May Queen's Speech

Queen Stifles Urge To Tell "All"

GREETINGS TO MISS MURPHY, MEMBER OF THE FACULTY, FRIENDS, BRYN MAWRSTERS (AND YOUR HOPEFUL ESCORTS).

A funny thing happened to me on the way to the Maypole. I had a sudden mad urge to tell you what happened to me last year on my way to the Maypole; however, this is the paraphrased version.

Since I can't talk about vice ... I'll speak about vigil.

While Mr. Bachrach waits for the New Frontier, I'll here to tell you what I am waiting for:

A return to normalcy in Rhodes.

A return to the campus from Wyndham.

A search for the grass roots in Deshong.

A cultivation of a few more bad weeds from Rock.

An exodus of the last men from Marion.

A campus wide reading of Raskin's suggestions.

A launching of the balloons in Pem East.

And from the new Schiff-Gre administration I would like to see:

pragmatic permission giving;

shirts to cover blanket 5.50/ea.

and somebody on campus who knows where the evening ends and the night begins.

For Undergrads, I would suggest:

a reserve of 60 names in search of a petition;

less social welfare and more social affairs;

and somebody to decide where the Pem East and the Function begins.

In spite of these coming thresholds, things have to get worse worse.

FRIEDMAN BRYN MAWR STUDENTS (AND OUR HOPEFUL

Johnson, Murdock, Meredith, Oberbaum, Beck, Jane Tieman, and awarded the following students:

some of them:

Letters to the Editor

Readers Refute Criticism

Dear Editor,

We believe that the letter in last week's issue of the Student News, which seems to be a repetition of the same argument, is not only incorrect but also misleading. It is imperative that we set the record straight.

The situation in question involves the interpretation of certain policies and practices. We are confident that our position is based on facts and principles that are universally accepted.

Sincerely,

Concept of Time Dominates Ideas

In Froston's Prose

Marcel Gougenheim of Harvard College discussed Froston's work during a recent article in the Harvard Crimson. Froston's approach to the subject of time is both innovative and thought-provoking. His ability to integrate various perspectives and disciplines into his analysis is truly commendable.

Froston's exploration of the concept of time is not limited to scientific studies but extends to philosophical and cultural contexts as well. His work challenges traditional notions of time and presents a fresh perspective.

Froston's ideas have garnered significant attention and have been widely discussed in academic circles. His contributions to the field of time studies have been acknowledged and appreciated.

You are not representing the inner reality of man. That this could not be done through representation of reality. Man is, therefore, the opposite of the cabinet, whose inner parts lay on the creation of the physical reality.

explosions, fires, concussions and fallout.
The SPU feels that the Civil Defense program is not only waste of millions of dollars yearly but also makes people lose their sense of urgency about nuclear war, and treatment. Feeling that they personally will be secure in their bomb war.

SPU members feel that drills could be used for protection by local groups. If only concern them. They also believe that drills cause citizens to resign themselves to the idea of war, an attitude that is one of the major factors endangering peace.
