"The real unity in the works of Malraux will explain the great division in style and political viewpoint and the repetition of the obsessions of man, Mr. W. M. Frohock of Columbia University stated in his lecture on "The Recurrent Patterns in the Novels of Malraux." The real unity will be explained by the juxtaposition of the final dramatic picture which denies the music and the musical variety which is almost unbelievable.

In Patterns of Malraux's Novels

by Caroline Warran, '55

The real unity in the works of Malraux will explain the great division in style and political viewpoint and the repetition of the obsessions of man, Mr. W. M. Frohock of Columbia University stated in his lecture on "The Recurrent Patterns in the Novels of Malraux." The real unity will be explained by the juxtaposition of the final dramatic picture which denies the music and the musical variety which is almost unbelievable.

Mr. Frohock pointed out, however, that there is unity in Malraux's novels. They have found two characteristic styles which appear again and again. They also cite the juxtaposition of the final dramatic picture which denies the music and the musical variety which is almost unbelievable.

Green Lights Welcome the Blues

As Lantern Night Knits Friendships

by Marcia Joseph, '55

"It's Greek to me!" the Freshman would say upon hearing the unfamiliar language sung by the Freshmen and Sophomores in preparation for Lantern Night, to be held this year on Thursday, October 24, at 8:00, in the Library Cloister.

Each day for the past week and a half, Freshmen and Sophomores have been working on their parts in the Freshman-Sophomore debate, which is to be held on Wednesday, October 24, at 8:00, in the Library Cloister.

On the cover of the Freshman hymn, "Die Weber," which they undoubtedly learned, held a Forum of seven speakers representing some of the fund raisers which had received donations in past years.

NEWS Policy

The Editorial Board of the College News would like to make clear to the readers of the News its policy concerning play reviews printed in the publication.

There are three main types of productions which are reviewed in the News. 1) class shows (Bryn Mawr and Haverford); 2) professional productions that have some connection with the college; 3) professional productions. Class shows at Bryn Mawr are regularly reviewed by the editor or the copy-editor of the News or both. They are judged from the student’s perspective and are often reviewed as a class to produce entertainment, and, therefore, are not expected to achieve the technical level of a dramatic production.

Professional productions at Haverford are criticized by members of the News board or staff according to the same standards.

Professional efforts produced in city theatres are reviewed by any member of the News board or staff and by any students on campus who wish their ideas printed. These shows should reach the highest criteria. Last Nighters are

FOREIGN STUDENTS AIR VIEWS ON U.N. Aid and Activity in Native Countries

Bryn Mawr students from various native countries in the United Nations ai, sponsored by SDA last Monday afternoon. Although many the only people who had visited the UN building - and only the Security Council session discussions progressed to the moral and political issues that are of concern to the Korean War and Communist China.

In commenting upon the successes and failures of the UN organization, the group felt that it is definitely accomplishing its goals, but hampered by countries]&nb...
Sports

by Mary Jane Chubbuck. '55

Good news this week concerning sports: three fast and hard-hitting teams managed to win. The first, second, and third teams, October 14. The third team, Hazel, was the victor of the day; the Temple team was swifter than their opponents and it is hard to doubt that this will be remedied by Miss Elisa this week. The line-up was: \[ \text{Hobson, L.W.} \]
\[ \text{DeVoe, E.L.} \]
\[ \text{McIntyre, C.P.} \]
\[ \text{Jones, R.L.} \]
\[ \text{Williams, H.J.} \]
\[ \text{Vollem, L.H.} \]
\[ \text{Darling, C.P.} \]
\[ \text{Rock, R.B.} \]
\[ \text{Walfon, L.F.} \]
\[ \text{Reinleander, R.F.} \]
\[ \text{Pfeifl, G.} \]

The varsity of B.M.C. did not fare well on October 18. The defense was quite good at getting the ball up in the forwards. The forwards were working well together. Going down the field, but the forwards were not so effective in the circle: going down the field, the forwards were not so effective in the circle. The Temple team, having had a great deal of practice, much faster and better quality still stayed from B.M.C. No goals, no goals, no goals. The Temple team must do a lot of practice that B.M.C. needs more practice.

Authoress C. Wedgwood Delineates Eve of War

England and America al an author and critic, has not yet begun her lecture tour of this country. Until December she will be a guest of the Institute for Advanced Studies at Princeton, and there she will work on her next book, which will be about the English Civil War. Her latest book is The Biography of her father, one of the great radicals in the English government. The lecture will be given in the auditorium of Dalton (opposite Cartref). Dr. Hertha Kraus, Associate Professor of Social Economy, will comment. Students are invited.
