attitude toward the family her (let's say) Ros Kremer. She summed up personality of tonality and movement star of the front row at the Bal.

The work opened the Jan. 8, 1953 concert paper for Freshman Comp—-

"Risk is implicit in free speech," declared Phillip Murphy, '53. "I hate all dictatorialisms, whether they are black, white, or red; yet just so long as I can write, because theirs are mine alone!" Mr. Malin Warns Against Curtailed Expression in U.S.

For years Mr. Malin has been a moving force in the promotion of American Civil Liberties, learned of the danger of limiting free speech as an asset to the social order. "A society which has eliminated individuality as a personal faculty is a society which has mechanized itself to the hilt," he said of the American Civil Liberties Union. This was in connection with the Common Room performance at 8:30 Tuesday night.

The theme is Loyalty, and, very appropriately, "My Country 'Tis of Thee" was performed on the Willow Color Band for the benefit of the Junior Cotillion. The music of Mr. Malin is to be heard at the Common Room performance at 8:30 Tuesday night.

CALENDAR
Thursday, April 26
6:30-8:30 p.m. Thalassa Rene de Monseliers, Conservateur pres 'l'Amadee de France, will speak on "Victor Hugo French Grand Praktik," in the Gertrude Ely Room, Wyndham, and will be in French.

Friday, April 27
1:05 p.m.-3:00 p.m. I.R.S. and N.C.A. are sponsoring an International Folk Festival in the Gymnasium. Dancing and songs from all over the world as well as the annual planetarium show and Freshtoons. No admission charge.

3:00 p.m. The Haverford College Chess Club and the Haverford College Choir will give a concert with the Bryn Mawr-Haverford Orchestra and soloists in Roberta Hall, Haverford. The principal work on the program is the Magnificat by J. S. Bach.

Saturday, April 28
1:00 p.m. Deeping High's, "Roberta" presented by Mr. Shocket, '54.

Players Practice Night and Day, "Roberta" Billed A Topping Play

By Ann Shocket, '54

Roberta has pervaded the campus since the meeting of the cast and orchestra; but, as the musical director Mary Elizabeth Deane, "The Maida and Porters' show, Roberts, in Goodhart Auditorium, 11:30 p.m.-1:00 a.m. The Junior Cotillion in the Gym.

Continued on Page 2, Col. 3

College Announces Faculty Resignations For Year 1952-53

The following faculty changes have been announced for next year: Professor of German Max Siegel, Mr. Goetz, Professor of French, and Dr. Anna Kruse, Professor of Latin, are retiring, effective in 1952-53.

Bernt, March of the Latte Department, L. Joe Berry, Biology, Israel Stearns, Philosophy, and Richard Berheimer, History of Art, have been promised to full professorships. Mr. William Henry, Professor of Physics, has been promoted to Associate Professor.

Mr. Malin Warns Against Curtailed Expression in U.S.

Mr. Malin exhorts the public to cherish free speech as a personal faculty. The works of Sibelius and Britten, who never provided a fragile, lyrical effect attitude toward the family her (let's say) Ros Kremer. She summed up personality of tonality and movement star of the front row at the Bal.

The work opened the Jan. 8, 1953 concert paper for Freshman Comp—-

"Risk is implicit in free speech," declared Phillip Murphy, '53. "I hate all dictatorialisms, whether they are black, white, or red; yet just so long as I can write, because theirs are mine alone!" Mr. Malin Warns Against Curtailed Expression in U.S.

For years Mr. Malin has been a moving force in the promotion of American Civil Liberties, learned of the danger of limiting free speech as an asset to the social order. "A society which has eliminated individuality as a personal faculty is a society which has mechanized itself to the hilt," he said of the American Civil Liberties Union. This was in connection with the Common Room performance at 8:30 Tuesday night.

The theme is Loyalty, and, very appropriately, "My Country 'Tis of Thee" was performed on the Willow Color Band for the benefit of the Junior Cotillion. The music of Mr. Malin is to be heard at the Common Room performance at 8:30 Tuesday night.

CALENDAR
Thursday, April 26
6:30-8:30 p.m. Thalassa Rene de Monseliers, Conservateur pres 'l'Amadee de France, will speak on "Victor Hugo French Grand Praktik," in the Gertrude Ely Room, Wyndham, and will be in French.

Friday, April 27
1:05 p.m.-3:00 p.m. I.R.S. and N.C.A. are sponsoring an International Folk Festival in the Gymnasium. Dancing and songs from all over the world as well as the annual planetarium show and Freshtoons. No admission charge.

3:00 p.m. The Haverford College Chess Club and the Haverford College Choir will give a concert with the Bryn Mawr-Haverford Orchestra and soloists in Roberta Hall, Haverford. The principal work on the program is the Magnificat by J. S. Bach.

Saturday, April 28
1:00 p.m. Deeping High's, "Roberta" presented by Mr. Shocket, '54.

Players Practice Night and Day, "Roberta" Billed A Topping Play

By Ann Shocket, '54

Roberta has pervaded the campus since the meeting of the cast and orchestra; but, as the musical director Mary Elizabeth Deane, "The Maida and Porters' show, Roberts, in Goodhart Auditorium, 11:30 p.m.-1:00 a.m. The Junior Cotillion in the Gym.

Continued on Page 2, Col. 3

College Announces Faculty Resignations For Year 1952-53

The following faculty changes have been announced for next year: Professor of German Max Siegel, Mr. Goetz, Professor of French, and Dr. Anna Kruse, Professor of Latin, are retiring, effective in 1952-53.

Bernt, March of the Latte Department, L. Joe Berry, Biology, Israel Stearns, Philosophy, and Richard Berheimer, History of Art, have been promised to full professorships. Mr. William Henry, Professor of Physics, has been promoted to Associate Professor.

Mr. Malin Warns Against Curtailed Expression in U.S.

Mr. Malin exhorts the public to cherish free speech as a personal faculty. The works of Sibelius and Britten, who never provided a fragile, lyrical effect attitude toward the family her (let's say) Ros Kremer. She summed up personality of tonality and movement star of the front row at the Bal.

The work opened the Jan. 8, 1953 concert paper for Freshman Comp—-

"Risk is implicit in free speech," declared Phillip Murphy, '53. "I hate all dictatorialisms, whether they are black, white, or red; yet just so long as I can write, because theirs are mine alone!" Mr. Malin Warns Against Curtailed Expression in U.S.

For years Mr. Malin has been a moving force in the promotion of American Civil Liberties, learned of the danger of limiting free speech as an asset to the social order. "A society which has eliminated individuality as a personal faculty is a society which has mechanized itself to the hilt," he said of the American Civil Liberties Union. This was in connection with the Common Room performance at 8:30 Tuesday night.

The theme is Loyalty, and, very appropriately, "My Country 'Tis of Thee" was performed on the Willow Color Band for the benefit of the Junior Cotillion. The music of Mr. Malin is to be heard at the Common Room performance at 8:30 Tuesday night.

CALENDAR
Thursday, April 26
6:30-8:30 p.m. Thalassa Rene de Monseliers, Conservateur pres 'l'Amadee de France, will speak on "Victor Hugo French Grand Praktik," in the Gertrude Ely Room, Wyndham, and will be in French.

Friday, April 27
1:05 p.m.-3:00 p.m. I.R.S. and N.C.A. are sponsoring an International Folk Festival in the Gymnasium. Dancing and songs from all over the world as well as the annual planetarium show and Freshtoons. No admission charge.

3:00 p.m. The Haverford College Chess Club and the Haverford College Choir will give a concert with the Bryn Mawr-Haverford Orchestra and soloists in Roberta Hall, Haverford. The principal work on the program is the Magnificat by J. S. Bach.

Saturday, April 28
1:00 p.m. Deeping High's, "Roberta" presented by Mr. Shocket, '54.

Players Practice Night and Day, "Roberta" Billed A Topping Play

By Ann Shocket, '54

Roberta has pervaded the campus since the meeting of the cast and orchestra; but, as the musical director Mary Elizabeth Deane, "The Maida and Porters' show, Roberts, in Goodhart Auditorium, 11:30 p.m.-1:00 a.m. The Junior Cotillion in the Gym.

Continued on Page 2, Col. 3

College Announces Faculty Resignations For Year 1952-53

The following faculty changes have been announced for next year: Professor of German Max Siegel, Mr. Goetz, Professor of French, and Dr. Anna Kruse, Professor of Latin, are retiring, effective in 1952-53.

Bernt, March of the Latte Depart­
Outstanding Addition To Bryn Mawr

Miss Eleanor A. Elias has just been appointed the new Dean of the Graduate School in the place of Miss Taylor who has been appointed Professor-in-Charge of the School of Medical Studies of the American Academy in Rome. Miss Elias brings to Bryn Mawr a wealth of experience in a large number of outstanding activities concerned with the college and in scientific work. In her association with Bryn Mawr after her graduation in 1921, Miss Elias served as Assistant Director and three years ago was elected a Director-at-large. Her main field, however, has been science, and she received from Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine her doctor of science degree in 1926, the position of bacteriologist, and in 1940 an assistant professorship in Preventive Medicine.

Miss Elias has also added considerably to the medical world by her research and important discoveries in bacteriology, made independently and in conjunction with Dr. Perrin H. Long. She has been credited with the discovery of what is now known as Group F, minute haemolytic streptococcus, and has made detailed studies of the reaction and therapeutic effects of the sulfanilamide compounds. Together with Dr. Long she successfully treated spinal meningitis cases with sulfanilamide in 1937, isolated a germ that is believed to cause rheumatic and kidney infections and whose discovery confirmed the suspicion that the scientists did not yet know all the streptococcus bacteria; and proved that sulfa compounds are of some value in treating them.

Owed To Spring

Keep your brawn off the lawn
And your bod off the sod!
Keep your figure neat and lean,
Walk around—save the green!

Brass Group Selections

Founder's Day Parade

Current Events

Mr. Gilbert Examines German Unity Problems

For Current Events on Monday, April 21, Mr. Gilbert analyzed the problems concerning the unification of the two German states, the question of whether the new state will be the United States, England, and France. Until this spring the participation of Germany in the European Community was at issue and the opposing views of the Soviet Union with the other three major powers has produced tension. Russia has proposed demilitarization of Germany while the United States and England, and France have agreed to replace the Occupation Statute by full sovereignty and an active part in the defense of western Europe. Both sides agreed that the unification of Germany is necessary, but Russia did not plan the new government's military and political actions while the other three nations demanded free elections supervised by the UNR.

Then on March 10, 1960, the Soviet Union created a crisis in international diplomacy by suggesting the end of occupation and withdrawal of the UNR from the support of an independent German army, navy, and air force for the purpose of defense. The three powers' reply on March 20 required free elections for the new government and kept the UNR as a prerequisite to the discussion of any other point. The last note to date was on March 24 when the powers' answer on April 10 agreed to free elections but demanded the UNR's occupation and withdrawal from the four occupying powers (which would give Russia veto usage).

This leaves the western countries with a delicate question of how to translate this crisis into the election question and the complete change in the rearmament policy. The Russian initiative creates many difficulties, not the least of which is that the French are now the deep-rooted fear of an armed and independent Germany. The Russian Union faces the three, the three, and the great, and the international tension, the latter growing at the same rate as our international rearmament, to maintain our idealistic standards.

The College Bookshop chooses its charge account at the end of this week. Please be prepared to pay cash, beginning Friday, April 26th.

Melting price, $4.00

Subscriptions may begin at any time.

Letter

Alliance Gives Apology For the Absence
Of Young

To the Editor:

The Alliance would like to apologize and refer you to administration for getting them in a half hour on Saturday; Monday to hear a speaker who never spoke.

Mr. Cuyler Young, who was to speak on "Iranian Nationalism today", unfortunately missed the arrangements for his talk here and was planning to arrive on Saturday.

We will try to have Mr. Young again in May. Meanwhile we ask you again and refer you to the Alliance Board for an explanation of what happened.

Sincerely yours,
Renee Gottlieb, '50

The members of the new Librarians Committee are: Carole Carrell, Jack Bough, Molly Plunkett; junior member: Robert Church, and Emily Taylor; sophomore member: Ann Hayward.

If you have any suggestions or criticisms to make about the Library, please give them to the Librarians who are on duty in the Suggestion Box in the Reserve Room.

Civil Rights' Restriction Sets Harmful Precedent

Continued from Page 1

contingencies of slander, libel, privacy, incitement to riot, and the familiar "clear and present danger" and "anarchist" conditions, abolish them. "If there are differences of opinion (and there are), we must respect them, not suppress them." The Bill of Rights provides us with these three basic securities: first, freedom of inquiry and communication second, due process of law and fair trial; and third, equality before the law. The pressure falls on these three fields today, specifically under questions of "how much" and "what kind of" freedom shall be enjoyed.

The United States now faces the problem of racial composition and international tension, the latter growing at the same rate as our international rearmament, as our occupation and withdrawal of the four occupying powers. The three others, and if, in their purpose is now complete. The crisis is serious; it is also profound. For many interpret the United States' refusal of the demand for soldiers as the beginning of the occupation and so sharpen the conflict in the future which will lead to war. In the other hand is the United States in trying to call the bluff of Russia? if it is a bluff, the West have no doubt that the United States position in western Europe will be renewed.

The determination of the problem, as was determined, solutions were offered. Mr. Gilbert predicted a balance of power with mutual war frontiers, and two, Mr. Berliner brought up James Warburg's suggestion to make Germany a republic on the western side that will preserve the previous issue of an independent Germany that will not plunge the de-
Modern Dancers Test New Forms

The modern dance group is holding its Spring party on Tuesday, April 29, at 8:30, to orient Bryn Mawr students to something new and interesting. To be offered on this occasion is the total absence of music. Their idea is to show that dance is something not entirely dependent on music, and that movement can be the essence of expression. The dance was a pervading influence in medieval and modern life, but was displaced by music. Through the ages, dance has been used to express a wide range of emotions. In the modern dance, physical movement and expression unite in a new form of expression.

Unusual Technique Highlights Display

Especially Contributed by Eapeth-Anna Winton

An exhibit of mono-prints by Gwyneth King is on display outside the faculty office. She has been brought to the college by the senior art department, and they hope that this will be the first of many such exhibitions. The group is interested in the technique of the exhibit in this technique. The group is interested in the technique of the exhibit in this technique. The group is interested in the technique of the exhibit in this technique. The group is interested in the technique of the exhibit in this technique.

The three compositions illustrating each of the three singles: M. Muir (least), Robbins (second), and S. Hickox (first) were: 5-7, 6-2, 6-2. The match was a victory for Bryn Mawr.

SPORTS

by Jane Chase Bush", '65

Three wins and two losses rounded out the season for our Men's Varsity tennis team which played Ursinus, Wednesday, April 29. In each of the first three matches, the winners won two out of three sets. The three matches which were won by Bryn Mawr were: 3-0; 7-6, 6-2; 6-2; 6-2. The second doubles out of three sets were won by Bryn Mawr.

Bollermakers Froth in Mid-performance

by Frances Shively, '57

The Bryn Mawr Music Club presents, in past years, to have made notable contributions to the development of chamber music. This year, the club will offer a program with a superb string quartet. The string quartet that played Sunday afternoon, April 27, was sponsored by the club. The quartet was well-received, and with a program tailored to suit the tastes of the students of Haydn, Brahms, and Beethoven.

There was little opportunity to talk with the performers, including violist Michael Applebaum and Enrico Serafin, who introduced the program. These two, however, played by concert in other programs, and it would be interesting to see how they would fare in a more intimate setting.

The Brahms A Minor Quartet opened the program, and was excellently played. The musical quality was generally excellent, and the guidance of the conductor, with the mood of the music, from quiet stateliness to restrained dignity. The balance, timing, and modulations of volume only added to the excellence of the performance.

Boilerroom Froth in Mid-performance

by Frances Shively, '57

The Bryn Mawr Music Club presents, in past years, to have made notable contributions to the development of chamber music. This year, the club will offer a program with a superb string quartet. The string quartet that played Sunday afternoon, April 27, was sponsored by the club. The quartet was well-received, and with a program tailored to suit the tastes of the students of Haydn, Brahms, and Beethoven.

There was little opportunity to talk with the performers, including violist Michael Applebaum and Enrico Serafin, who introduced the program. These two, however, played by concert in other programs, and it would be interesting to see how they would fare in a more intimate setting.

The Brahms A Minor Quartet opened the program, and was excellently played. The musical quality was generally excellent, and the guidance of the conductor, with the mood of the music, from quiet stateliness to restrained dignity. The balance, timing, and modulations of volume only added to the excellence of the performance.

Boilerroom Froth in Mid-performance

by Frances Shively, '57

The Bryn Mawr Music Club presents, in past years, to have made notable contributions to the development of chamber music. This year, the club will offer a program with a superb string quartet. The string quartet that played Sunday afternoon, April 27, was sponsored by the club. The quartet was well-received, and with a program tailored to suit the tastes of the students of Haydn, Brahms, and Beethoven.

There was little opportunity to talk with the performers, including violist Michael Applebaum and Enrico Serafin, who introduced the program. These two, however, played by concert in other programs, and it would be interesting to see how they would fare in a more intimate setting.

The Brahms A Minor Quartet opened the program, and was excellently played. The musical quality was generally excellent, and the guidance of the conductor, with the mood of the music, from quiet stateliness to restrained dignity. The balance, timing, and modulations of volume only added to the excellence of the performance.

Boilerroom Froth in Mid-performance

by Frances Shively, '57

The Bryn Mawr Music Club presents, in past years, to have made notable contributions to the development of chamber music. This year, the club will offer a program with a superb string quartet. The string quartet that played Sunday afternoon, April 27, was sponsored by the club. The quartet was well-received, and with a program tailored to suit the tastes of the students of Haydn, Brahms, and Beethoven.

There was little opportunity to talk with the performers, including violist Michael Applebaum and Enrico Serafin, who introduced the program. These two, however, played by concert in other programs, and it would be interesting to see how they would fare in a more intimate setting.

The Brahms A Minor Quartet opened the program, and was excellently played. The musical quality was generally excellent, and the guidance of the conductor, with the mood of the music, from quiet stateliness to restrained dignity. The balance, timing, and modulations of volume only added to the excellence of the performance.

Boilerroom Froth in Mid-performance

by Frances Shively, '57

The Bryn Mawr Music Club presents, in past years, to have made notable contributions to the development of chamber music. This year, the club will offer a program with a superb string quartet. The string quartet that played Sunday afternoon, April 27, was sponsored by the club. The quartet was well-received, and with a program tailored to suit the tastes of the students of Haydn, Brahms, and Beethoven.

There was little opportunity to talk with the performers, including violist Michael Applebaum and Enrico Serafin, who introduced the program. These two, however, played by concert in other programs, and it would be interesting to see how they would fare in a more intimate setting.

The Brahms A Minor Quartet opened the program, and was excellently played. The musical quality was generally excellent, and the guidance of the conductor, with the mood of the music, from quiet stateliness to restrained dignity. The balance, timing, and modulations of volume only added to the excellence of the performance.

Boilerroom Froth in Mid-performance

by Frances Shively, '57

The Bryn Mawr Music Club presents, in past years, to have made notable contributions to the development of chamber music. This year, the club will offer a program with a superb string quartet. The string quartet that played Sunday afternoon, April 27, was sponsored by the club. The quartet was well-received, and with a program tailored to suit the tastes of the students of Haydn, Brahms, and Beethoven.

There was little opportunity to talk with the performers, including violist Michael Applebaum and Enrico Serafin, who introduced the program. These two, however, played by concert in other programs, and it would be interesting to see how they would fare in a more intimate setting.

The Brahms A Minor Quartet opened the program, and was excellently played. The musical quality was generally excellent, and the guidance of the conductor, with the mood of the music, from quiet stateliness to restrained dignity. The balance, timing, and modulations of volume only added to the excellence of the performance.

Boilerroom Froth in Mid-performance

by Frances Shively, '57

The Bryn Mawr Music Club presents, in past years, to have made notable contributions to the development of chamber music. This year, the club will offer a program with a superb string quartet. The string quartet that played Sunday afternoon, April 27, was sponsored by the club. The quartet was well-received, and with a program tailored to suit the tastes of the students of Haydn, Brahms, and Beethoven.

There was little opportunity to talk with the performers, including violist Michael Applebaum and Enrico Serafin, who introduced the program. These two, however, played by concert in other programs, and it would be interesting to see how they would fare in a more intimate setting.

The Brahms A Minor Quartet opened the program, and was excellently played. The musical quality was generally excellent, and the guidance of the conductor, with the mood of the music, from quiet stateliness to restrained dignity. The balance, timing, and modulations of volume only added to the excellence of the performance.

Boilerroom Froth in Mid-performance

by Frances Shively, '57

The Bryn Mawr Music Club presents, in past years, to have made notable contributions to the development of chamber music. This year, the club will offer a program with a superb string quartet. The string quartet that played Sunday afternoon, April 27, was sponsored by the club. The quartet was well-received, and with a program tailored to suit the tastes of the students of Haydn, Brahms, and Beethoven.

There was little opportunity to talk with the performers, including violist Michael Applebaum and Enrico Serafin, who introduced the program. These two, however, played by concert in other programs, and it would be interesting to see how they would fare in a more intimate setting.

The Brahms A Minor Quartet opened the program, and was excellently played. The musical quality was generally excellent, and the guidance of the conductor, with the mood of the music, from quiet stateliness to restrained dignity. The balance, timing, and modulations of volume only added to the excellence of the performance.

Boilerroom Froth in Mid-performance

by Frances Shively, '57

The Bryn Mawr Music Club presents, in past years, to have made notable contributions to the development of chamber music. This year, the club will offer a program with a superb string quartet. The string quartet that played Sunday afternoon, April 27, was sponsored by the club. The quartet was well-received, and with a program tailored to suit the tastes of the students of Haydn, Brahms, and Beethoven.

There was little opportunity to talk with the performers, including violist Michael Applebaum and Enrico Serafin, who introduced the program. These two, however, played by concert in other programs, and it would be interesting to see how they would fare in a more intimate setting.

The Brahms A Minor Quartet opened the program, and was excellently played. The musical quality was generally excellent, and the guidance of the conductor, with the mood of the music, from quiet stateliness to restrained dignity. The balance, timing, and modulations of volume only added to the excellence of the performance.
May HOLIDAY Magazine salutes BRYN MAWR COLLEGE

Here's the Bryn Mawr story that takes the honors! A delightful tribute by Emily Kimorough (class of '21) portraying Bryn Mawr's colorful history, its proud traditions and the exciting story of the transition which brought about the biggest change in campus life - men in social and cultural activities!

You'll want to read this thrilling salute to Bryn Mawr College in May Holiday magazine. Now on sale at newsstands. A Curtis publication.
Are you educating yourself to be an old maid?

Eureka Cinema
45th & Market St.
Friday, April 5
40th Annual Film Festival

April Shower of French Films

Friday, April 5
3:00 pm
Antoine & Antoinette
5:00 pm
Not Guilty
7:00 pm
Farrebique

"The Americans" with Harry Baur
at the English Film Club
First and East Philadelphia

Colonna Cinema
The Mad Queen

Produced in Spain
in Spanish-English Films

Published by Harcourt, Brace. Now on sale at your local book store.

How this book came about
They Want to Go to College is based on a survey sponsored by TIME, whose inquirers thought the time was ripe for a survey-and-as a by-product, the first to be systematically true to the fact that most of TIME's readers are college-trained.

TIME is written for and people like you, people like the thousands of graduates of the more than eight thousand colleges who answered TIME's questionnaire and revealed many facets of freshmen's-freshmen's experiences and relations to their religious beliefs.

The student body of the college was tabulated and analyzed by Patricia Saltel West at the Columbia University Bureau of Applied Research, Formerly, to Kenneth Hantman, a former editor of TIME, and a specialist in making interesting reading out of statistical material.

The result is a book of major importance to everyone.

This book is a guide to your future

At College turning you and your classmates into radical feminists who reject the role of housewife or mother. Is it turning you into anything?

What is your future, whether as a housewife prowling the supermarket for family survival or as a career girl batting for position with crease-cut male rivals in the turbulent business world?

You'll find your answers in a documented case-history of other people's lives - They Want to College, TIME's new guide for what to do... the class of '72 to class of '41-the most complete study of the American college graduate ever surveyed.

In its pages you peer into the post-graduation careers of such familiar campus types as the ex-Grizzley, the ex-Big Woman, the ex-All-Around Girl and the One Who Just Sat There.

Because its audience represents one of the largest concentrations of college graduates reading any major magazine in the world today, TIME, The Weekly Newsmagazine, undertook the comprehensive study which is the basis of this milestone book.

How many of them married, how many children did they have, who got divorced, what do they think of the courses they took, what would they do if they could start all over again?

These are just a few of the former dark areas of conjecture and folklore explored by this unprecedented study.

Low-down on higher learning They Want to College is a required reading for everybody who wants the real low-down on higher learning.

As an undergraduate, you'll learn much about your probable future. If you're a college graduate, you'll find out how to stack yourself against your peers. If you're a teacher, you'll discover what has become of your students.

And, no matter what your interest, you'll find fuel for plenty of debate in the chapters devoted to women.

TIME—to get it Straight
Gentle Juniors 'Implant
British of South in Gym
Continued from Page 1
Howard C. Nash and the Harvard Dancers will provide the evening's entertainment. All this takes place in the gentle atmosphere of Southern Cadets. The doors are open at 11:00 until 2:00, and

\[ \text{CALENDAR} \\
\text{Continued from Page 1} \\
\text{Sunday, April 27} \\
7:30 p.m. The Reverend Mr. A.
\text{in the cost is $3.00 per couple. So come all the huge—get a
\text{man—any man, and have a spring
\text{time.} \\
\]

Spring is here
The Inn is near,
So beat the heat
And HAVE a Treat!

THE COLLEGE INN

EXECUTIVE CAREERS
IN RETAILING
One-year Course leads to Master's Degree

* Prepare for a responsible executive position in retailing where women executives are NOT the exception. Interesting positions open in buying, merchandising, fashion, management, personnel, or teaching. Specialized training, exclusively for college graduates, covers all phases of store activity.
Realistic approach under store-trained faculty. Classes combined with supervised store experience with pay. Students usually placed before graduation.
Co-educational. Master's degree.
Next class begins July 1, 1952.
Write for Bulletin C
RESEARCH BUREAU FOR RETAIL TRAINING
UNIVERSITY OF PITTSBURGH - Pgh 13, Pa.

Peck and Peck

Match-able, switch-able and TEBILIZED® for tested
crease resistance!

Above: our classic shirt,
8.95; farled golf skirt with leather tee belt, 12.95.
Right: our tri-toned jockey shirt, 7.95; side buttoned long shorts, 6.95. All in rainbow-toned, linen wool rayon and cotton,
size 10 to 18.

23 Parking Plaza, Ardmore

A. de Burjanev, Christ's Church,
Philadelphia, will give the address at the evening chapel service.

Sunday, April 28
8:05 p.m. Dr. Marshall Gates,
Assistant Editor of the "Journal of the American Chemical Society" and lecturer in Chemistry

Don't Forget!
MOTHER'S DAY
Cards
at STOCKTON'S

JEANNETT'S

Bryn Mawr

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests
No. 39...THE FLYCATCHER

"THEY HAD ME
BACKED UP
TO THE WALL!"

He's fast—he's smart—he covers ground—he's a real varsity outfielder! The 'quick-trick
' cigarette
mildness tests were almost too hot to handle, but he didn't make an error. He realized that cigarette mildness can't be judged in slam-bang fashion.
Millions of smokers throughout America know, too,
there's a thorough way to judge cigarette mildness!

It's the sensible test...the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels on a day-after-day, pack-after-pack basis. No snap judgments! Once you've tried Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why...

After all the Mildness Tests...

Camel leads all other brands by billions